

3-6-1987

MU NewsLetter, March 6, 1987

Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_newsletter

Recommended Citation

Office of University Relations, "MU NewsLetter, March 6, 1987" (1987). MU Newsletter 1987-1999. Paper 38.
http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_newsletter/38

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in MU Newsletter 1987-1999 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.

MU faculty and staff achievements

(Continued from page 5)

Dr. C. ROBERT BARNETT, professor in the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, co-authored an article titled "Black Hats In A Golden Age" with Bob Carroll of Pittsburgh. The article appeared in the first issue of Sports Heritage magazine.

GARY KIMBLE, director of residence life, had an article titled "What R.A. Represents" published in the November 1986 issue of The Talking Stick, the newsletter for the Association of College and University Housing Offices-International.

Ed Miller, director of financial assistance, recently participated in the Ohio Association of Financial Assistance Administrators and attended a conference on the political process sponsored by the Mid-Western Association of Financial Aid Administrators.

MARY ANN THOMAS, associate dean for student affairs, recently participated in the first conference on Campus Violence held at Towson State University. She is currently conducting a study of campus violence at Marshall, which is part of a larger investigation of campus violence at all West Virginia colleges and universities.

Dr. STAN MAYNARD, associate professor of education, and KENNETH E. BLUE, associate dean for student affairs, attended a workshop on educational support programs for student athletes prior to the NCAA annual conference.

Prior to Christmas, LINDA TEMPLETON, Greek advisor, participated in the annual meeting of the National Association of Fraternity Advisers. She also conducted a leadership workshop for the Interfraternity Conference and Panhellenic Council in January.

JOE MARSHMAN, coordinator of student activities, helped coordinate the book exhibit for the Great Lakes Regional Conference of the National Association for Campus Activities held recently in Nashville.

Dr. DAVID R. WOODWARD, chairman and professor of history, has been asked by the publications committee of the Army Records Society to edit for publication in one volume the papers of Sir William Robertson, the chief of the Imperial General Staff, 1915-18. Lord Robertson granted Dr. WOODWARD access to the papers which are housed in the Liddell Hart Centre for Military Archives at King's College in London.

Dr. CHARLES V. BIAS, associate professor of history, has been appointed editor of the Journal of the West Virginia Historical Association, succeeding Dr. ROBERT F. MADDOX.

Dr. C. ROBERT BARNETT, professor in the Division of HPER, co-authored an article titled "Is There Life After Football: Dale Memmelaar?" which was published in the January/February issue of Coffin Corner, the magazine of the Professional Football Researchers Association. Bob Carroll, a Pittsburgh free lance writer co-authored the article.

GEORGE E. PARKER, assistant professor in the Division of Specialized Allied Studies, served as "Chaplain for the Day" for the West Virginia Senate on Feb. 2. He currently serves as a Naval Chaplain.

Dr. RICHARD B. BONNETT, professor of geology, was a guest speaker for the Proctorville Women's Club recently and made a presentation on the geology of Big Bend National Park in Texas.

Dr. JOHN L. HUBBARD, associate professor of chemistry, served on a National Science Foundation review panel Jan. 7-10 in Washington, D.C. Under consideration were proposals submitted to the College Science Instrumentation Program (CSIP). The Department of Chemistry received a CSIP grant in 1985.

MICHAEL E. SEIDEL, professor of biological sciences, served on a review panel for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Office of Endangered Species, Jan. 22-23 in Washington, D.C. The meeting was organized to determine the endangered status of the flattened musk turtle, Sternotherus depressus.

MICHAEL G. TANNENBAUM, assistant professor of biological sciences, published a paper titled "Seasonal changes in body fat in southeastern Peromyscus" in the Journal of Mammalogy. The paper was co-authored by E.B. Pivorun of Clemson University. He also presented a paper titled "Effects of short-term cold exposure on pineal function in rats and Syrian hamsters" at the annual meeting of the American Society of Zoologists held Dec. 27 in Nashville. The paper was co-authored by R.J. Reiter, M.E. Troiani, and A. Gonzalez-Brito of the University of Texas Health Center at San Antonio.

Dr. JOAN F. GILLILAND, director of honors, attended a meeting of the Kentucky Honors Roundtable, Feb. 7, at Eastern Kentucky University. The Roundtable is a consortium of honors program directors in colleges and universities throughout Kentucky.

