5-11-1979

Marshall University News Letter, May 11, 1979

Marshall University News Letter,

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter/7

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.
Grants average $1,250

(Continued from page 1)

Chong W. Kim, assistant professor of management; Dr. Charles Llyod, assistant professor of accounting; D. M. Kickem, assistant professor of English; Dr. Clayton L. McNeary, associate professor of bible and religion.

Dr. Roland Madison, associate professor of accounting; Dr. Thomas J. Marakill, professor of physics; Dr. John Mead, associate professor of molecular biology; Dr. Mary Ellen Miller, associate professor of psychology; Dr. Iris F. Plonon, assistant professor of English; Dr. Betty Roberts, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation; Dr. Michael Sosd, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. John W. Towner, professor of biological sciences; Dr. Donald Williams, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation; Dr. Warren W. Woodson, associate professor of English; Dr. Donald W. Wood, associate professor of speech, and Dr. David Woodward, professor of history.

For the research board diner was Dr. John W. Williams Jr. from the West Virginia University Honor Department who discussed “Research-Its For Research.”

Also recognized during the dinner were faculty members who had received grants from outside sources during the 1978-79 academic year.

More achievements...

(Continued from page 3)

American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business held May 1-4 in New Orleans.

MADDOX, associate professor of history, who had received grants from outside sources during the 1978-79 academic year.

The following faculty members received grants from outside sources during the 1978-79 academic year:

- Dr. Donald Tarter, professor of biological sciences
- Dr. Betty Roberts, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation
- Dr. Michael Sosd, assistant professor of biological sciences
- Dr. Donald Williams, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation
- Dr. Warren W. Woodson, associate professor of English
- Dr. Donald W. Wood, associate professor of speech
- Dr. David Woodward, professor of history

For the research board dinner was Dr. John W. Williams Jr. from the West Virginia University Honor Department who discussed “Research-It's For Research.”

Also recognized during the dinner were faculty members who had received grants from outside sources during the 1978-79 academic year.

More achievements...

(Continued from page 3)

American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business held May 1-4 in New Orleans.

MADDOX, associate professor of history, who had received grants from outside sources during the 1978-79 academic year.
Continuing education grant awarded to School of Nursing
An $18,900 Community Service and Continuing Education Program grant has been awarded to Marshall University's School of Nursing by the West Virginia Board of Regents, Dr. Virginia O. Allen, school dean, announced today.

The grant is partially supported with Title I funds of the Higher Education Act of 1965 with matching funds from the Board of Regents.

The funds will be used to develop and establish a continuing education program for nurses in the region, according to Dr. Allen. In addition to the developmental monies, the grant includes a stipend for the first two classes to be developed in the program.

"Marshall University has been a pioneer in the state's nursing education programs since it established the first two-year degree program in 1960," Dr. Allen said. "We believe it is an appropriate role for the school to continue expanding ways to serve the educational needs of the region's health care profession.

"If we are truly to serve our colleagues, then we must be continually alert to the developing needs within the nursing community," she added.

CLA has one copy of new demographic study
The College of Liberal Arts has available one copy of World Population 1977, Recent Demographic Estimates for the Countries and Regions of the World, published by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census. Anyone interested may look it at the Liberal Arts College office, Smith Hall Lobby.

Fire alarm testing
Fire alarm systems will be inspected and tested during the period May 22-24. During this time the alarm bell/chime will be sounded intermittently for short periods of time. Please disregard these signals.

Len Bedel
Safety Coordinator

MU to offer ‘Elderhostel’

Marshall University again this summer will participate in the “Elderhostel” program, offering older residents of the region an opportunity for a vacation combined with classroom work. And the price is “right.”

Marshall is one of seven schools in West Virginia taking part in the national program, which is funded partially with federal funds, according to Dr. Richard C. Comfort, MU coordinator.

“Elderhostel” is open to anyone over the age 60. Two identical one-week sessions will be offered at Marshall, June 17-23 and July 1-7.

Participants will stay in a campus dormitory, or may commute if they wish. Courses to be offered are “Amesite History,” taught by Dr. Charles Moffatt; “Creative Use of Leisure Time,” withComfort as instructor, and “Living in the Appalachian Region,” taught by Dr. Karen Li Simpkins.

Total cost for the week, including room, meals and organized activities, will be $95. Those who elect to commute from their homes will be charged only $25, Comfort said.

Several afternoon programs will be devoted to “Gold trips,” including visits to a glass factory and the Huntington Galleries. Available free-time activities will include tennis, bowling, table tennis, hiking, swimming, golf and shopping. A picnic also is planned.

