Honor students will visit MU campus

Approximately 1,000 students from high schools in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky are expected to take part in Marshall University's National Merit Semi-Finalist and Honor Graduate Day on Thursday, Oct. 29, according to Marshall Admissions Director James W. Harless.

Activities will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. in Memorial Student Center. Marshall's Pep Band will perform during registration and refreshments will be provided.

Marshall Vice President for Academic Affairs Alan B. Gould will welcome the students to campus to begin the formal program at 9 a.m.

Participants will receive information on academic opportunities offered by Marshall, scholarships, financial aid, honors programs and other topics of interest to college-bound students.

Harless said this year's program will place more emphasis on honors programs and participation by current MU honors students. Participants also will have opportunities to talk to representatives from each of Marshall's academic schools and colleges and tour academic facilities and the university campus.

The program will end with a luncheon at noon in the W. Don Morris Room. Entertainment will be provided by the MU Jazz Combo.

Harless said the university started National Merit Semi-Finalist and Honor Graduate Day in 1972 to inform academically gifted students about special programs offered at Marshall.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Admissions Office, 696-3160.

Author will discuss work for Birke series

Wayne Dodd, an award-winning poet, editor and scholar, will read and discuss his work during a program sponsored by Marshall University's Birke Visiting Writers Series on Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Alumni Lounge.

A professor of English at Ohio University, Dodd has published six books of poetry and his latest work, "Toward the End of the Century: Essays into Poetry," a collection of essays on contemporary poetry and poetics, has just been published by the University of Iowa Press.

Art Stringer of Marshall University's English Department said Dodd's latest book and two of his poetry books, "Sometimes Music Rises" and "Echoes of the Unspoken," will be available at the Marshall University Bookstore and at the reading.

His book, "The Names You Gave It," was selected as one of the 10 best books of the year in 1980 by judges for the Lenore Marshall/Saturday Review Poetry Award.

Dodd is the editor of The Ohio Review, a highly respected journal of contemporary writing, and has received fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Ohio Arts Council.

His work has appeared in The American Scholar, The Iowa Review, The Nation, The Southern Review and many other journals.

Dodd's presentation will be open to the public free of charge.

Political forum to focus on economics

A public forum titled "Beyond the Soundbites: Economic Issues in Campaign '92" will be presented at Marshall University on Tuesday, Oct. 27, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Corbly Hall Room 105.

Dr. Harlan M. Smith II of Marshall's Department of Economics will serve as moderator for the event. He said the forum will focus on the economic issues dominating the current presidential campaign.

Panelists from Marshall's Economics Department will discuss the following topics:

-- Dr. Gregg Davis, "Bush, Clinton and the Environment";
-- Dr. Steven Shuklian, "Poverty and Inequality in America: What Plans do the Candidates Have?";
-- Dr. Allan Wilkins, "Dealing with the Federal Budget Deficit";
-- Dr. Roger Adkins, "America's International Competitiveness: Can the Candidates Help?"

Panelists will make their presentations and then the program will be opened for a question-and-answer discussion session.

The forum will be open to the public free of charge. To obtain further details contact the Marshall University Department of Economics, 696-6492.
Recommendations approved by MU Senate

(The following report on the Sept. 24 meeting of the Marshall University Faculty Senate was submitted by Dr. Christopher L. Dolmetsch, secretary.)

Announcements:

President Gilley either approved or read all resolutions except #113 (SC&W) which he disagreed with a comment, and #122 (FPC), the Faculty Salary Policy, which he disagreed. His comment on the latter indicated that he wanted a new committee created to restudy the issue; this has now been constituted with six faculty representatives.

A memo from Bill Radig, chair of the FPC, stated that his committee has terminated its work on a uniform faculty evaluation instrument.

The policy on "Concealed and Unconcealed Weapons" was mentioned. Having received no objections from FPC, President Gilley has begun implementation.

Election of Fine Arts Senator to Executive Committee:

Susan Jackson was elected by acclamation.

Suspension of Agenda:

Dorothy Helman moved (Plumley seconded) suspension of agenda to consider a resolution on The Parthenon. The motion to suspend was approved.

