MED SCHOOL HOPES ADVANCE

Hopes for establishment of a Marshall University-Veterans Administration medical school were boosted Tuesday when the West Virginia Board of Regents approved a resolution requesting an application for the program, authorizing Marshall President John G. Barker to "proceed expeditiously to comply with the guidelines as established by the Veterans Administration," and requesting "that Governor Moore provide in the 1974-75 budget sufficient funds to establish and implement the program."

The resolution was approved 8-0, with one member of the Board of Regents abstaining. Several of those voting favorably cautioned that the action does not constitute final approval from the Regents for establishing the medical school, however.

The complete resolution, as approved:

"WHEREAS, The United States Congress enacted legislation and appropriated funds to establish pilot medical schools in conjunction with Veterans Administration Hospitals; and

"WHEREAS, In a letter addressed to the West Virginia Board of Regents dated December 21, 1972, Governor Moore stated that he had been unequivocal in his support and endorsement of a proposed Marshall University Medical School under the Veterans Administration Medical School Assistance and Health Training Act of 1972 and that such a program had a top priority; and

"WHEREAS, There is evidence of support from local governments, civic groups and agencies and residents of West Virginia for the establishment of a medical school at Marshall University; and

"WHEREAS, The Board of Regents advised the Veterans Administration by letter dated the 14th day of September 1972, that the Board desired that Marshall University be considered as one of the schools at which a Veterans Administration Medical School could be established; and

"WHEREAS, It is the sense of the Board that the establishment of such Veterans Administration-Marshall University Medical School should be pursued;

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

"(1) That the West Virginia Board of Regents requests an application for participation in the program for the establishment and the implementation of a four-year Veterans Administration-Marshall University Medical School under the Veterans Administration Medical School Assistance and Health Training Act of 1972.

"(2) That the President of the Board and the Chancellor take all actions necessary to carry out this Resolution.

"(3) That the Board requests that Governor Moore provide in the 1974-75 budget sufficient funds to establish and implement the program.

"(4) That President Barker of Marshall University proceed expeditiously to comply with the guidelines as established by the Veterans Administration, and that, with the prior approval of the Board, he be authorized to engage such consultants to assist him in the matter as may be necessary.

"(5) That copies of this Resolution be delivered to Governor Moore, President Barker and the Veterans Administration."

Historical documents loaned to Library

Documents detailing the history of navigational improvements on the Great Kanawha River and other waterways have been placed on permanent loan to Marshall University's James E. Morrow Library by the Huntington District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Dr. Kenneth T. Slack, director of libraries, said the records are those kept by the late Capt. Addison M. Scott, recognized as the "father" of locks on the Kanawha River.

Captain Scott died in 1927 at the age of 84, but navigational improvements on the Kanawha stand today as a memorial to his life and career, Dr. Slack said.

Included in the records are books on engineering, the French system of locks and dams (some in French) and the construction of the Panama Canal, government bid proposals and specifications for construction of locks and dams and their completion on the Kanawha.

"There are additional valuable records, such as a booklet on the production of coal in 1895 and Volume 1 of the West Virginia Geological Survey in 1899," Dr. Slack said. "We consider the addition of the material an important asset to our collection of historical records about this area of our country."

Captain Scott moved to Charleston about 1873 when the U.S. government undertook the improvement of the Kanawha River. He was named resident engineer in charge of constructing what was to become the first system of movable dams in America.

He remained in that position until 1901 when he resigned. He eventually moved to Orlando, Fla., where he lived until his death.

Track construction approved by Board

The West Virginia Board of Regents Tuesday gave the "go-ahead" for work on intercollegiate track and field facilities for Marshall University, authorizing the award of construction contracts.

The board accepted a low bid from Wilson Construction Co. of Huntington for general construction, relocating a maintenance storage building and track lighting. The work authorized will take nearly $195,000—the amount allocated earlier for the total project.

Another $125,000 needed for track surfacing, equipment and a storage building is being sought from the 1974 Legislature, Chancellor Prince B. Woodard indicated.

The Board of Regents also approved an additional $51,400 to install an elevator in Prichard Hall, a former dormitory presently being renovated to serve as an academic building.

Marshall also was given approval to begin next month a Master of Science degree program in adult education (vocational-technical).

The program is designed to prepare students to serve effectively as educators in programs for adults.

Recommendations invited for buildings' names

Marshall University's Physical Facilities and Planning Committee is considering naming or re-naming three campus structures and is inviting recommendations from students, faculty, alumni and residents of the region.

