Faculty/staff invited to stadium open house

"Open house" will be observed at the new Marshall University Football Stadium Sunday, Oct. 27, MU President J. Wade Gilley announced Tuesday. Hours will be 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Gilley said the event will be open to the public as well as Marshall faculty, staff and students and their families.

"The new stadium is a real showplace and there’s a lot of campus and community interest in it," Gilley said.

"The open house will give everybody an opportunity to explore what we believe to be the country’s most outstanding stadium at the 1-AA level of competition."

Gilley said tours will include the Big Green Room, the state-of-the-art press box, the president’s and the athletic director’s boxes and some of the privately-leased boxes.

Those attending the open house should go to the central gate on the west side of the stadium, Gilley said. Parking will be available in the stadium's west lot.

Hooper occupying MU’s first Weisberg chair

Dr. James W. Hooper, an educator and former NASA computer scientist, is the first occupant of the Arthur and Joan Meyer Weisberg Chair in Software Engineering at Marshall University, according to Marshall President J. Wade Gilley.

The chair was established by Arthur Weisberg, president of Arthur's Enterprises, Inc., based in Huntington, and his wife, the former Joan Meyer, who are contributing toward its support. Hooper and the Weisbergs were honored at a campus luncheon and reception on Oct. 10.

Hooper, who is on leave of absence from the University of Alabama, Huntsville, where he is a professor of computer science, has spent most of his career in work relating to computer software. From 1962 to 1980 he was employed by NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville.

While at NASA, he developed application software for space missions, served as a consultant to software developers, and worked in research and development of simulation tools to improve NASA’s data handling activities. He was awarded the NASA Exceptional Service Medal for his contributions to data system simulation.

In 1980, Hooper joined the Computer Science Department at the University of Alabama, Huntsville. His teaching and research interests have focused on software engineering, including the software development and maintenance process, software reuse, and simulation and prototyping. Hooper and Rowena O. Chester are authors of a recently published book, "Software Reuse Guidelines and Methods," on software science and engineering.

Bailey accepts position in College of Education

Marshall University Vice President Nell C. Bailey, head of the Division of Student Affairs at MU since 1980, has accepted an appointment as an associate professor of education effective next fall.

Announcement of the appointment was made jointly by Dr. Bailey and MU President J. Wade Gilley.

Gilley said Dr. Bailey will chair the search for a new chief student affairs officer and will assist with the transition before moving to the university’s College of Education. She will teach in both the higher education administration and counseling and guidance programs.

"I’ve been looking forward to this career change for some time," Dr. Bailey said, "and I came very close to making it about two years ago. I’m very pleased with the success we’ve been able to achieve in the student affairs area at Marshall and I’m now eager to apply some of the knowledge and experience I’ve gained as an administrator to classroom teaching on a full-time basis."

United Way drive underway

Marshall University’s 1991 United Way campaign, now underway, will help provide much needed support to health and human service organizations—meeting the needs of those at risk in our community, according to Dr. Betty J. Cleckley, coordinator of Marshall’s campaign.

Among the 50 agencies currently receiving United Way funds are child care agencies, family service agencies and senior citizen centers.

Marshall’s goal this year has been set at $60,000. Last year the university raised $46,670 for the United Way.

"With the 1991 United Way slogan, ‘Something To Believe In,’ and a goal of $60,000, we need to increase our contributions so that our community can continue to (Continued on page 2) year 1986-87 by the Huntsville Section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. He has conducted funded research in software engineering at the University of Alabama, Huntsville, for the U.S. Army Strategic Defense Command and several companies.

Hooper has published many refereed articles on his research and has directed the work of numerous doctoral and master’s degree candidates who have participated in his research.

"We are very fortunate to have an educator with Dr. Hooper's qualifications to serve as the first occupant of the Arthur and Joan Meyer Weisberg Chair in Software Engineering," Gilley said. "Our students will benefit from his experience and extensive research. We sincerely thank the Weisbergs for making the chair possible."

The Weisbergs have long been interested in education and in computers. They have provided educational assistance and scholarship programs for their employees. State Electric Supply Co. has been computerized for 15 years and is now into its third generation of computers. The company's employees take some of their training at Marshall on use of personal computers.

A native of New York City, Weisberg established State Electric Supply Co. in Huntington in 1953. The company now has 16 branches in West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Virginia.

In 1967, Weisberg also established Service Wire Co., an electric wire and cable manufacturing company. Started in Huntington, the company is now based in Culloden, W.Va., and has warehouses in Houston and Pittsburgh.

