4-5-1974

Marshall University News Letter, April 5, 1974

Office of Informational Services

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter/169

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.
Faculty meeting set April 25

There will be a general faculty meeting at 4 p.m., on April 25, in Old Main Auditorium. One agenda item will be the annual spring election of representatives from the faculty at large. Nominations will be received and ballots will be distributed and collected during the following week. This has been the standing procedure for some years.

The terms to expire are: (The names provided are those now in the position.)

Student Conduct and Welfare Committee: Professor Clarke F. Hess, E-Faculty Faculty Service Committee: Professor Helen Hunter, E-Faculty.
Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee: Professor Ernest Cole, E-Faculty, and Professor Jane B. Shepherd, E-Faculty.
Athletic Committee: Professor Charles Bias, E-Faculty, and Professor Marvin D. Mills, E-Faculty.
Public Relations and Publications Committee: Professor James Gillespie, E-Faculty, Professor John Goodwin, E-Faculty, and Professor William P. Sullivan, E-Faculty.

RCIE seminar in India planned

Dr. Mahlon Brown, professor of social studies, has been named project director for the Regional Council for International Education's summer seminar in India scheduled June 25-Aug. 3.

Arab envoy to present energy crisis viewpoint

Dr. Clovis Maksoud, special envoy of the 19-nation League of Arab States, will make two appearances at Marshall University Tuesday, April 9.

His first talk, scheduled for 11 a.m. in Smith Hall Auditorium, will deal with "The Middle Eastern Conflict—A Historical Political Perspective."

His second appearance, at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center, will be part of the 11-day, student-sponsored symposium on the energy crisis. The evening talk is entitled "The Energy Crisis—An Arab Viewpoint." Both talks will be open to the public.

Dr. Maksoud opened a cross-country tour of the United States in January. He spoke at the University of Cincinnati and at Ohio University in February.

Maksoud is a 46-year-old Lebanese journalist who has studied at American University in Beirut, George Washington Law School in the United States, and England's Oxford University.

A senior editor and columnist for the newspaper An-Nahar, Maksoud served as Arab League ambassador to India and Southeast Asia for five years. He is the author of several books on the political situation in the Middle East.

Dr. Brown will lead the seminar on education and modernization in India, the RCIE announced.

Twenty positions for faculty members holding appointments at accredited institutions of higher learning are now open for the India seminar.

The seminar is designed to meet a pressing need for American educators to understand and transmit to their students an appreciation for the processes of growth in India. Faculty members who wish to apply for the seminar should provide a letter of application stating expected benefits from the experience; a curriculum vitae; and letters of recommendation from a department chairman or administrative official in the college in which the applicant holds an appointment, and from a colleague in the academic profession; and a registration fee of $10.

Further information on the seminar can be obtained from Dr. Brown.

MU NEWCOMERS

Welcome these newcomers to the Marshall University community:

SYLVIA W. FIELDS, secretary in Institutional Research; SUSAN JOY HUTCHINSON, secretary in the Oral History of Appalachia project; JOHN R. JAMIESON, systems analyst in the Computer Center; CHARLES THOMAS LUCAS, custodian, and KAY TERRELL, secretary in the Department of Sociology.

Welcome aboard!
Faculty and staff achievements, activities...

DR. C. A. KELLNER, associate professor of speech, and MAUREEN MILICIA, assistant professor of speech, participated in a panel discussion examining the successful television program, "The Waltons," along with the creator of the program and one of its stars. The discussion was held during Morris Harvey College's Appalachian Arts Festival.

A program entitled "Teaching the Terminal Course in Business and Professional Communication" was presented by ROBERT EDMUNDS, assistant professor of speech, and HENRY SULLIVAN, instructor of speech, at the Eastern Communication Association Convention in Washington last month. EDMUNDS is president of the West Virginia Speech Association and SULLIVAN is editor of the WVSA "Journal."

RALPH TURNER, assistant professor of journalism, is serving as chief judge of the Buffalo, N.Y. Newspaper Guild annual Page One Competition. More than 900 entries are submitted in the contest in 19 categories.

A paper on "Sidney E. Mead: The Historian and the Believer," was presented by DR. CLAYTON L. MCNEARNEY, assistant professor of Bible and religion, at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Religion, Southeastern Region, last month at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga.

