

3-29-1974

Marshall University News Letter, March 29, 1974

Office of Informational Services

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter

Recommended Citation

Office of Informational Services, "Marshall University News Letter, March 29, 1974" (1974). Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986. Paper 170.

http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter/170

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.

News Letter

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

March 29, 1974

Energy crisis symposium planned

An 11-day series of programs dealing with the energy crisis will open at Marshall Sunday. The symposium is being sponsored by the Contemporary Issues Committee of the Student Activities Office and by Student Government.

The opening speaker will be Congressman Ken Hechler, who will present an environmental slide program Sunday at 6 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center.

The remainder of the schedule:

Monday, April 1-4 p.m., films on "Energy Environment and Economy" and "Offshore Drilling," Student Center Room 2W22; 8 p.m., panel discussion on oil conducted by six representatives of the petroleum industry in the Student Center Multi-Purpose Room. Dr. Carolyn Karr of Marshall will moderate a question-and-answer period.

Tuesday, April 2-3:30 p.m., Alumni Lounge, film entitled "What Time Is the Power on Today?" followed by a question-and-answer period conducted by George Hervey, district manager of Appalachian Power Co. Slide presentation, "The Delicate Balance," by Miss Lynn Ayres of Columbia Gas. At 8 p.m., Orin E. Atkins, chairman and chief executive officer of Ashland Oil, Inc., will speak, also in the Alumni Lounge.

Wednesday, April 3-4 p.m., Alumni Lounge, panel discussion on coal followed by question-and-answer period.

Thursday, April 4-1:30 p.m., Room 2W22, talk by Joe Browder, director of the Environmental Policy Center, Washington, D.C.; 8 p.m., Room 2W22, address by an energy specialist from the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Friday, April 5-2 p.m., Gullickson Hall gym, address by Ralph Nader.

Sunday, April 7-Time to be announced, Student Center

Coffee House, address by Helen Cook of the Save Our Cumberland Mountains organization.

Monday, April 8-1:30 p.m., Student Center plaza, address by Congressman Les Aspin of Wisconsin; 8 p.m., Student Center, skit on the energy crisis by comedy trio, "Three's Company," to be announced.

Tuesday, April 9-3:30 p.m., Alumni Lounge, slide presentation on Purox system by James A. Cox, environmental systems engineer for Union Carbide Corp.; 8 p.m., Alumni Lounge, address by Dr. Clovis Maksoud, special envoy of the Arab League, on "The Energy Crisis-An Arab Viewpoint."

Wednesday, April 10-3:30 p.m., Alumni Lounge, panel discussion and workshop by Dr. E.S. Hanrahan, Dr. Clair W. Matz Jr. and Dr. William S. Westbrook, all of the Marshall faculty; 8 p.m., Alumni Lounge, address by address by Donald Dick of Wheeling Electric Co., on "A Business View of the Energy Crisis."

Thursday, April 11-Noon, Student Center Plaza, address by journalist Brit Hume, author of "Death and the Mines" and former member of columnist Jack Anderson's staff; 8 p.m., Alumni Lounge, address by Dr. William H. Miernyk, director of the Regional Research Institute at West Virginia University.

Student organizers of the program said Arnold Miller, president of the United Mine Workers of America, also will appear as part of the symposium with the date and time to be announced later.

Director to discuss hospital cost factor

Dr. Harold A. Cohen, executive director of the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission will speak here Monday on "The Hospital as a Public Utility." The program, scheduled for 8 p.m., will be held in Room 2W22 of Marshall's Memorial Student Center.

Dr. Cohen's appearance is part of the First Huntington National Bank Lecture Series, made possible by a grant from the bank, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the College of Business and Applied Science.

The program will be open to the public, Dr. Drewry said, but it is aimed particularly at Huntington businessmen and Marshall students and faculty members in the areas of business, nursing, medical technology and economics.

Dr. Cohen, who also serves as a lecturer in the Department of Medical Care and Hospital, Johns Hopkins School of Public Health, was an associate professor of economics at the University of Georgia before assuming his present position. He earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Cornell University and is the author of many published articles in the field of health care costs.

Student journalists arrive for UHSP meeting

More than 500 high school students from West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio are expected to attend the annual United High School Press Convention scheduled here today and Saturday.

Activities for student journalists and their newspaper advisers will include workshops, critique sessions, general meetings and an awards luncheon, according to Max E. Shively, instructor of journalism and UHSP director.

