Faculty Senate meeting

Marshall University's Faculty Senate will meet Thursday, Feb. 25 at 4 p.m. in the John Marshall Room of the MU Memorial Student Center.

Dr. BARBARA A. DAVIS, professor in Human Performance Laboratory in the Division of Health and Physical Education, in the "Scandinavian Journal of Rheumatology" entitled "A 15-year Exercise Program for Rheumatoid Vasculitis," was selected by an international panel for publication in the "Rheumatology Review Journal" as part of a special issue of rare and exceptional case reports from around the world. Dr. MARLEY also presented a paper entitled "A Diabetes Exercise Program" at the 12th Annual Family Practice Weekend and Sports Medicine Conference on Nov. 20.

> BRIAN MORGAN, interim director of the Center for Instructional Technology (CIT), is one of only 37 individuals from around the world selected as a member of the International WebCT Advisory Board. WebCT is a tool that is used at Marshall University to offer entire on-line courses, or to publish materials that supplement existing courses.

> This board will provide WebCT users a formal manner of interacting with the WebCT development process. It will also weigh new feature addition requests and make recommendations on what features will be implemented or refined over the course of WebCT's distributions.

Dr. MARSHALL ONOFRIO, professor and chair in the Department of Music, conducted the All Clinton County (NY) orchestra on Feb. 6. On April 22 and 23, he will conduct the Area III Honor Band in Cabell County. On May 7, he will deliver a paper entitled "Training the Composer of Tomorrow" at the Interdisciplinary Reflections on the Future conference at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, Canada.

Dr. SUSAN C. POWER, associate professor in the Department of Art, presented a lecture entitled "Beads as an Art Form in the Early Native American Southeast" to the Bead Society of Greater Washington (DC) on Dec. 10, 1998. The lecture included research funded by grants from the Bead Society and the Marshall University Summer Research Program. While in Washington, Dr. Power conducted bead research at the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History (Research Facility) in Suitland, Md.

JIM STEPHENS, associate director in HR Services, has been certified as a Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR) by the Society of Human Resource Management. SPHR is the highest professional certification presently available for the HR field.

MU brings another West Virginian home

Marshall University announced Jan. 27 that native West Virginian and seasoned fund-raiser J. Joe Mitchell, vice president for university advancement at the University of Northern Iowa since 1988, has accepted the position of senior vice president for development and planning at Marshall. effective March 1. Dr. Mitchell succeeds Frank Justice who moved to a part-time fund-raising position with the university's College of Business last fall after directing the successful campaign for Marshall's new John Deaver Drinko Library.

Mitchell will oversee alumni relations; university fund-raising, including athletic development; communications, and development offices on Marshall's South Charleston campus. With his primary office being located in South Charleston, Mitchell also will be the university's principal officer in the Kanawha Valley and will oversee university-wide planning, which is directed by Associate Vice President Patricia O'Reilly.

Mitchell, who is a native of Greenbrier which has seen its assets climb from $6 County, earned his bachelor's degree in history from Hampden-Sydney College in 1964, his M.S. degree in education from Longwood College in 1976 and his doctorate at Virginia Tech in 1986. As assistant to the vice president for development and university relations, he served as the coordinator of Virginia Tech's first capital campaign in the early 1980s before becoming vice president for development at Davis and Elkins College in 1985,

Prior to joining Virginia Tech, he held positions in public relations and public affairs at Longwood College from 1971 to 1980. He began his career as a classroom teacher in 1964 and also has worked in industry.

Mitchell led the University of Northern Iowa's first comprehensive campaign which raised more than $33 million, exceeding its $25 million goal by some 40 percent and completed in 1995, a year early. He also serves as president of the UNI Foundation million to approximately $60 million.

Marshall has enticed several native West Virginians back to the state to take major positions with the university since 1996. Those include, among others, Bob Pruett, head football coach; Greg White, head basketball coach: Dr. Stephanie Skolik, retinal surgeon; Penny Watkins who left her position as producer/director of Rockette Operations and Franchise Development at Radio City Music Hall Productions in New York to return as Director of the Marshall Artists Series, and Sam Stanley who returned to Marshall from Florida to serve as assistant vice president for alumni relations.

"We all know talented West Virginians who have left to the state to become very successful in their chosen fields and in more cases than not they yearn to come home," Marshall President J. Wade Gilley noted. "We at Marshall are proud to have been able to build a strong administration and faculty by luring some of those highly qualified West Virginians back home. We are particularly pleased that Joe Mitchell and his wife, Kendal, have elected to return to West Virginia and help in the continued building of a better Marshall to serve this state."

