'Different' Gab Session set Wednesday

A "different" type of Faculty Gab Session will be held Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 2 p.m. in the Presidents Dining Room of Memorial Student Center.

The primary topic will be an evaluation of the Gab Session program itself, whether changes should be made and how it could be improved.

President Robert B. Hayes said Dr. David E. Fields, assistant professor of mathematics, has agreed to conduct the Nov. 19 session.

The Gab Sessions were established more than a year ago as an informal method of communication between the faculty and the president.

United Way campaign extended

Marshall drive reaches 78 per cent

The United Way campaign on the Marshall University campus has been extended two weeks until Nov. 25, according to Neal G. Adkins, assistant professor of accounting and co-chairman of the MU drive.

At the end of the normal campaign period Wednesday, the university community had pledged or donated a total of $10,300, or 78 per cent of the $13,250 goal.

Dr. Neil L. Gibbins, professor of education and the other co-chairman, reported that approximately half of the 1,177 people in the university community had made pledges or donations.

"If the people in the other half can find it in their hearts to give an average of $5 to $6 each we can make our goal," he said.

Gibbins asked members of the university community who have not made pledges or donations to contact him (696-6430), Adkins (696-2310) or any of the 21 United Way campus division leaders.

Faculty voting on Senate issue ends today

Today (Friday, Nov. 14) at 4 p.m. is the deadline for voting in the current faculty election on the University Senate document introduced at the Oct. 28 faculty meeting and discussed in the Nov. 4 meeting.

Ballots have been sent to each voting faculty member. Completed ballots must be delivered in person to the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, Old Main 110, where a ballot box has been placed.

Terming the University Senate question "a matter of tremendous importance to Marshall University and particularly to the faculty," President Robert B. Hayes earlier this week urged "that each faculty member exercise his or her right and responsibility to vote on this issue."

Under provisions of the current faculty constitution, two-thirds of those voting must favor the proposals to adopt a new constitution and new by-laws for the question to be approved.

10 schools, 10 speakers win in MU debate forum

Ten schools and ten speakers talked their way to awards at the fourth annual John Marshall Debate Forum held last weekend on the Marshall University campus.

West Virginia Wesleyan College won the top two spots in the tournament's varsity division, defeating teams from Fairmont State College and Ohio University. Wesleyan was awarded the Ben W. Hope Trophy, named in honor of the Marshall speech professor who served as director of debate for many years.

In the novice division, Morehead (Ky.) State University won championship honors with a victory over Marietta (Ohio) College.

As the host of the tournament, the Marshall debate team was not eligible for awards.
