New degree programs approved

The West Virginia Board of Regents, meeting Tuesday in Charleston, approved two new degree programs for Marshall University:

--Associate in Applied Science Degree in Engineering Technology, beginning with the first semester of the 1974-75 academic year. The program will provide options in Civil,

Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering Technology and will serve the needs of students who desire to enter the job market after two years of appropriate preparation.

--Graduate Certificate Program in the Area of Behavioral Disorders within Special Education. The development of this program was part of the West Virginia State Plan for Teacher Education Programs in Special Education and it now will go before the State Board of Education. It will go into effect immediately upon approval by the State Board of Education.

The Board of Regents Tuesday also adopted an academic personnel document, "Policy Regarding Academic Freedom and Responsibility, Appointment, Promotion, Tenure and Termination of Employment of Professional Personnel." The new policy will go into effect July 1, 1974 and "all academic appointments made after the effective date hereof shall be in conformity with the policy statement," the resolution reads.

The resolution further states, "The provisions of this policy relating to qualifications, contracts and tenure status, shall not apply to employees with an effective date of employment prior to July 1, 1974; provided, however, any such appointee wishing to be covered by these provisions relating to qualifications, contracts, and tenure status, may request such coverage in writing prior to July 1, 1974, which request for such coverage, if approved by the President of the institution and the Board of Regents, shall entitle the appointee to coverage, and such coverage shall be no.ed in, and become a part of, the individual's permanent file."

In other actions the Board:

--Approved changes in the Marshall undergraduate admissions policy.

--Approved increases in room and board rates and a $3 increase in the Marshall student activity fee. Also approved was an increase in the fee for enrolling children in Marshall's nursery school for the summer term.

Advance registration for summer terms set

Advance registration for the first summer term at Marshall University has been scheduled April 1-5, according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

Hours for registration are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday, Eddins said. Classes for the first summer term run from June 11 to July 12.

Eligible for advance registration for the first summer term are students currently enrolled at Marshall and all previously-enrolled students who have not attended another institution since their last enrollment at Marshall.

The registration will be conducted in the basement of Old Main. Students planning to register must have a course schedule approved by their academic advisor and a Marshall University identification card. Students not assigned an academic advisor should contact the deans of their respective colleges.

Students registering for the first summer term will be billed for their tuition and fees. The charges must be paid by the close of business on May 24, at 4:15 p.m., at the university cashier's office in Old Main.

Eddins urged students to be certain they pay course charges prior to the deadline. "Failure to do so will result in the cancellation of student's advance registration schedule," he emphasized. The fees are not due during the week of advance registration, he added.

The schedule of classes for both summer terms will be published in The Parthenon, the Marshall University student newspaper, as a special supplement on March 27.

Both the Registrar's Office and the deans' offices will remain open during the evening hours of registration to aid students, Eddins added.

For students not eligible for advance registration, regular registration for the first summer term will be conducted June 10 at Memorial Student Center, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Fees are due and payable on that date for students participating in regular registration, Eddins said.

Also, on June 10, advance registration will be conducted for the second summer term, extending from July 16 to August 16. Fees for the second term also will be due on the day of registration. Hours for both registration sessions are the same.

Regular registration for the second summer term will be held on July 15.

Music festival under way here

Klaus George Roy, composer, critic and author, is guest lecturer for the three-day Marshall University Contemporary Music Festival which opened Thursday and which will continue through Saturday.

Director of publications for The Cleveland Orchestra, Roy is a former music critic for the Christian Science Monitor. He was to present lectures on "Trends in Contemporary Music" and a concert demonstration today at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Smith Music Hall auditorium. Roy will preside over a seminar for composers Saturday at 10 a.m. All festival events will be held in Smith Music Hall.

An 8 p.m. concert has been scheduled today with the Marshall University Symphonic Wind Ensemble, conducted by Dr. Robert R. Clark, associate professor of music and director of university bands.

The festival is open to the public.

DR. JOHN HOGAN, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, spoke at John Adams Junior High School in Charleston this month on the topic, "Functions and Relations."

DR. MARVIN MILLS, associate professor of safety, spoke at the Traffic Institute at Eastern Kentucky University this month, on the topic, "Behavioral Approaches to Teaching Driver and Traffic Safety."

Political science lectures scheduled

Dr. Henry J. Abraham, professor in the Woodrow Wilson Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia, is scheduled to be the speaker at the 1974 Spring Lectureship Series here Tuesday and Wednesday, March 19 and 20.

Sponsored by the Department of Political Science, the program is aided by contributions from the Twentieth Street Bank and Charles M. Polan Jr., a local businessman and a member of the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Dr. Abraham is a consultant to the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on the Separation of Powers, and is the author of many textbooks on Constitutional law.

His lectures begin Tuesday, at 8 p.m., on the topic "Individual and Societal Rights: Line-Drawing on the Contemporary Scene of Civil Rights and Liberties."

On Wednesday, he will speak at 1 p.m. on the topic, "Justice and Presidents: A Political and Historical Analysis of Appointments to the Supreme Court."

Both lectures are to be held in Smith Hall Auditorium and are open to the public. An informal question-and-answer period will follow the formal lectures.

The program will conclude Wednesday with a banquet at the UpTowner Inn, honoring Dr. Abraham. A social hour will begin at 4:45 p.m., followed by dinner at 5:30.

Betty Furness Forum speaker

Betty Furness, former special assistant to President Johnson for consumer affairs and chairman of New York State's Consumer Protection Board, will speak on the Marshall Artists Series, Forum Series, Tuesday, March 19.

Speaking on "A Consumer's Bill of Rights", Miss Furness will appear at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium. Admission is by season membership or student activity card.

The author of McCall Magazine's column, "Counsel to the Consumer", Miss Furness became nationally known through television when she appeared in live commercials for Westinghouse in 1949. It was through her television work in connection with political conventions and elections that she became interested in news and public affairs.

Her work in Washington during the Johnson administration resulted in passage of federal legislation in the areas of truth in lending, meat inspection, flammable fabrics, and the establishment of the National Commission on Product Safety.

She is a member of the board of directors on Consumers Union and a member of the Advisory Council to the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs.

SPRING GOLF MEET

The 1974 Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, sponsored by the Marshall University Faculty Golf Club, will be held on Saturday, March 30, at Sugarwood Golf Club. Tee off time will be 8 a.m. on the first tee.

The tournament is open to all Marshall faculty, emeritus faculty, staff and administrators.

Interested golfers should send their name, handicap, and $1 for prizes to Joe La Cascia, Economics Department, Northcott Hall, Room 213.
