

1-14-1977

Marshall University News Letter, January 14, 1977

Office of Informational Services

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu\_news\_letter

---

Recommended Citation

Office of Informational Services, "Marshall University News Letter, January 14, 1977" (1977). Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986. Paper 90.

http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu\_news\_letter/90

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.

News Letter

January 14, 1977

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25704

Moshe Dayan to speak on campus Feb. 20

Israeli statesman Moshe Dayan will speak at Marshall University on Sunday, Feb. 20, at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

His topic will be "Middle East Perspective." Following his speech, Dayan will answer questions from the audience.

Dayan's visit is sponsored by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., in cooperation with the Huntington Jewish community, according to Lynne Mayer, administrative assistant in the president's office.

The lecture, which will be free and open to the public, will culminate the local observance of National Brotherhood Week, said Mrs. Mayer, who is coordinating Dayan's campus arrangements.

"We hope that General Dayan's visit will enhance community relations and promote a better understanding of the Middle East situation as it relates to and affects each of us," Mrs. Mayer said.

A former minister of Defense and Armed Forces General Staff Chief for five years, the 61-year-old Dayan has been involved in the military policies and political growth of Israel since his early teens when he was a member of the Haganah, the underground Jewish defense force.

During World War II, he was attached to reconnaissance and commando units which preceded the allied troops' invasion of Syria. It was in that campaign that he was wounded, losing his left eye.

During Israel's War of Independence, he commanded a mechanized battalion in the Jordan Valley. Rising rapidly through the ranks, he became Chief of General Staff with the rank of major general in 1953.

As top commander, his principal impact on the Army was to develop the fighting spirit of the Israeli soldier through rigorous training, ingenuity in combat, and unorthodox tactics which were reflected in daring forays behind the enemy lines. The confrontations was climaxed by the Sinai Campaign in October, 1956, when the Egyptian forces were driven from the Sinai Peninsula in 100 hours of fighting.

In May 1967, under the threat of Egyptian invasion, and following the popular demand in the country for "the hero of the Sinai Campaign," Dayan was appointed Minister of Defense and was a major factor in Israel's victory in the Six-Day War.

Often described by journalists and others as unconventional, daring and outspoken, Dayan currently is a member of the Israeli Parliament.

Board approves phys. ed. facility

The West Virginia Board of Regents at its January meeting approved a report from the consulting firm of Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates which recommends construction of a multi-purpose physical education facility at Marshall University adjacent to Gullickson Hall.

At the same time, the report recommends acquisition of property immediately south of the university to provide for outdoor instruction and recreation, as well as parking. The property includes the area between Fifth and Sixth avenues from Elm Street to 19th Street.

The report also calls for acquisition of one parcel in the 1800 block of the south side of Third Avenue as well as the entire 1900 block on the south side of Third Avenue. The university already has acquired most of the 1800 block.

Total cost of the project, including land acquisition and development, is estimated at between $22 million and $25 million.

Cost of the multi-purpose facility alone, including a total renovation of Gullickson Hall, will be approximately $18 million.

The arena section of the facility will include 11,000 seats, all movable. The Sverdrup & Parcel recommendation calls for new construction of 208,000 square feet, in addition to the Gullickson Hall renovation. Under the plan, Gullickson Hall will, in effect, be "absorbed" into the multi-purpose facility.

Details of the report were revealed Jan. 4 in a news conference held in the Marshall Memorial Student Center by Board of Regents President Edward H. Greene, Chancellor Ben Morton and Marshall President Robert B. Hayes. Also participating were James L. Haack and Lawrence H. Smith of Sverdrup and Parcel.

The building will include a natatorium, physical education instruction stations, offices, and facilities for intramural sports and recreation. It will be completely air-conditioned.

The new construction will displace several tennis courts which are used for physical education instruction purposes. These will be relocated in the 1900 block of the south side of Third Avenue. A major outdoor intramural and recreation field adjacent to Gullickson will not be affected, nor will Marshall's new eight-lane, all-weather track.

Haack said the building will be done in phases in order that Gullickson Hall might remain in use until the new construction is completed. At that time, activities now housed in Gullickson will be shifted and the renovation program will be initiated.

Haack said the total construction-renovation project will take about two years.

MU United Way gifts exceed goal

Marshall University's 1976 United Way campaign exceeded its goal by nearly 1%, according to Neal G. Adkins, campus United Way chairman.

The university community donations totaled $12,116.72, Adkins reported. The Marshall goal was $12,000. Donations for this year were up 12% over 1975, Adkins said.

Calling Marshall's fund raising efforts "outstanding," Charles J. Kiser, United Way Campaign chairman, extended his appreciation to the university community and the campaign workers for their dedication.

Announcements...

