NEW PROGRAMS APPROVED

The West Virginia Board of Regents, meeting Tuesday in Charleston, gave Marshall University qualified approval to initiate programs leading to baccalaureate degrees in law enforcement and in corrections, and an associate degree in criminal justice.

The qualification is that "adequate funding" be obtained for the new programs through the Governor's Committee on Crime, Delinquency and Corrections.

Chancellor Prince B. Woodard emphasized that funding was not guaranteed. He said the university would have to apply to

Medical School to be topic

Dr. Albert C. Esposito, one of the leaders in the effort to establish a medical school here, will address a joint meeting of the pre-medical honorary, Alpha Epsilon Delta, and the Department of Biological Sciences Seminar Wednesday, Nov. 28, at 4 p.m.

Dr. E. Bowie Kahle, faculty advisor to Alpha Epsilon Delta, said the meeting will be held in Science Hall Room 211. All interested students and members of the Marshall faculty and staff are invited to attend, Dr. Kahle said.

Dr. Esposito's topic will be "The Current Status of the Marshall-Veterans Administration Medical School."

Dr. Esposito, an eye specialist, is a former president of the Southern Medical Association. He is a member of Marshall's Medical School Advisory Committee.

Holiday to begin
Nov. 21 at noon

Marshall University will start the Thanksgiving holiday period at noon Wednesday, Nov. 21, Vice President for Academic Affairs William K. Easley announced Thursday.

The entire university, including administrative and staff offices, will close Wednesday at noon, he said.

Under the 1973-74 university calendar, published earlier, the holiday had not been scheduled to begin until the close of all regular classes on Wednesday, Nov. 21.

"We decided this decision was a mistake and would make it inconvenient for students and university employees planning to leave town for the Thanksgiving holiday," Dr. Easley said. "So we've changed it."

In previous years, the holiday started at noon on Wednesday before Thanksgiving for students and faculty, but administrative and staff offices had remained open until 4:30 p.m. This year, those offices, too, will close at noon.

Friday, Nov. 23, the day after Thanksgiving, is a university-wide holiday, also. Classes will resume Monday, Nov. 26.

the committee for funds.

Dr. Harold Neely, director of grants at Marshall, said Wednesday he already had initiated preliminary steps to make the grant application. Dr. Neely is a former director of the Governor's Committee on Crime, Delinquency and Corrections.

The Board of Regents deferred action on proposed Master's degree programs in law enforcement and corrections. A recommendation by the Regents' staff raised the question of timing on implementing the graduate programs, since the undergraduate programs aren't in effect yet.

The program proposals were an outgrowth of a feasibility study conducted under a state grant to the Department of Sociology and Anthropology provided through the Governor's Committee on Crime, Delinquency and Corrections. Dr. O. Norman Simpkins, chairman of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, headed the project.

In another action Tuesday, the Board of Regents approved a Marshall proposal to terminate the non-teaching Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education and offer instead a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in recreation. Graduates would be prepared to become recreation directors in community centers, playgrounds, the armed forces, industries, churches and other types of institutions.

The new program will be administered by the Department of Physical Education in the College of Education. Dean Robert B. Hayes said it can be implemented as quickly as it clears the appropriate academic committees and receives final approval from the president. He said he was hopeful the program could go into effect for the second semester, starting in January 7, 1974.

The Regents also approved a $60,000 special library allocation for Marshall. Dr. Kenneth Slack, Marshall's director of libraries, said this is the second special library allocation to Marshall during the current fiscal year, bringing the year's total to $135,000. Overall, the board has made special library allocations to Marshall totalling $485,000 since 1971, Dr. Slack said.

Faculty/Staff Directories

Faculty/Staff Directories 1973-74 may be picked up in the Office of Informational Services, Old Main 115.

The centrex extensions for faculty and offices of the College of Business and Applied Science listed in the directory will not be in effect until the college moves to Prichard Hall possibly in December. Until that time the number remains 2310.

As an addendum to the direct lines to West Virginia cities listed on the back cover of your directory, the following cities should be included:

- Princeton
- Effective Nov. 28 - Grafton, Summersville, Oak Hill
- Effective Dec. 5: New Martinsville, Hinton
Following are the minutes of the Oct. 25, 1973, meeting of the Academic Planning and Standards Committee, as reported by Secretary Ruth Wellman:

Voting members present: Dr. Robert Alexander (chairman), Dr. Joan Adkins, Prof. Leo Imperi, Dr. Edwin Cubby, Dr. Paul Stewart, Dr. Harold Ward, Dr. Ruth Wellman, David Rice (student representative).