DR. MARVIN MILLS, associate professor of safety education, was a consultant to a workshop for the State Department of Education on the development of a guide for driver traffic safety for West Virginia. The workshop was held at North Bend State Park at Cairo, W. Va.

The winners of the 1974 Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, sponsored by the MU Faculty Golf Club last week at Sugarwood Golf Club, were NEAL G. ADKINS, associate professor of accounting; REX GRAY, retired professor of education; ROGER B. HAMOOD, instructor of accounting, and DR. BEN W. HOPE, professor of speech.

A lecture-demonstration program for the Meadows Elementary School PTA was presented by MRS. OLIVE HAGER and MISS BETTY ROBERTS, assistant professors of physical education, on "A New Approach For Teaching Elementary Physical Education."

Two members of the Department of History presented papers at the annual West Virginia Historical Association meeting here last week. "Papist in Restoration Politics: The Parliamentary Career of Sir Thomas Strickland of Sizere, 1661-1677?" was presented by DR. MICHAEL J. GALGANO, assistant professor. DR. DAVID C. DUKE, assistant professor, presented a paper on "Spy Scares, Scapegoats and the Cold War." DR. ALAN B. GOULD, associate professor of history, was elected vice president of the WVHA.

DR. TOM ALLEN JR., assistant professor of education, served as a judge in three competitive events at the annual State Future Business Leaders of America Conference at West Virginia State College.

DR. JOAN F. ADKINS, associate professor of English, coauthored an article, "Viva Negativa: Spanish Mystics and English Poets," scheduled for publication in "The Literary Criterion" in June. Another article by DR. ADKINS, "The Esthetics of Science: Muriel Rukeyser's 'Waterlily Fire,'" was published in the winter issue of "Contemporary Poetry."

DR. DAVID CUSICK, assistant professor of mathematics, spoke to the Mathematics Club at St. Albans High School last month on the topic, "Three Guys and a Pile of Shoeboxes—An Intimate Glimpse of the Life of a Digital Computer."

DR. DAVID FIELDS, STEVEN HATFIELD and JAMES KELLER, assistant professors of mathematics, and DR. JOHN W. HOGAN, professor of mathematics, attended the annual meeting of the West Virginia Council of Teachers of Mathematics last month at Concord College. HATFIELD was selected as editor of the council's newsletter.

DR. E. BOWIE KAUBLE, assistant professor of biological sciences, presented a paper last month to the West Virginia Academy of Science at West Virginia Institute of Technology on "Influence of Dried-Grass Silage and a Silage Fraction on the Nitrogen Utilization of Rats."

Barker named to panel to visit New Mexico

President Barker will be a member of an evaluation team from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which will visit Eastern New Mexico University next week.

The team will examine all facets of the university, located at Portales, and will submit findings to the North Central Association's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education. The report will be a major factor in the commission's consideration of Eastern New Mexico's accreditation status.

The team's visit will begin Sunday, April 7, and will continue through Wednesday, April 10.

Dr. Barker said the visit also will be useful to him since Eastern New Mexico is comparable to Marshall in size and types of programs. He said he hopes to have an opportunity to compare facilities, problems, and approaches used in solving problems of the two universities.

Students excused

The following students were excused from classes March 22 for a field trip conducted by the Department of Journalism:

The following students are excused from classes April 14-20 for the Annual Convention of the International Council for Exceptional Children in New York:

Undergraduate students Marilyn Price, Jane Wentz, Marla Williams, Ann Miller, Julie Warne, Becky Grant, Roger Thompson, Susan Hinkle, Nancy Thabet, Loretta Bryant, Linda Lloyd, Susan Leitner, Debbie Patterson, Cathy Williams, Gail Ashcraft, Barbara D'Marc, Debbie Ferri, Steve Bloom, Betty Kolar, Joan Cartwright, Pat Dugan, Darlene Backer.

Graduate students Susie Fisher, Margie Reed, Harrison Morris, Sandy Phares, Mary Wolf, and Mary Ward.

The following students have been excused from classes April 2-5 to attend a conference in New York sponsored by the International Radio and Television Society:

Frank Gardina, Jerry Handley, Steven Hinerman, Rosemary Maruish, Donna Maynard, Nancy Reveal, Janina Saouan, Roger Sockman and James Tice.

Position open

SECRETARY—To the assistant director of admissions. Applications are now being accepted. Applicants must have typing and shorthand skills, have experience with dictating machines and other office equipment, and be able to perform reception and secretarial duties.

