STUDENT CONDUCT & WELFARE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION

SR-07-08-(45) 76 SCWC

Recommends that the current Student Code of Rights and Responsibilities Judicial Appeals Process be revised so that the number of days for filing a written appeal of the decisions from the Director of Judicial Affairs, the Administrative Review Board, the Judicial Hearing Panel, or the Judicial Appeals Board be reduced from five (5) to three (3) days; this recommendation excludes the appeals policy for academic matters.

RATIONALE:

Most students that seriously consider appealing provide a written appeal within a three to five day period. There have been cases when students are sanctioned with suspension or greater that will file the intent form just to allow the extra days to stay on campus with no real intention of filing a written appeal. With the current seven day period including only business days, the weekend days could potentially provide the student a period of nine days total to remain on campus or provide a written appeal.
