

9-23-1977

Marshall University News Letter, September 23, 1977

Office of Informational Services

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu\_news\_letter

---

Recommended Citation

Office of Informational Services, "Marshall University News Letter, September 23, 1977" (1977). Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986. Paper 65.

http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu\_news\_letter/65

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.

It's Homecoming Weekend

"Southern Comfort" is the theme of Marshall Homecoming activities this Friday and Saturday (Sept. 23-24) with emphasis on football, a concert, picnic, dance and parties.

The theme indicates Marshall feels comfortable in the Southern Conference, according to Dr. Everett N. Roush, director of alumni affairs.

The highlight of Homecoming weekend will come Saturday at 1:30 p.m. when Marshall's Thundering Herd meets the Toledo Rockets in Fairfield Stadium.

Joe W. Wortham, athletic ticket manager, said sales for the Herd-Rockets clash are "very brisk" and the possibilities "quite high" of a sellout at the stadium which seats 18,000.

Other features of the Homecoming weekend include a Southern comfort party for alumni Friday from 9 p.m. to midnight at the Holiday Inn-Downtown with music by the Teena Stephens Quintet. Cost is $4 per person.

Faculty members are encouraged to attend alumni-sponsored events, Dr. Roush said.

The Homecoming concert featuring the rock group Heart and the Sanford Townsend Band also will be Friday night starting at 8 p.m. at the new Huntington Civic Center.

Campus tours after coffee and doughnuts at the Student Center lobby will begin Saturday at 10 a.m.

Lunch-Under-the-Tent, featuring a fried chicken picnic, will be held Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. at Prindle Field immediately west of Fairfield Stadium. Reservations will be accepted at the alumni office through Friday. Cost will be adults $2.50, children (under 12) $2.25.

The Alumni Goal Post Party will follow the game, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Convention Lobby of the Holiday Inn-Downtown, featuring the Paul Jennings Trio. Cost will be $3 per person.

The Homecoming Dance will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Huntington Civic Center with music by the Royal Kings Dance band from Roanoke, Va. Tickets are available in the alumni office, in the lobby of the Memorial Student Center and the Civic Center at $5 per couple.

Project to raise aid funds

Limited edition prints of Marshall University's Old Main Towers and holiday cards, featuring winter campus scenes, will be available this fall, Dr. Everett Roush, MU Alumni Affairs Director announced.

Proceeds from the sale of the prints and cards will go toward scholarships, Roush said. The fund-raising project is the brain-child of MU alumnus Michael Maroney.

Maroney, a native of Cedar Grove, established a private corporation, University Enterprises, Inc., to market the items in cooperation with the Alumni Affairs Office and Marshall University Foundation.

The full-color campus sketches are the artwork of another Marshall graduate, Joan True Pennington of the Washington, D.C. area, formerly of Huntington.

A series of 500 signed and numbered prints of the towers, the symbol of their alma mater to many Marshall alumni, will be sold for $15 each. Another 4,500 prints, unsigned and unnumbered, will be sold for $5 each.

The greeting card collection includes full-color drawings of the James E. Morrow Library, Old Main Towers, Memorial Fountain, and an older entrance to Old Main on the building's north side. Sold in boxes of 16 with four cards of each scene, the cards will cost $3 a box.

The original drawings and plates will be given to the Foundation for display as it deems appropriate. Maroney also plans to offer new limited editions and other familiar campus scenes annually.

"Our goal is to raise $25,000 for both academic and athletic scholarships," Maroney said. "Perhaps our most important concern is the quality of the future and there is nothing that has a more positive affect on the future than education. I believe this project provides everyone an opportunity to share in the concern for the future at a small cost," he added.

"Contributions to our scholarship funds are always welcome, but it is especially gratifying when an alumnus such as Mr. Maroney dedicates so much of his time and talents to designing such a far-reaching project," said Dr. Bernard Queen, MU development director and executive director of the Foundation. "This project offers Marshall alumni and friends an opportunity to support their institution at a nominal cost," he added.

The prints and cards will not be available through normal commercial outlets, but will be sold through the Alumni Affairs Office, by students or by community service organizations.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Alumni Office, 696-3134, or by writing University Enterprises, Inc., P.O. Box 5626, Huntington, W. Va. 25703.

Faculty meets Thursday

The first general meeting of the faculty this fall will be held Thursday, September 29, at 4 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room in Memorial Student Center, President Robert B. Hayes announcer.

The agenda includes:

1. A report from the Faculty Service Committee by Maxine Phillips, Chairman.
2. A report by Neal G. Adkins, Chairman of the campus United Fund campaign.
3. President's report to the faculty.

