Citing his "vision, determination, faith... and outstanding leadership," the Marshall University Alumni Association last night presented MU President Robert B. Hayes its "Alumni Alumnus" award.

The surprise presentation was made during the Alumni Association's 46th annual Awards Banquet in Marshall's Memorial Student Center. Alumni President John K. Kinzer Jr. said the award to Hayes was voted unanimously by the Alumni Association's 13-member District Distinguished Alumni Committee.

In presenting the award, Kinzer outlined accomplishments made under Marshall's "Decade of Progress" initiated by Hayes in late 1974. He listed establishment of the School of Medicine, the Community College, and the School of Fine Arts, along with campus physical improvements exceeding $60 million under Hayes' leadership.

"All of these things—and more—have been accomplished because of the vision, determination, faith and the faith of the president of Marshall University," Kinzer said.

 Previously-announced awards also were presented to three U.S. Army brigadier generals who are graduates of Marshall's ROTC program and to Huntington businessman C.I. Thornburg.

Thornburg, 86 and a 1916 Marshall graduate, received the 3-member alumni of honor, who were presented with certificates of Alumnus awards were presented to Generals David W. Stalling, Albin C. Wheeler and Johnnie H. Combs, senior vice president of Huntington National Bank.

The ceremony, attended by approximately 20,000 of whom are West Virginia residents, Alumni Affairs Director Karen C. Thomas said.