Dr. W. Thurmon Whitley, associate professor of mathematics, has been named acting chairman of the department, according to Dr. George J. Harbold, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The former chairman, Dr. John Hogan, requested to be relieved of the chairmanship in order to return to full-time teaching, Dr. Harbold said.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

Processing of final grades for the first semester was greatly expedited by the promptness with which most faculty members turned in final grade reports. Those who cooperated in observing the 48-hour period for reporting each section separately were especially helpful. Thank you very much for your assistance in helping the clerical staff get the job done prior to the holiday period so as to mail student grade reports on time.

A. M. Tyson
Vice President for Academic Affairs

1977 SUMMER SEMINARS

The National Endowment for the Humanities has announced the 1977 Summer Seminars. Over 1,200 faculty

NEWCOMERS

New to the campus are:

ROCHELLE L. WENGER, assistant for admissions, School of Medicine, and DONNA S. SPENCER, secretary to the director of admissions.

Welcome to Marshall!

Campus job openings

Marshall's Personnel Office has announced openings for the following:

Secretary/Receptionist, Special Services/Upward Bound, closes Jan. 15.

Maintenance Worker, Housing, (Temporary until 6/30), closes Jan. 15.

Secretary, Occupational, Adult and Safety Education, closes Jan. 15.

For further details or to apply for the above contact the Personnel Office, Old Main 207.

Personnel personals

Pat Compton, secretary for the Nursing Education Department recently moved to Ashland, Ky. Her new address is 2520 Oaklawn Court, Ashland. Mrs. Compton has been with the department for two years.

Have you moved? Gotten married? Just plain proud of some accomplishment of yourself, spouse or children? There is a place in your News Letter for such personal items. We'll publish the information if you will drop a note to Judith Casto in the Office of Informational Services.

will be selected to attend more than 100 seminars with stipends of $2,000 plus travel for the two-month program. A wide variety of topics will be treated with opportunities for individual research.

Interested faculty may review the listing in the Graduate School Office. Deadline for completed applications is March 15.

Paul D. Stewart
Dean, Graduate School

DOCTORATE RECEIVED

James R. Wilson, assistant professor of speech pathology, has received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Denver, according to Dr. A.M. Tyson, vice president for academic affairs.

Dr. Wilson's dissertation is entitled "Systematic Desensitization Combined with Electromyographic Biofeedback as a Therapeutic Technician in Stuttering Remediation."

EMERITUS CLUB

Weather permitting, the Emeritus luncheon will be held at the Uptowner on Wednesday, Jan. 17, at noon. Timothy (Tim) Mallory, a singer from Huntington East High School, will play and sing his own compositions.

Music Dept. plans Careers Day program

The Marshall University Music Department will sponsor its fourth annual Music Careers Day for area high school students on Saturday, Jan. 22, beginning with registration at 8:15 a.m. in Smith Music Hall.

More than 250 people are expected to attend the daylong program, according to Dr. James Taggart, MU professor of music and event coordinator. The program, featuring MU music faculty members and guest professionals from the region, will include seminars on music careers, a concert by MU music ensembles and special discussions on college music study, Taggart said.

Students in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades in West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southern Ohio schools, high school music teachers, counselors, parents, church music directors and private teachers may attend.

During the morning session, Marshall music faculty members will talk with students about college music programs and what is expected of students.

At 10:45 a.m., there will be a concert by the Marshall Symphonic Choir, Wind Symphony and Student Brass Quintet.

After lunch, panel discussions will be conducted in three areas: teaching, performance, and non-teaching and allied fields. Students may spend the afternoon in one discussion group or divide their time among the three areas.

Guest speakers and their areas of expertise are:

-Church Music, Sandra Rogers, director of music at Huntington's First United Methodist Church.

-Public School Teaching, Elinor Copenhaver, Cabell County Public Schools music director.

-Music Therapy, Dr. Michael Kellog, registered musical therapist and music therapy director at Ohio University.

-Arts Management, James Martin, director of the Marshall University Artists Series.

-Private Studio Teaching, Elizabeth Johnson of Ashland, Ky., private piano teacher.

Faculty and staff achievements, activities...

DR. E. BOWIE KAHLE, assistant professor of biological sciences, attended the New York Academy of Sciences Bicentennial Conference at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, on Dec. 1-3. The conference theme was "Food and Nutrition in Health and Disease."

DR. STEVEN HATFIELD, associate professor of mathematics, has been notified that his article, "Thoughts on Mathematics," was reprinted in the September, 1976, issue of the Ontario Mathematics Gazette. The article originally appeared in the March, 1976, issue of Mathematics in Michigan.