BILL WEBB, visiting assistant professor of psychology, is the senior author of an article titled "The Influence of Categorization on Perceptions of Crowding," which appeared in the Dec. volume of Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin.

Dr. TERENCE McQUEENY, associate professor of French, has been notified that his article titled "Beckett, Chamfort, and the 'Wastes and Wilds' of Self-Translation" will appear in the Spring 1987 issue of The Literary Review.

WILLIAM J. RADIG, acting chairman of the Department of Accounting, had an article titled "More on Financial Fraud: The New and the Old" published in the winter issue of The Michigan CPA.

NEIL V. ARNESON, assistant professor of social studies, presented a section of the 18th Northeast Regional Conference for the Social Studies held March 5-7 in Boston. His presentation, which dealt with the way textbooks of pre-Civil War America treated controversial subjects, was selected for the conference from more than 200 submissions.

CHARLES MABEE, chairman of religious studies, was an invited guest of the Center on Religion and Society at a meeting held in Washington, D.C., Feb. 19-21. The topic of the meeting was "Moral Purpose and American Foreign Policy." It was attended by governmental leaders, political scientists, magazine editors, writers and theologians. He also has had a manuscript titled "Interiorizing the Bible: Public Hermeneutics in the Technological Society" accepted for publication by Mercer University Press. It will appear as volume five in a series he is editing titled "Studies in American Biblical Hermeneutics."

Dr. JOHN N. VIELKIND, associate professor and chairman of philosophy, attended the 83rd annual meeting of the American Philosophical Association, eastern division, held Dec. 28-30 in Boston.

DEREK NICOLL, lab/med tech in the Department of Pharmacology, was honored Feb. 11 by the Tri-State Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He was awarded the Silver Beaver Award, the highest award given for work with the Boy Scouts and service to the community.

Dr. CHRISTOPHER L. DOLMETSCH and Dr. TERENCE McQUEENY, associate professors of modern languages, attended the 15th annual Twentieth Century Literature Conference held Feb. 25-27 at the University of Louisville. DOLMETSCH chaired a session devoted to the works of German authors Heinrich Boll and Bertolt Brecht. The theme of the conference was "Literature and the Historical Process."

Dr. MARY MARSHALL, associate professor of theatre and dance, and four members of the Marshall University Dance Company, recently attended a two-day dance workshop at the annual convention of the Midwest District Association of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and Dance held in Chicago. The MU dancers also were invited to the studio of Gus Giordano in Chicago for classes and observation of the Giordano Jazz Dance Company.

Dr. GARY O. RANKIN, chairman of pharmacology; Dr. PATRICK I. BROWN, associate professor of anatomy; and VONDA J. TEETS, laboratory/medical technician, have published an article in Life Sciences titled "Deuterium Isotope Effect in Acute N-(3,5-Dichlorophenyl)Succinimide-Induced Nephrotoxicity."

Dr. FEREDOUN ZANGENEH, associate professor of pediatrics, has been elected to active membership in the Lawson Wilkins Pediatric Endocrine Society. He also serves on the board of directors of the West Virginia Affiliate of the American Heart Association.

Dr. CARL A. GRUETTER, associate professor of pharmacology, and SALLY M. LEMKE, laboratory/medical technician, have published an article in the Canadian Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology titled "Effects of sulfhydryl reagents on nitroglycerin-induced relaxation of bovine coronary artery."

Dr. STEBBINS B. CHANDOR, chairman of pathology, was one of four faculty members for an immunohistology course offered in October by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. The successful course filled its limit of 48 participants and more than 30 applicants had to be turned away.

MU NEWSLETTER

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701 • MARCH 6, 1987

Gen. Wheeler will make major address

Major General Albin G. Wheeler, commandant of the Industrial College of the Armed Services in Washington, D.C., will deliver a major address at Marshall University Monday, March 16.

General Wheeler's appearance is one of several involving prominent Marshall alumni scheduled by the Marshall Sesquicentennial Committee during the university's 150th year, Sesquicentennial Chairman Sam Clagg said.

Wheeler's speech is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Don Morris Room of Memorial Student Center and will be open to the public, Clagg said. He added that a reception for Wheeler will be held in the adjacent Shawkey Room immediately afterward.

Programs scheduled for Women's History Month

The Marshall University Women's Center will sponsor several activities during the month of March in conjunction with National Women's History Month.