The editor of The Quill, a monthly magazine for journalists published by The Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, will speak at the awards luncheon on March 30 at 12:45 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Memorial Student Center. Charles E. Long, chief of the Chicago-based magazine, is a 1961 journalism graduate of the University of Oklahoma and a former member of the university staff.

Twelve workshop sessions planned for the convention include lessons in electronic journalism, policy and content of student publications, beginning and advanced news writing and reporting, yearbook planning, advertising and business, beginning copyediting, feature writing, newspaper design, sports writing, a demonstration of phototypesetting equipment and photography.

Faculty and staff achievements, activities...

Page 2

Six members of the Marshall University faculty presented papers at the 49th annual meeting of the West Virginia Academy of Science at West Virginia Institute of Technology March 22. DR. DONALD C. TARTER, associate professor of biological sciences, presented two papers: "Distribution of the fishfly general Chauliodes Latreille and Nigronia Banks in West Virginia" and "A pre-impoundment investigation of the aquatic biology and surveys of the woody vegetation and early socioeconomic impact of a reservoir project on Beech Fork basin, Twelvepole Creek, Wayne and Cabell counties, West Virginia." The papers were co-authored by former graduate students in the department.

At the same meeting, DR. HOWARD PRICE and DR. MELVYN MOSHER, assistant professors of chemistry, presented a paper they had co-authored on "The Distribution of Blycosphingolipids: Gangliosides." Student co-authors were SUSAN WILSON, RUFUS CREEKMORE and DESIREE BLATT.

Three members of the Department of Mathematics faculty presented papers: "A Lattice Dependent Identity" by DR. H. PAUL GREENOUGH; "A Note on Best Approximation by Compact Operators" by DR. JOHN S. LANCASTER, and "On a Class of Entire Functions of Two Complex Variables" by DR. W. C. SISARCICK.

Five members of the Marshall faculty had book reviews published in the Huntington Herald-Advertiser March 24. They are DR. JOAN F. ADKINS, associate professor of English; DR. CLAYTON L. MCNEARNEY, assistant professor of Bible and religion; DR. JOHN L. MARTIN, professor of modern languages; DR. WARREN W. WOODEN, associate professor of English, and DR. OFFA LOU JENKINS, professor of education.

KATINA CUMMINGS, Huntington High School senior and the VFW Voice of Democracy winner for West Virginia, was an honored guest in the Washington office of U.S. Senator JENNINGS RANDOLPH recently. She is the daughter of CATHERINE M. CUMMINGS, instructor of speech at Marshall.

DR. CORAZON ALMALEL, professor of modern languages; EMORY W. CARR, assistant professor of modern languages, and HAROLD T. MURPHY, associate professor of modern languages, attended the annual meeting of the Continuing Conference of Foreign Language Teachers at Bethany College March 15-16. Murphy also attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the conference as Marshall's permanent representative. Also attending the conference was Professor Emeritus ALMA NOBLE, who taught French at Marshall for many years.

DR. THURMON WHITLEY, associate professor of mathematics, spoke on the subject "Mathematicians Are Human" at Barboursville High School March 19.

MRS. ELIZABETH CZOMPO, assistant professor of mathematics, spoke March 22 at John Adams Junior High School, Charleston, on "Careers in Mathematics."

DR. JOHN W. HOGAN, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, spoke at Winfield High School recently on "Advanced Placement in Mathematics at Marshall University."

DR. THURMON WHITLEY, associate professor of mathematics, attended a Topology Conference in Charlotte, N.C., March 14-16. The conference was sponsored by the University of North Carolina at Charlotte and by the National Science Foundation.

LYLE F. PLYMALE, associate professor of physical science, along with students EDWYN BOYD and WINTON BAKER, attended the national meeting of Chi Beta Phi held at Athens (Ala.) College March 21-23. Boyd, president of Kappa Chapter of Chi Beta Phi, served as official delegate for the Marshall Chapter. They also visited the world's largest space exhibit, located near Huntsville, Ala.

DR. MARVIN MILLS, associate professor of safety education, gave the keynote address to the Traffic Safety Group of the Kentucky State Department of Education in Winchester, Ky., March 23. His topic was "Innovations in Traffic Safety."

Three members of the Marshall faculty attended the spring meeting of the Mountain State Business Forum at Hawk's Nest State Park March 22-23. They are DR. JOSEPH S. LA CASCIA, chairman of the Department of Economics; GEORGE B. CORRIE, associate professor of economics, and SHIRLEY W. OVERHOLT, assistant professor of office administration.

ROBERT A. JUNAS, instructor of journalism, recently organized the AAF/ADS Marshall University Advertising Society and gained national affiliation for the group with the American Advertising Federation. On March 22 he was host at a special meeting of the Advertising Club of Huntington in which he and AAF/ADS National Chairman Robert S. Boyd installed 20 Marshall students as charter members of the society.

