CLEP PROGRAM APPROVED

Marshall University is prepared to begin administering the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) as early as this December, President John G. Barker said.

The CLEP program, which awards students academic credit for the successful completion of CLEP subject examinations, was approved for use in state colleges and universities by the West Virginia Board of Regents at its meeting Tuesday.

The board's action will permit a student to earn up to 30 hours' academic credit on the basis of the testing program. The tests are designed to demonstrate ability levels and to permit students to be placed in appropriate classes commensurate with their high school or life experiences and educational backgrounds, Dr. Barker said.

In instances where a student successfully completes one of the subject examinations, no grade will be assigned and the credit will not be included in the computation of the student's grade point average.

AMA Visiting Lecturer

Dr. Norman Kretchmer, professor of pediatrics at California's Stanford University School of Medicine, will present a talk on "The History and Nutritional Value of Milk" at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 11, according to Dr. E. S. Hanrahan, chairman of the chemistry department.

The lecture will be presented in Room 209 of the Science Building and will be open to interested persons from both the Marshall and Huntington communities.

Dr. Kretchmer's appearance at Marshall is being sponsored by the American Medical Association, the West Virginia Medical Association and the Cabell County Medical Society. During his visit he will be available to discuss careers in medicine with interested students and faculty members.

NATIONAL OIC DAY

Tri-State Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC) will participate in the observance of National OIC Day Oct. 11, Executive Director Charles H. Smith announced. The day will be highlighted with a closed-circuit benefit telecast at 7:30 p.m. at the Keith-Albee Theater. A number of local entertainment groups also will appear at the theater during the program.

OIC Day will mark "the beginning of expansion for Tri-State OIC which has been operating out of the Huntington area since 1971, and which has trained a number of people employed today in the Tri-State industrial force," the Rev. Mr. Smith said.

Tickets for the benefit telecast are on sale in a number of locations. The Bill Davis Ensemble was scheduled to appear Wednesday afternoon at Marshall's Memorial Student Center in connection with the event.

Marshall President John G. Barker and Joseph C. Peters, vice president for business, are members of the OIC steering committee.

CLEP credits will be equated with existing course offerings. If no equivalent course is offered by the school, the credit earned by CLEP examination will be considered elective credit. Students will not receive CLEP credit for equivalent courses in which they have already earned credit.

Marshall plans to award CLEP credit of up to six hours in English composition, up to six hours in natural sciences, up to six hours in humanities, up to six hours in social sciences and history and up to six hours in mathematics.

Students must be enrolled in an institution in order to receive CLEP credit from it.

Marshall Director of Admissions James W. Harless served on the joint committee of the Board of Regents Academic Affairs Advisory Committee and the Admissions and Registration Advisory Committee to draw up the "Draft Policy Regarding the College Level Examination Program" approved by the Board of Regents.

Dr. William K. Easley, Marshall vice president for academic affairs, said the program will be administered through the Office of Admissions.

Please announce to students

Programs in law enforcement and correction are now being developed by the Department of Political Science, and Department of Sociology and Anthropology. Courses are planned to begin this fall, according to Dr. O. Norman Simpkins, chairman, sociology and anthropology.

Students interested in these fields may file their names and addresses with the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Room 769, Smith Hall.

Alumni reception

Marshall alumni in the Cincinnati area have been invited to attend a reception following the Marshall-Xavier game Saturday, Oct. 14. The event will be held from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Patio Terrace of the Quality Motel, 4747 Montgomery Road, Norwood, Ohio. The motel is headquarters for the Marshall football team during its Cincinnati visit.

Several members of the Marshall administration plan to attend the reception, which is being arranged by David Life of Cincinnati. Members of the Marshall faculty or staff who wish to attend may make reservations through Howard B. St. Clair, director of Alumni Affairs. His office is in the Memorial Student Center.

Update personnel record

Faculty members who took additional work for credit this past summer, published books, articles, et cetera, or who have done extensive traveling are asked to stop by the Office of Academic Affairs, Room 110 Old Main, and update their faculty personnel record cards as soon as possible.

"We need to bring our faculty records up-to-date prior to the visit of the North Central Committee," said Dr. Easley, vice president for Academic Affairs.

Scholarship applications due

Applications for Rhodes Scholarships must be in the hands of the state selection committee by Oct. 31, according to Dr. E. S. Hanrahan, chairman of the chemistry department.

Dr. Hanrahan asked that faculty members tell interested students to contact him immediately by calling ext. 2430 or stopping by Room 317 in the Science Building.

Dorothy Johnson - College of Arts and Sciences

Carole Vickers - Teachers College

Richard Waite - Non-Teaching Units

"Be ready for them - with your checkbooks, that is. Many thanks," said Leo Imperi, UF general chairman.