The following statement was unanimously approved:

The members of the Faculty Senate wish to express their dismay at The Parthenon's recent editorial decision to publish without their permission, the names and addresses of women who have been raped or assaulted. We urge The Parthenon to reconsider this decision. Further we offer our support to the young woman whose name was published by The Parthenon.

Standing Committee and Other Recommendations:

#135--Gillenwater moved; Tarter seconded. Brozik moved (Mewaldt seconded) an amendment to #135 as follows: #136 becomes point 4; point 4 becomes point 5 with deletions; point 6 added. The following is the amended text:

4. The Faculty Senate President will be notified at the beginning of deliberations for a transfer of a program and he/she will be involved in all discussions between deans and the Vice President for Academic Affairs.
5. The Vice President for Academic Affairs shall forward his/her recommendations to the University President for action.
6. The Faculty Senate President shall forward the recommendations of the Faculty Senate to the University President for action.

The amendment was approved. Brozik moved (Sporny seconded) an amendment to #135 to include the language: "creation, merger, elimination, and transfer" throughout the policy document in all sections. The amendment was approved. #135 was approved as amended.

#136--Byrne moved; Wilkinson seconded. Olson moved (Boyce seconded) an amendment to reword point D: "education, science, business..." The amendment was approved. Olson moved (Boyce seconded) an amendment to move F to point G, and add new F: "A new commitment to high quality graduate programs (masters, specialists and doctoral degrees)." and to substitute the words "above seven" in the final paragraph of the next. The amendment was approved. Dolmetsch moved (Plumley seconded) an amendment to add the words "(not prioritized)" to end of title. The amendment was approved.

The motion as amended was approved.

#138--was approved. #143--was approved.

#147--Fotos moved; Milicia seconded. Discussion focused on the issue of the honors designations. It was mentioned that WVU uses the accumulated record prior to the final semester for such designations. Discussion of procedures for implementation followed. Chezik moved postponement (Anderson seconded) asking the committee to provide some clarification on the subject of implementation. The motion to postpone was approved.

#148--Gross moved; Olson seconded. Brozik moved (Olson seconded) an amendment as follows:

1. The University Task Force on the BOT Initiatives will present its suggestions, recommendations, and collected materials on reorganization to the University President.
2. The University President will submit his recommendations to a joint subcommittee of the APC and the ASCRC. This joint subcommittee will be appointed by the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate and will have five members from each of the parent committees, assuring that each undergraduate college is represented.

The amendment was approved. Olson moved (Boyce seconded) an amendment to points 2, 4 and 5 to include: (2) "and two members from the GC" after the words "parent committees" and "and the graduate school" after the words "each undergraduate college"; (4) strike the word "two"; (5) add the words "and Graduate" after "Curricula Review." The amendment was approved.

Perkins moved (Anderson seconded) amending first verb to read "requests" (word "suggests" was replaced by amendment of Duke). The amendment was approved. The motion as amended was approved.

#149--Gross and Chezik moved; Gillenwater seconded. Duke moved (Perkins seconded) an amendment to add the words "If he/she wishes" and strike the word "automatically" from text. Word "Case" should be spelled "CASE." The amendment was approved. The motion as amended was approved.

#150--Cox moved; Anderson seconded. Discussion: Baker asked "What is this thing? Does it replace the Athletic Committee?" A question arose as to who is the vice president in charge of athletics. After considerable discussion and amendment, Radig moved (Miller seconded) postponing further consideration and returning document to committee.

#151--Milicia moved; Sporny seconded. Discussion focused on need to revise language slightly for clarity: "Any resolution of the Faculty Senate which is amended by the President is automatically considered to have been disapproved, and is brought back to the Faculty Senate for a second vote." The motion was approved.

#152, #132, #133, #134 were approved.

AFC Report:

Bert Gross indicated that initiatives were underway to achieve greater coordination among the various ACs. These groups plan to work together; host meetings of their chairs and then all members, and coordinate a single Higher Education Day at the 1993 State Legislature.

A proposal to change TIAA/CREF matching fund payments to more adequately reflect the distribution for school teachers is being considered by the chancellors.