Authority on American Presidency to speak

A nationally recognized authority on the American Presidency will speak at Marshall University on Monday, Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge of the MU Memorial Student Center.

John B. Jovich, an expert on the Office of the President of the United States, will deliver a lecture entitled "White House Memories: The Personalities of our Presidents and First Ladies" during his visit to Marshall. His most recent literary accomplishment is a book entitled "Reflections of JFK's Assassination: 250 Famous Americans Remember November 22, 1963" published by Woodbine House. Both President Clinton and Vice President Gore If anyone has been left off this list, please participated in the book, as well as Presi-(Continued on page 2)

New student tax credits available

In accordance with the Taxpayer Relief periods beginning in 1998. Act of 1997 signed by President Clinton, Marshall University will be implementing the Hope and Lifetime tax credits for its students and families.

"It's a good deal for both students and taxpayers," said Barry Beckett, director of student financial systems at Marshall University.

The Hope tax credit provides up to $1,500 per student for qualified tuition and related expenses for the first two years of college. To be eligible, students must be enrolled at least half-time in a degree or certificate-granting program. The Hope credit is available for expenses paid on or after January 1, 1998, for any academic

The Lifetime Learning tax credit is open expenses," Beckett said. to juniors and seniors at the college level, as well as graduate students. It provides a credit equal to 20 percent of qualified expenses of no more than $5,000 per taxpayer. For 1998, only expenses paid on or after July 1 for academic periods beginning on or after that date are eligible for the Lifetime Learning tax credit.

According to Beckett, each student at Marshall University will receive a statement containing the same information filed with the IRS on Form 1098-T for tax year 1998.

"The university has elected to provide supplemental information within the student's statement in order to assist the student and parent in identifying educational

Instructions accompanying the taxpayer's 1998 federal tax forms will explain how to calculate the credit and how to file Form 8863. Eligibility for the tax credit will depend on individual circumstances.

"We encourage all students with questions to see their local tax advisors or to contact the IRS," Beckett said. "They will be able to help in determining eligibility for the tax credits." Beckett added that "Marshall University cannot assist the student or taxpayer in making that tax determination.'

More information about the Hope and Lifetime tax credits may be obtained on the Internet at www.irs.ustreas.gov or www.nacubo.org/website/tra97 or by calling the IRS at (800) 829-1040.

Graduate tuition waivers available

Applications for a limited number of graduate student tuition waivers for Marshall University's summer terms will be accepted through Friday, April 2 in the MU Graduate College Office, Old Main Room 113, according to Dr. Leonard Deutsch, graduate college dean.

"In line with the West Virginia Board of Trustees Policy Bulletin 49, priority will be given to faculty and staff of the state's colleges and universities and to West Virginia residents," Deutsch said. "A small number of waivers will be awarded to nonresident students."

Academic merit will be the major consideration in awarding waivers, according to Deutsch. Merit will be determined by grade point average and scores on GRE, MAT or GMAT examinations.

Waivers cover tuition only. Student activity fees must be paid by the recipient.

Students interested in being considered for a Board of Trustees tuition waiver based on financial need criteria should contact the Graduate College to obtain the proper application form. Eligible students may be awarded up to six hours of waiver, and students who previously held waivers must reapply to be considered for summer term waivers.

Applicants who are awarded waivers will be notified by mail. Approved waivers can be picked up beginning Monday, April 19. Waivers not claimed by Friday, May 7 will be assigned to other qualified applicants.

For more information, contact the graduate college office, 696-6606.

CSEGA names two student affiliates

The Center for the Study of Ethnicity and Gender in Appalachia (CSEGA) has named two new Student Affiliates of the Center.

Maura Conway, a Marshall University graduate student from Huntington, will be working on a project entitled "The Role of Religion in the Cohesion of West Virginia Irish-Catholic Communities," and Travis Williams, another Marshall University graduate student from Huntington, will be working on a project entitled "Giving Voice: A Qualitative Study of African American Alumni, Alumnae, and Current Student Racial Perceptions at Marshall University."

Conway, who earned her bachelor's degree in sociology from Marshall, will research the past and present struggles of people in Irish-Catholic communities in predominantly Protestant Appalachia, with an emphasis on the women in these communities.

dents Ford, Carter and Bush.

"We are delighted to have such a renowned authority as John Jovich to speak at Marshall," said Dr. Alan B. Gould, executive director of Marshall's John Deaver Drinko Academy, one of the sponsors of the lecture. "His lecture will give an in depth look into the Office of the President, the men who have held that office and the women who have accompanied them."

"Jovich will also provide insight into the latest impeachment trial and how it will affect the Office of the President."