AGENDA

1. Honors Proposal
2. Pass-Fail Proposal
3. Dr. Hicks - Change in Course Description
4. Dr. Rogers - Clarification of Change in Geology
5. Accounting - Two Year Curriculum Proposal
6. Marketing - Two Year Curriculum Proposal
7. Engineering - Two Year Curriculum Proposals

Discussion no. 1:
Dr. Alexander explained, to the committee, Dr. Moffat's report of the Honors Council and made the following recommendations:

1. Honors Council membership composition:
   Three members from the College of Arts and Sciences
   Two members from the College of Education
   Two members from the College of Business and Applied Science
   Two members to be selected at large from any academic unit
   One director from any academic unit
   The Vice President of Academic Affairs
2. Appointments to the Council be made by the Vice President of Academic Affairs and to be confirmed by the Academic Planning and Standards Committee.
3. That terms of service be limited to a definite number of years which must be arranged to allow for overlapping terms.

Action Taken:
Motion was made by Dr. Cubby to accept the report with the following corrections:
1. The appointments are to be made by the Vice President of Academic Affairs "in consultation with" the Academic Planning and Standards Committee.
2. "the terms of service be limited to 3 years"—Professor Imperi seconded the motion which passed by unanimous vote.

*The recommendations made by Dr. Alexander conform with those made by the ad hoc committee of the Honors Council.

Discussion no. 2:
Dr. Norman Simpkins, Chairman-Sociology Department, proposed four courses for P/F grade:
Sociology 317, Field Study I
Sociology 319, Field Study II
Sociology 447, Field Study III
Sociology 449, Field Study IV

Action Taken:
No. 2A - APSC recommended the four courses be sent to Board of Regents for approval of P/F grading system.

Dr. Stewart was concerned with clarification of a sentence as follows: "Students are encouraged to take electives in other colleges."

The vote for approval was unanimous.

Discussion no. 3:
Dr. Dorothy Hicks presented in writing a request for change in catalog description for Physical Education 314. Present course description for P.E. 314 - Materials, Methods for Elementary Schools is: "Students will experience the selection, adaptation, organization and presentation of games, story plays, stunts and rhythmic materials on the elementary level from the kindergarten through grade 9." The course description would be changed to: "A practical approach designed to aid the elementary teacher in teaching methods and techniques needed for the teaching of elementary physical education."

Action Taken:
The letter from Dr. Hicks was read and filed for informational purposes.

Discussion no. 4:
Dr. Alexander presented a letter dated October 4, 1973 from Dr. Wiley S. Rogers, regarding approved changes in course titles and course descriptions.

APSC approved the change August 15, 1973. Final approval was postponed until changes in course title and catalog description correspond. The letter of October 4, 1973 was to inform APSC that clarification and correspondence of course title and description had been made and approval had been granted.

Action Taken:
The letter regarding approved changes of title and description was filed as a point of information and clarification.

Discussion no. 5:
Mr. Charles Webb, Chairman of Accounting, proposed a change in the Associate in Science Degree in Accounting to allow the Student greater flexibility in areas outside accounting and business.

Action Taken:
The APSC was concerned with clarification of a sentence dealing with electives.

A motion was made by Dr. Stewart and seconded by Dr. Ward to approve the program but first add the following sentence: "Students are encouraged to take electives in other colleges."

The vote for approval was unanimous.

Discussion no. 6:
Dr. William F. Ashford presented proposed changes in the curriculum of a two-year program in Retailing. The changes requested would afford students maximum flexibility in choosing electives. Also change in course number 423 to 344. A backlog of students are waiting to enter the program upon approval of the changes. A point was made regarding the inclusion of Art 216. The Art Department should be notified.

Action Taken:
A motion was made by Dr. Cubby and seconded by Dr. Ward to approve the requested changes with the addition of a statement as follows: "Students are encouraged to take electives in other colleges."

Motion passed by unanimous approval.

Discussion no. 7:
Mr. Stinson of the Engineering Department explained the tentatively proposed Two-year Engineering-Technology Curriculum leading to an Associate in Engineering Degree. Questions were raised regarding letters prefixed to course numbers, e.g. CHM 100, CET 132, and the "suggested" 18 hour load per semester. According to Mr. Stinson this is the tradition "mode" and is "--more for technicians as opposed to engineers."