Campus announcements...

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

The Marshall Council for International Education will meet Sept. 27 from 3 to 4 p.m. in Room 2W37 of the Memorial Student Center, according to Dr. Ram N. Singh, council president and associate professor of sociology. Chairpersons of the following committees will present reports: William E. Kingsbury, assistant professor of modern languages, study abroad and student exchange; Kamal Samar, assistant manager, student center, international student services; Charles F. Gruber, assistant professor of social studies, international concerns in the Marshall curriculum; and Dr. Richard O. Comfort, professor of sociology and anthropology, coordinating international public relations. In addition, Carolyn B. Hunter, reading program coordinator, and council vice president, will discuss the English language program for international students.

VIENNA CHOIR BOYS

Tickets are available now for the concert Oct. 7th by the Vienna Choir Boys, according to James A. Martin, Artists Series manager. The on-campus ticket office is in the Department of Music office in Smith Music Hall 154. Admission is free with a student activity card; $2 for Marshall employees and retired faculty and $4 for the general public. The Mount Series concert will be held in Smith Recital Hall at 8 p.m.

CHORAL UNION

The Marshall Choral Union still is accepting members for its fall season. The mixed chorus is preparing for performances of Messiah. Rehearsals are each Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Music Hall, Room 150. Anyone interested in joining the Choral Union should attend the next rehearsal. No auditions are required and music is furnished, according to Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, professor of music.

STUDY IN INDIA

Attractive fellowships and visitorships are available for research or professional development through study in India, according to Dr. Paul D. Stewart, dean of Graduate School. Applications are especially encouraged from those who have had no prior experience in India and from those in the sciences. For further information contact the Graduate School office in Old Main.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The Continuing Education program of the Community

Gallery opening

Marshall's new art gallery will open Monday, Sept. 26, with a reception from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. hosted by the Department of Art. Those attending will have an opportunity to preview the opening exhibit, a display of the works of internationally-known artist Harry Bertoia, creator of Marshall's Memorial Fountain. The exhibit will remain on display through Nov. 4.

The gallery, constructed at a cost of about $40,000 dollars, is located on the Third Avenue side of Smith Hall, occupying what formerly was an open plaza.

College is in the process of structuring six new classes in sewing, modern dance, guitar, chess, Chinese food and architectural design, according to Robert Lawson, director of continuing education and administrative aide.

HUNTINGTON ALLOYS AIDS MU STUDENTS

W. F. Bissett, Jr., center, executive vice president of Huntington Alloys, Inc., presents a $6,000 check to Marshall University President Robert B. Hayes for use in providing scholarship assistance to students in the fields of science, engineering and mathematics. At left is Gary E. Wilson, supervisor-personnel development at Huntington Alloys. The firm annually presents a gift to the Marshall University Foundation to encourage students to pursue science, engineering and mathematics studies. (Marshall University Photo by Arza Barnett)

Newsman named to post at MU

Veteran newsman Robert G. Adams of Huntington has joined the University Relations staff at Marshall University as an information specialist.

His primary responsibilities will involve coverage of Marshall's Community College, as well as writing for the alumni magazine, according to C.T. Mitchell, University Relations director.

A native of Huntington, Adams earned his A.B. degree in Journalism at Marshall in 1956 and currently is working toward his master's degree. His newspaper experience includes nine years with the Huntington Advertiser during which he also served as state editor of the Sunday Herald-Advertiser, two years with the Roanoke (Va.) World News and five years with the Charleston Daily Mail. He was assistant news editor at Ohio University from 1967 to 1970.

"I'm very pleased that a writer with Bob Adams' skill and experience has joined our staff," Mitchell said. "He will play an important role in strengthening our services to the news media, the alumni and members of the university's students, faculty and staff."

Adams is a U.S. Air Force veteran. He has one son, Steven, who is a Marshall freshman.

Faculty and staff achievements, activities...

DR. WARREN W. WOODEN, associate professor of English, has been notified of the acceptance of two reviews for publication: Alan C. Dessen's "Elizabethan Drama and the Viewers" by The Southern Humanities Review and T.D. Duncan Williams' "To Be Or Not to Be: A Question of Survival" by the Anglo-Welsh Review.

DR. CHARLES M. WOODFORD, associate professor of speech, has published a research article on "Middle Ear Dysfunction as a Complicating Factor with the Post Neck Surgery Patient." It appeared in The Reflex publication this month.

DR. ROBERT P. ALEXANDER, chairman of the management department, spoke before the Tri Counties Chapter of the National Management Association at the Holiday Inn in Parkersburg, Sept. 12. His speech was on "The Free Enterprise System-Revisited." In mid-August Dr. Alexander attended the National Academy of Management meeting and later the International Academy of Management meeting in Orlando, Fla.

