Center head named, open house scheduled

The new director of the Marshall University Computer Center will be introduced during an open house at the center from 10 to 11 a.m. Friday, Jan. 20. The center is located in Prichard Hall.

Dr. William S. Deel, assistant vice president for academic affairs, announced today that William H. Cox Jr. of Catlettsburg, Ky., has been named to the position, effective Jan. 16. He succeeds John R. Jamieson, who resigned several months ago.

Faculty and other members of the university community are invited to attend the open house, Deel said. "This will give students, faculty and staff an opportunity to meet Mr. Cox, as well as several other new members of the Computer Center staff," Deel noted.

Cox has been systems engineer with Ashland Oil, Inc. He has held several data processing positions with the firm since 1972.

A veteran of five years of service as a U.S. Army officer, he holds an A.B. degree in political science and an M.S. degree in computer science from West Virginia University. He worked as a computer programmer while a graduate student at WVU.

He is married and the father of three children.

$1,500 grant awarded

Marshall's Department of Chemistry recently received a $1,500 grant-in-aid from the Spectroscopy Society of Pittsburgh. The funds are to be used for the purchase of undergraduate laboratory equipment. Dr. R. M. Chakrabarty, MU professor of chemistry, represented the department at the awards ceremony on Dec. 14 in Pittsburgh.

Grad Council reports fall semester actions

Graduate Council action during the first semester:

The Council has spent time implementing the change made last spring which requires Council action on associate graduate faculty renewal requests. A special effort has been made to remind departments that appropriate action must be taken for each person teaching graduate courses.

The president has approved another change in the Green-book provisions relating to graduate faculty. The Council had recommended to him the deletion of those provisions which required a review every five years of faculty holding full graduate faculty status. This year, 154 faculty would have been subject to the review if the deletion had not occurred.

Departments requesting course changes and additions during the first semester included mathematics, biological science, physics and physical science, anatomy, computer sciences, physiology, history, art and psychology.

Festivities to honor MU basketball stars

Marshall University's 1946-47 NAIB National Championship Basketball Team will be "special honored guests" Saturday, Jan. 28, 1978, as the Department of Athletics honors all former basketball lettermen at the annual "Bring Back the Herd Day" festivities.

Joseph B. Feaganes, Big Green Scholarship Foundation executive director, said the team members were scheduled to be honored last year on the 30th anniversary of their achievement but the severe winter forced cancellation of the event.

Team members expected to be on hand include Bill Hall, Andy Tonkovich, Bill Toothman, Gene James, Mervin Gutshall, Dick Erickson, Jim Bakalis, Bob Wright and team manager John Wellman.

Registration for the event will begin at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 28 at the Memorial Student Center. A pre-game luncheon will be held at 3 p.m. at the Student Center for all former players, spouses, invited guests and the public.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling the Athletic Department at 696-3190. Cost is $4 per person. The team will be honored at this time.

The alumni-versus-alumni game under former Marshall head basketball coaches Stewart Way and Ellis Johnson will begin at 5:30 p.m. at Memorial Field House. Marshall's Thundering Herd plays Furman University in a Southern Conference game at the field house beginning at 8 p.m.

Former Herd varsity basketball lettermen in attendance, including the 1946-47 team, will be introduced to the crowd at halftime.

He said a post-game reception honoring the former lettermen will be held from 10 p.m. to midnight at the Holiday Inn on U.S. 60 East.