DR. HYMEN HART, associate professor of English, will present a paper Saturday at the first annual meeting of the Shakespeare and Renaissance Association of West Virginia in Buckhannon. His paper is titled, "Pre-Freudian Elements In Shakespeare."

DR. PAUL W. WHEAR, professor of music and composer in residence, is guest clinician and composer this week at an instrumental clinic sponsored by the Armed Forces School of Music, in Norfolk, Va. Two of Dr. Whear's works, "The Chief Justice, John Marshall," and "Lexington Overture" will be featured in the clinic concerts.

Two visiting artists scheduled in April

An internationally known sculptor and a former West Virginia potter are scheduled in early April as visiting artists here.

Frank Gallo, will be guest lecturer and visiting artist April 3-5 for a series of workshops and discussions in the Department of Art.

Gallo, chairman of the Department of Sculpture at the University of Illinois at Urbana, has exhibited his works at galleries throughout the United States and in Europe, Australia, Canada and South America.

In addition to discussions with Marshall art students, Gallo will present a slide-lecture April 4 at 6:30 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 621.

A workshop is also being planned by the Huntington Galleries for Saturday, April 6. Details on the workshop will be announced by the Galleries.

The artist's visit is sponsored by the Department of Art in cooperation with the College of Education and the Office of Academic Affairs.

The potter, James Sanders will conduct two workshops on April 2 at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the Department of Art.

An exhibit and sale of Sanders' works will be held April 3 in Smith Hall Lounge from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. He will be present to talk with local potters and demonstrate his techniques.

Sanders uses no lead in his glazes, and produces decorative and useful items ranging from vases and bottles to miniature animals.

Also, Sanders' wife, Kay, will be displaying loom-woven items on April 3, during the pottery exhibit. Mrs. Sanders produces placemats, rugs, wall hangings and other materials on her traditional loom.

Area businessmen, foreign students meet

"The World Business Community: Interdependence or Cut-Throat Competition?" will be the theme of a two-day meeting between foreign students and area businessmen to be held at Marshall University.

The conference, scheduled for Thursday and Friday, April 4-5, is sponsored by the American Businessmen-Foreign Student Program of the Regional Council for International Education, according to Dr. A. M. Tyson, Marshall's representative to the council.

All meetings of the conference will be held in Marshall Memorial Student Center with the exception of a Friday luncheon, scheduled for the UpTowner Inn.

The conference will open Thursday, April 4, at 4 p.m. with registration in the Student Center mezzanine. A reception will begin at 5 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge and Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry Jr., dean of Marshall's College of Business and Applied Science, will give a welcoming address.

Friday's activities will open with a Plenary Session in Room 2W22. Dr. Joseph Malone, president of the Regional Council for International Education will speak on "Challenges to Global Interdependence in 1974." This will be followed by panel discussions.

Peter F. Cavanagh of Valvoline Oil Co. will speak at the 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the UpTowner Inn on "The Trials and Tribulations of 'Going International'."

Additional panel discussions are planned for the afternoon and the closing plenary session will begin at 4 p.m. in Room 2W22. The speaker will be R. E. Hinerman, public affairs manager of Huntington Alloy Products Division of International Nickel Co., Inc., who will discuss "The Diplomacy of Multinational Trade and Commerce."

Foreign students and faculty members from a number of colleges and universities in the region are expected to attend.

Positions open

SECRETARY, Department of Athletics—Applications are now being accepted. Applicants should have good typing speed, as well as proficiency in letter and manuscript form. Applications may be filed with the Placement Office.

*** *** ***

SECRETARY, Office of Student Clinical Experiences—Applicants must be able to type accurately, use dictating equipment and other office equipment and be able to perform general reception, secretarial and clerical work. Clerical work requires evaluation of student records to determine eligibility for student clinical experiences.

Previous office experience and secretarial training desirable. Salary will be dictated by experience and preparation. All applications must be received by April 2, 1974. Applications may be obtained in the Office of Student Clinical Experiences, Room 200, Jenkins Hall.

*** *** ***

DORM COUNSELORS—Project Upward Bound at Marshall University is recruiting dorm counselors for the summer program, scheduled June 12-July 31. Counselors will live in the dorms with Upward Bound students, assist them with normal concerns, and make referrals when necessary. Other duties include supervision of activities and assistance to head counselors.