Carmen Gautier, professor of political science at the University of Puerto Rico and coordinator of the Commission for the Study of Comparative and International Politics in the Caribbean, will be a guest lecturer on Tuesday, March 17, at 11 a.m. in Corbly Hall Room 105. Her topic will be Puerto Rico's dependence on the United States.

A lunchbag seminar titled "Pioneer Women" will be held Wednesday, March 18, from noon to 1 p.m. in Prichard Hall Room 143. Donna Spindel of Marshall University's History Department will discuss what life was like for women during the time of the westward movement.

"Historical Women of Huntington" will be the topic of a lunchbag seminar on Wednesday, March 25, from noon to 1 p.m. in Prichard Hall Room 143. Nancy Whear, Marshall librarian, will discuss the lives and achievements of Huntington women through the years.

Social worker and activist Ada Deer, former chief of the Menominee tribe, will present a lecture on women's issues on Thursday, March 26, at 11 a.m. in Corbly Hall Room 105.

To obtain further details about programs and activities scheduled during National Women's History Month contact the Marshall University Women's Center, 696-3112.

Senate vote announced

Marshall University Registrar Robert H. Eddins, secretary to the faculty, has released the results of the recent balloting on the proposal for a Faculty Senate.

Two hundred sixty-one faculty members voted in favor of the proposal. Ninety-five faculty members voted against the Faculty Senate proposal.

A 1958 graduate of Marshall, Wheeler is the highest ranking of at least six Marshall alumni currently serving at either general or admiral rank in the nation's armed forces.

Wheeler, a Huntington native, graduated from Huntington East High School. Prior to assuming his present assignment, he was stationed in Germany as commander of the Army and Air Force Exchange Service-Europe (AAFES).

His military career has included assignments as special adviser to the Royal Thai Army in Southeast Asia; special assistant to the commander in chief, U.S. Pacific Command in Hawaii; battalion commander in Hawaii; Pentagon duty with the deputy chief of staff for logistics in Washington and deputy commander of the U.S. Army Logistics Center at Fort Lee, Va.

Wheeler received the Marshall Alumni Association's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1983. His military awards include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Services Commendation Medal and the Army Commendation Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

He earned the Master of Business Administration degree from Pepperdine University and also graduated from the Army Command and General Staff College and the U.S. Army War College.

He and his wife, the former Beatrice Britt Thomas, also a 1958 Marshall graduate, are the parents of three daughters.

Clagg said future speakers on the Sesquicentennial schedule include Marvin A. Stone, deputy director of the U.S. Information Agency and former editor of U.S. News & World Report; Burl Osborne, editor of the Dallas Morning News, and Milton Supman, known throughout the nation as radio and television comedian Soupy Sales.

Dr. Margaret C. Campbell, who retired last year as professor of education after 30 years of service to Marshall, was presented the Distinguished Service Award during the Marshall University Honors Convocation held Feb. 24. The award was presented by Dr. Allen A. Mori, dean of the College of Education. Mori said the award was presented to Dr. Campbell for her outstanding work in education, her pioneering efforts to better education statewide through programs such as the Head Start Program and, through her work, the enhancement of the entire university community.

Committee discusses faculty status

(The following summary of the Jan. 30 and Feb. 5 meetings of the Marshall University Faculty Personnel Committee was taken from minutes submitted by Kathryn H. Chezick, secretary.)

Judy Sortet, who replaced Diana Owens as the FPC representative from the School of Nursing, was introduced, and the minutes of the Dec. 3 meeting were approved.

Robert D. Sawrey read a response from Graduate School Dean Leonard J. Deutsch to the FPC regarding the status of the proposed reduced teaching loads for members of the graduate faculty.

According to Deutsch, the proposal was determined to be financially unrealistic by the Deans Council. The Graduate Council had passed the motion to recommend the reduction of teaching loads as a "companion piece" to their recommended new eligibility guidelines for graduate faculty members.

However, the new guidelines are being implemented, while the teaching loads are to remain the same. It was the consensus of the FPC that if additional research and scholarly activities are expected of members of the graduate faculty, then their teaching loads must be reduced accordingly. If this cannot be done, the new guidelines should not be imposed. Either both proposals should be implemented, or neither should. Sawrey will send a memo to President Dale F. Nitzschke stating the FPC's position.

President Nitzschke had indicated to the FPC in September that action on the Marshall University proposal mandated by BOR PB 36.11.b.

