11-12-1987

MU NewsLetter, November 12, 1987

Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_newsletter

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_newsletter/14

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in MU Newsletter 1987-1999 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.
Memorial service will be held Friday, Nov. 13

A memorial service marking the 17th anniversary of the 1970 airplane crash which took place near Tri-State Airport will be held Friday, Nov. 13, at noon on the Memorial Student Center Plaza.

Seventy-five Marshall football players, coaches, administrators, students, friends from the community and flight crew members lost their lives in the crash.

The brief service will begin with the presentation of the colors by the Army ROTC and a presentation by the Marshall University Mass Choir.

Parker Ward, a local businessman and member of Marshall's Big Green Club, will make an address. His father was one of those killed in the crash.

Then Ward and MU Student Body President Brendan S. Leary will lay a wreath at the foot of Memorial Fountain and the fountain will be turned off until next year.

A moment of silence also will be observed during Marshall's football game with Western Carolina Saturday, Nov. 14, and flags at Fairfield Stadium and throughout Huntington will be flown at half-staff.

Mewaldt chosen as Marshall scholars representative

Dr. Steven P. Mewaldt, a professor of psychology at Marshall University, has been chosen by fellow faculty members as their Fall 1987 representative in the school's Meet-the-Scholar Program, President Dale F. Nitzschke has announced.

The program honors academic scholarship and research, Dr. Nitzschke said, and promotes interaction between Marshall scholars and the Tri-State community.

Mewaldt, who joined the Marshall faculty in 1975, conducts research on human memory and the ways drugs affect human learning and performance. He particularly has studied the effect of diazepam, better known by the brand name Valium, on memory. On this project he has worked with two colleagues at the University of Iowa, Drs. M.M. Ghoneim and J.V. Hinrichs.

"Dr. Mewaldt's productive, well-respected research has contributed significantly both to science and Marshall University," said Nitzschke. "He has represented Marshall with distinction in numerous publications and at scientific meetings.

"In addition to contributing through his research, he also promotes scholarly research through his supervision of student research, as well as through his leadership in the MU chapter of the research honorary Sigma Xi," he added.

Dr. Christopher Dolmetsch, chairman of the selection

Subcommittee to meet here

The West Virginia Legislature's Joint Subcommittee on Higher Education will pay its annual visit to Marshall University Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 19, according to MU President Dale F. Nitzschke.

Co-chairmen of the subcommittee are Senator Keith Burdette of Parkersburg and Delegate Gilbert Bailey of Princeton.

"The sessions with the subcommittee members are of great importance to Marshall," Nitzschke said. "While we will be afforded an opportunity to outline some of the positive things that are happening here, we'll also be able to discuss many of our problems with some of the key members of the Legislature."

The two-day visit will open Nov. 18 with a 9:30 a.m.

(Continued on page 2)
Mewaldt chosen scholar representative

(Continued from page 1)

Dr. Maddox is named executive assistant

(Continued from page 1)

In his new position, he will report directly to the president. Among new initiatives for which he will be responsible are development of a Marshall University Research Corporation and a flexible manufacturing program. He also will continue to oversee a range of existing programs, including the Center for Regional Progress, the statewide Center for Education and Research with Industry (CERI), the U.S. Economic Development Administration University Center, the Small Business Development Center, the Research Development and Training Center and the Institute for International Trade Development. "The research and economic development activities are so important that we decided it was necessary for Dr. Maddox to devote full time to these efforts," Nitzschke said. "I am pleased that we have an administrator with his experience and skills in this field and that he is willing to undertake the assignment on a full-time basis."

Maddox joined the Marshall faculty as an instructor in history in 1966 after earning his M.A. degree at MU earlier that year. A 1964 graduate of Morris Harvey College, he earned his Ph.D. in history from the University of Kentucky in 1974.

Rising through the academic ranks, he became a full professor in 1979 and was named Department of History chairman in 1980. He also served five years as director of Marshall's Oral History of Appalachia program.