The meeting adjourned at 5:33 p.m.
GATEC to be explained at workshop

Businesses in West Virginia and the Tri-State area will be the first in the nation to have access to a program developed by the United States Air Force to explain the new Government Acquisition Through Electronic Contracting (GATEC) system which will change the way the Air Force contracts for goods and services.

Guy Thompson, a GATEC team member from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, will explain the new system during a free workshop sponsored by the Marshall University Procurement Technical Assistance Center on Thursday, Oct. 22, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Marshall’s Research and Economic Development Center, 1050 Fourth Ave.

“This is a very important program for anyone who wants to do business with the Air Force,” said Dr. Donald Williams, acting vice president for research and economic development at Marshall. “In the very near future the GATEC system will be the only means of conducting business with the Air Force and other Defense Department agencies.”

Band Day scheduled

Approximately 140 outstanding high school band members from West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky will join Marshall University’s Big Green Marching Machine for a halftime performance during Marshall’s football game against the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga on Oct. 24, according to MU Band Director Ivory Brock.

“High School and Honor Band Day” at Marshall will give high school students the opportunity to perform with the Big Green Marching Machine, the Marshall University Choir and other high school musicians during a halftime performance that will celebrate America, said Brock.

The high school musicians were selected on the basis of outstanding musicianship and character.

In an effort to support High School and Honor Band Day and the Big Green Marching Machine the Stadium McDonald’s Restaurant, 2106 Fifth Ave., will donate 10 cents to Marshall’s band for every large soft drink sold at the restaurant Oct. 24.

“I would like to thank McDonald’s for their support and would like to invite everyone to come out to the game,” said Brock. “The halftime show will feature the Big Green Marching Machine, the high school musicians and the University Choir. It should be entertaining.”

Excused absences...

Absences have been excused by the respective college deans for the following:
Oct. 15-16--Jerry Lamb, Tom Ellis, Karen Schlatt, David Trehanne, Jennie Meredith, Lisa Call, Down Hawley, Della Collins, Michelle Chattin.
Oct. 28-Nov. 1--Erik Raines, Russ Fox, Brandon Harris.

Government Acquisition Through Electronic Contracting is an Air Force acquisition automation initiative selected as a Department of Defense pilot project to serve as a standard approach to Electronic Commerce/Electronic Data Interchange. In other words, GATEC is a paperless contracting process.

Small businesses wanting to deal in government contracts no longer will have to rely on paperwork. Instead, information will be transmitted via computer using Electronic Data Interchange, an automated exchange of standard electronic formats. Information will go from one computer to another computer with no stops in between for paperwork.

Thompson said GATEC will save paper, time and resources and make it simpler for small businesses to compete with large businesses.

Initially, GATEC will handle only contracts of less than $25,000, which make up approximately 98 percent of the contracts awarded by the government.

Although the new system will begin at Wright-Patterson, plans already are under way to make it available to Air Force bases throughout the United States.

“This is going to be the way transactions are conducted in the future,” Williams said. “This system could actually make West Virginia businesses more competitive in going after government contracts. Historically, geography has isolated small businesses in the region and caused them to miss opportunities to sell goods and services.

“I know there are many businesses in the state that could successfully compete for government contracts if they would only actively pursue them. This workshop will be beneficial to businesses that currently seek government contracts and those that want to do business with the government in the future.”

The workshop will be open to interested persons free of charge although registration is recommended. To register or obtain further details contact the Marshall University Procurement Technical Assistance Center, 696-6205.

Persons interested in more information about the GATEC system should contact Ben Patton at the GATEC Opportunity Center at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, (513) 258-2332.

‘Buddy’ to be presented

‘Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story’ will be presented by the Marshall Artists Series on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Keith-Albee Theatre.

This Broadway musical is a tribute to the life of Buddy Holly and the Crickets whose revolutionary style had a lasting impact on contemporary music, according Celeste Winters Nunley, MAS director.

Individual tickets will be $16, $20 and $24. Full-time MU students with valid identification and activity cards will be admitted free. Youth 17 and under, part-time Marshall students and MU faculty and staff will be admitted for half-price.

To obtain further details contact the Marshall Artists Series Office, 696-6656.
MU Academic Planning Committee meets

(The following report on the Sept. 15 meeting of the Marshall University Academic Planning Committee was submitted by Peggy Baden, secretary.)

