DR. HICKS ASSUMES NEW POST

Dr. Dorothy E. Hicks, professor of physical education and chairman of the Women's Physical Education Department, has been appointed associate director of athletics at Marshall University.

The appointment was announced by Marshall President John G. Barker.

In her new assignment, Dr. Hicks will work with Athletic Director Joseph H. McMullen and other members of the Department of Athletics. She will be concerned with building upon the existing athletic program for women.

"Marshall plans to continue to develop and support programs of athletics for women who desire the opportunity to participate and compete," Dr. Barker said. "To this end and in the effort to build upon the fine women's program already developed, it is felt that the best method of accomplishing this is through the appointment of a woman as associate director of athletics."

Dr. Hicks also will continue to serve as chairman of the Women's Physical Education Department, Dr. Barker said.

The new associate director of athletics will be involved in preparing budgets and budget requests, coordinating women's athletics with the overall athletic program, developing scheduling procedures and making travel arrangements. In addition, she will study and develop methods of financing the program, develop home game administration procedures, appoint officials, continue to develop eligibility standards and handle many of the details involved in operation of an athletic program.

"Dr. Hicks has been the leader in the development of the present women's athletic program at Marshall," Dr. Barker noted, "and I'm very pleased she has agreed to accept the responsibility for its further development." He pointed out that the program now serves students from all sectors of the campus, whereas in its infancy it served only students from the Women's Physical Education Department.

Dr. Hicks, a native of Old Hickory, Tenn., joined the Marshall faculty in 1969 after serving 14 years at East Tennessee State University. She earned her B.S. and M.A. degrees from George Peabody College in Tennessee and her Ed.D. degree from the University of Tennessee.

She currently is serving as president of the West Virginia College Association of Health and Physical Education and is vice president-elect of physical education of the Midwest Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Dorothy Johnson named United Fund chairman

Dr. Dorothy R. Johnson, associate professor of speech at Marshall University, has accepted an appointment as chairman of the 1973-74 United Fund campaign on the Marshall campus, President John G. Barker announced.

"We plan an all-out effort to make the United Fund campaign a success at Marshall University this year," Dr. Barker said, "and I am very pleased that a person of Dr. Johnson's stature and ability has agreed to head this undertaking."

The Cabell-Wayne United Fund-Red Cross campaign will be launched officially on Sept. 24 at a luncheon in Marshall's Memorial Student Center. A record $673,000 goal has been established.

Dr. Johnson said she is currently in the organizational stages of this year's campus drive and will announce division chairman and goals in the near future. "The Marshall community has an outstanding record of support for community service agencies and I'm sure this record will be maintained during the current campaign," Dr. Johnson said.

Dr. Johnson has been a member of Marshall's faculty since 1965. She received her A.B. degree from Wheaton College and has M.A. degrees from both the University of Pennsylvania and Northwestern University. She received her Ph.D. from The Ohio State University in 1972.

She was editor of a speech fundamentals textbook specifically directed toward the needs of beginning speech students at Marshall.

1973 MMIT advance notice

The Alumni Association is now accepting applications for its 7th annual invitational basketball tournament to be held at the Memorial Field House on Dec. 21 and 22. Since its inception in 1967 the tournament, which has been a sell out for the past three years, has steadily grown in stature and is now one of the finest in the country. With Northwestern, George Washington, Texas A&M, and Marshall as participants it again will provide an outstanding representation of collegiate basketball.

As faculty and staff, you are being offered an early opportunity to purchase tickets for the 1973 tournament. Tickets are priced at $9.00 per set (Dec. 21 and 22), according to Dr. Everett N. Roush, director of Alumni Affairs.

A deadline of Sept. 12 has been placed on this offer. After this date, all reserved seats will go on sale on a "first come first served” basis.

If you desire reservations or additional information, please contact the Alumni Office, Room 2W19, in the Memorial Student Center, telephone 696-3134.
NEW ALUMNI PRESIDENT NAMED

James L. (Jim) Farley, 31 of Point Pleasant, has been named president of the Marshall Alumni Association. He succeeds Everett N. Roush, who resigned the presidency to become director of the Marshall Office of Alumni Affairs.

Farley, who received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Marshall in 1965, has been administrator of the Pleasant Valley Hospital at Point Pleasant since January, 1971.

He was a Dean’s List student at Marshall, where he played on the freshman basketball team. Farley served as president of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and was PiKA Alumni president for two years.

He earned his Master of Hospital Administration degree from the Medical College of Virginia in 1967. He took his one-year administrative residency at Riverside Hospital in Newport News, Va.

