UNITED WAY GIFTS UP 24%

The books on Marshall University's 1974 United Way campaign soon will be closed and although the university community has not yet reached its goal, donations to the fund are up 24 per cent over 1973.

Dr. Neil L. Gibbins, United Way section chairman at MU, reported Wednesday that pledges and donations totaled $12,300, only $600 short of the $12,900 goal.

"We have reached the 95 per cent mark," Gibbins said. "Our donations are up almost $2,400 over last year and with the world situation what it is today, I'm proud of the charitable attitude of the university's people."

Gibbins said he expected donations and pledges would come in slowly for a few more days noting that only about 45 per cent of those identified in the university community had given.

"We're clearly ahead of most groups in the drive and it would be very nice if we could get that last $600," he said.

Persons wishing to make pledges or donations may contact Gibbins at 696-6430.

Dr. Railey leader of state organization

Dr. Jimmy H. Railey, head of the Physical Education Division of Marshall University's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, was installed as president of the West Virginia Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation during the organization's eighth annual convention here last weekend.

Dr. Railey succeeds Bea Orr of the Logan County school system as head of the organization.

Also installed were Rose Sangid of Morris Harvey College, secretary-treasurer; Dr. William Alsop of West Virginia University, vice president of the group's General Division; Dr. David Bonke of Fairmont State College, vice president of Health and Safety; Ruth Palmer of the Berkeley County school system, vice president of Physical Education; Ted Muilenberg of West Virginia State College, vice president of Recreation; Jack Cook of Marshall University, vice president of Men's Sports and Athletics, and Donna Lawson of Marshall University, vice president of Women's Sports and Athletics.

Olive Hager, assistant professor of physical education at Marshall, was selected president-elect. She is to take office late next year.

Others elected to serve in 1975-76 are:

Dr. William Douglas of West Virginia University, vice president of the General Division; Martha Buckley of the West Virginia Department of Education, vice president of Health and Safety; Dr. Robert Kurucz of West Virginia University, vice president of physical education; Dr. Patricia Fehl of West Virginia University, vice president of Recreation; James Myers of West Virginia Wesleyan College, vice president of Men's Sports and Athletics, and Patty Paugh of the Logan County school system, vice president of Women's Sports and Athletics.

Those appointed to serve this term (1974-75) include:

Dr. Robert Barnett, assistant professor of physical education and Marshall University wrestling coach, historian; Ruth Mooney of the Logan County school system, state and national membership chairman; Dr. Richard Treadway of West Virginia State College, publications editor, and Ethel Lou St. Clair of the Cabell County school system, chairman of the Legislative Resolutions Committee.

More than 300 persons from across the state attended the three-day convention, Railey reported. "We're really pleased with the attendance," he said, "and from what I heard the people were quite happy with the convention."

A decision has not been made on a site for next year's meeting although several locations are under consideration, he said.

Academic planning unit's actions reported

Actions taken by the Academic Planning and Standards Committee at its meetings on Oct. 10 and Oct. 24 are summarized as follows:

Continuation of the study of College-Level Examination Program (CLEP):

The committee was referred to actions taken on February 15, 1973 and those rejected by former President Barker as of April 18, 1974. It was moved and passed, after considerable discussion, that the committee renew motion No. 1 of its April 18 actions which follows:

Motion No. 1, April 18: The Academic Planning and Standards Committee questions the advisability of giving subject course credit for CLEP general examinations; nevertheless, it recommends (1) that students continue to be given course credit upon passing the CLEP general examinations, but that departments be given the freedom to require additional evidence of proficiency, which may include taking the course, if the student is majoring in one of the departments in which the CLEP general examination credit is given, and (2) that it should be the primary responsibility of the departments concerned to periodically review and reevaluate the CLEP general examinations.

The justification for this motion was implied more than overtly expressed viz. (a) that it would be implicit in the motion per se and (b) that after months of discussion the committee could bring the matter to a head.

This section of the committee's minutes was approved by Dr. Robert B. Hayes, president of Marshall University, with the following conditions:

"The Department of English will be permitted to submit a written examination for the persons seeking credit in English 101 and 102. The examination will be submitted to Mr. James Harless who will administer it at the time the CLEP is given or at a time of his choosing. For students transferring to or entering Marshall University and who have taken the CLEP at another location Mr. Harless will arrange to administer the examination.