SEASON BASKETBALL TICKETS

Marshall University faculty and staff members may purchase 1972-73 season basketball tickets for one-half the standard price of $38.50. The special rate of $19.25 applies only to members of the purchaser's immediate family. Faculty and staff members should return their completed application with payment to the Athletic Ticket Office, Room 116, Gullickson Hall, by Oct. 15, according to Joe Wortham, ticket manager.

Students Excused

The following students were excused from classes Sept. 28 to work at the polls, according to Charles Quillin, dean of students:

Felicia Burger, Mark Dillon, Patricia Di Lorenzo, Donna Hamblin, Averil Hepler, David Joffey, Sharon Klingler, Margaret Leach, Diane Naylor, Kenneth Walls, David West, and Monique Van Damme

Faculty, staff achievements, activities...

JOSEPH M. LICHTENSTEIN, associate professor of educational foundations, has been promoted to professor. The announcement was made by Dr. William K. Easley, vice president for academic affairs.

The action was approved by the West Virginia Board of Regents at its meeting Tuesday.

Lichtenstein, a licensed psychologist, has been a member of the Marshall faculty for 26 years. He served as an assistant professor in the Department of Psychology from 1946 until 1959, when he became an associate professor in the Department of Education.

A native of New York City, he received his B.A. degree from Rollins College in 1937 and his M.A. from Fordham University in 1940.

DR. DONALD C. MARTIN, chairman of the department of physics and physical science, and DR. GLENN G. TUCKER, associate professor of curriculum and instruction, attended a meeting of the State Science Advisory Council in Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 29.

DR. WALTER H. PERL, professor of German, is the editor of a new book, Leopold Andrian, Fruhe Gedichte (early poems), which appeared in Sept. in Hamburg, Germany.

Dr. Perl, who has been the literary executor of Andrian's estate since 1952, now has completed his fourth publication from the works of Andrian. The new book contains the early poetry of Andrian, both printed and unprinted from the manuscripts and brouillons in Dr. Perl's possession, and a critical essay by the editor explaining the origin of the poems.

Dr. Perl will continue to work on further editions of the poet's work, his biography, and the history of Austrian literary symbolism, a movement in which Andrian played an important role.

Magic Theater Agenda

Oct. 7 Hello Dolly
Oct. 13 Hamlet

All movies will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Memorial Student Center. Admission is free upon presentation of ID Cards. A limited number of guest passes are available each week prior to movie or at the door on a first-come-first-serve basis. To obtain guest passes contact Sharon Blades, student coordinator of Magic Theater at 6770 or 6771.

DR. KATHERINE W. SIMPKINS, associate professor of educational foundations, conducted an in-service workshop for 20 teachers in the Lawrence County Headstart Program (full-year) on Thursday evening, Sept. 21, in the Kingsbury Elementary School, Ironton, Ohio.

The topic was "Individual Differences Behavior" for this initial session of a 5-day pre-service workshop planned for the Headstart teachers, who will then train their Aides. Consultation for the workshops is being provided as a community service by various professional personnel from Ohio and West Virginia.

DR. CORAZON ALMALEL, associate professor of modern languages, contributed her work on methodology to the language curriculum, which is currently being prepared by the Foreign Language Advisory Council for the West Virginia School System. Her work explains a sequence of methodological approaches in foreign language courses. She also enumerates various drills and exercises necessary for the attainment of listening and speaking objectives.

Dr. Almalel met with the other eleven members of the Council on Sept. 22 and 23 in Parkersburg.

DR. TOM ALLEN, JR., assistant professor of vocational-technical education, participated in a workshop composed of 40 educators from within the United States to evaluate the entire National Distributive Education Clubs of America Program. The workshop was held in Washington, D.C., Sept. 25-27.

ROBERT EDMUNDS and HENRY SULLIVAN, instructors of speech, were elected to offices of the West Virginia Speech Association at the organization's fall conference and workshop at Jacksons Mill, Sept. 29 to Oct. 1. Edmunds will serve as president and Sullivan, as parliamentarian for the forthcoming year.

Also attending the meeting from Marshall were: David Belcher, Mike Brenner, Hite Broh, Beverly Cortes, Catherine Cummings, Walter Felty, Ben Hope, Dorothy Johnson, Ed McCarnes, Maureen Milicia, Robert Olson, B. R. Smith, and Virginia Plumley.

PROFESSOR'S WIFE HONORED: The James E. Morrow Library has been presented a subscription to "The Journal of Autism and Childhood Schizophrenia" by the Junior Department of the Woman's Club of Huntington, Libraries Director Kenneth T. Slack announced. The gift was made in the name of Mrs. Ruth Sullivan in appreciation of a speaking appearance before the group. Mrs. Sullivan, wife of Dr. William P. Sullivan, professor of English, has been a national leader in programs for autistic children.

Dr. Slack said Mrs. Sullivan also had contributed a large amount of pamphlet material relating to autism to the library.