Weisberg serves on the board of directors of The Twentieth Street Bank. Mrs. Weisberg serves on the board of directors of United Huntington Industries. Both are active members and leaders in numerous organizations of both the Huntington and Charleston Jewish communities. Mrs. Weisberg is a native of Charleston. She is president of a real estate holding company.

The Weisbergs are parents of five children and also have five grandchildren. Three of their children, Louis, Charles, and Martha, are now with the family business.

meet the health and human care needs of its people," said Cleckley.

Emphasizing the importance of the United Way campaign, Marshall University President J. Wade Gilley has appointed a university-wide task force to work with Cleckley in leading the campaign to a successful conclusion.

Members of the task force (United Way "Captains") are:
- Provost's Office--Charlene R. Hawkins, senior administrative aide in the Graduate School;
- Administration--Brady D. Burger, Central Stores;
- Athletic Department--Jack Daniels, associate athletic director;
- Finance--Martha D. Deel, administrative assistant;
- Institutional Advancement--Rebecca S. Hamsher, director of records and research;
- President's Office--Pamela Hamilton, Research and Economic Development Center administrative assistant;
- Retired Faculty and Staff--Kenneth Slack;
- Student Affairs--Reginald A. Spencer, director of Placement Services;
- College of Business--Ernest W. Cole, professor emeritus;
- College of Education--Donna L. Lawson, associate dean;
- College of Fine Arts--Paul A. Balshaw, dean;
- College of Liberal Arts--Marsha D. Napier, administrative aide;
- College of Science--Ralph Taylor, assistant dean;
- Community and Technical College--Elma Chapman, acting associate dean;
- School of Nursing--Jane C. Fotos, associate professor;
- School of Medicine--Karen Bledsoe, assistant to the vice president;
- Student Government--Taclan Romey, president;
- University Relations--C.T. Mitchell, executive assistant to the president.

Contributions to the United Way campaign can be made through payroll deduction or check made out to United Way. Information about the campaign and contributions will be distributed by the campaign captains.

development and administration of an outstanding student affairs program at Marshall University," Gilley said. "She has shown a total commitment to the best interests of both the university and its students. Undoubtedly, she will bring to the classroom the same level of dedication and enthusiasm she has shown as an administrator.

"I appreciate the work she has done and I'm pleased to be able to cooperate with her in bringing about this change in her career," he added.

Dr. Bailey came to Marshall July 1, 1980, as dean of students and was promoted to vice president and dean of student affairs in 1984.

A native of Salem, W.Va., she received her bachelor's degree from Salem College and her master's degree from Kent State University. She earned her doctorate in educational administration from Indiana University. She has held administrative and teaching assignments with Salem, Kent State, Indiana, Bethany College and Illinois State University.

Active in many professional organizations at the state and national levels, she was one of the first persons appointed to the West Virginia Women's Commission in 1977. She was honored at the West Virginia Italian Heritage Festival in 1985 and by Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity in 1987, among others.
Wolfe Lecture to be given by Kehoe

Dr. William Kehoe, the O’Dell Professor of Commerce and associate dean of the McIntire School of Commerce at the University of Virginia, will deliver the Harry Wolfe Lecture at Marshall University on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7 p.m. in Corbly Hall Room 105.

“The Ethics in Business” will be Kehoe’s topic for the lecture, which honors the late Harry Wolfe, a former Huntington business leader and distinguished Marshall alumnus. Wolfe also served as MU student body president and later served as president of the Alumni Board.

Videoconference set

A videoconference titled “Entrepreneurism and the Law: Covering All of the Legal Bases” will be held at Marshall University Monday, Oct. 21, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Room 2E10.

The objective of the program is to provide insight into creating a systematic approach to operating in legal dealings and appropriately structuring asset protection entities.

Laurence J. Pino, an attorney and entrepreneur, will lead the program and discuss the various legal issues that are relevant to the entrepreneur and business people.

Topics will include business relationships, relationships of ownership, issues related to minimizing exposure to litigation, risk-reduction techniques, and state and federal regulations.

There will be a $10 registration fee for the program which is being sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education at Marshall University’s Community and Technical College and Marshall’s Small Business Development Center. There will be no registration fee for Marshall employees. Registration will be required due to limited seating.

Continuing Education Units will be available for participating in the program.

To register or obtain further details contact the Marshall University Office of Continuing Education, 696-3113, or the Small Business Development Center, 696-6798.

Chamber music to be featured at concert

An evening of chamber music will be presented by several small ensembles at Marshall University on Thursday, Oct. 24, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

Guest artists David Herbert of St. Mary’s College in San Antonio, Texas, and Rita Linard, a flute instructor at the University of Texas, San Antonio, will perform with Mary Beth Norman, a faculty member at the University of Charleston and a Marshall graduate student, and several Marshall University Music Department faculty members including Linda Ekum-Dobbs, Theodore Heger, Ann Marie Bingham, Ed Bingham and Wendell Dobbs.

