EXXON USA FOUNDATION GRANT

G.L. May, left, West Virginia Division Manager for Monterey Coal Co., presents a $2,500 Exxon USA Foundation check to Marshall University President Robert B. Hayes for unrestricted use by the university. At right is Joseph Barber Jr., employee services coordinator for Monterey's West Virginia Division. The firm, which is affiliated with the Exxon Corp., is developing major coal mines in Wayne and Lincoln counties. This marks the third consecutive year that the Exxon USA Foundation has awarded significant grants to Marshall. (Marshall University Photo)

Faculty and staff achievements, activities...

DR. E.S. HANRAHAN, professor of chemistry and departmental chairman, has been re-appointed to a two-year term on the American Chemical Society's Council Committee on Chemical Education.

LEO IMPERI, associate professor of music, was bass soloist for a special performance of the "Messiah" on Dec. 12 at the Davis Memorial Presbyterian Church in Elkins. The performance, conducted by former Davis and Elkins College Professor Sidney H. Tedford, was sponsored by the Randolph County Creative Arts Council with assistance from the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council. The performance featured the 60-member Elkins Community Chorus.

DR. CHARLES LLOYD, instructor in classical studies, will present a paper, "Aristotle, Horace and Eutrapelia" at the 108th meeting of the American Philological Association, Inc., to be held Dec. 28-30 at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

WILLIAM E. KINGSBURY, assistant professor of modern languages, attended a regional workshop on "Interaction Analysis in the Modern Language Class" at Parkersburg High School, Dec. 6.

DR. CHARLES M. WOODFORD, associate professor of speech, presented two papers, "Prediction of Hearing Loss by Comparison of Narrow-Band/Wide-Band Acoustic Reflex Threshold" and "Clinically Significant Aspects of the Relationship Between Acoustic Reflex Threshold and Loudness Discomfort Level," before the American Speech and Hearing Association meeting in Houston, Texas, Nov. 20-23.

OOPS!

Oops, the deadline for reporting grades is Monday, DEC. 20. A memo from the vice president for Academic Affairs' Office published in last week's news letter contained the wrong date.

Special class featured in national magazine

A lip reading course taught by Barbara Harrod, assistant professor of speech, is featured in a two-page article which appears in the December issue of "The Pilot Log," the national magazine of the Pilot Club, a women's service organization.

The course, designed for hearing-impaired senior citizens, was initiated by the Pilot Club of Huntington in the spring of 1976. It is now offered by Marshall's Community College in cooperation with the Speech and Hearing Center and with supplemental funding by the local Pilot Club.

Season's Greetings

To The Faculty and Staff of Marshall University!
We Wish You a Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year!!

Rather than send personal greetings to each one, we have elected to send greetings by way of the Marshall University News Letter and send a gift to a charitable organization of our choice.

George Harbold, Leo Imperi, W. Richard Lemke, Robert J. Dils, Lyle F. Plymale, Chandra Akkihal, Patricia Green, Walter Sawaniewski, C.P. Pathak, Clair Matz, Bill Westbrook, Warren G. Lutz, Bruce Ardinger, Paul Balshaw, Bradford and Jeanne DeVos, Don Salyers and C.T. Mitchell.

Campus job openings...

Marshall's Personnel Office has announced openings for the following:

Registration Clerk, two positions, closes Dec. 23.

For further details or to apply for the above contact the Personnel Office, Old Main Room 207.

Ad hoc committee to study reorganization

An Ad Hoc Committee has been established for the purpose of developing a proposal for the reorganization of the present College of Arts and Sciences in light of the recently approved College of Science.

The members of this committee are Dr. O. Norman Simpkins, chairman; Dr. Alan Gould, liaison to Academic Affairs; Dr. Bruce Ardinger, Dr. Dorothy Johnson, Dr. Charles Lloyd, Dr. Frank Mininni and Dr. Simon Perry.

The committee will proceed immediately to determine alternatives not only with regard to the departments in the Divisions of Humanities and Social Sciences, but also with equal attention to any re-alignment of other academic units that seems appropriate.

Ideas, suggestions, and recommendations from individual faculty members, groups and/or departments will be welcome and should be addressed to the chairman of the committee. The committee will be pleased to arrange for those interested to meet with the committee on a scheduled basis.

Personnel personals

Miss L. Marie White, retired assistant registrar and directress of alumni records, writes that she is making her home with her sister in Lewisburg. She says she has not forgotten Marshall and never will. She would like for her friends to stop and see her or write her at: 219 North Rt. 4, Box 12, Lewisburg, 24901.

Getting married? Moving? Proud of an achievement by your spouse or children? There's a place in your News Letter for personal items about you, your friends and your family. We'll publish the information if you will drop a note to Judith Casto in the Office of Informational Services.
