VOL. 12 NO. 6

WINTER 1989

From the President...

Dear ASA Member:

Ron Lewis and his program committee have done an outstanding job in planning the 1989 Conference, which will be in Morgantown, West Virginia. The theme, "Transformation of Life and Labor in Appalachia," will unify many papers and programs during the weekend of March 17-19. You will shortly receive a program with registration information. I hope you will plan to come and will make your reservations promptly. Remember it is cheaper to pre-register.

You are active and productive out there, but we don't know much about each other. Please send news of yourself and your institution to Sallie Miller Weaver (That's right, she got married), for the next full issue of APPALINK by April 17. This is a good way to publicize your summer and other programs. Also, be thinking ahead of topics for papers you might propose for next year's conference at Unicoi State Park in north Georgia, or at Berea College in 1991. Even you procrastinators ought to be able to get papers done by then.

See you in Morgantown.

Sincerely,

Loyal Jones