He was appointed associate provost and dean of the Graduate School in 1983 and the title was changed to associate vice president for academic affairs in 1984. In addition to those responsibilities, he also served as acting vice president for institutional advancement and director of development for eight months in 1984-85.

A native of St. Albans, he served as a history teacher and chairman of the Social Studies Department at St. Albans High School early in his career. He also was a part-time instructor at Morris Harvey College now the University of Charleston.

His wife, Bonnie, is chairperson of the English Department at Charleston High School.

Mewaldt chosen scholar representative

At Marshall, he serves on the University Technical Advisory Group, the ad hoc committee on increasing faculty computer literacy, and the Legislative Liaison Committee. He is chairman of the university's Physical Facilities Committee. Previously, he has served on the Search Committee on Recruiting Excellent Students, the Research Board and its Awards Committee, and the State Task Force on Office Automation.

He also is chairman of the Psychology Department Research Ethics Committee and faculty advisor for the MU chapter of Psi Chi, a psychology honorary.

His research has been published in such journals as Psychopharmacology, Memory and Cognition, Clinical Pharmacology and Therapeutics, and the Journal of Experimental Psychology. His work has been presented at national and international conferences in the United States, Mexico, Canada, Finland and Sweden, and he has given an invited address at the University of London.

Mewaldt will meet with community leaders and discuss his research at a Nov. 16 reception at Nitzschke's home. At the ceremony, he will be given the plaque and $1,000 check which accompany the award.

Subcommittee to meet

(Continued from page 1)

session with the President's Cabinet, followed by an 11 a.m. meeting with the MU Board of Advisors. Afternoon sessions are scheduled with academic deans, 1 p.m.; classified employees, 2 p.m.; faculty, 3 p.m., and students, 4 p.m. All of the meetings will be held in Memorial Student Center.

The first day's activities will close with a 5:30 p.m. reception and dinner at Nitzschke's home.

Thursday, Nov. 19, the legislators will visit the Medical Education Building at the Veterans Administration Medical Center on Spring Valley Drive where they will meet with administrators at 9 a.m., tour the facilities at 10 a.m., meet with classified employees at 10:30 a.m., and meet with medical faculty at 11 a.m.

A "wrap-up" session with university administrators is scheduled for 2 p.m. in Memorial Student Center.

Other senators on the subcommittee are John Boettner of Charleston, J.D. Brackenrich of Lewisburg, Robert K. Holliday of Fayetteville, B. Ned Jones of Huntington, Sondra Moore Lucht of Martinsburg, Frederick L. Parker of Greenville and George Warner of Morgantown.

Other House members are Percy C. Ashcroft II of Clarksburg, Michael A. Buchanan of Morgantown, Dee Caperton of Charleston, Roy E. Givens of Wellsburg, Patricia O. Hartman of Huntington, Sterling Lewis Jr. of Daniels, Lyle Sattes of Charleston, Sharon Spencer of Charleston, Paul J. Otte of Wheeling and John Overington of Martinsburg.

Nitzschke said members of the Cabell-Wayne legislative delegation also have been invited to participate in the meetings.
Symposium will close Sesquicentennial

Sesquicentennial Committee Chairman Sam Clagg said the events have been designed to serve the dual purpose of honoring Marshall University's 150th anniversary and celebrating the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

The lecture series, "John Marshall Explained," will begin Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cabell County Public Library. Three Marshall University political science professors will make presentations during the first lecture series program.

The second lecture series program will be held Thurs-

Chinese professor to visit Marshall campus

Fulbright Scholar Ding Shulin of China will visit Marshall University Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 16-17.

He will address classes both days and be the guest at a public reception on Tuesday from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. in the Campus Christian Center.

Professor Ding served as the host for the West Virginia FACDIS (a state-wide consortium for international studies) tour of China during the summer of 1986. Four Marshall faculty members participated in the tour.

Ding teaches language, literature and calligraphy at Beijing Normal University. His visit to Marshall is being sponsored by the MU Social Studies Program and the College of Education.