Joseph M. Lichtenstein, chairman of the committee, said the three buildings under consideration are:

—Academic Building "A" which is now under construction on the site of the Old Music Building, adjacent to Third Avenue.

—South Hall, a large dormitory adjacent to Fifth Avenue.

—The Maintenance Building, located at 20th Street and Virginia Avenue.

Prof. Lichtenstein said May 1, 1974, has been established by the committee as the deadline for receiving recommendations for names for the buildings. The committee has established an official form on which recommendations are to be submitted. Lichtenstein said interested persons may obtain the form by writing or calling the office of Joseph S. Soto, director of plant operations at Marshall, Old Main 116. The telephone number is 696-3122. Lichtenstein emphasized that recommendations must be submitted on the official form to be considered by the committee.

Following the May 1 deadline, the committee will review the names submitted and will make its recommendations to President John G. Barker. In turn, he will seek concurrence of the Marshall Advisory Board and submit his recommendations to the West Virginia Board of Regents for final action.

Under the committee's guidelines, consideration will be given to naming of a building in honor of a person who has made a significant contribution of services to the university, or in honor of a donor who contributes as much as 50 per cent of the contract price of a building. Consideration also will be given to a name which would memorialize events of special significance in the life of the university.

While the committee presently is considering the naming or re-naming of three buildings, other structures will be considered later, Lichtenstein said.

Teacher exam

National Teacher Examinations will be administered Jan. 26 at Marshall University, which has been designated as a test center.

According to Robert B. Hayes, dean of the College of Education at Marshall, many college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for certification, licensure, or those seeking positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE will be taking the tests. In addition, the designation of Marshall as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Hayes said.

Last year approximately 100,000 candidates took the national examinations which are designed to assess knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., are limited to assessment of those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from the College of Education, Room 211, Jenkins Hall, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.J., 08540.

Car policy revised

A revised policy on the use of university cars has been announced by Joseph S. Soto, director of plant operations. The policy, as now in effect, states:

Use of University Cars

University cars are kept in the Motor Pool location in Parking Area A, where they are to be picked up and returned.

The Office of the Director of Physical Plant Operations coordinates the scheduling of the cars. Requests may be submitted on Motor Pool form No. I, obtainable from the Office of the Director of Physical Plant Operations.

University cars, when available, rather than personal cars, must be used by staff members when on University business trips, unless it is more economically feasible to use a personal car, or other means of transportation.

University cars may be used only for official business of the University, as for attendance at educational meetings, for high school visitation and testing, and for trips involved in speaking before civic and other groups as University business.

Drivers of University cars must be employees of the University and possess an operator's license. (University employees may be accompanied by family members only upon written justification on the request form and with the approval of the Director of Physical Plant Operations.)

Vehicles will not be assigned to students unless a regular, full-time employee will supervise the use of the vehicle.

A written statement may be required from the appropriate supervisors from time to time to verify that the use of the vehicles is for University business.

Accidents must be reported as quickly as possible after the accident; and, preferably within twenty-four (24) hours.

Vehicles must be returned to the parking lot at the scheduled time in order to be available for the next scheduled user.

Liability and indemnity insurance is provided for automobiles operating under University licensing. The amount of this insurance is $100,000 - $300,000 for liability for personal injury or death to persons other than the driver and occupants of the University vehicle.

The indemnity insurance limit is $25,000 for property damage to property other than the State (University) owned vehicle.

Whenever a defect develops in a University car enroute, the person authorized to use it should either have repairs made before proceeding or call the Director of Physical Plant Operations for instructions.

A trip ticket is located in each glove compartment and should be completed and left in the glove compartment upon returning to the campus. This report includes destination, dates, mileage, gas and oil purchased, and repairs made or needed. A courtesy card and a list of Department of Highways garages are available in the glove compartment. The driver should sign all purchases of gas, oil, etc., and should leave receipts in the glove compartment. All gas and oil purchased should be made at Department of Highways garages located throughout the state, if at all possible.

Normally, the car should be returned to its proper location in Parking Area A promptly at the end of the trip. If circumstances require that it be taken to the driver's home and left there overnight, it must be returned to Parking Area A no later than 7:30 the following morning. Keys are to be deposited in the container provided in the Security Office.

Applications for the use of University cars should be submitted at least two weeks prior to the time the cars are to be used.

Recreation facilities

Recreation facilities will be open as usual through Dec. 16 but will close at 6 p.m. on Dec. 17-19, according to Larry K. Belknap, director of recreation and intramural sports.

The swimming pool will be closed Dec. 17-19. Other facilities will close Dec. 20.