Secretarial training and previous office experience desirable. Employment would begin April 24, 1974. Applications are available in the Office of Admissions, 123 Old Main. The deadline for submitting applications will be April 19, 1974. Contact James Glover, 3160 for more information.

Marshall University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.
Faculty advisory council report

Following is a summary of the March 29 meeting of the Board of Regents Faculty Advisory Council as reported by Dr. Sam Clagg, Marshall University representative to the council:

The Board of Regents Advisory Council of Faculty met March 29th in Charleston. The Council conducted the following items of business:

1. Resolution - WHEREAS, The West Virginia Board of Regents Policy Bulletin No. 34 eliminated the provision permitting the spouse and dependent children of an employee living outside the state to be considered as residents of West Virginia; and WHEREAS, By intent or accident, Policy Bulletin No. 34 removed a faculty fringe benefit of long standing; and WHEREAS, The faculty in the state system of public higher education have failed to maintain the remunerative pace of their colleagues in most other state systems; and WHEREAS, The increasing cost of living has steadily eroded the faculty ability to stay financially abreast, particularly in the education of their college age children; therefore, be it RESOLVED by the Advisory Council of Faculty: That the provision be reinstated permitting the spouse and dependent children of an employee living outside the state to be considered as residents of West Virginia.

2. To make available to the faculty information and guidance relative to the production of educational TV materials, the Council decided to provide the appropriate personnel of their respective institution with an information guideline produced by the American Council on Education and the AAUP, "Statement on Instructional Television." The Council viewed this as an informational program. It was believed that creative people are capable of negotiating their own contracts without being restricted by institutional policy. If the faculty desires, however, the creation of institutional policy in this area is an option. The ACE guidelines follow this report. The more lengthy AAUP "Statement" is contained in the Summer 1969 issue of the AAUP "Bulletin."

3. There was a lengthy discussion of the higher education budget possibilities in the pending special legislative session. Some strategy was developed for which the Council has high hopes.

Submitted by Sam Clagg
Representative to the Faculty Advisory Council

Rights of Personnel Who Produce Instructional Materials

We are providing for your consideration two passages from the publication, "Copyrights, Clearances, and Rights of Teachers in the New Educational Media," by Fred S. Siebert. Copyright - American Council on Education, Washington, D.C. (1964). These quotations are provided from the Publication's "Summary and Recommendations" and "Conclusions." These seem to provide guidelines appropriate for our consideration.

A. The arrangement between an educational program producer and the teacher (either by direct contract, by reference to an adopted set of by-laws or policies, or by collective bargaining agreement) should cover the following:

a) Initial compensation;

b) Right to re-use both within and outside the originating organization;

c) Compensation for re-use both within and outside the originating organization;

d) The right to specify the life of the program or length of time within which it may be used;

e) Right to revise a part or all of the program or series of programs;

f) Right to withdraw the program based on termination of employment, death, reassignment, or obsolescence.

B. We do not need Policy Statements, but rather Policy Guidelines which can serve as the basis for case by case written agreements.

1. Ownership and Copyright. (Who owns what parts of the product and who secures the copyright, if any?)

2. Initial Faculty Compensation. (Specifically, is the professor given time off from other teaching duties or paid a "star" salary or what?)

3. Internal Re-use. (How long and under what conditions can the University continue to use the product?)

4. Revision. (Can the professor demand revision? What protection does the University have?)

5. External Distribution. (Who can sell-lease-rent or give away what to whom?)

A HOLIDAY!

Monday, April 15, the day after Easter, will be a university holiday. Classes will not be conducted that day and university offices will be closed.

RCIE conference

The Regional Council for International Education will have its 15th annual conference April 19-20 at Webster Hall Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., according to Dr. A. M. Tyson, Marshall RCIE liaison representative.

Theme of the conference will be "The United States in World Affairs: The Decade Ahead."

Speakers will include Dr. Joseph Malone, president of RCIE; Dr. Robin Winks, professor of history at Yale University, and Adolph W. Schmidt, former U.S. ambassador to Canada.

The RCIE has been provided a grant by the Scaife Foundation of Pittsburgh to underwrite the costs of many of those attending the conference. The first 100 RCIE faculty and/or students to register, up to five from each member institution, will have their lodging and three meals paid through the grant.

Interested persons should call Dr. Tyson for details.