Staff Council meets

(The following report on the Jan. 22 meeting of the Marshall University Classified Staff Council was submitted by Peggy Theis, secretary.)

Cards:

Rowena Napier suggested that council designate a person to send cards to members who are ill and to those who have had a death in their family. Linda Bondurant volunteered to be the contact person. She may be contacted at 696-3164.

Legislative Network:

Jane Vickers, coordinator of the legislative network was unable to attend the meeting, but Gloria Rickman reported that Ms. Vickers had completed the "Phone Network for Council" and it would be distributed to members.

Snow Policy:

Ms. Rickman distributed a revised policy statement regarding classified staff's responsibility during inclement weather. The policy, as it affects all employees, remains the same in that all employees are expected to report for work regardless of weather conditions, or take annual leave or a day without pay.

Holiday:

A discussion was held regarding the paid holiday schedule. It was agreed that there is some question as to whether holidays are based on a calendar year or academic year. Zanna Crager said that Registrar Robert Eddins would draft a letter asking the Board of Regents for their interpretation of the policy. The number of paid holidays differs depending on what schedule the university follows. Council will wait for the BOR interpretation.

Election Committee:

Ms. Rickman advised the council that an Election Committee should be formed. Georgia Childers was selected to chair the committee, which will consist of one representative from each of the council's seven divisions.

Ms. Childers also was selected to chair a committee to study the legalities of whether the elected representative to the BOR should be a past or present member of the Classified Staff Council. The committee also will draft guidelines.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:15 p.m.

(Termination Due to Reduction or Discontinuance of an Existing Program) would be deferred until after the vote on the Faculty Senate proposal. Sawrey requested that action on the 36.11.b. proposal be taken as soon as possible.

Virginia Plumley agreed to write the final draft of the sabbatical leave form and a cover letter to send to Vice President for Academic Affairs Carol A. Smith.

Sawrey reported that he had discussed the issue of faculty evaluation of administrators with Vice President Smith. She proposed that administrators be evaluated only in terms of their job descriptions and that there be a reciprocal evaluation of faculty by administrators.

Sawrey and Vice President Smith agreed on a revision of the composition of the committee to draft the evaluation policy and procedures, which had been recommended by the FPC on Nov. 5.

A motion was passed to recommend to President Nitzschke that the committee be composed of two members from the FPC, one member from Academic Planning and Standards, one member from the Graduate Council, one member from the University Council, one dean appointed by the president, the vice president for academic affairs or her appointee, one other administrator appointed by the president, and one faculty member appointed by the Faculty Personnel Committee.

Sawrey reported that Carol Smith had presented the Merit Guidelines Proposal to the Deans Council. The Deans Council rejected the proposal because it confused merit with equity. The committee felt strongly that as this issue affected faculty only, the policy would be determined by faculty. A motion was passed to send a letter to the vice president for academic affairs reiterating FPC's position on the merit guidelines issue.

Sawrey reported that fewer than 50 classes were evaluated using the new procedures last semester and that complaints, particularly from the College of Science, were numerous. He also indicated that the charge for a university-wide evaluation system had not come from the BOR as he had been told.

The consensus of the committee was that the procedure should not be used again, until the entire issue of evaluation was re-examined.

During the Feb. 5 meeting, Bryan Larsen, a new FPC member representing the School of Medicine, was introduced.

Robert Sawrey said he had discussed the Merit Guidelines issue with Don Williams, chairman of the Budget and Appropriations Committee, who concurred with the Faculty Personnel Committee's decision of Jan. 30 to re-submit the original recommendation.

Sawrey informed the committee that the recommendations of the ad hoc committee on promotion and tenure, revising sections VII and VIII of the Greenbook, had never been approved. A motion was passed to direct Sawrey to discuss and request action on this issue before the next FPC meeting.

Committee members also questioned why this year's Greenbook or Greenbook supplement had not been received.

Virginia Plumley reported that according to Sherri Noble, administrative assistant in the academic affairs office, the BOR sabbatical leave form may not be altered and that Marshall University requires no additional information on the BOR form. Ms. Plumley will revise the draft of the MU form accordingly for the next meeting.

The committee discussed the procedure for student evaluation of faculty and the criticisms of the procedure that had been made. The committee agreed that if the procedure is to succeed, it must be supported by and administered through the Academic Affairs Office.