To obtain further details contact Charles F. Gruber, MU Department of Social Studies, 696-2955.

Staff meeting scheduled

The next meeting of the Marshall University Classified Staff Council will be held Monday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Alumni Lounge.

Staff Council members who cannot attend should contact a member of the Executive Board prior to the meeting.

Symphonic Band to play

The Marshall University Symphonic Band will present a concert on Sunday, Nov. 15, at 3 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

The program will include varied works, from sacred music to comic pieces.

The concert is open to the public free of charge.

day, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Ebeneezer Community Outreach Center, 1660 Eighth Avenue, Huntington.

Dr. Simon D. Perry, chairman of Marshall’s Political Science Department, will make a presentation titled "John Marshall: An American Elitist," and Dr. Thomas C. Shevory, assistant professor of political science and symposium program director, will make a presentation titled "Constitutional Interpretation: John Marshall and Original Intent."

The lecture series will end Sunday, Nov. 22, with a performance of "The Chief Justice" at 8 p.m. in Marshall’s Smith Recital Hall.

A musical epic, "The Chief Justice" was composed by Dr. Paul W. Whear, professor and composer-in-residence in Marshall’s Music Department. It was written in 1975 and revised in 1976, when it represented West Virginia in the Cavalcade of States Bicentennial performances at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. The work covers three periods of John Marshall’s career.

The John Marshall Symposium will begin Monday, Nov. 23, with a panel discussion from 1:30 to 3:15 p.m. on the eighth floor of Smith Hall.

Titled "John Marshall: History, Biography, Historiography," the first session will feature Richard Brisbin, professor of political science at West Virginia University; Herbert Johnson, professor of law and history at the University of South Carolina; Richard K. Matthews, professor of political science at Lehigh University, and Dr. Clair W. Matz of Marshall.

Monday’s activities will continue with a dinner and reception sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha at 5:30 p.m. at the University Area Holiday Inn.

Following the dinner, the second performance of "The Chief Justice" will be held at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

Two panel discussions will be held Tuesday, Nov. 24. The first, from 9:30 to 11:45 a.m. on the eighth floor of Smith Hall, will be titled "John Marshall: Political Philosophy and Jurisprudence."

It will feature presentations by Robert K. Faulkner, chairman of the Boston College Political Science Department; Thomas Shevory of Marshall, and John Stookey, professor of political science at Arizona State University.

The second panel titled "John Marshall: Reason, Interpretation, Epistemology" will be held from 1:30 to 3:45 p.m. on the eighth floor of Smith Hall.

It will feature John Brigham, professor of political science at the University of Massachusetts; James Lennertz, professor of political science and philosophy at Grinnell College, and Michael Zuckert, professor of political science at Carlton College.

Dr. A.E. Dick Howard, the White Burkett Miller professor of law and public affairs at the University of Virginia and chairman of the Virginia Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, will make the closing presentation for the symposium at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154.

All of the activities will be open to the public. There will be an admission charge of $5 for adults and $2.50 for students and senior citizens for the musical programs. There also will be an admission charge for the dinner.

To make dinner reservations or obtain further details contact Charlene Anteman in the Marshall University Department of Political Science, 696-6636.
Marshall gets 'Diplomat in Residence'

Veteran diplomat Robert E. Barbour has been named Marshall University's first "Diplomat in Residence," according to MU Vice President for Academic Affairs Carol A. Smith.

Ambassador Barbour, who arrived in Huntington Wednesday, Nov. 4, will work with the Society of Yeager Scholars and will be actively involved with a variety of other classes at Marshall, Dr. Smith said. In addition, his services will be shared with the West Virginia College of Graduate Studies, Ashland (Ky.) Community College and the Ironton Branch of Ohio University. He also will be available to address community groups in Huntington, Charleston, Ashland and Ironton.

Barbour, who recently completed an assignment as United States ambassador to Suriname in South America, will have an office in the Society of Yeager Scholars Suite in Marshall's Old Main. His schedule will be coordinated by Dr. William N. Denman, director of the Yeager Scholars.