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Jovich first gained national notoriety on NBC Nightly News during his high school years as head of a political speakers bureau. He has shaken the hands of seven U.S. presidents thus far in his lifetime, having met John F. Kennedy and former President Harry S. Truman as a young boy and, in later years, Presidents Nixon, Ford, Carter, Reagan and Bush.

Since 1979, Jovich has delivered over 500 lectures on the subject before universities, chambers of commerce, historical societies, civic and fraternal organizations throughout the nation. The recipients of numerous awards and keys to cities, his designations include Honorary Kentucky Colonel, Honorary Aide-de-Camp to the governor of Alabama, and Honorary Texan.

'White House Memories: The Personalities of our Presidents and First Ladies" is sponsored by the John Deaver Drinko Academy, The West Virginia Humanities Council, The John R. Hall Center for Academic Excellence, Pi Sigma Alpha (Marshall's Political Science Honorary), and Phi Alpha Theta (Marshall's History Honorary).

For more information, contact the John Deaver Drinko Academy at Marshall University, 696-3183.

Nominations accepted for student awards

Greek Affairs is preparing to recognize and honor student leaders and scholars who have made significant contributions to Marshall University.

Awards will be given in the following categories: outstanding leadership, outstanding leader/scholar, outstanding contributions to Marshall, multicultural program award, outstanding sophomore, outstanding junior and outstanding senior. Marshall University outstanding volunteers will also be honored.

Applications for these awards are being sent to faculty and staff with a request that

The Office of Student Activities and they be distributed to students who may be deserving of the awards. Each award has an application which includes the criteria for that award, and a student may apply for more than one award.

Completed applications should be returned to the Student Activities Office, MSC 2W29A, by 4:30 p.m. on March 5. An awards selection committee will review the applications, and winners will be honored at an awards program on April 16.

For additional applications or information, contact the Student Activities Office, 696-6770.

Williams, who earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from West Virginia State College, has conducted interviews with African American students and alumni to examine how African American students over the past thirty years have coped with the challenges of attending a predominantly white Appalachian university.

The Center for the Study of Ethnicity and Gender in Appalachia is funded by a $250,000 Rockefeller Foundation Grant for the Humanities. The goal of the center is to help fill the void of research about ethnicity and gender in the Appalachian re-undergraduate students who can demonstrate a strong commitment to academic success, multicultural and gender equity, and community or university service.

Other graduate students whose research interests are congruent with the goal of the Center are invited to apply to become Student Affiliates of the Center.

The Crawford Memorial Scholarship will be awarded to one undergraduate student (female or male) who can demonstrate a strong commitment to academic success and involvement in one or more of the following areas: law enforcement or community service; domestic violence or sexual assault prevention, and/or working with the physically challenged or differently abled. Scholarship recipients will be honored during the 1999 Celebration of Women Awards Dinner on March 30. All applicants must be received on or before Friday, Feb. 19. For more information, contact the Women's Center at 696-3338

"LadySmith Black Mambazo," a vocal group whose music was born in the mines of South Africa, has recorded over 30 alburns during their career. They have also performed with numerous artists including Paul Simon, Stevie Wonder, Julie Fordham, The Wynans, George Clinton and Dolly Parton.

Ticket prices are $20, $18, $16 and $10 and can be purchased in Smith Hall Room 160 on the MU campus.

"LadySmith Black Mambazo" is sponsored by WOWK-TV, WKEE-FM and WAMX-FM.

More information about this performance may be obtained by contacting the Marshall Artists Series at (304) 696-6656.

Applications accepted for Bruce scholarship

Applications are being accepted from students who wish to apply for the Larry Bruce Memorial Scholarship, said Dr. Clair W. Matz, professor in the Department of Political Science and coordinator of International Studies at Marshall University.

The scholarship was created by West Virginia Secretary of State Ken Hechler to perpetuate the spirit and ideals of Larry Bruce, Jr., a former president of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF and a Marshall alumnus. Bruce, also a native of Huntington, died in December 1992.

Matz said the scholarship will be awarded to Marshall University juniors and seniors who in their freshman and sophomore years exhibited an international spirit as evidenced by: an interest in a career in international affairs, humanitarian service or concern for children in the Third World.

Students must have a grade point average of at least 3.0 to apply and all applications must be accompanied by an essay (300-500 words) based on research about UNICEF or Larry Bruce or perpetuating his spirit.

The scholarship award is expected to be approximately $900 and the deadline for returning applications is March 31. It will be awarded by a committee including the faculty of the Political Science Department and representatives from the UNICEF Committee of Huntington. Notification of the award will be made by April 15.

Application forms are available in Smith Hall Room 738 and Smith Hall Room 779.

More information about the scholarship may be obtained by contacting Matz at 696-2763.
