1978 FOOTBALL SEASON TICKET PLANS

MARRSHALL UNIVERSITY

PRICES
Season tickets for full-time Marshall employees and their immediate families can be purchased at the discounted rate of $15.00 per ticket. These prices apply to the employee, spouse and children only.

SEATING
As a member of the university family, you will receive priority seating in the employee section (between the 35 and 50 yard lines) on the East Side of Fairfield Stadium if you order your tickets prior to August 1, 1978. People wishing to be seated together should return their orders together.

PAYMENT
1) Either enclose your check or money order (do not send cash) made payable to MARSHALL UNIVERSITY or
2) Charge it to your VISA (BankAmericard) or Master Charge account or
3) Deferred payment with full remittance due August 1, 1978.

Other Note: Due to Auditor's requirement - Payment is necessary prior to the issue of tickets.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE
Sept. 16 Appalachian State*
Sept. 23 UT-Chattanooga*
Oct. 14 Miami (Ohio) HOMECOMING* * Southern Conference Game
Oct. 28 Furman* Fairfield Stadium
Nov. 4 Northern Michigan

1978 MARSHALL HOME FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

MARRSHALL UNIVERSITY NEWS LETTER

May 5, 1978

Six faculty members receive NEH funds

Six Marshall University faculty members have been awarded fellowships for summer study and research by the National Endowment for the Humanities, Dr. Noel J. Richards, MU vice president for academic affairs, has announced.

They are Dr. Bruce Ardingder, assistant professor of English and writing director; Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, professor of music; Dr. Bradford R. DeVos, associate professor of music; Dr. Dorothy W. Jacome, associate professor of modern languages; Dr. John W. Mead, associate professor of music; and Dr. Stephen Wiss, assistant professor of sociology/anthropology.

Mead, who earned his Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Kentucky, received a summer research grant to study top and journals of 19th Century sailing ships. He will be seeking verse and songs to expand and update a compilation of whaling songs prepared previously by Gale Huntington.

The remaining five faculty members have been awarded fellowships to attend seminars for college teachers for eight weeks this summer.

Ardinger will study "The Functions of Discourse in Science and Literature" at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with Dr. Howard Smither.

Balshaw, who holds a Doctor of Musical Arts degree, from the Eastman School of Music, will study "The Oratorio in Germany: 1775-1875" at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with Dr. Howard Smither.

A specialist in music history, DeVos will study "Music in Medieval Life and Culture" with Professor Richard Hopping at Ohio State University. Joining Marshall's faculty in 1967, DeVos holds a Ph.D. degree from Boston University.

25 summer research grants are awarded

The Marshall University Research Board has awarded 25 faculty members Summer Research Grants of $1,200 each, effective July 1, 1978.

Committee election results are announced

Results of the faculty election to fill expired terms on university committees have been announced by the University Council of Faculty.

Elected to committee seats were:
Student Conduct and Welfare--Leo Imperi, music department; Athletic Committee--Mary Marshall, HIPER; William Westbrook, sociology; Public Relations and Publications--Elizabeth Barker, nursing education; Robert Barnett, HIPER; and Hymen Hart, English.

Memorial Student Center Board--Loraine Duke, English; Housing Committee--professor rank--Daniel Babb, chemistry; Robert Gerke, English; Edwin Cubby, social studies, and Jack Jervis, curriculum and foundations.

Hearing Committee, associate professor rank--Daniel Babb, chemistry; Carolyn Karr, social studies, and John Meade, music.

Hearing Committee, associate professor rank--Dolores Jacome, modern languages; Mary Marshall, HIPER, and Donna Spindel, history.

Hearing Committee, instructor rank--John Baker, English; Rod O'Donnell, HIPER, and Kathryn Roberts, nursing education.

Faculty Service--Robert Maddox, history; Commencement and Honorary Degree--Frank Riddel, social studies; Carl Johnson, curriculum and foundations; and Claire Horton, sociology/anthropology.

The recipients were honored Wednesday (May 3) at the Research Board's annual dinner meeting at Memorial Student Center which featured Dr. Morris L. Norfleet, Morehead (Ky.) State University president, as speaker. His topic was "Faculty Research: Mental Exercise or for Real."

Receiving grants for summer research work were: Dean A. Ackeins, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. Joan Akins, professor of English; Dr. Phillip Balwmeier, associate professor of management; Dr. Robert Barnett, assistant professor of biology; Dr. Karen Simpkins, assistant professor of English; Dr. Robert Dake, assistant professor of history; Dr. Michael Galgano, associate professor of history; Dr. Robert Gerke, professor of English; Dr. Mary Hight, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. Karen Simpkins, assistant professor of sociology/anthropology; Dr. Katherine Simpkins, associate professor of curriculum and foundations; Dr. Robert Slatte, professor of philosophy; Dr. Donna Spindel, assistant professor of history; Dr. Wayne Taylor, associate professor of biology; Dr. Karen Simpkins, assistant professor of English; and Dr. David Woodward, professor of history.

Applications for the awards were solicited last fall and selection was made earlier this spring by faculty committees established by the research board.

(60% of the above material is from Marshall News Letter, May 5, 1978.)
Cultural events head appointed

Mrs. Nancy Payne Hindesly has been appointed coordinator of cultural events for the summer, said Dr. G. Fisher, vice president for student affairs, has announced.

In her new position, Mrs. Hindesly will have direct responsibility for operation of the Marshall Artists Series, a broad program designed to bring cultural enrichment to Marshall students and to the region.