Voter registration deadline draws near

Reminder: April 15 is the deadline to register or change registration in order to vote in the May 14 primary election in West Virginia.

Persons registering to vote locally for the first time, those whose names have changed or those moving from one precinct to another, should visit the Voter Registration Office in the Cabell County Courthouse (or the particular county in which you may live) by April 15.

Since the Spring Term ends May 12 and many members of the university community may be planning to be out of town on May 14, these individuals may want to arrange to cast absentee ballots. This may be done by visiting the Circuit Clerk's office in the county courthouse.
MU grad wins national science award

A former Marshall University student has been selected as national first-place winner of the annual Scientific Article Contest sponsored by Chi Beta Phi Scientific Fraternity.

She is Mrs. Claudia Ann Kol, who received her Master of Science degree in biological sciences from Marshall in May, 1973. Mrs. Kol, who lives in Charleston, presently is teaching at Herbert Hoover High School in Clendenin.

Announcement of the award was made by William A. Short, secretary-treasurer of the national organization, in a letter to Lyle F. Plymale, associate professor of physics and physical science and adviser of the campus chapter of Chi Beta Phi.

Forum features film
on ‘Switzerland Today’

Appearing at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium at Marshall University, Butler will comment on the “showcase country” of the world.

Butler, a former broadcaster and college professor, was commissioned by the National Broadcasting Company to produce a series of television films in Africa and radio features in Europe. He has also produced two motion pictures on missionary work in Africa for the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Admission is by season membership or Marshall student activity card.

Speech meet under way

Do you care for Qual? Or would you prefer Prep?
The choice is yours this weekend as the Department of Speech hosts the second annual “Qual or Prep Individual Events Tournament” Friday and Saturday.

More than 20 colleges and universities are expected for the tournament, according to Mrs. Mary Ann Murphy, instructor of speech and individual events coach.

Also expected for the meet are area high school students invited to attend as observers.

The event begins this morning with registration. Preliminary competition is scheduled this afternoon. Semi-finals and finals will be held Saturday morning, with an awards session set Saturday afternoon.

FILM SFILMS SFILMS SFILMS

“Cabaret” is the Magic Theatre presentation today at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Memorial Student Center. Admission is by ID card. Guest passes are available at the information desk on the first floor of the student center.

Mrs. Kol’s article, “The Low pH Tolerance of Tetragnonaria cynosura and Pteronarcys dorsata Under Laboratory Conditions,” will be published in the organization’s national magazine, “Chi Beta Phi Record.” She prepared the article for a class taught by Dr. Donald C. Tarter, associate professor of biological sciences.

Mrs. Kol, who completed her undergraduate work at West Virginia Institute of Technology in 1969, will be recognized at the initiation and awards meeting of the Marshall Chapter of Chi Beta Phi April 29, Plymale said.

Faculty caps, gowns

Faculty members renting caps, gowns and hoods for Commencement can receive a 20 per cent discount if they pick up their materials at the Marshall University Bookstore campus wear area before April 19.

Committee election results are posted

At a recent election held by the College of Arts and Sciences, the following faculty members were elected to the Committees designated:

Academic Planning and Standards Committee, Dr. Howard Slattie; Physical Facilities and Planning Committee, Eric Thorn; Student Conduct and Welfare Committee, Dr. Elizabeth Wolf; Graduate Council, Dr. William Sullivan.

Choral Union presents annual Easter program

The annual Easter program of the Marshall University Choral Union will be presented Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall Auditorium.

The chorus, conducted by Dr. Paul Balshaw, associate professor of music and composed of university music faculty, members of the University choirs and many Huntington citizens, will perform two major works, “Missa brevis” by Zoltan Kodaly and “Te Deum” by Halsey Stevens.

Both concerts are free and open to the public.

Goodwill Industries fund drive is Tuesday

A fund raising drive to establish a Goodwill Industries operation in the Huntington area is scheduled Tuesday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in front of the Memorial Student Center, according to Elwood Beegle, president of the Marshall chapter of the National Rehabilitation Association.

Two “sidewalk tapes” will be started in front of the center, Beegle said. As donations are made, the “tape” will be extended towards the 16th Street entrance to the campus.

A donation of $2 will extend the tape one foot, Beegle said. One tape will be for student donations, the other for faculty and staff.

At the completion of the drive, the total donations will be added to the city’s fund raising campaign for Goodwill Industries scheduled April 15.