The concert will be open to the public free of charge.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Music Department, 696-3117.

Absences have been excused by the respective college deans for the following:

Senate meeting scheduled

Marshall University’s Faculty Senate will meet Thursday, Oct. 24, at 4 p.m. in the lounge on the eighth floor of Smith Hall, according to Dr. Robert D. Sawrey, Faculty Senate president.

The agenda includes the following: approval of minutes, announcements, ACF report, Master Plan update, report on Yeager Scholars program, standing committee and other recommendations, agenda requests, executive session.
MU Senate approves recommendations

(The following report on the Sept. 26 meeting of the Marshall University Faculty Senate was submitted by Dallas Brozik, secretary.)

The meeting was called to order at 4 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge on the eighth floor of Smith Hall by Robert Sawrey. Dallas Brozik acted as secretary.

Present for the meeting were 46 senators. Baltero was absent.

The chairman made the following announcements:
1. The Executive Committee appointed Protip Ghosh, Howard Gordon and Frances Hensley to the Multicultural Committee.
2. The Executive Committee appointed Bill Radig to the Yeager Steering Committee.
3. The Academic Planning Committee has been instructed to develop a procedure for transferring departments between colleges.
4. The Academic Standards and Curricula Review Committee and the University Functions Committee have been instructed to investigate the feasibility of delivering diplomas to graduates on graduation day.
5. The Faculty Personnel Committee has been instructed to examine new state retirement legislation to determine if university faculty members should qualify under the new schedule of co-payments.
6. Betty Cleckley introduced a presentation on this year's United Way fund drive.
7. Changes to grading policy were discussed. The “IW” grade no longer exists. The automatic withdrawal of students who do not attend the first week of class will begin in spring 1992; faculty support is needed to assure this program works. The “WP/WF” periods will be changed in spring 1992. The proposals dealing with students withdrawing from certain designated high demand courses will begin in fall 1992.
8. The “Dead Week” proposal has been approved and is in effect for fall 1991.
9. Despite the freeze on travel, some funds are available for faculty members. Highest priority will be given to faculty members delivering papers or performances related to their fields.
10. The administration has been instructed to develop a contingency plan for a 4.5 percent budget cut for the next fiscal year. Faculty members should take an active role in helping to plan for this contingency. Specific suggestions should be sent to Robert Sawrey by Oct. 26.
11. The Staff Council has forwarded to the Faculty Senate a proposal for the reorganization of the administration. Senate members should review this proposal with their constituencies and have comments ready when the proposal is next discussed.
12. Key Centurion Bancshares and Ashland Oil will donate $100 to the library in the name of the “Player of the Game” for all Marshall football and basketball games.

Shirley Banks was nominated and elected by acclamation to fill the position on the Executive Committee that was vacated by Donna Donathan.

The senate acted on the following recommendations from the standing committees:
1. SR-91-92-1 (SCW) concerning revisions to the Code of Conduct Procedures Manual: Upon motion duly made (Guyer) and seconded, the recommendation was approved.
2. SR-91-92-2 (SCW) concerning the Disabled Student Services Policy: Upon motion duly made (Guyer) and seconded, the recommendation was approved.
3. SR-91-92-3 (BA) concerning the establishment of priorities in establishing new positions: Milicia moved approval which was seconded. Hensley offered an amendment to delete item 4 which was seconded and approved. Chezik moved to table the motion and return it to the Budget and Appropriations Committee. The motion to table was duly seconded and passed.
4. SR-91-92-5 (AP) concerning the Supplemental Statement to the Mission Statement: Guyer moved approval which was seconded. Fotos offered an amendment to add the following words to the end of the first paragraph under School of Nursing on page three of the text:

“In the near future, courses from the Master of Science Nursing core curriculum will also be offered by SATNET.”

The motion was seconded and approved. Baker moved to delete section 13 on page eight of the text. The motion was seconded and passed. Olson moved to amend section 1.b.1. to add the words “or Departments may establish separate standards” to the end of the paragraph. The motion was seconded and defeated by voice vote. A division of the house was called. The motion was defeated 21 to 15.

Olson moved to amend the last sentence of the College of Education section on page three of the text to replace the words “vocational-technical program has” with “vocational, technical, and adult education programs have.” The motion was seconded and passed.