"The examination is not to be used to deny credit but is to be used to gather data for evaluation of the CLEP as it is presently being utilized for credit in English 101 and 102.

"This period of gathering data will extend over a period necessary to gather data on 50 individuals or one year, whichever is less.

"The written portion of the test will be submitted to the Department of English for evaluation. The Department of English shall prepare a report after the evaluation of 25 examinations and at the conclusion of the data gathering period. The report will be submitted to and be evaluated by the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and the Vice President for Academic Affairs. A report will be submitted by these two persons to the President for final action on the motion.

"It will be the responsibility of the Department of English and Mr. Harless to monitor the Procedure outlined and to be sure that the guidelines are followed."

Course changes and proposals:

Dr. Paul Stewart referred to a letter from Dr. Ralph Oberly, chairman of the Department of Physics, requesting to change the hours of credit for three graduate Physical Science courses, PS 647, PS 648, and PS 649 from the presently listed 5 credit hours to 3-5 (flexible) credit hours. They were initiated as one-time summer institute "crash" courses with federal support. Today it is possible to offer only the lecture portion of each course. The requested change was accepted by consensus and will involve adjustments in the Graduate School catalog.

Dr. Howard Mills presented a program of 71 hours of clinical content courses in Medical Technology to begin in September, 1975. It was moved and passed unanimously to accept the entire program.

By consensus the requested changes in Sociology were approved. These consisted of the following: 1. Change the present 435 course in Juvenile Delinquency to 207 to meet the needs of the Criminal Justice Program. 2. Change the present 320 course in Criminology to 206 for the same reason.

It was decided to hold the requested changes in Chemistry until the next meeting and await the recommendations of the Arts and Sciences College Curriculum Committee.

It was moved and passed that the proposed new courses in Criminal Justice be accepted. They include the following: 211, 3 hours, Introduction to Law Enforcement (required for B.S. in Law Enforcement and A.S. in Criminal Justice); 231, 3 hours, Introduction to Corrections (required for A.S. in Criminal Justice and B.S. in Corrections); 311, 3 hours, Criminal Investigation (not required for a major); 321, 3 hours, Criminal Justice Administration (required for A.S. in Criminal Justice, B.S. in Law Enforcement and B.S. in Corrections); 322, 3 hours, Criminal Law (required for B.S. in Law Enforcement); 323, 3 hours, Criminal Procedure (required for B.S. in Law Enforcement); 331, 3 hours, Probation and Parole (not required).

GRADE APPEALS:

Dr. Harold Ward gave a report on behalf of the subcommittee on Grade Appeals, of which he is chairman. It had met three times to deal with the case of a student who questioned the grade of 'C' given him by a professor in the Sociology Department. It was reported that after thorough study the committee did not think the student had a strong case. It was moved and passed unanimously to accept the report, and the chairman was asked to write the student informing him that the committee voted to deny his appeal.

MISCELLANEA:

A letter was read from Bradford R. DeVos, chairman of the Library Advisory Committee, recommending that Dr. Robert Brown of the Finance Department be appointed to fill the vacancy left by Dr. Alan Miller's resignation. Dr. Brown was endorsed.

Submitted by
Dr. Joan Adkins, chairman
Dr. Howard Slaatte, secretary

2 resign posts

Dr. Homer Arhelger, director of institutional research and professor of education, has asked to be relieved of the institutional research position in order to return to full-time teaching duties.

The request was made in an Oct. 31 letter to President Robert B. Hayes. Dr. Arhelger said he would like to be able to resume duties as a full-time member of the teaching faculty no later than the beginning of the 1975-76 fall semester. He has been dividing his time between the classroom and the institutional research position.

President Hayes said he would accept Dr. Arhelger's decision, and that a search would be initiated to find a successor in the institutional research post. In a letter to Dr. Arhelger he commented, "It is always most difficult to be full-time in two jobs. You have done both well, no doubt at much personal sacrifice."

The director of institutional research is responsible for compiling a large amount of statistical information about the university which is used in reports for the Board of Regents and for other reporting and planning purposes.

Robert G. Bradley, director of purchasing for Marshall University since February, 1969, has submitted his resignation, effective Nov. 30. He will become a flight training instructor for the West Virginia Air National Guard in Charleston.

"While I hate to leave Marshall, I am looking forward to this new position which will enable me to combine my career with my love of flying," Bradley said.