"Our first Diplomat in Residence is an exciting development as we continue to bring about new academic opportunities for the students of Marshall University," Dr. Smith said. "We're very pleased that the Foreign Service Institute, through the Center for the Study of Foreign Affairs, has selected Marshall to participate in this program."

Barbour will remain at Marshall until the end of January, she said.

Dr. Smith said the Diplomat in Residence program was established in 1964 and is based on the assumption that senior foreign service personnel can profit greatly from living for a protracted period in an American academic environment. Campuses not only reflect the nation's changing moods and values, but often are the places where these changes are initiated, she noted.

At the same time, she said, the presence of an experienced diplomat on campus can be a stimulating experience for both students and faculty.

Barbour joined the U.S. Foreign Service at the age of 21 in 1949 and was assigned to Basra, Iraq, as a clerk. After a later internship in the Department of State, he was assigned to Tokyo as an administrative assistant, from which he was transferred to Saigon, Vietnam, and later to Hue, where he was consul.

Following an assignment to Paris and then to Washington, D.C., as a desk officer for Western European Affairs, Barbour served in Rome as counselor, and then in London. He returned to Washington for a series of assignments, as executive assistant to the under secretary for political affairs, as a personnel officer in charge of performance evaluation, as director for Western Europe and as deputy assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Before his appointment as ambassador to the Republic of Suriname, he served five years as minister-counselor at the American Embassy in Madrid, Spain.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Barbour grew up in Memphis, Tenn. He received a bachelor's degree from the University of Tennessee in 1948 and also has attended George Washington and Georgetown universities, the Johns Hopkins School of International Studies and the Royal College of Defence Studies in London.

His wife, the former Nancy Francisco of Columbus, Ga., accompanied him to Huntington. They are the parents of three daughters.

Marshall/WVU will be out for blood

Marshall University and West Virginia University will once again compete to save lives by donating blood when the Red Cross holds its blood donor competition this month.

Marshall faculty and staff turned out last year to help MU win the competition for the second year in a row, but Marshall must once again donate more blood than WVU in order to keep the Red Cross trophy.

The Red Cross will collect blood at Marshall on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18-19, in Memorial Student Center from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 68 in good health is eligible to donate blood.

Participants will receive free Domino's pizza, "I Bleed Green" buttons and the Marshall Parking Office will excuse two parking tickets for each donation.

In addition, participants will be eligible to sign up to win a basketball autographed by the team. Two prints of Old Main also will be given away to donors, courtesy of the MU Alumni Association.

The trophy will be presented to the winning school during the Dec. 27 MU-WVU basketball game.

Penney Hall, Red Cross representative, said Marshall will have to work hard to keep the trophy, since MU won by only 48 units last year and WVU will make a concentrated effort to win the trophy this year.

Premiere to be held

The premiere performance of "The Fighting 69th," a play by MU alumnus Craig A. Johnson, will be presented at Marshall on Wednesday through Saturday, Nov. 18-21, at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

Johnson is a 1984 graduate of Marshall University's theatre program and currently serves as artistic director for the Overland Stage Company in Laramie, Wyo.

Johnson and Dr. N.B. East, who will direct the play, will be available following each performance to discuss the production and text of the play with interested members of the audience.

Tickets for the original comedy will be $4. To reserve tickets contact the Marshall University Box Office, 696-ARTS.

Lunchbag seminar set

The Marshall University Women's Center will sponsor a lunchbag seminar titled "Assertiveness" on Wednesday, Nov. 18, from noon to 1 p.m. in Prichard Hall Room 143.

Cindy Davis, a counselor with Special Services, will discuss how to develop an assertive style of communication and how our culture influences the way women communicate.