The meeting was adjourned at 2:55 p.m.

Sweet deal offered

The main desk in Memorial Student Center has started offering weekly specials on particular items of Brach's candy.

Ray Welty, director of auxiliary services, said that discounts of up to 20 percent would be offered each week on a different kind of Brach's candy. This week, Brach's Starlight Mints have been on sale at a 20 percent discount.

Golden Mint Patties will be on sale the week of March 9-15. Prices will be 75¢ for one-fourth pound, $1.50 for one-half pound and $3 for one pound.

MU faculty and staff achievements

AYLIN ATAKKAAN, Department of Biological Sciences graduate student, was the senior author of a poster presentation titled "Analysis of Mutagenic Activity in Kanawha River Sediments: Preliminary Results" which was presented at the second annual Scientific Symposium of the Ohio River Basin Consortium for Research and Education held Nov. 17-18 in Wheeling. Co-authors of the presentation were: Dr. MARCUS C. WALDRON, Dr. ALAN R. WHITE, M. DALE ADKINS, and ANNE HOYLMAN, all of the Department of Biological Sciences.

NEAL ADKINS and KYLE McMULLEN, associate professors of accounting, attended the 19th annual Trends in Education of Accountants Seminar and Computer Workshop held at Virginia Tech Nov. 6-7.

WILLIAM J. RADIG, associate professor and acting chairman of accounting, attended a conference titled "West Virginia--A Home for Distribution Centers" held Oct. 23 in Charleston, and attended the Economic Development Seminar held at the Huntington Civic Center Nov. 13.

DONALD A. WAHLMAN, assistant professor of accounting, attended the National Association of Accountants Seminar held Nov. 14 in Roanoke, Va.

Dr. W. BLAKER BOLLING, associate professor of management, presented a paper titled "Monitoring Outpatient Satisfaction" at the 1986 Southern Management Association meeting Nov. 12-15 in Atlanta.

NEAL ADKINS, associate professor of accounting, CHARLES D. WEBB, associate professor of accounting, CHUCK ROBERTS, assistant professor of accounting, and ALLEN GALLOWAY, instructor of accounting, attended the 1986 Federal Income Tax Law Revision Seminar held in Huntington Nov. 17-18.

Dr. PETER BARR, assistant professor of management, and Dr. BLAKER BOLLING presented their paper titled "Simulation of a Production Line" at the 1986 Southern Management Association meeting. Dr. DINESH DAVE, assistant professor of management, was a co-author of the paper.

Dr. HAROLD T. MURPHY, professor and chairman of the Department of Modern Languages, and MARIA DOMINGUEZ, instructor of Spanish, attended the 1986 joint meeting of the Southern Conference on Language Teaching and Florida Foreign Language Association held Oct. 16-18 in Orlando. MURPHY is West Virginia's representative to the conference.

FRED R. REENSTJERNA, assistant manager of housing, made a presentation titled "Dressing the Elephants: Babar as a Metaphor of the French Colonial Mind" at the Monterey Institute of International Studies' Sixth Symposium of International Studies held Nov. 21-23 in Monterey, Cal. KEITH PETERS of the Division of Social Studies was a co-author of the paper.

Dr. BARBARA P. GUYER, associate professor of education, and six Marshall students attended the 37th annual conference of The Orton Dyslexia Society held in Philadelphia Nov. 13-15. GUYER made a presentation titled "Dyslexic College Students Need H.E.L.P. (Higher Education for Learning Problems). GUYER, coordinator of the Learning Disabilities Program at Marshall, explained the university's program which combines academic tutoring and multisensory alphabetic phonetic training. The students who attended were: REBECCA HOYLMAN, KIMBERLY BETTER, MORTON BOYD, SCOTT BENNETT, MARTY DOUGLAS and TINA KIMBLE.

EDGAR W. MILLER, director of student financial assistance, was one of a small number of financial aid directors from throughout the country to be invited to Chicago by the College Board, which is responsible for the College Scholarship Service, to provide suggestions regarding new regulations for financial aid applications.

Dr. DAVID R. WOODWARD, chairman and professor of history, has been awarded a Travel to Collections grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities to conduct research in English archives during the first half of 1987.

KATHY L. WILSON, assistant professor marketing and business education, has been appointed to serve on a national council for DECA, representing teacher education. She also served as a panelist for a collegiate forum at the North Atlantic Regional Conference held in Washington, D.C., Nov. 6-9.