Gross moved to delete the last paragraph on Attachment #2 which begins “The addition of these facilities . . .” and replace it with the following statement:

“A master plan for future facilities development is currently in preparation.”

The motion was seconded and passed. The main motion was passed as amended. A division of the house was called. The motion passed 23 to 18.
5. SR-91-92-6 (EC) concerning the roles of administration and faculty in establishing academic programs: Upon motion duly made (Dolmetsch) and seconded, the motion passed.

Hensley, Perkins, Plumley, Shanholtzer and Teel volunteered to serve on the Calendar Subcommittee of the Executive Committee. Perkins moved that the subcommittee be charged to “examine the entire university calendar.” The motion was duly seconded and passed.

Brozik and Sasser volunteered to serve on the ad hoc committee to study the pricing of supplies through the bookstore and other sources.

Sawrey delivered a report on the Advisory Council of Faculty and introduced his replacement, Charles Lloyd.

The chair solicited future agenda requests from the floor.

There being no further business to come before the senate, upon motion duly made (Milicia) and seconded, the meeting was adjourned at 6:20 p.m.
Safety seminar planned

The student chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers will present a seminar titled "Employee Involvement in Safety and Health" at Marshall University on Thursday, Oct. 24, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Room 2W22.

A panel of safety professionals, moderated by Dr. S. E. Zakrzewski of Marshall's Safety Technology Program, will address the following topics:

--- Employee involvement: are they afraid for their jobs?
--- Are there guidelines for employee involvement in safety and health?
--- What is a worker definition of involvement in safety and health?
--- What is management definition?

Panelists will include Perry Jones, retired OSHA representative; Glenn Mills of ARMCO, Dale Fitzwater of the United States Postal Service, Charles Simpson of INCO Alloys, and Richard Heath of ELKEM Metals.

Zakrzewski said the format will allow members of the audience to participate in the discussion.

The seminar will be open to the public free of charge.

Ensemble will perform

Two Marshall University faculty and a guest artist will perform a work by Katherine Hoover during the fall concert of the Marshall Flute Ensemble on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

Hoover, a native of Elkins, will be a composer-in-residence at Marshall Nov. 10-15. Her "Trio for Flutes" will be performed by Wendell Dobbs, associate professor and ensemble director, Ed Bingham, assistant professor and woodwind artist, and Rita Linard, a flute teacher at the University of Texas, San Antonio.

The concert will be open to the public free of charge.

Nominations were received to fill vacancies (one-year term) on the Institutional Hearing Panel at the assistant professor level. Nominated were: Evelyn Puppolo-Cody, Peter Massing.

Ballots for the election of the representatives at the assistant professor level (two-year term) were to be circulated to the faculty.

4. Charles Lloyd was elected the Marshall University representative to the Advisory Council of the Faculty to the Board of Trustees.

The meeting was adjourned at 5:20 p.m.

(Editors’ Note—Since the meeting was held, the following election results have been announced.)

Suzanne Desai, Helen Linkey, Karen Mitchell and James Moore were elected to the Institutional Hearing Panel at the rank of assistant professor. Laura Adkins was elected to the Institutional Hearing Panel at the rank of instructor. The constitutional amendment passed.

‘Spirituality’ to be topic

The Marshall University Women’s Center will sponsor a series of seminars on “Women and Spirituality” beginning Monday, Oct. 28, at noon in Prichard Hall Room 143.

Programs also will be held on Nov. 4 and 11 at noon in Prichard Hall Room 143.

The course will explore the role of women in religious history and involve a personal exploration of religion and spirituality, according to Donnalee Cockrille, coordinator of women’s programs at Marshall.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Women’s Center, 696-3111.

‘Nightmare II’ begins

“Nightmare on Hal Greer II” will be held Thursday, Oct. 31, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

The show will present Marshall University Music Department faculty members letting their hair down for an evening of Halloween mischief.

Proceeds from the benefit will go to the Music Scholarship Fund. Admission will be $2 or 50 cents for anyone wearing a costume.

Russian choir to give concert

The Alpha-Omega Chamber Choir from St. Petersburg, Russia, will perform Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. at St. John’s Episcopal Church, 3000 Washington Blvd.