Action Taken no. 7:
By consensus, the committee approved encouraging Mr. Stinson to continue with the plan.

Please announce to students

West Virginia State law requires any person working in public schools to have a negative tuberculosis report, according to Jack E. Nichols, director of student clinical experiences.

Students who need Tuberculin Tine Tests for spring semester student teaching or classroom observation should report to the Student Health Service within the following date and time period (no exceptions will be made): Nov. 26-29, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Dec. 3-6, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Since the test must be read 48 hours later, the tests cannot be administered on Fridays. Any student that reports for a test on Thursday must be able to return for a reading on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 Noon. If the student fails to report for a reading, the test cannot be repeated for six months.

Position open

SECRETARY - Department of Student Clinical Experiences. Applicant must be able to type accurately, use dictating equipment and other office equipment, general reception, secretarial and clerical work. Clerical work requires evaluation of student records to determine eligibility for student clinical experiences.

Previous office experience is desirable. Secretarial training is desirable. Salary will be dictated by experience and preparation.

All applications must be received by Nov. 29. Applications may be obtained in the Office of Student Clinical Experiences, Jenkins Hall, Room 200.

Marshall University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

Speech workshop

The Marshall University Department of Speech will sponsor an all-day speech activities workshop for high school students on Saturday, Nov. 17, according to Catherine Cummings, instructor of speech and coordinator for the workshop.

The workshop is designed to provide varied experiences for the high school student in speech activities, including drama, oral interpretation, public address, debate and broadcasting.

High school teachers and 125 high school students from ten area high schools are currently registered for the workshop.

Faculty members participating in the individual areas are Dr. Elaine Novak, professor of speech; Dr. William Kerns, associate professor of speech; William Denman, assistant professor of speech; Dr. Ben Hope, professor of speech; Dr. C. A. Kellner, associate professor of speech, and Maureen Milicia, assistant professor of speech.

Columnist’s papers
donated to MU

The private papers of the late Catherine Bliss Enslow, long-time columnist for the Huntington Publishing Co. and a member of one of the city’s pioneer families, have been donated to Marshall University’s James E. Morrow Library.

Dr. Kenneth T. Slack, director of libraries, said the donation was made by Miss Enslow’s niece, Mrs. Gloria Henderson of London, England.

Miss Enslow died Feb. 13, 1973, one day before her 74th birthday.

When Mrs. Henderson came here to settle the estate and dispose of personal belongings, it was recommended she give the papers to Marshall.

Mrs. Dorothy Atkins, a neighbor of Miss Enslow in the Emmons Apartments, remembered the university was collecting manuscripts on area history and she asked Mrs. Henderson to contact Dr. Slack.

A retired school teacher, Mrs. Atkins is the mother of Orin E. Atkins, chairman of the board of Ashland Oil, Inc., and chairman of the Marshall Advisory Committee.

Indeed, Marshall would like to have the papers, Dr. Slack told Mrs. Henderson.

Miss Enslow began her career with The Huntington Advertiser in 1917. She worked there until her partial retirement in 1966. However, she continued to write her popular “Miscellany” column until shortly before her death.

“The papers of Miss Enslow provide an invaluable contribution to the library on the social history of Huntington and the Tri-State area,” Dr. Slack said.

Included in the collection are records of the Enslow family, notes and clippings of Miss Enslow’s work and works of her sister, Constance, a book illustrator.

Dr. Slack said the some 50 boxes of documents are being sorted and cataloged.

Miss Enslow’s grandfather, Andrew Jackson Enslow, settled in Huntington in 1870, one year before it was incorporated. He was brought here by Collis P. Huntington to help lay out the city’s streets.

Her father, the late Edward Bliss Enslow, was the first insurance agent in the city and founded what is now the Staats-McIntosh Agency.

Miss Enslow’s career in journalism spanned more than half a century, during which she wrote about everything from an alleged girdle swindle to interviews with presidents and heads of state.

At the time of her death she was working on a book, “People Who Have Met Me,” in which she recalled her meetings with famous people.

Miss Enslow did more than write. She was active in local civic organizations and charities and in the Democratic party. She served as a county executive committeewoman for eight years and twice was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention during terms of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.