To obtain further details contact the Women's Center, 696-3112.
MU inclement weather policy reviewed

Extreme weather conditions or energy outages have resulted in disruption of normal operations at Marshall University on several occasions during past winters. Similar situations may occur in the future. With that possibility in mind, Marshall University has developed the following policy:

1. Although it may be necessary to suspend classes because of inclement weather or other problems on some occasions, offices will not be closed and all employees will be expected to report to work. Individual employees, for whom it is appropriate, may, in their best judgment, determine the risk of travel to be too great and elect to remain at home. Those who do so should contact their respective supervisors and indicate they are: (1) taking annual leave that day, or (2) taking a day off without pay, or (3) taking compensatory time, in the event compensatory time is owed them.

2. In the event that a building, or a section of a building, is closed (because of heat loss, power outage, etc.), employees working in the affected area will be permitted to take their work to another area or building on campus. Or, in consultation with the supervisor, the employee may elect to take annual leave that day, take the day off without pay, or take compensatory time off.

3. In the event of an extreme situation (tornado, flood, ice storm, campus disturbance, etc.) and the employees' presence is not desired on campus, this information will be disseminated to the news media. A decision as to whether the missed time will be chargeable to annual leave, compensatory time, or a non-pay situation will be determined by the president and communicated through supervisors on the first day normal campus operation is resumed.

4. Supervisors must take steps to ensure offices and/or work stations are open to employees at all times when those employees are expected to be at work, including inclement weather situations and other disruptive situations.

5. The President will notify the media by 7:00 a.m. of suspended classes for that day. A separate announcement will be made later in the day in regard to classes scheduled to begin at 4:00 p.m. or later.

Nurses to be recruited

The 11th annual Nurse Recruiting Fair will be held at Marshall University on Tuesday, Nov. 17, from noon to 4 p.m. in the W. Don Morris Room in Memorial Student Center.

The fair has been designed to provide opportunities for representatives from local, state and out-of-state health care facilities to meet and discuss employment opportunities with 1987-88 nursing graduates from Marshall University and St. Mary's Hospital, according to Reginald A. Spencer, director of the MU Career Planning and Placement Center.

Spencer said the program will be open to any Marshall nursing graduates who might be seeking new job opportunities. He also encouraged graduates from other health related programs to visit the fair in order to investigate employment possibilities.

Approximately 20 health agencies will be represented at the fair, sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center and the Marshall University School of Nursing.

Preregistration will not be necessary. To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Career Planning and Placement Center, 696-2370.

Piano concert scheduled

Yuval Fichman, winner of the 1986 Young Concert Artists International Auditions, will perform in concert at Marshall University on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

A highly regarded chamber musician, Fichman won the Chamber Music Prize of the Gina Bachauer International Piano Competition in 1984 and has performed with the Montreal, Vancouver, Toronto, Quebec, Winnipeg and Edmonton symphony orchestras.

He studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto and currently works with Fanny Waterman in Leeds, England.

Tickets for the performance will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for youth 17 and under.

A residency program including a lecture/demonstration is being planned for 3:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 19. To obtain further details contact the Marshall Artists Series Office, 696-6656.

Faculty, Senate meetings

The second general faculty meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 18, from 3 to 4 p.m. in the Shawkey Room in Memorial Student Center.

Faculty will have the opportunity to meet with members of the Legislative Higher Education Subcommittee "C".

All faculty members are urged to attend the meeting in order to demonstrate interest and concerns for the future of Marshall University, according to Rainey Duke, president of the Faculty Senate.

The November meeting of the Marshall University Faculty Senate will be held Nov. 17 at 4 p.m. in Corbly Hall Room 104.

The agenda will include a report from the Legislative Affairs Committee, a discussion of issues and approaches to the Higher Education Subcommi­ttee "C" visit of Nov. 18-19 (the meeting with faculty will be at 3 p.m.), the presentation of recommendations from standing committees, and an update on the Faculty Development Committee.
Legislators tell cabinet of support

(The following report on the Oct. 22 and Nov. 5 meetings of the Marshall University President's Cabinet was submitted by Rainey Duke, faculty representative.)

Faculty Development:
Bill Coffey reviewed a draft policy bulletin on faculty development prepared by a statewide group of faculty, academic administrators and a student.