Blaker Bolling chaired the meeting. Peggy Baden acted as secretary.

With a quorum of six voting members present, the chair called the meeting to order. The chair made a note that since the committee has not received any definite names of students, the committee will not include them in obtaining a quorum.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved with a correction regarding the time being 4:05 p.m.

Old Business

A. Senate Approval of Transferring, Creation, and Elimination of Department/Programs Between Colleges

This policy was tabled in the Faculty Senate meeting (May 1992) and will be voted on in the next Faculty Senate meeting.

B. Section 13—Supplemental to Marshall University's Mission Statement

Section 13 was tabled in the Faculty Senate meeting (May 1992) and will be voted on in the next Faculty Senate meeting.

C. Letter of Intent for Doctoral Psychology Program

This issue was tabled in the Faculty Senate meeting and will be voted on in the next Faculty Senate meeting.

New Business

A. Administrative Bulletin No. 23 or "Submission of Proposals for New Academic Programs and the Discontinuance of Existing Programs."

The chair reviewed changes made on document. Glenn Smith made a motion that the chair send a letter to the president stating that the committee reviewed the document. The motion was seconded and passed.

B. Tentative Meeting Dates for 1992-93

The chair discussed meeting dates. Due to scheduling conflicts, meetings will be moved to Thursdays at 4 p.m. in Corbly Hall Room 240.

Tentative meeting dates will be Oct. 8 and 29, Nov. 19, Feb. 4 and 25, April 8 and 22.

C. Community Leader Appointments

A letter will be sent by the secretary to President Gilley reminding him of the APC's bylaws to have two appointed community leaders.

D. Review of Membership

The secretary asked members for correct campus mailing addresses and phone numbers. Lynne Mayer and Sarah Denman were not included in the 1992-93 ex officio, non-voting membership list. Lynne Mayer will clarify her membership role with President Gilley. The secretary will contact Sarah Denman.

A motion to adjourn was made, seconded and passed.

World Food Day will be observed on campus

Marshall University will observe World Food Day on Friday, Oct. 16, with an international videoconference from noon to 3 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Alumni Lounge.

The program will examine links between food needs, health and economic development, according to Richard Hensley, director of continuing education at Marshall's Community and Technical College.

Organized by the U.S. National Committee for World Food Day, the program will join participating sites throughout the Western Hemisphere by satellite using both English and Spanish languages.

General Edouard Saouma, director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, will open the videoconference from Rome. James Grant, UNICEF executive director, will serve on a special expert panel to lead the program discussion.

Other panel members are Fernando Monckeberg of Chile, Wynante Patterson of Jamaica and Per Pinistrup-Anderson, a Danish-American recently named to head the International Food Policy Research Institute.

Program organizers estimate that more than 500 million people suffer severe and chronic undernutrition, meaning that they don't get enough food day after day to support a healthy life, and that hundreds of millions of people, more than one out of four of the world's population, suffer from some form of malnutrition.

Continuing education units will be available from several sources for participation in the videoconference which will be open to the public free of charge.

To obtain further details contact the Continuing Education Office at Marshall University's Community and Technical College, 696-3113.

ERIC open house set

Marshall University's Education Resources Information Center (better known as the ERIC Library) will hold an open house on Thursday, Oct. 22, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Old Main Room 307, according to Dr. Ben Dickens, director of the Technical Education Program and ERIC.

Dickens said ERIC is designed to provide users with ready access to microfiche collections of educational documents and publications printed in English.

He said teachers, school administrators, researchers, information specialists, professional organizations, undergraduate and graduate students and others interested in education should find ERIC useful.

Approximately 1,200 new documents are added to the microfiche collection each month. The library contains research and technical reports, opinion papers, essays, position papers, instructional and curriculum materials, teaching and resource guides, handbooks, evaluation and feasibility studies, tests, questionnaires, measurement devices, manuals, statistical compilations, bibliographies, syllabi and other materials.
Candidates sought for Rollins program

Applicants are being sought for the Walter Rollins Scholars Program which is open to students in master’s or doctoral degree programs at accredited West Virginia colleges and universities, according to Dr. Leonard Deutsch, dean of Marshall’s Graduate School.

