$12,000 goal for campus United Way

The 1976-77 United Way campaign on the Marshall University campus is under way.

"Our goal is down a little from what we gave last year but I hope we all can do a little extra to help." Neal Adkins, professor of accounting and chairman of the MU drive said.

Adkins said the new campaign goal is $12,000. The university community gave $10,814 last year or about 80% of its $13,250 goal.

"And that wasn't too bad," Adkins said, pointing to the two-county (Cabell-Wayne) average of 84 per cent of the total community goal. "It sure would be great if Marshall could hit that 100 per cent mark."

Chairman Neal G. Adkins, assistant professor of accounting, said this year's campaign on campus will include personal contact with employees. Section chairmen will be announced next week and solicitation then will begin, he said.

As a guide for giving, the chairman said the United Way suggests a fair share of one (1) hour's pay per month for each individual.

Foreign Service officer to visit MU Oct. 8

Frances T. Lide, deputy examiner, U.S. Department of State, will be on campus Oct. 8 to conduct an informal seminar on foreign service careers and the "1976 Examination for Foreign Service Officer."

Her visit to campus is sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha political science honorary and the Career Planning and Placement Center.

The 1976 FSO Examination will be given Dec. 4. The closing date for registration is Oct. 24.

Ms. Lide will be in Memorial Student Center Room 2W37 from Noon to 1:30 p.m. Ms. Lide's specialty is consular work and she has served overseas for the past 20 years in Bolivia, Germany, Lebanon, Niger, Canada, France and Ireland.

BULK MAILING PERMIT

When University departments utilize bulk permits for outgoing mail, Postal Form 3602 must be completed in quadruplicate prior to mailing. Two copies of the form accompany the mailing to the downtown post office. A third copy is maintained by the department and a fourth copy is distributed to the University mailroom.

We must request that all bulk mailing be approved by the University mailroom. Such approval is necessary to permit the University to follow postal guidelines in the area of bulk mailing and to allow mailroom personnel to accumulate and maintain a money balance for each bulk permit.

The University's mailroom will be glad to assist you with bulk mailing. Extension 6644.

Nursing workshop under way

More than 50 registered nurses from the Tri-State Area are on campus attending a workshop, "The Nurse: Fulfilling Her Role in Management," which began Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Sponsored by the MU Nursing Department and the Tri-River Council for Continuing Education, the workshop is designed for nurses in first line and middle management positions with various health care agencies.

"After having been taught that their role is one of nurturing, many nurses attaining management roles have difficulties in reconciling the views," said Mrs. Laura Lee Wilson, workshop coordinator and MU assistant professor of nursing. "We hope the workshop will help them resolve this conflict," she added.

Guest speakers for the workshop are Linda Haar, R.N., M.N.S., who is an instructor in nursing supervision at the University of Illinois Medical Center, and Russell M. Fischer, M.B.A. with the Inland Mutual Insurance Co., Huntington.

Nurses participating in the workshop may earn two continuing education units.

New committee head

Maxine B. Phillips, associate professor of English, is the new chairman of the Faculty Service Committee. Her extension number is 2439.

Band competition

at stadium Saturday

Twenty-four area high school bands will compete at Fairfield Stadium Saturday in the Marshall University Tri-State Marching Band Festival, sponsored each fall by the MU Music Department.

The young musicians will be competing for high ratings and trophies, while providing lively entertainment for spectators, according to W. Richard Lemke, MU bands director and festival coordinator.

There will be an admission of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 years of age, with the proceeds going to the MU Band Scholarship Fund, Lemke added.

The bands will present 7-minute shows, beginning at 12:30 p.m. with Hamlin High School, leading the Class C. bands. Following Hamlin onto the AstroTurf will be Spencer, Richwood, Burch of Delbarton, Warren of Vincent, Ohio, Guyan Valley at Branchland, Chapmanville, Logan and Eastern of Reedsville, Ohio.

The Class B bands will begin their presentations at 2 p.m., with Hurrican High School, followed by Wahama of Mason, Oak Hill (Ohio), Dawson Bryant of Coal Grove, Ohio, Portsmouth West (Ohio), Winterville, Barboursville, Wayne and South Point, Ohio.

At 4:30 p.m., the Class A band competition will commence with Gallia Academy, Gallipolis, Ohio, followed by Sistersville, Meigs of Pomeroy, Ohio, Fairland of Proctorville, Ohio and Huntington High School.

Marshall's Big Green Marching Band will take to the field for a marching exhibition at 4:60 p.m. Awards will be presented at 4:45 p.m.

The divisions are based on the number of playing members. Class A includes bands with 81 or more musicians; Class B bands have between 56 and 80 members, while Class C bands have 55 or fewer.

The bands will be rated on musical effect, visual effect and the overall effect, Lemke said. In addition to ratings of superior, excellent, average, below average and fair, first, second and third place winners will be selected in each class. Trophies and wall plaques will be awarded to winners.

First, second and third place winners will be selected among the majorette corps in each class with trophies and plaques awarded.

A trophy will be presented to the outstanding band of the festival.

Serving as adjudicators for this year's festival will be Joseph Buncie, Greensburg-Salem High School, Greensburg, Pa.; Woodrow Hodges, marching band director, University of Cincinnati, and Roger McConnell, Ball State University, Muncie, Ind.