The draft includes the legal authority for faculty development (WV Code 18-26-30); the purposes and definition of faculty development, faculty eligibility and participation; the roles and responsibilities of the Board of Regents, and the roles and responsibilities of the university.

Since the draft states, “The president and faculty of each public college and institution shall establish institutional policy on faculty development consistent with this policy bulletin by Dec. 31, 1988... shall establish appropriate organizational structures, procedures, standards and criteria for operating and assessing a Faculty Development Program,” Rainey Duke will present this material to the Faculty Senate at a future meeting. Susan Ferrell and Bob Barnett are two senators serving on the local campus committee.

Keith Scott recommended the coordination of all faculty development activities as procedures are developed.

Smith Hall Elevators:
The installation of these elevators was complicated by an asbestos problem. A new contract will be awarded. Work should begin by this summer. Two elevators on the north side of Smith Hall will be part of the construction project.

AASCU Letter:
Marshall’s proposal on the SCORES program for the G. Theodore Mitau Award received honorable mention by AASCU and will be published in a nationally-distributed pamphlet.

Graduate Student Representation on Cabinet:
President Dale F. Nitzschke requested input from the Cabinet regarding a graduate student representative. While the student body president represents all students, the graduate students have asked for more direct involvement.

Memorial Service:
Faculty are encouraged to attend the Nov. 13 ceremony in memory of the victims of the 1970 plane crash.

Schedule for Higher Education Subcommittee “C” Visit:
Higher Education Subcommittee “C” will be on the Marshall campus Nov. 18-19. Main campus events will include a meeting with the faculty at 3 p.m. in the Shawkey Dining Room in Memorial Student Center (this will be the second faculty meeting of the year).

On Nov. 19, the Subcommittee will visit the Medical School.

The Faculty Senate will discuss approaches to and issues for the Subcommittee visit during its Nov. 17 meeting.

Cabinet Speakers—Dan Tonkovich and Lyle Sattes:
Both speakers indicated that tax revenues were up this year over the same quarter last year, but Sattes noted the legislature would not have a good handle on what the funds will be until the session begins.

Tonkovich’s statement that there was “rock solid commitment to quality education” on the Senate side was reiterated by Sattes who said he believes the legislature truly wants to do something for higher education. He stated that the salary schedule ought to be funded, and he believes the legislature will “sort out” the budget to come up with the monies needed.

Both agreed that the atmosphere of non-cooperation which has hampered everything up to now must be dispelled. Sattes noted that the state constitution says the highest priority must be a quality education system.

Grants to be topic

A free public workshop will be offered at Marshall University Nov. 19 on how to apply for funding from the Arts and Humanities Division of the West Virginia Department of Culture and History.

James Andrews, director, will describe the funding opportunities available and tell participants how to apply for them. He also will meet with individuals by appointment.

The workshop will be at 1 p.m. in Room 2W37 of Marshall’s Memorial Student Center. Individual appointments may be made by calling Dr. Robert Barnett, MU grants officer, at 696-6797.

The workshop is sponsored by the Marshall University Grants Office and funded by the Marshall University Foundation.

Facilities group meets

(The following report on the Oct. 31 meeting of the Marshall University Physical Facilities Committee was submitted by Bruce Greenwood, secretary.)

The committee approved the following recommendations:
1. To relocate the six existing tennis courts on Third Avenue to the southwest side of Gullickson Hall, at the expense of the Marshall Commons developers.
2. To change the designation of Corby Hall Room 353 from general purpose classroom to special purpose classroom to house the English Department’s Writing Center.
3. To reopen the 18th Street parking area (Area D), and remove the bollards on Third Avenue to allow parking in this area as a result of the closing of lost parking on the north side of Third Avenue because of the impending Marshall Commons construction.
4. To open the campus for parking from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. daily to allow the public access to University functions.

Safety workshop set

Marshall University’s Department of Mining, Occupational and Transportation Safety will sponsor a “Hazardous Materials” workshop on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 19-20, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Route 60, Huntington.