Multi-talented Marshall students who can perform a variety of duties, serve as excellent models, provide motivation by their example and who will be available to assist in campus follow-up activities are desired for these positions.

Applications are available from Mrs. Barbara Hopta in the Student Development Center, or from Frank Cummings, Old Main 121.

Marshall University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

*** *** ***

The West Virginia College of Graduate Studies, Institute, has announced several position openings in the Faculty of Business and Management: (1) Accounting - Financial and Managerial; (2) Marketing and Transportation, Physical Distribution; (3) Public Administration/Political Science; (4) Economics - Public Finance; (5) Sociology - Organizational and Industrial; (6) Psychology - Organizational and Personal or Industrial; (7) Management - Behavioral.

All positions require an earned doctorate with teaching experience, preferably at the graduate level. Evidence of research and scholarly activity is important as well as practical experience.

Interested persons may send their credentials to Dr. George M. Harmon, Dean of Faculty of Business and Management, at the College of Graduate Studies.

Schools study available

The Huntington Area League of Women Voters has placed copies of its booklet, "Cabell County Schools," in the Office of Informational Services, Old Main 115. The 38-page booklets are priced at 50 cents.

The booklet contains factual information about the county school system gathered over a period of about three years under the direction of Mrs. Charles E. Brown, education chairman. "The intention of the handbook is not to evaluate or judge the system, but to provide factual information on all phases" of the school system, according to the booklet's introduction.

Broadcasting event is termed success

The Seminar in Broadcasting held on the Marshall campus March 22-23 "was an unqualified success," according to Dr. Clarence A. Kellner, associate professor of speech. The seminar attracted Marshall students and 80 high school students and their faculty members from West Virginia and Ohio. B.R. Smith, assistant professor of speech, was in general charge of arrangements.

Seven seminars on various aspects of broadcasting were conducted, led by Robert Hanson, program director of WHEZ-FM; Maureen Milicia, assistant professor of speech; David Bond, operations manager of WMUL-TV; James Eblin, manager of WKEE-AM and FM; Mrs. Kitty Bocock, sales manager of WGNT; Bos Johnson, news director of WSAZ-TV; Bob Bowen, sports director of WSAZ-TV; Dr. Dorothy Johnson, associate professor of speech, and John Evans, general manager of Capitol Cablevision, Charleston.

The seminar, the third such event held at Marshall, was sponsored by the Department of Speech, the Office of Community Services and the MU Broadcasters Club.

Galloway reception today

A reception will be held today from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Marshall University bookstore office in honor of Percy Galloway, who is retiring as bookstore director.

Friends, faculty and staff are invited. Refreshments will be served.

Students excused

The following students were excused from classes last Friday to attend a badminton tournament in Tennessee:

Thawatchai Jitima, Connie Clay and Nancy Shimp.

The following students were excused from classes last Thursday and Friday to attend a national convention in Athens, Ala.

Edwin Boyd, Winton Baker.

Golf tournament Saturday

The annual Spring Invitational Golf Tournament for all faculty, emeritus faculty, staff and administrators will be held Saturday at 8 a.m. at Sugarwood Golf Club.

Interested golfers who have not submitted their name, handicap and $1 entry fee should register at 8 a.m. at the 1st tee. For more information, contact Dr. Joseph LaCascia, professor of economics, at 6492 or 523-2672.

English institute next week

The 14th annual Marshall University English Institute will be held next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

The 1974 Institute will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the publication of Herman Melville's "Billy Budd."

Included in the forum is a presentation of selected scenes from the Coxe and Chapman dramatization of "Billy Budd" with direction by Dr. Elaine Novak, professor of speech, and narration by Dr. Hymen Hart, associate professor of English.

Dr. Edward Stone, professor of English at Ohio University, will speak on the topic, "A Backward Reach From Billy Budd," for the institute.

A panel discussion on "Melville in the Classroom" will follow, with panelists Dr. Stone; Diana Waldron, assistant professor of English; Dr. William Ramsey, assistant professor of English; Mrs. Maggie McCarty of Barboursville High School; Roger Bailey of Huntington High School, and Barbara Ayres Corley, graduate student in English.

Nursing films lost

The Department of Nursing Education has lost a box of filmstrips and records. The filmstrips were in canisters.

The box was apparently lost Jan. 4 when the department was relocated from Smith Hall to Prichard Hall.

Anyone having information on the missing materials should contact Laura Lee Wilson, assistant professor of nursing, 696-6750.

FILMSFILMSFILMSFILMS

"Skin Game" is this week's presentation by the Magic Theatre today at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Memorial Student Center.

Admission is by ID card. Guest passes are available at the information desk.