DR. EDWIN CUBBY, professor and chairman of social studies, was elected by the Graduate Faculty to the University Council to fill the unexpired term of Dr. E.S. Hanrahan who was appointed Dean of the College of Science. Tellers appointed were Margaret Bird, associate professor of biology; Dr. Charles W. Cox, assistant professor of social studies; and Dr. Charles O. Lloyd, instructor of classical studies.

DR. CAROL KLECKA, assistant professor of psychology, is co-author with Dana Hiller of an article "Impact of Mothers' Life Style on Adolescent Gender-Role Socialization" which

Class planned to aid parents

Parents of children with behavioral problems can learn correct techniques of coping and constructively working with the youngsters in a new class being offered by the Marshall University Community College.

The course, consisting of 15 class sessions of two hours each, will begin October 3 and continue through February 27 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays in Smith Hall Room 227, according to Dr. Paul D. Hines, vice president for the Community College.

Instruction, utilizing video tapes and other modern teaching devices, will be by experts in the field. Region III Interagency Child Development Services will provide administrative and supervisory services for the class which is partially subsidized by federal funds.

A fee of $3 per student will be charged.

Those seeking further information should contact Robert L. Lawson, administrative assistant and continuing education director for Community College, at 696-3645.

Absences excused

Absences have been excused by the respective college deans for the following:

SEPTEMBER 15-Karla Amburgey, Karen Bosia, Anita King, Kelley McDonie, Cynthia Nelson, Janet Omohundro, Rita Simmons, Donna Uhl, Lanita Wentzel, Beverly Young, and Beverly Sharp.

SEPTEMBER 16-17-Roberta Chenoweth, Jill Duncan, Lisa Gergezy, Susan Goodrick, Terri Miller, Lynda Nutter, Kim Reichenbach, and Regina Skeens.

SEPTEMBER 22 and OCTOBER 13-Charles Chapman, Jay Davis, Carla Estes, Bill Flower, Doris Hardesty, Charles Hughes, David Looney, and Beth Plate.

has just been published in the journal Sex Roles, Volume 3, Number 3. The study was conducted while Dr. Klecka was a postdoctoral fellow at the University of Cincinnati.

DR. STEVEN P. MEWALDT, assistant professor of psychology, is senior author of an article "Repetition and Inference in Short-Term Memory" which has been published in the Journal of Experimental Psychology: Human Learning and Memory, Volume 3, Number 5.

DANIEL F. PENROD, assistant professor of psychology, was awarded his Ph.D. degree at Bowling Green University last month. Penrod's dissertation was titled "A Decision Making Analysis of the Attribution of Responsibility and the Assignment of Sanction."

DR. RICHARD O. COMFORT chaired a meeting with the Community Service Roundtable on Sept. 16. This meeting included more than 65 community leaders in Huntington who are organizing themselves to provide a coordination of the social services in the Huntington metropolitan area. The speaker was John Huber, chairman of Council Agency Executives, Charleston.

Student Affairs changes reported

Three personnel changes in the Marshall University Student Affairs Division have been announced by Kenneth E. Blue, associate dean for student development.

Nancy Morgan Kingsbury, a former instructor in Marshall's Community College, was named advisor to student health programs; Sam V. Cardea was promoted from part-time to full-time international student advisor, and Stephen Hensley was elevated from counselor in special services to staff counselor with the Counseling and Human Resources Center.

Mrs. Kingsbury received her B.S. and master's degrees from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Prior to her arrival at Marshall in 1976, she was a research assistant at UNC at Greensboro. She is the wife of William E. Kingsbury, assistant professor of modern languages at Marshall.

Cardea received his B.S. degree at Marshall and his M.A. degree in student personnel administration at Columbia University. He has approximately 40 hours of post-graduate studies at the University of Maryland, University of Florida and Catholic University.

Cardea served in the U.S. Air Force and was director of admissions at Montgomery College, Takoma Park, Md., before coming to Marshall.

Hensley received his A.B. and M.A. degrees at Marshall majoring in social studies and counseling. Prior to his duties in the special services program, he was a counselor with the Marshall Outreach program which involved taking services to students in their living areas.

NEWCOMERS

New to the campus are: BILLIE JEAN KNIGHT, keypunch operator, Computer Center; ANNE SNEATHEN, secretary, Student Affairs; DEBORAH JOHNSON, secretary, Admissions; CLAUDIUS ONI, administrative aide, Research Coordinating Unit, and PATRICIA ANN LEFTWICH, secretary Community College.

Welcome to Marshall!