Dr. CHRISTOPHER L. DOLMETSCH, associate professor of modern languages, has contributed a review of Robert E. Cazden's "A Social History of the German Book Trade in America to the Civil War" to the fall issue of The German Quarterly. He contributed a review of Hermann Broschenstein's "Selected Essays on German Literature" and a review of Henry J. Schmidt's translation of the "Complete Works and Letters of Georg Buchner" to the November issue of CHOICE.

The Department of Educational Media hosted a library/media workshop for 150 students from 16 junior and senior high schools in West Virginia on Nov. 10. The workshop included sessions in computer graphics, silk screening, poster production, computerized lettering, book mending, and suggestions for the vertical file. Assisting with the workshop were: Dr. VIRGINIA PLUMLEY, Dr. ELEANOR TERRY, JO ANN JORDAN, SHARON GATES, VICKIE SEGUIN, JIM SHOTT and CARLTON HUGHES.

Dr. BILLY K. GORDON, associate professor of educational administration, was a presenter at the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA-I) Administrators Workshop held Dec. 4-5, at Pipestem State Park. He made two separate presentations on "Clinical Supervision."

Dr. ROGER L. ADKINS, associate professor of economics, has had a short article titled "Elasticity and Club Dues" selected for inclusion in the third edition of "Great Ideas for Teaching Economics" by Ralph Burns and Gerald Stone.

Dr. SUSAN DeMESQUITA, associate professor of physiology, and MARY ANN MANAKKIL GRIFFITH, sophomore medical student, and STEPHANIE ANN SKOLIK, ophthalmology resident at Oschner Medical Foundation in New Orleans, attended the 16th annual meeting of the Society for Neuroscience held Nov. 9-14 in Washington, D.C., where they presented their research on "Effect of clonidine withdrawal on cardiopulmonary control during sleep."

Dr. CLARA REESE, associate professor in the Department of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, gave a slide/tape presentation titled "Career Exploration Clubs of West Virginia" at the American Vocation Association Convention held Dec. 5-10 in Dallas.

Dr. STEVEN MEWALDT, professor of psychology, presented a paper titled "Nitrous Oxide and Human State-Dependent Memory" at the national convention of the Psychonomic Society held recently in New Orleans.

Dr. CHRISTOPHER L. DOLMETSCH, associate professor of modern languages, attended the annual convention of the Modern Language Association held Dec. 27-30 in New York City.

Dr. ROBERT L. DINGMAN, professor in the Department of Counseling and Rehabilitation, has been appointed to the Board of Examiners in Counseling.

THOMAS A. LOVINS, director of intramural and recreational services, presented a paper titled "The Impact of Innovative Sports" at the Regional II Workshop of the National Intramural/Recreational Sports Association held in Charleston, S.C., Dec. 4-6. He also serves as a consultant on the Innovative Sports Committee and will present a paper at the national conference in New Orleans in April.

Dr. VIOLETTE C. EASH, associate professor of counseling and rehabilitation, designed and conducted a two-hour workshop on "Understanding Kids" for the staff of the Huntington, Parkersburg and Charleston Boys Clubs held Jan. 10 in Huntington.

Dr. GABRIELLE du VERGLAS, director of the Autism Training Center, gave an invited presentation at the annual Asociacion Pro Ninos y Adultos Autistas, Inc., held Dec. 5 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Her presentation was titled "Autism: An Interdisciplinary Perspective" and was simultaneously translated in Spanish. She also presented a description of the Marshall University Autism Training Center to an audience at San Juan University.

(Continued on page 6)

Forty businesses to attend Job Fair

More than 40 business organizations are expected to participate in Marshall University's 13th annual Business and Career Job Fair on Wednesday, March 18, from 1 to 4 p.m. in Memorial Student Center, according to Reginald Spencer, director of Marshall's Career Planning and Placement Center.

"The program provides an ideal opportunity for stu-

Training programs set

The Training and Development Division of the Marshall University Office of Personnel will offer the following workshops the week of March 9-13.

- Cash Handling Security, March 9, 9 to 10:30 a.m.
 - Guard Against Attack, March 10, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.
 - Guard Against Attack, March 11, 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.
 - Dealing With Difficult People, March 13, 9 to 11 a.m.
 - Substance Abuse Workshop, March 19, 1 to 4:30 p.m.
- Teacher's Insurance Annuity Association (TIAA) presentations on "Retirement: New Tax Laws," "SRA: New Tax Laws," and "Total Disability" will be held at various times March 16-18.