Farley served as assistant administrator at Thomas Memorial Hospital in South Charleston for one year and at Cabell-Huntington Hospital in Huntington for three years before accepting the Pleasant Valley position.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the West Virginia Hospital Association and president of the association’s Capitol District Conference. He also holds memberships in the American College of Hospital Administrators, the American Hospital Association, the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association, and serves on the boards of directors of the Region II Health Planning Association and the Point Pleasant Chapter of the American Red Cross.

In civic affairs, Farley serves as president of the Point Pleasant-Mason County Chamber of Commerce, member of the board and treasurer of the Point Pleasant Bi-Centennial Commission, and as a member of the boards of directors of the Citizens National Bank, the Point Pleasant Parking Board, Rotary International, and the Marshall Big Green Club. He received the “Rotarian of the Year Award” for 1972-73 in Point Pleasant. He also is a member of the Minturn Masonic Lodge.

A native of Raleigh County, W. Va., and a 1960 graduate of Marsh Fork High School, he is married to the former Bobbie Kay Webb. Mrs. Farley is a 1968 graduate of Marshall and is a teacher at Point Pleasant High School. They are the parents of two daughters, Angela Michele and Andrea Michele.

Farley served as vice president of the Marshall Alumni Association prior to becoming president.

Cole and Anderson accept new positions

Ernest W. Cole, assistant dean of the College of Business and Applied Science at Marshall University, has been appointed assistant to Vice President for Academic Affairs William K. Easley. Cole succeeds Dr. John S. Callens who resigned to accept a position as vice president of Bethany College.

The announcement of Cole’s appointment was made by Dr. Easley. Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry Jr., dean of the College of Business and Applied Science, announced that Dr. Sara E. Anderson would succeed Cole as assistant dean of that College.

Dr. Anderson is a professor and chairman of office administration.

Cole, an associate professor of finance, has been a member of the Marshall faculty since 1955. He served as acting dean of the College of Business and Applied Science during the 1972-73 academic year.

A veteran of the U.S. Air Force, he earned both his B.S. and M.A. degrees at Marshall University. He has done additional graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. A native of Princeton, W. Va., he is married to the former Della Ohnalee Winton. They have one daughter, Ruth.

Dr. Anderson joined the Marshall faculty in 1966. A native of Forsyth County, N.C., she earned her B.S. degree in secretarial science from the Woman’s College of the University of North Carolina, her M.S. in business education from the University of North Carolina and her Ed.D. degree from Indiana University.

She taught for three years in North Carolina high schools, served as secretary to the War Finance Committee of the U.S. Treasury Department for two years during World War II, and later taught at Coker College in South Carolina and at Radford College and Madison College in Virginia before coming to Marshall. Dr. Anderson was awarded a Certificate of Appreciation from the Virginia Business Education Association in 1966 in recognition of her efforts in the development of business education in that state.

Both Cole and Dr. Anderson will continue to teach classes on a half-time basis while carrying out their new duties, Dr. Easley said.

Dr. Charles D. Corman, formerly a member of the academic administration at West Virginia University, has been appointed associate dean of the Marshall University College of Arts and Sciences.

The announcement was made by Dr. William K. Easley, vice president for academic affairs, and Dr. George J. Harbold, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Corman will be assigned several major areas of responsibility, including program evaluation, program development, general studies, and promulgation of tutorial and personalized instruction, Dean Harbold said.

Dr. Corman was assistant dean for instruction in the West Virginia University College of Arts and Sciences during the 1972-73 term. He also had been a member of the psychology faculty there since 1967 and held the rank of associate professor. He was an assistant professor and assistant chairman at the University of Southern California in 1966-67.

A native of Charleston, Dr. Corman was graduated from South Charleston High School. He earned his A.B. degree with high honors and his M.A. degree at West Virginia University and his Ph.D. from The Ohio State University. He is a member of a number of professional and honorary societies and served as president of the West Virginia State Psychological Association in 1971-72.

“We are looking forward to our association with Dr. Corman in the College of Arts and Sciences,” Dean Harbold said. “There is much to be done, we are growing, change is inevitable, and Dr. Corman has the particular professional background and experience that will help us cope with our changing role in higher education in our region and our state.”
Cultural films begin Tuesday

The Cultural Arts Committee of the Student Activities Association presents "Civilisation - A Personal View," the Kenneth Clark films on the cultural life of western man. This is a series of 13 films, 50 minutes in length, presenting the history of western man and his expression in art, literature and music from the beginning of the middle ages to yesterday.