A captain in the Air National Guard, Bradley served in the U.S. Air Force from 1955 to 1959 and received Air Force pilot training in 1963-64.

He received his A. B. in accounting from Morris Harvey College in 1963 and earned his M.B.A. degree from Marshall last May.

Before joining the Marshall staff, he was employed by the State Auditor's Office from 1964 to 1966, the Vocational Education Division of the State Department of Education in 1966 and 1967, and by the State Board of Education from 1967 to 1969.

A resident of St. Albans, Bradley is married and the father of two children.

ANNOUNCEMENTS...

Two speakers scheduled for lecture series next week

Virginia McLaughlin, warden at the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va., and Frederic Storaska, founder of the National Organization for the Prevention of Rape and Assault, are the next two speakers on the "Women in Contemporary America" lecture series at Marshall University.

Mrs. McLaughlin is to speak on "Women in Corrections-1974" in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 18. Storaska is to speak at the same place at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Born in Minneapolis, Minn., Ms. McLaughlin received her education from Minnesota Teachers College, Winona (Minn.) Business College and Greenbrier College at Lewisburg, W. Va.

A warden at the reformatory since 1969, Ms. McLaughlin started her career there as a secretary and has worked up through the ranks.

Storaska, 32, is a native of Bloomsburg, Pa. His program, "Prevention of Assaults on Women," was developed after he witnessed a rape in 1964.

Since that time Storaska has researched thousands of assault cases. His research is to culminate with his forthcoming book, "RAPE: How to Say NO to a Rapist."

Admission to both programs is free and open to the public. The series is being sponsored by the student Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committee.

MS. JACKSON SETS FINAL APPEARANCE

Concert No. 3 of the Marshall University Faculty Artist Series will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22 in Smith Recital Hall and will feature flutist Mary Fike Jackson.

Ms. Jackson will be accompanied by other MU music faculty members and will perform with other faculty members on chamber works.

The concert is to be Ms. Jackson's final appearance as a faculty performer at Marshall. She is leaving Huntington at the end of December to join her husband, H. G. Jackson, in Stanford, Conn., where he is a patent attorney. Ms. Jackson has been at Marshall since 1973.

Admission to the concert is free and open to the public.

PIANISTS TO PERFORM BEETHOVEN'S '9TH'

The first performance in Huntington of the complete Beethoven "9th Symphony" (choral) will highlight the concert Tuesday, Nov. 19 of Richard and John Contiguglia, duo-pianists.

The performance by the identical twins will be held at 8 p.m. in the Keith-Albee Theater as part of the Marshall Artists Series, Baxter Series.

Season memberships to the Baxter Series and tickets for the concert will be on sale at the theater from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. the day of the performance as well as an hour before curtain time. Marshall students may obtain free reserve seat tickets by presenting their activity cards at the box office the day of the concert.

ENERGY CRISIS TOPIC OF LECTURE

A lecture on the world energy crisis will be given by Dr. R. K. Koshal, professor of economics at Ohio University, at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 19 in Smith Hall 518.

Dr. Koshal received his Ph.D. from the University of Rochester. His works on energy and transportation have been published widely.

The lecture, sponsored jointly by the Departments of Economics and Mathematics, is open to the public. Admission is free.

A reception for Dr. Koshal will be held from 2:30 to 3:15 p.m. in Smith Hall 523.

CHAMBER ORCHESTRA CONCERT SET

Dr. Paul Whear, professor of music and Marshall University composer-in-residence, will conduct the Huntington Chamber Orchestra in its second concert of the season at 8 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 17 at the Huntington Galleries.

Two major works on the program will be Haydn's "Surprise" symphony and the "Pulcinella Suite" by Stravinsky.

The orchestra, a professional group composed largely of Tri-State Area musicians and MU music faculty, was organized by Dr. Whear and now is in its fourth season.

Admission to the concert is by season subscription or individual tickets at the door.

SENIOR RECITALS SCHEDULED

Public recitals are scheduled by four senior Department of Music students. All programs will be held in Smith Recital Hall at 8 p.m.

On Wednesday, Nov. 20, Lynn Hess, pianist, and Rebecca Lawrence, soprano, will give their recitals.

Recitals for Rebecca Maddox, pianist, and Catherine Bodo, mezzo-soprano, are scheduled for Monday, Nov. 25.

Symphonic Band concert delayed

The Huntington Symphonic Band concert originally scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 24 has been postponed until Jan. 23, 1975.