Presentations on filling out the new W-4 tax forms will be held at various times on March 19-20.

To obtain further details about the programs, or other workshops scheduled for employees, contact the Marshall University Office of Personnel, 696-6455.

Death Notices

Fred Robinson Smith, 77, of Barboursville died Monday, Feb. 23, in Cabell Huntington Hospital.

He served as comptroller and business manager for Marshall University for 37 years before retiring and was a pioneer in establishing driver's education in West Virginia. He was active in organizing Little League baseball in the Huntington, Hite-Saunders and Barboursville areas, and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Army in North Africa.

He was born July 2, 1909, in Platt Bridge, England, a son of the late John and Marjorie Robinson Smith of McComas, W.Va.

Survivors include his wife, Marian Moore Smith; two sons, Scott Robinson Smith of Lexington, Ky., and Donald Boley Smith of Huntington; and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Ridgelawn Memorial Park, Huntington.

Airman First Class Christopher Gene Turner, 21, of Huntington died Friday, Feb. 6, in Sardinia, Italy, as the result of an automobile accident.

He was a son of Edward and Willa Mae Turner of Huntington, and was a three-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force. His mother is a building service worker at Marshall University.

Additional survivors include four sisters, Angelica J. Turner and Doresia N. Goodson, both of Huntington, Pamela S. Turner of Lesage, and Urania E. Turner of Chicago; one brother, Edward Turner, serving in the U.S. Navy at San Diego, Calif.; one niece and six nephews.

Burial was in Forest Lawn Memorial Gardens in Huntington.

dents to informally discuss the job market and employment opportunities with prospective employers," said Spencer.

Among the participants will be banks, consumer product firms, utilities, insurance companies, military services, governmental agencies and service organizations.

"We are pleased with the number of businesses that have indicated interest in participating in the program this year," Spencer said. "Based on previous fairs, we anticipate that 250 to 300 students and recent graduates will attend."

Sponsors for this year's event include the Marshall University Accounting Club, Alpha Kappa Psi, the National Management Association, the American Marketing Association, the local Huntington Rotary Club and the Career Planning and Placement Center.

Organizations interested in participating in the Business and Career Job Fair should contact Spencer at the MU Career Planning and Placement Center, 696-2370.

MU Psychology Clinic to offer four programs

Marshall University's Psychology Clinic will sponsor four different workshops beginning the week after spring break.

Workshops will include "Weight Reduction," "Improving Your Self-Image," "Coping With Depression," and "Care and Feeding of a Relationship."

The groups are open free to students, faculty and staff and will be held once a week for six consecutive weeks beginning March 16.

To reserve a place in one of the groups or obtain further details contact the Marshall University Psychology Department, 696-6479.

Self-defense class set

The Marshall University Women's Center will sponsor a series of Self-Defense Seminars on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Henderson Center beginning March 16 and continuing through April 29.

Lester Cohen, a clinical psychologist and martial arts expert, will instruct the course, which has been designed to prepare individuals to better prevent, defuse and escape from an assaultive situation.

Marshall students, faculty and staff will be admitted free. There will be a $30 registration fee for the general public. To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Women's Center, 696-3112.

Workshop catalogs available

All Marshall University employees should have received a Training and Development Catalog of Workshops through the campus mail, according to Mary Lynn Lenkiewicz, coordinator of training and development.

If you have not received a catalog, contact the Office of Personnel. Ms. Lenkiewicz has requested that persons who received extra copies of the catalog return them to her since there may be a shortage.

MU Council discusses Quinlan grants

(The following report on the Feb. 25 meeting of the University Council was submitted by Kelli Burns, stenographer.)

The Marshall University Council met at 3 p.m. in the President's Conference Room in Old Main. Guests included Bob Sawrey (sitting in for council member Chris Dolmetsch) and Donna Spindel, chairwoman of the Quinlan Endowment Committee.

After the minutes of the Jan. 28 meeting were approved, the following issues were discussed.

Report from Quinlan Committee:

Donna Spindel presented the criteria and guidelines developed by the Quinlan Committee. She reiterated the point that the monies made available by the Quinlan endowment are designed to be separate from those already available to the colleges and are not to render other travel funds inactive.

