Faculty Advisory Council meets

The following matters were considered at the September meeting of the Advisory Council of Faculty of the West Virginia Board of Regents:

1. Vice Chancellor John Wright presented the chancellor's report, which included the items that follow:

1) Data gathered by 15 committees that have been reviewing academic programs within the system is now being processed by the chancellor's staff. These committees, which were composed of administrators and faculty members (including eight from Marshall),

Mead to present recital on Thursday

Dr. John Mead, trombonist and associate professor of music, will present the first faculty recital of the 1976-77 season at Marshall on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m. The recital, to be held in Smith Recital Hall, will be open to the public without a charge.

Dr. Mead will present a complete program of American music for trombone. Accompanist James Taggart will assist in two sonatas for trombone and piano by Halsey Stevens and John Davison.

Of special interest on the program is a "Theme and Variations" by the late nineteenth-century trombonist and composer, Arthur Pryor, who wrote the earliest virtuosic concert pieces for trombone. Also to be heard is an avant garde composition for trombone and electronic tape entitled "Prelude, Fugue and Big Apple" by Walter Ross.

Dr. Mead will draw on the talents of four of his students who will perform with him in a piece by Thom Ritter George, entitled "Air and Dance, for Solo Trombone and Four-Part Trombone Ensemble." The students are David King, Joseph Patton and Craig Snyder, trombonists, and Cantrell Miller, bass-trombonist.

RESEARCH ABROAD

Language or area study faculty may apply for research abroad at up to $1,300 per month plus air fare and certain incidentals, provided it is related to their program at Marshall. Dr. Paul D. Stewart, dean of the Graduate School, announced. Details may be obtained at the Graduate School Office.

were to assess present programs, project enrollments, and discover matters requiring the attention of the Academic Affairs Advisory Committee. The final report, due on October 1, will be made available to members of the Faculty Advisory Council.

2) Funds are to be allocated by the Board of Regents to institutions within the system for the purpose of faculty career redirection. The idea is to match up tenured faculty with new or changing programs. These funds are supplemental to those allotted for sabbaticals.

2. The Advisory Council of Faculty and the Advisory Council of Public College Presidents will meet jointly on November 17. Discussion will focus on three policy bulletins: PB 18 (Policy Regarding Retirement of BOR Employees); PB 36 (Policy Regarding Academic Freedom and Responsibility, Appointment, Promotion, Tenure and Termination of Employment of Professional Personnel); and PB 40 (Powers of State Owned College and University Presidents). (BOR policy bulletins 1-42 appear in the back of the Marshall University GREENBOOK. I will be happy to provide copies of later PBs and/or revisions - e.g., PB 40 was recently revised - upon request.)

3. A committee was appointed to study faculty salary matters and fringe benefits. In connection with this, see the request at the end of this report.

4. Copies of a draft of PB 46 (Rights and Responsibilities of Television Teaching) along with copies of Appendix C. WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY HANDBOOK, were distributed to members. The Council will consider the draft at its October meeting.

5. The October 14 meeting will be devoted to a consideration of PB 20 (Policy Regarding Quality Points Required for Graduation), along with PBs 36, 40 and 46.

As part of an effort to determine the feasibility of waiving certain activity fees, I would like to compile a list of spouses and/or children of faculty and staff members who are currently enrolled as full-time students at Marshall or who have reasonably firm plans to enroll between now and the beginning of academic year 1981-82. Please send your lists to me care of the History Department by October 15. Be sure to specify whether the enrollment is current or anticipated.

Your comments and questions on these and other matters will be welcomed.
