VISITORS TO CAMPUS

Dr. Michael G. Zabetakis, superintendent of the National Mine Health and Safety Academy at Beckley, and his wife visited the Marshall University campus for the first time Tuesday. While here, they met with various administrators and faculty members and were honored with a reception. Marshall, through the Department of Occupational, Adult and Safety Education and the Community College, cooperates with the Academy in offering programs to prepare students for mining industry careers. Shown in conversation above are, from left, Dr. Zabetakis, Provost Olen E. Jones Jr., Mrs. Zabetakis and President Robert B. Hayes. (MU Photo by Rick Have)

MU faculty and staff achievements, activities, . . .

DR. THOMAS MANAKKIL, professor of physics and radiation safety officer for Marshall, attended a three-day symposium on “Non Ionizing Radiation, Health and Safety” at the Capitol Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C. The symposium was sponsored by the American Conference of Governmental Industrial Hygienists. Speakers from several foreign industrial nations, representing regulatory and research agencies, took part in the symposium.

DR. WILLIAM A. MCDOWELL, associate professor of counseling and rehabilitation, was guest presenter at Fairmont State College for a program on “Death and Dying for Professionals,” attended by nurses and critical care paramedics. He also presented a workshop on “Relaxation Training for You and Your Students: Test Anxiety and Stress Management,” at the Fall West Virginia Conference Association of Student Special Services Personnel on Nov. 29. On Dec. 3-5, he, as rehabilitation education coordinator, attended the Consortium on Rehabilitation Personnel and Training held in Richmond, Va., for Region III rehabilitation educators and vocational directors.

DR. MAHLON C. BROWN, professor of social studies, was the recipient of the 1979 Social Studies Award of the West Virginia Department of Education which was presented at the annual meeting of the West Virginia Council for Social Studies held Oct. 19-21 at Canaan Valley. The award is for outstanding contributions and continued efforts to improve social studies education in West Virginia. Brown also was re-elected to presidency of the council.

Excused student absences . . .

Absences have been excused by the respective college deans for the following:

Polans endow med school chair

The members of a prominent Huntington family—descendants of Dr. Lake Polan, an early Huntington oculist and pioneering optics industrialist, and his wife, Bertha Handler Polan—have established the first endowed chair at the Marshall University School of Medicine. Announcement of the Lake Polan (M.D.) and Bertha M. Polan Chair in Ophthalmology, which was endowed with a minimum commitment of $100,000, was made jointly today by Marshall Foundation Executive Director Bernard Queen and MU School of Medicine Dean Robert W. Cox.

The late Lake and Bertha Polan had six children. They are: Albert (who died in 1978), Edwin G., Lincoln M., Charles M. Lake Jr., and Roseanne (Mrs. Bernard Smith). In addition, there are 16 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Polan died in 1924, and Dr. Polan later married the former Anne Shein of Huntington, who now lives in Florida.

In initiating the endowment, Dr. Charles M. Polan said: “Eye diseases and optics have been one of this family’s primary interests for a long time. “In making this commitment, we not only honor our parents’ memory, but also show our support of the medical school at Marshall by helping it develop a . . .

Celebration of Arts 1980 to benefit from ‘Pops’ concert

Celebration of the Arts 1980, sponsored by the Marshall University Institute for the Arts in cooperation with various Tri-State Area arts groups, may benefit from the upcoming Boston Pops Orchestra concert with guest conductor Henry Mancini, according to MU Institute for the Arts Director Michael Cerveris.

The concert, scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 15 at the Huntington Civic Center, is being co-promoted by the Civic Center and Michael Moskaluk, a former Boston resident now living in Huntington, with assistance from the Institute and the Marshall Artists Series.

Neither the Institute nor the Artists Series has any financial commitment to the event; however, Moskaluk has announced that profits he may derive as co-promoter will be contributed to the Institute. “Our plans are to use these funds to support next year’s Celebration of the Arts,” Cerveris said.

Tickets for the concert are $10 and $8. Marshall students with valid ID Cards will receive a $3 discount on the ticket price and may purchase two tickets at the special price, according to Joanne Cummings, Civic Center promotions supervisor.

HOLIDAY HOURS

Marshall University’s administrative offices will be closed for the holidays as follows: Monday through Friday, Dec. 24-28, and on Tuesday, Jan. 1. The offices will be open on Monday, Dec. 31.

This is the final issue of the News Letter for the Fall Semester. Publication will resume with the Spring Semester. The deadline for receiving material for the News Letter is 10 a.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication items may be sent through campus mail to Judith Castro, University Relations, or hand delivered to Old Main 102.

Mail orders for tickets now being accepted by the Civic Center. Those persons desiring tickets should send a check or money order, along with a self-addressed and stamped envelope, to Boston Pops, The Huntington, P.O. Box 2767, Huntington, W.Va. 25727.

Mancini, composer-arranger-conductor, has received numerous awards for his work and is regarded by many of his peers as one of the giants in the popular music field. About half a dozen musicians from his own orchestra will appear with the Boston Pops.

Changes in insurance coverage

The Public Employees Insurance Board has announced the following policy changes in coverage:

ABORTIONS

Effective Nov. 1, 1979, elective abortions are no longer covered.

Abortion will only be eligible where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term, or where medical complications have arisen from an abortion or related medical conditions.

EXTENDED BENEFITS (MATERNITY)

Effective Nov. 1, 1979, extended benefits are no longer payable for maternity.

This means that employee and dependent wife must be actively participating in our insurance plan at the time of delivery for charges to be paid under our plan. These changes are in compliance with Public Law 95-486, which became effective April 29, 1979, with regard to the State of West Virginia Insurance Program.
