The Marshall University Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa international educational honorary, has awarded a Certificate of Recognition at the honorary’s Biennial Council last month. Each year the chapter undertakes a major service activity in exchange for membership dues. This year, we sponsored a workshop on improving the learning climate for educationally disadvantaged counties in our region to send at least four people. In past years, we have conducted workshops on gifted education and technology for students. In 1968-69, Warren was a Fulbright Senior Scholar at the National Autonomous University of Honduras, where he was a visiting lecturer in biology. In 1968-69, Warren was a Fulbright Senior Scholar at the National Autonomous University of Honduras, where he was a visiting lecturer in biology. In 1968-69, Warren was a Fulbright Senior Scholar at the National Autonomous University of Honduras, where he was a visiting lecturer in biology.
The Academic Planning and Standards Committee met on October 26, 1979 to approve the following: 1) A student proposal to allow students to switch from CR/NC to a letter grade at any time prior to mid-term. 2) A student Government proposal to require all faculty to distribute syllabi and grading policies to all students in the course during the first week of classes. 3) A student proposal to add a subcommittee for consideration. Distribution of an Committee report to physical facilities group

The Physical Facilities and Planning Committee met on Nov. 8. A progress report from the sign policy subcommittee was received and the subcommittee was then charged with submitting a revised proposal, incorporating recommendations brought up during discussion.

Fire drills and the need for them as well as policies concerning the release of information provided by the committee to the public was discussed.

Mr. Long was requested to discuss elevator problems in Smith Hall with Dr. Roswurm and to advise the faculty, via the News Letter, how additional malfunctions of elevators— if any—were to be reported. Mr. Egnotoff advised the committee that action on the planned addition to Prichard Hall would be deferred pending consideration of an alternate possibility.

Respectfully submitted,
Eric Thom, Secretary
Physical Facilities/Planning

CCC to sponsor Thanksgiving celebration

The annual ecumenical Thanksgiving buffet/celebration, sponsored by the Campus Christian Center, will be held at the center Monday, Nov. 19, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with an opening prayer by the rabbis.

The buffet will include ham, turkey, rolls, beverages, salads, and desserts which will be provided by the chief rabbi and the faculty center board members.

Buffet tickets, which are free, may be obtained from Mrs. Linda Greenwell, center chairman. Following the dinner, there will be brief Thanksgiving devotions.

Special topic course to be offered in spring

The Political Science Department will offer a special topic course this spring, "Islamic Political Ideas and Institutions" (PSC 402/502), according to Dr. Jabir A. Abbas, professor of political science, who will teach the course.

The course will be offered on Mondays from 6:30 to 9 p.m., should be of special interest in view of the public focus on the Islamic world resulting from the recent events in Iran, Abbas said.

The textbooks will be "The Sociology of Islam," by Dr. Ali Sharfattallah, who is considered the leading ideological of the Islamic movement in Egypt and "Islam: The Misunderstood Religion," by Prof. William S. Chace of Washburn University. Additional materials will be taken from Abbas, extension 6636.

Actions summarized by academic planning standards faculty and staff achievements, activities...

Dr. DANNY G. FULKS, professor of education, was a presenter at the West Virginia Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development held at the Gateway Inn on Oct. 18. His topic was "The Physical Environment and its Effect on Student Achievement at the Elementary School."

Dr. RICHARD ROSSWURM, associate professor of political science, presented a paper in a joint meeting of the Peace Studies Section of the Midwest Political Science Association and the Midland Million Dollar Lunch Group, Nov. 13. As part of the panel entitled "Justice Under Law," Rosswurm delivered a paper, "The Double Standard Which Undermines the Midland Million Dollar Lunch Group."

The following month new programs, and course changes were also approved:

1. A Retailed Recital Hall.
2. A Home Economics-Journalism Program
3. Several minor changes in programs and prerequisites for certain College Community College courses were also approved.
4. A Home Economics-Journalism Program
5. Several minor changes in programs and prerequisites for certain College Community College courses were also approved.

The Trio will be available for off-campus programs and will perform during the academic year. Any questions about the Trio should be directed to Steinberg.

Dr. JOHN L. HUBBARD, assistant professor of chemistry, is the co-author of a paper "Carbohydrate of the Organism in preparation for the Synthesis of Aldohydrates or Primary Alcohols from Alkenes via Hydroboronation-Carbonylation," which appeared in Synthesis, pp. 701-705, September, 1979. His co-authors are Herbert G. Brown of Purdue University and Keith Smith of the University of Virginia.

The annual fall meeting of the West Virginia Association of College English Teachers at Jackson's Mill on Nov. 2-3 was attended by Dr. HUBBARD, who presented a paper, "Stereotypes in Early English Literature: DR. JACK R. BROWN, professor emeritus; DR. ROBERT GERKE and DR. WILLIAM P. SULLIVAN, professors; DR. BRUCE BROWN, DR. PHILIP M. FITTMAN, DR. WILLIAM C. RAYSER and DR. JAMES S. WHITTAKE, associate professors; LLEWELYN McKENNAR, instructor; and Sandy Hatten, David Jervis, David Reveal, Judy Stentiff and Judy Thomas, graduate students. As part of the program reported Mrs. McKernan gave a reading from her recent book, "Short and Simple Annals: Poems About Appalachia."

Dr. KENNETH AMBROSE, assistant professor of educational psychology, presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Association for Humanistic Sociology on Oct. 26-27 at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. He presented a discussion of the use of photographs in sociological research using photographs as visual aids, as part of the Oct. 27 program for the Visual Sociology section.

Dr. ROBERT P. ALEXANDER, professor of management and employee relations, was a speaker at the annual meeting of the National Association for Humanistic Sociology on Oct. 27. Alexander was a speaker at the "Roles and Functions of Lay Leadership" at the Central United Methodist Church on Oct. 28. His topic was "Leadership in Church Ministries."

Dr. BRUCE S. CHERTOW, professor of medicine, served on a panel of experts at the American Association of Colleges of Medicine, held Nov. 9-10 at the West Virginia University Medical Center. The symposium's objective was to update an knowledge regarding the treatment of diabetes mellitus and its complications.

JEANNE DEVOS, associate in science in nursing degree program, was a presenter at the "Interdisciplinary Conference on Medical Education," held Oct. 18-20 at the University of Michigan. The conference was part of the "Clinical Education" conference. She was also a presenter at the conference, "Clinical Education" at the University of Michigan.

Dr. ROBERT F. MADDIX, professor of history and director of the Oral History of Appalachia Program, attended the annual meeting of the Oral History Association on Oct. 24-27 at East Lansing, Mich. While there, he appeared on the Rob Givens radio show, hired by the WRAC of the Michigan Educational Network, discussing oral history with William Fillmore's "Local History." He also presented a paper, "Preparing an Easter Transition" held in Atlanta on Oct. 30-31.

Dr. ROBERT F. MADDIX, professor of history and director of the Oral History of Appalachia Program, attended the annual meeting of the Oral History Association on Oct. 24-27 at East Lansing, Mich. While there, he appeared on the Rob Givens radio show, hired by the WRAC of the Michigan Educational Network, discussing oral history with William Fillmore's "Local History." He also presented a paper, "Preparing an Easter Transition" held in Atlanta on Oct. 30-31.

Wind Symphony sets performance for Friday

The Marshall University Wind Symphony will present a free concert on Friday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in the Evans Physical Education and Recreation Center, Recital Hall.

Edward Chapman, Hurricane junior, will be featured as trumpet soloist in Clifton Williams' "Dramatic Essay," according to Richard Lemke, MU assistant professor of music and director of bands.