Tickets for the performance, sponsored by the MU Music Department, the College of Fine Arts and St. John’s, will be $5 or $3 for students and senior citizens. Tickets will be available at the door.
Marshall faculty and staff achievements

Dr. ROBERT L. DINGMAN, a professor in Marshall University’s Counseling and Rehabilitation Department, will participate in the development of disaster mental health services training materials for the American Red Cross in Washington, D.C., Oct. 24-28. His appointment was made through the American Red Cross and the American Association for Counseling and Development (AACD). He is representing the counseling profession through AACD. The work group will prepare a training program for mental health practitioners to acquaint participants with the psychological effects of disasters, explain Red Cross intervention standards and parameters, and delineate organizational issues which will impact on the provision of services under the Red Cross. DINGMAN also was honored at the annual conference of the West Virginia Association for Counseling and Development as the “Counselor of the Year” for 1991-92. The conference was held Oct. 4-6 in Beckley. In 1983 DINGMAN had been named “Counselor Educator of the Year” and was recognized for “Distinguished Service to Counseling” for 1989-90. He made a presentation titled “Crisis Intervention” during the conference.

Dr. MARJORIE McINERNEY, associate professor in the Management Department, presented a paper titled “National Health Care Insurance Options” at the Industrial Relations Research Seminar held Oct. 3-5 in Atlanta, Ga. The paper was accepted for publication in the conference proceedings. McINERNEY will attend the National Collegiate Honors Council 1991 conference being held Oct. 31-Nov. 1 in Chicago, Ill. She will represent the Marshall University Honors Program.

Dr. CHONG W. KIM, professor and chairman of the Management Department, was a keynote speaker for the United States Army Corps of Engineers Oct. 8 at the Huntington Civic Center. His topic was “Education System and Practice in Korea.” KIM also was the first author of BUSINESS CLIPS in the October issue of Making Tracks, a monthly publication of the Greater Huntington Regional Chamber of Commerce. BUSINESS CLIPS is a section done in cooperation with Marshall University’s College of Business.

Dr. BARBARA A. DAVIS, associate professor in the School of Nursing, made the keynote address at the third annual Critical Care Conference, “Body, Mind and Spirit,” held Oct. 11 at St. Mary’s Hospital in Huntington. Her presentation was titled “Ethics in Critical Care.”

Dr. KENNETH AMBROSE, professor and chairman of the Sociology and Anthropology Department, and SUSAN WEAVER, instructor in the department, attended the 13th annual conference of the West Virginia Sociological Association held Oct. 3-4 at Cedar Lakes. The topic of the conference was “West Virginia Family and Youth: Present and Future.” AMBROSE was elected president of the organization. WEAVER was elected vice president.

Dr. JAMES HARLESS, director of admissions; NOLA BROWNING, assistant director of admissions, and PATRICIA GEBHART, assistant director of admissions, attended the fall conference of the West Virginia Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers held Oct. 2-3 at Canaan Valley State Park. GEBHART made a presentation of “FAX Technology.”

Dr. SHIRLEY W. BANKS, associate professor in the Community and Technical College, presented a paper titled “Racial and Cultural Diversity in the Marketplace” on Oct. 7 for the United States Army Corps of Engineers in Huntington. The presentation was made in conjunction with the corps’ second annual cultural awareness week.

Fulbright program set

The Fulbright Scholar-In-Residence Program will make available a limited number of opportunities for American universities and colleges to host a visiting lecturer from abroad.

Institutions are invited to submit proposals for visiting scholars in the humanities and social sciences, according to Dr. Leonard Deutsch, dean of the Marshall University Graduate School.

To obtain further details contact the Graduate School Office, Old Main Room 113.

Computer programs offered

The Division of Continuing Education at Marshall University’s Community and Technical College will offer five introductory and intermediate computer courses for the general public beginning Oct. 28, according to Richard Hensley, interim director of continuing education.

The courses are:
--Intermediate Word Perfect, 4:15 to 6:15 p.m., Mondays from Oct. 28 through Dec. 9, Corbly Hall Room 438.
--Introduction to D-Base, 4:15 to 6:15, Mondays from Oct. 28 through Dec. 9, Northcott Hall Room 101.
--Intermediate Computers, 4:15 to 6:15 p.m., Tuesdays from Oct. 29 through Dec. 10, Corbly Hall Room 438.
--Intermediate Lotus, 4:15 to 6:15 p.m., Wednesdays from Oct. 30 through Dec. 11, Corbly Hall Room 438.
--Introduction to Computers, 6:15 to 8:15 p.m., Fridays from Nov. 1 through Dec. 13, Northcott Hall Room 101.

There will be a registration fee of $48 for each course. To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Office of Continuing Education, 696-3113.

Staff waivers available

Applications for classified staff undergraduate tuition waivers and financial assistance for spring 1992 are available from Karen King in the Staff Council Office, 209 Northcott Hall. Office hours are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Applicants must be full-time, permanent Marshall University employees; must not be receiving any other type of educational financial assistance, and must have completed the initial six-month probationary period.

The closing date for tuition waivers will be Monday, Nov. 4.