The workshop will address current problems facing transporters and handlers of hazardous materials.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Department of Mining, Occupational and Transportation Safety, 696-4664.
Dr. Harless receives Diederich Award

Dr. James W. Harless, director of admissions at Marshall University, has been presented the Diederich Award “in recognition of outstanding character and community service” for his role in the establishment of an Eastern Kentucky scholarship program.

The award was presented during a dinner at Guyan Golf and Country Club here by retired federal judge David Hermansdorfer of Ashland, Ky.

Ballet Hispanico will perform here Nov. 19th

Ballet Hispanico, a New York City ballet and modern dance company, will perform for the Marshall Artists Series on Thursday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. at the Keith-Albee Theatre.

The company fuses ballet and modern dance with the rhythms of the Caribbean, the classic flamenco of Spain and the popular folk dances of Latin America.

Tickets will be $10, $8 and $6 for adults, with half-price discounts for youth 17 and under. To order tickets contact the Marshall Artists Series Office, 696-6656.

Dr. Mary Marshall, associate professor of theatre/dance, is coordinating a dance master class with members of the company on Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon in the dance studio in Guillickson Hall.

Led by Tina Ramirez, artistic director for Ballet Hispanico, the session will include classical barre, modern phraseology and classical Spanish movements.

The class, for dancers with intermediate skills, will cost $10. To obtain further details about the class contact Dr. Marshall, 696-2513.

Gallery and department to sponsor art exhibit

Birke Art Gallery and the Marshall University Art Department are sponsoring a juried student art exhibition Jan. 20-31 in Birke Art Gallery.

The exhibition is being held to foster a sense of professional accomplishment and pride in art students.

The Art Department currently is looking for sponsors for cash awards, gift certificates and purchase awards.

Any individual or department interested in sponsoring an award should contact Susan Jackson, 696-2896.

Excused absences...

Absences have been excused by the respective college deans for the following:

NOV. 11-13—Jill Zegeer, Leslie O'Brien, Jennifer Green, Chris Miller, Melissa Huff, Mary Lewis, Brent Cunningham, Bill France.

Leo Imperi in opera

Leo V. Imperi, retired music professor, performed one of the lead roles in Mozart's comic opera “Cosi Fan Tutte” presented Saturday, Nov. 7, at the University of Charleston by the Lilliput Orchestra.

The Lilliput Orchestra will present the opera more times. It will be presented on Thursday, Nov. 12, at Potomac State College and on Saturday, Nov. 14, at Martinsburg.

Imperi said that roughly translated the title of the opera is “They're (women) All Like That.”

Two Marshall alumni also are cast members, Judy Skeens Cavendish and Terri Spurgeon. The opera is being sponsored by the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council and the Lilliput Orchestra.

Emeritus Club to meet

Marshall University's Emeritus Club will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 12:15 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Room 2E11.

Rev. Ronald R. Brooks, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Huntington, will present a Thanksgiving address.

All persons holding emeritus status or retired from Marshall, as well as spouses and guests, are invited to attend. The cost of the luncheon will be $5.75.

Reservations should be made in advance by contacting Marguerite Spears, 886-6644.
Marshall faculty/staff achievements

LAURA LEE WILSON, associate professor of nursing, represented Marshall at the American Health Association’s annual meeting held Oct. 16-22 in New Orleans.

Dr. JOHN N. VIELKIND, chairman of philosophy, participated in the fall meeting of the West Virginia Philosophical Society held Oct. 30-31 at Davis and Elkins College. He presented a paper titled “Plato and the Poets.”

Dr. DINESH S. DAVE, associate professor of management, presented a paper titled “The Interaction of Economic Ordering Quantities and Variable Mark Up of Prices” at the joint national meeting of the Institute of Management Science and Operations Research Society of America held Oct. 25-28 in St. Louis.

Dr. ROBERT P. ALEXANDER, dean of the College of Business, attended the West Virginia Bankers Conference on Forest Products held Oct. 28-29 at Davis and Elkins College. He also has been appointed by the president of the National League of Cities to serve on the Finance, Administration and Intergovernmental Relations Policy Committee of the National League of Cities.

