CURRICULUM COMMITTEE
RECOMMENDATION

SR-08-09-09 CC

Recommends approval of the listed COURSE CHANGES for the COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS:

ANT 343   Anthropological Research
Change in title to: Ethnographic Research
Change in catalog description: FROM: Introduction of anthropological research methods. TO: A project-based introduction to ethnographic research design and practice.
Rationale: Anthropology in the United States is typically described as "four-field." Therefore to speak of "anthropological research" is to be unspecific. This course has always, and will continue to be, focused on cultural anthropology. As a title, "Ethnographic Methods" speaks to the approach of this sub-discipline. As with the title, the description is intended to provide greater clarity and specificity. Further, it now states what has been the practice in this course, i.e., that students will engage in a methods project.