Spindel said the budget for the Quinlan funds probably will be $20,000 annually. She noted that since it is impossible to tell how many applications the committee will receive in a given period, there will be three deadlines for applications.

Grants will be made on a two for one matching basis. The point that applicants must raise or provide a $100 minimum caused much discussion.

Rainey Duke asked why the first $100 must be put up from somewhere else since Marshall now possibly has enough money to fund travel expenses for faculty. Spindel replied that there probably will be competition for these supplemental funds, and that most likely, no money would be left over. She said, however, that the committee is working on a trial and error basis and has the freedom to change any of the expenditure guidelines in the future if it needs to.

She also said that applications should be submitted as soon as possible, even if the conference or travel is months away. She said it would be helpful to the committee if a faculty member or department can submit in advance dates of important meetings or conferences for which funds might be requested.

The status of sabbaticals also was discussed. Spindel said that her committee had not specifically talked about funding for sabbaticals, but that this topic would be brought up at the next meeting.

Committee to Study Student Fees:

Rainey Duke presented the names of the 10 people submitted by each college and the vice president for academic affairs for the Committee to Study Student Fees. From the list of nominees, University Council elected Bruce Greenwood from the College of Fine Arts to serve on the committee.

Faculty Profile Report:

John Frassinelli, student body president, asked council's opinion of a proposed Student Government Faculty Profile System. He said that the faculty profile sheet could help students schedule classes.

Each faculty member would be asked to fill out a brief information form for every class. The University Council unanimously approved the concept, noting that the funds would come from the Student Government Association. Council also recommended that Frassinelli take this idea to the Faculty Personnel Committee.

Senate Document Ballots:

Registrar Robert Eddins informed council that he had chosen three faculty members to count the secret ballots for the Faculty Senate proposal and has set the time of counting for Thursday, Feb. 26, at 8:30 a.m.

The next University Council meeting will be held Wednesday, March 25, at 3 p.m. in the President's Conference Room.

Three organizations receive recognition

(The following summary of the Feb. 20 meeting of the Marshall University Student Conduct and Welfare Committee was submitted by Dr. Nell C. Bailey.)

Joe Stone reported on the recent meeting with chairpersons of standing committees. He reminded the secretary of the format for minutes and to send a summary of all meetings to the MU News Letter within one week after the committee meets.

Educational Records Subcommittee:

Nell Bailey reported she had received feedback and that she would analyze the data and hold one more meeting. She emphasized that the committee should have a report at its March meeting.

Grievance Policy:

In the absence of any written policy in the Academic Affairs Office, the committee voted to recommend to President Nitzschke the changes Ombudsperson Donna Preston brought to the committee at the last meeting.

Student Organizations:

Three new student organizations, the Social Studies Club, College Bowl and the School of Medicine Family Practice Club, were approved for university recognition.

Joe Marshman, coordinator of student activities, requested that the committee grant him permission to give a blanket exception to student organizations such as honor societies that, because of limited prospects, do not have seven members. A consensus of SCWC recommended that Marshman take groups through the regular process, and that the subcommittee (Scott Brunetti and Joe Stone) serve as consultants.

Offices need envelopes

The Career Planning and Placement Center and the University Relations Office are in need of both small and large campus envelopes.

Departments that have surplus campus envelopes are requested to send them to these offices.

Personnel personal...

Carla J. Bailey, administrative aide in the Office of Personnel, was married to Gary Cook on Jan. 30 at the High-lawn Baptist Church in Huntington. Their address is Route 1, Box 102, Chesapeake, OH 45619.

Swimming lessons set

Marshall University's Office of Intramurals will offer swimming lessons for children and adults beginning Monday, March 16, according to Sharon Stanton, activities supervisor for intramural and recreational services.

Lessons will be held for three different age groups, and each class will be limited to 15 participants.

Lessons for children aged 3 to 5 will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 11 a.m. to noon in Gullickson Pool. The fee will be $25.

Beginning lessons for children aged six and up will be held Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 5 p.m. in Gullickson Pool. The fee will be $36.

Classes for beginning adults will be held Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 8 p.m. in Henderson Center. The fee will be $36.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Intramural Office, 696-6477.

No publication next week

The MU News Letter will not be published Thursday, March 12, due to spring break. The next publication date will be Thursday, March 19.