A member of the Marshall staff since 1972, Mrs. Hindesly has been serving as advisor for student activities and cultural events.

"Nancy Hindesly has been extremely successful in developing the student activities office and in working with all elements of the community and the student body," Fisher said. "As supervisor of the former Artists Series advisor, she took on the responsibility of coordinating the operation of the Artists Series when he resigned several months ago. She has done an excellent job in maintaining that program."

Since we consider the Artists Series to be of extreme importance to the cultural life of the campus and the entire region, we have asked Mrs. Hindesly to become the full-time coordinator of cultural events in order to further strengthen the program," Fisher added.

The change will mean a slight modification of the Division of Student Affairs organization. Mrs. Hindesly's former position is being changed to that of coordinator of student activities and organizations. The university now is advertising for a person to fill that position, according to Mary-Ann Thomas, associate dean for student life.

Dr. Lloyd to study in Greece this summer

A Marshall University professor of French and classics, Dr. Charles O. Lloyd, assistant professor of classical studies, will participate in the American School's summer session, June 17-Aug. 1, in Athens with field trips to archaeological sites throughout Greece.

The program is designed to provide scholars of all ages the opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge of the archaeological sites and to work under experts in the field.

Lloyd, a Huntington native who joined Marshall's faculty in 1972, will be studying with secondary school teachers, college and university teachers as well as graduate and undergraduate students.

This year's study sites representing various periods of Greek civilization, including Pre-Historic, Mycenaean, and Classical.

Dr. Lloyd also had the opportunity to participate in two National Endowment for the Humanities sponsored seminars: The History of Greek Art and The Interpretation of Greek Texts at the University of Chicago or "Rome and the Sea" at the American Academy in Rome.

New York City gallery to show Cornfelds' work

A Marshall University assistant professor of art and his wife will show their work in a New York City gallery this month.

Wall hangings by Michael and Melissa Cornfeld will be on display May 5-31 at Minge Galleries, Ltd., 132 Greene St., in New York's Soho District.

Twenty pieces will be exhibited with representation equally divided between the two artists, who also own and operate an art shop, My Mother's Warp, in Huntington.

"Most of the pieces are new," said Dr. Cornfeld, "reflecting our interest in textures. We've done a lot with double wavers, try to work with the cloth and the strip for depth," he explained. "Our work is somewhat sculptural because it is in relief."

Many of the hangings are outgrowths of Cornfeld's 1975-76 sabbatical leave, when he and his wife studied textile and fabric design at Middlesex University in England where they worked at tapestry looms and dobby (multi-harness) looms.

A Marshall faculty member since 1967, Cornfeld earned his Master of Fine Arts degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

The Corfelds have also exhibited their work in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the New York State Council on the Arts and the American Craftsmen Center in New York.

Tennis for fun class will be offered by JC

"Tennis for Fun," a non-credit class designed to help people learn basic tennis skills, will be offered from May 15-26 by the Community College of Marshall University.

Two class times are available to accommodate various individual schedules, according to Robert L. Lawson, continuing education director of the Community College.

Rod O'Donnell, MU physical education and health instructor, will teach a class Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and Tuesdays through Fridays will be taught by Don Williams, head of Marshall's physical education division.

Basic terms such as volley, backhand and lob will be explained and demonstrated.

Participants are asked to bring their own tennis rackets, tennis shoes and one can of tennis balls. They should bring the equipment the first day of class in Room 123, Galliwick Hall, to register and pay the $25 fee.

Interested persons are asked to reserve a place in class by calling Lawson at 2340. He said he will cause a limit of 16 players per class has set, Lawson said.

Special summer school for LD youth available

Marshall University's Curriculum and Foundations Department will sponsor again this year a learning disabilities summer school for elementary and junior high level students.

The program, scheduled June 14-July 15, will be offered weekdays at 8 a.m. at Memphis Elementary School, located at 16th Street and Washington Boulevard.

Each child will receive one-to-one assistance by a graduate student in the curriculum and foundations program under the direction of Dr. Barbara Guyer, coordinator of Marshall's learning disabilities program.

Registration for the summer program ends Friday, May 12. Additional information and registration forms may be obtained by calling Dr. Guyer, 2340.

M U first state host to national speech event

The Marshall University Speech Department is hosting the 105th meeting of the Interstate Oratorical Association this weekend (May 4-6) in Memorial Student Center.

This is the first time this contest has been held in West Virginia, according to Maureen Milicia, MU assistant professor of English and coordinator of the oldest student speech events," she said.

Twenty-five students from 18 states will be competing for first and second place as top college orators. Representing Marshall will be Connie Day, Chesapeake, Ohio, sophomore, and JoAnn Wirtz, Huntington, senior.

Preliminary rounds begin at 9 a.m. on Friday. Semi-final and final competition is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday and the championship rounds will start at 1:30 p.m. The awards ceremony will be held at 3 p.m.

The competition rounds and the awards program are open to the public, according to Miss Milicia.

At a dinner Friday evening, MU President Robert B. Hayes and Dr. Dorothy Jones, Speech Department chairman, will welcome the oratorical contest participants to the campus.

Want to learn to drive?

OAS seeking non-drivers

Individuals wishing to learn how to drive an automobile will have an opportunity to do so this summer and next fall through the Marshall University Department of Occupational, Adult Safety, 202 Lynwood, Huntington.

As part of its Traffic Safety and Driver Education course, the double use project is designed for non-drivers who are not licensed drivers as well as Marshall students, according to Dr. Allan Stern, course instructor.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.

The sessions will run Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 446, along with two hours of driving each week.