DR. MAURICE A. MUFSON, chairman of the Department of Medicine, spoke Dec. 4 at the general session of the American Medical Association's 30th Clinical Convention on "Recent Advances in Respiratory Virus Vaccines."

DR. CHARLES M. WOODFORD, associate professor of speech, was chairman of a workshop on "Middle Ear Measurement and Electronystagmography" held at Holtzer Medical Center, Gallipolis, Ohio, Dec. 18. Other workshop speakers include Dr. Jerry Northern and Dr. Darrel Teter, from the basic sciences faculty of the University of Colorado Medical School at Denver, and Dr. Ronald Wilkinson, with Ear, Nose and Throat Associates of Charleston. DR. WOODFORD also has an article, "Asymptotic Noise-induced Temporary Threshold Shift in Chinchilla Measured by the Auditory Evoked Response," in Audiology 16:11-20, 1977.

DR. LEONARD J. DEUTSCH and ANN LENNING, assistant professors of English, have an article-interview, "Is Appalachian Literature an Ethnic Literature," in the winter issue of MELUS (Multi-Ethnic Literature of the United States), Vol. 3, No. 4.

DR. JAMES E. MORELAND, chairman of the Anatomy Department, attended the Silver Jubilee Conference of the Anatomical Society of India at Lucknow, India, Dec. 29-Jan. 2. He was one of two representatives of the American Association of Anatomists attending the meeting.

TERRY L. MYERS, assistant coordinator, Career Planning and Placement, attended the National Workshop for Conference Personnel in Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 5-10. The workshop, presented in cooperation with the National University Extension Association, was sponsored by the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

Faculty Advisory Council report

The Faculty Advisory Council of the West Virginia Board of Regents met on December 10 and considered the following items of business:

1. In his report to the Council the Chancellor dealt with the following matters:

Feb. 3 concert set by

John Hartford, Hickory Wind

The Mini-Concert Committee of Marshall University's Student Activities Office will sponsor a concert by Bluegrass musician John Hartford and Hickory Wind at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3, at the Keith Albee Theater.

Hartford, who plays fiddle, banjo and six-string guitar, was seen regularly on The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour and gained national fame with his work on Campbell's recording of "Gentle On My Mind."

Shunning the label of Bluegrass, Hickory Wind prefers to call its music "Appalachian gypsy music." Composed of four young men from West Virginia and one "outsider," the group plays and sings folk music of the region, which grew out of the various European cultures of the people who settled in this area.

Tickets for the concert will be $3 for Marshall students and $5 for the general public. Tickets may be purchased on campus at Opus One in the Memorial Student Center.

Other Huntington ticket outlets include Stationers, Audio Tape and Records and the Keith-Albee Theater. In Charleston, tickets may be purchased at Pepperland and Turner's Records.

Sigma Xi to meet

Dr. George Kincaid, chief of water quality section, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of Sigma Xi Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Science Hall 211.

He will discuss the general limnology of man-made lakes. The meeting is open to anyone interested in the topic.

- (1) Re tuition waivers, 2,079 waivers, based on fall FTE, were granted. Of that number, approximately 56% went to in-state students and 44% to out-of-state. Alluding to the statute permitting such waivers, the Chancellor suggested that the Council of Presidents and Faculty Advisory Council determine the intent of that statute and make a recommendation to the Board by February.
- (2) The 1977-78 budget request has been submitted to the Governor's office and will be presented to the Legislature in February. The request, which exceeds by 19% the request for FY 76-77, allows for an average salary increase of 10% for professionally trained personnel; 2.2 million for additional teaching personnel; 1.3 million for non-professional personnel. It also includes funds for scholarship programs, capital improvements already in progress, and equipment.
2. Dr. Douglas Call of the Regents staff had been asked by the Council to discuss salaries, fringe benefits and sabbaticals. Copies of a summary analysis of sabbatical leaves granted in the fifteen public institutions during the years 1970-76 were distributed. The data revealed an increasing number of sabbaticals. Another appointment forced Dr. Call to limit his remarks to sabbaticals. He will discuss the other two items at the Council's January meeting.
3. The committee reviewing PB 40 (Delegation of Certain Personnel Authority and Responsibility to Presidents) asked that the item be deferred until February.
4. The Council voted to forward, with a slight revision in sentence structure, the proposed policy bulletin, Rights and Responsibilities of Television Teaching, to the Board.
5. The Council discussed the question of mandatory retirement. It was generally agreed that the six-hour provision is a good compromise. No action was taken. The matter will undoubtedly reappear on the agenda.

Agenda items for the January meeting include 1) salaries and fringe benefits, 2) tuition waivers, and 3) quality of evening and off-campus courses. Your comments or questions on these or other matters will be welcomed.

Frank Aldred
Representative
Advisory Council of Faculty