Dr. MAURICE A. MUFSON, professor and chairman of medicine, recently had a manuscript titled “Site-directed serology with synthetic peptides representing the large glycoprotein G of respiratory syncytial virus” published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences USA. Co-authors of the paper were Erling Norby of the Karolinska Institute of Medicine, and Hannah Alexander, Richard A. Houghten and Richard A. Lerner of the Research Institute of Scripps Clinic, La Jolla.

Dr. CRAIG MONROE, associate professor of speech, co-authored a paper titled “An Experiential Approach to Training Health Care Professionals,” which he presented to the Speech Communication Association Convention held Nov. 5 in Boston.

MAUDIE KARICKHOFF, assistant professor of home economics in the Division of Specialized Allied Studies, conducted a one-day inservice training workshop for middle school and junior high school teachers Oct. 12 at the Parkersburg South Vocational School. Teachers from throughout the state received information on the utilization of the BASE home economics curriculum. Diane Shott, former home economics teacher at Salt Rock Junior High, assisted with the workshop.

Dr. CLARA REESE, associate professor in the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Department, recently received a certificate of copyright registration from the United States Copyright Office for a 135-slide and tape program titled “Exploring the World of Work.”

Dr. DANNY FULKS, professor of education, presented a paper titled “Selected Implications of Lawrence Kohlberg’s Theories When Applied to Distance Learning” published in the conference proceedings of the Alliance for Alternative Degree Programs. The conference was held Oct. 8 in Memphis.

Dr. MICHAEL R. MOORE, associate professor of biochemistry, presented a paper titled “Progestin Effects on Growth in the Human Breast Cancer Cell Line T-47D: Possible Therapeutic Implications” at the annual meeting of The Endocrine Society held June 3-7 in Indianapolis. Biomedical sciences graduate students Judith R. Hisson and R. Thomas Bowden were co-authors.

Student chapter starts

Marshall University’s Department of Mining, Occupational and Transportation Safety (MOTS), in conjunction with the West Virginia chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers (ASSE), has established a student chapter of the ASSE.

The purpose of the student chapter is to further the professional development of MOTS students and strengthen ties with local safety professionals, according to Dr. Ronald J. Hawley, associate professor at Marshall and director of the chapter.

The student chapter will be open to persons in all disciplines at Marshall. Interested persons may attend the chapter meetings, which will be held the third Thursday of each month at 6:30 p.m. in Gullickson Hall Room 3.

Each meeting will consist of a short business session and a presentation by a guest speaker in the field of safety.

The American Society of Safety Engineers is the premier professional safety organization, according to Hawley, and has more than 20,000 members throughout the world.

Officers of the Marshall University chapter are: Steven Thomas of Salt Rock, president; Bob Morey of Chesapeake, Ohio, vice president; and Patty Cazad of Barboursville, secretary/treasurer.

To obtain further details contact Dr. Ronald J. Hawley at Marshall University, 696-3067, or Steven Thomas, 696-3070, or the Marshall MOTS Department, Gullickson Hall Room 3.

Library Committee meets

(The following report on the Oct. 26 meeting of the Marshall University Library Committee was submitted by Sara B. Staats, secretary.)

A discussion was held on the budget cuts and a recommendation regarding Faculty Senate input into budget reduction decisions was forwarded to the Faculty Senate.

A reception and guided tours for new faculty and other interested faculty members was announced. The reception was scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 10, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Hoffman Room in James E. Morrow Library.

Lisle Brown reported on his findings regarding a Friends of the Library organization. A subcommittee was formed to pursue the matter.

Art exhibit scheduled

Paintings and drawings by Nora Mosrie of Huntington will be on exhibit in Birke Art Gallery Nov. 16-22.

The exhibit is being presented in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Marshall University Master of Arts degree.

A reception for the artist will be held Nov. 22 from 2 to 5 p.m. in the gallery. The public is invited to attend.