Comfort said that “Elderhostel” is open to all persons over 60, regardless of educational background. Participants are not subject to examinations, grades or required homework in the non-credit courses.

Those staying in a campus dormitory will arrive on Sunday afternoon and leave the following Saturday morning.

Additional details and application forms may be obtained by writing or calling Dr. Comfort at Marshall University.

Continuing education grant awarded to School of Nursing
An $18,900 Community Service and Continuing Education Program grant has been awarded to Marshall University's School of Nursing by the West Virginia Board of Regents, Dr. Virginia O. Allen, school dean, announced today.

The grant is partially supported with Title I funds of the Higher Education Act of 1965 with matching funds from the Board of Regents.

The funds will be used to develop and establish a continuing education program for nurses in the region, according to Dr. Allen. In addition to the developmental monies, the grant includes a stipend for the first two courses to be developed in the program.

"Marshall University has been a pioneer in the state's nursing education programs since it established the first two-year degree program in 1960," Dr. Allen said. "We believe it is an appropriate role for the school to continue expanding ways to serve the educational needs of the region's health care profession.

"If we are truly to serve our colleagues, then we must be continually alert to the developing needs within the nursing community," she added.

Tennis, swimming basics offered by CC
Is your lob wobbly? Is your butterfly stroke more like a caterpillar? Marshall University Community College may have the answer to your problems.

Classes in beginning tennis and swimming designed to sharpen basic skills will be offered by the Community College later this month, according to Robert L. Lawson, director of continuing education.

Three “Tennis for Fun” classes will be offered weekdays May 21 through June 1. A morning class, 9 to 11 a.m., will be taught by Rod O'Donnell, MU instructor of health, physical education and recreation.
Two evening classes, scheduled from 5 to 7 p.m., will be taught by Dr. Donald Williams, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation, and Dr. Robert Barnett, assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation.

“Swimming for Pleasure” will be offered from 5 to 6 p.m. weekdays with Robert C. Saunders, assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation.

All classes will hold their first meeting in Gullickson Hall Room 123 for registration period. “Enrollment will be limited,” he said, “and I'd like to encourage interested persons to pre-register by calling the Community College, 696-3646, Lawson said. There will be a $25 registration fee.

MU faculty members to appear on TV panel
Three Marshall University faculty members will take part in an interdepartmental discussion, "Roads to Human Welfare," which will be televised live over WMUL-TV (Channel 33) from 8:30 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, May 22.

Dr. Bob Johnson, associate professor of journalism, will be the moderator. Panel members include: Dr. Jabir Abbas, professor of political science, representing the Islamic faith; Dr. Ram Johnson, associate professor of sociology/anthropology, Hindu; Father Mark Angelo, Catholicism; Neil Keuser, Bahá’í; Rabbi Fred Wengert, Judaism, and Ray W. Clay, Protestantism.

Each panel member will take part in a five-minute presentation of the views of his religion with regard to human welfare. There will be followed by a question period during which studio and home audiences will be encouraged to ask questions.

Excused absences...
Excused absences have been approved by the respective college deans for the following:

MAY 1–Men's Track Team
MAY 4–Women's Softball Team

Pinning ceremony for nurses set tonight
Nursing achievement pins will be awarded to 51 students in Marshall University’s Associate in Science in Nursing degree program during traditional ceremonies today (Friday), at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

Three speeches will be presented: Spirit of Nursing, Best Bedside Nurse, and Highest Scholastic Achievement in Nursing.

The students receiving these awards were selected by their fellow nursing students and nursing faculty. Honor students also will be recognized.

Mrs. Jeanne M. DeVo, Associate in Science in Nursing degree program, will be the master of ceremonies.

Spring Colon of Charleston, graduating student, will give the invocation. The benediction will be given by James T. Brooks of Huntington, graduating student. Both graduates have been members of the Nurses Christian Fellowship.

Dr. Olivia E. Jones, Jr., MU executive vice president, will extend greetings on behalf of the university. Dr. Virginia O. Allen, dean, School of Nursing, will deliver the address. Debra Moran and Douglas Hamby, both of Huntington, were selected by their classmates to present the Student Response.

Nancy Angur of Huntington, graduating student, will sing “Eternal Life” by Olivia Duong, accompanied by Kay Wildman, MU music librarian.

Gov. Jay Rockefeller, Regents Vice President Russell L. Isaacs and Dr. Howard L. Mills, chairman of Marshall's Physical Facilities and Planning Committee, the building is expected to be completed in about two years. (MU Pictures by Rick Hare)