Mock disaster will highlight alcohol week

Several activities have been planned throughout the week to promote alcohol awareness and responsible drinking choices.

The activities will begin Monday, Oct. 19, at noon with a mock drunk-driving accident staged in the field between Marshall’s Memorial Student Center and the James E. Morrow Library.

It will involve the arrest of a drunk driver, rescues by the fire department, emergency treatment by paramedics and a transport to the hospital by the Health Net helicopter.

Agencies involved in the mock accident will include the Huntington Police and Fire departments, the Cabell County Office of Emergency Services, Cabell Huntington Hospital, St. Mary’s Hospital, the Huntington Safe Traffic Operations Program and Marshall’s BACCHUS and GAMMA student organizations.

In the event of an emergency involving these agencies or in the event of inclement weather the mock accident will be held Tuesday, Oct. 20, at noon.

Meade said the accident is being staged to make the public more aware of the severity of an alcohol related crash and the nearly 22,000 fatalities caused by drunk drivers each year.

To obtain further details about the mock accident or other activities planned in conjunction with National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week contact Marshall University’s Substance Abuse Education Program Office, 696-3315.

Grant booklet available

The latest issue of the National Science Foundation’s “Grants for Research and Education in Science and Engineering” is available in the Graduate School Office, Old Main Room 113, according to Dr. Leonard Deutsch, Graduate School dean.

This application guideline lists special programs, processing and review criteria, grant administration highlights, a checklist for proposal submission and budgetary hints.

The 41-page booklet also contains new and revised forms needed for the submission of proposals to the National Science Foundation.

A maximum of two positions will be available each year. Selected scholars will participate in West Virginia’s legislative process through an internship with members of the House and Senate leadership. Participants will receive a stipend of $1,000 per month up to four months.

The 1993 program will run from Jan. 4 through April 30. Normal work days will last from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., although during legislative sessions it is not unusual to work extended hours.

Deutsch said the Rollins program, which was established during the recent legislative interim meetings held in Morgantown, is considered the most prestigious of the Legislature’s internships.

Upon completion of the program, each scholar will receive six credit hours toward graduation. Students from all academic fields will be considered for the awards. The deadline for applications will be Oct. 30.

Rollins, who represented Wayne County, was majority leader of the House of Delegates at the time of his death early this year. He had served 18 years in the House and four years in the Senate.

To obtain application forms or further details contact the Marshall University Graduate School Office.

Election results given

The results of the recent faculty election to select members for the Institutional Hearing Panel have been announced as follows by Christopher Dolmetsch, secretary:

Elected at the rank of full professor were Martin Amerikaner, Elaine Baker, M. Jamil Chaudri, John Hubbard, Craig Monroe and Joseph Stone.

Elected at the rank of assistant professor were Robert Bookwalter, Richard Brown, Evelyn Pupple-Cody and Larry Stickler.

‘Concern’ series continues

Marshall University’s Office of Substance Abuse Education Programs will sponsor a series of discussions dealing with alcohol and drug abuse, eating disorders and other topics on Tuesdays according to Sharla Hofmann Meade, substance abuse coordinator at Marshall.

“Concern Series” programs will be held at 2:30 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Room 2W22. The programs will be open to the public free of charge.

The schedule includes:

-- Oct. 20, “LSD”;
-- Oct. 27, “Skills Needed to Help a Friend With a Problem”;
-- Nov. 3, “Eating Disorders”;
-- Nov. 10, “When God Becomes a Drug”;
-- Nov. 17, “Cigarettes and Smokeless Tobacco.”

To obtain further details about the “Concern Series” contact Meade at Marshall University’s Office of Substance Abuse Education Programs, 696-3315.
Marshall faculty and staff achievements

Dr. ASHWIN VYAS, associate professor of sociology and criminology, was invited by the United States Bureau of Justice Statistics to attend (all expenses paid) the BJS/Justice Research and Statistics Association Conference held Sept. 23-26 in New Orleans.

Dr. BARBARA ELLEN SMITH of the Department of Sociology presented a paper on “Crossing the Great Divide: Race, Class and Gender in Southern Women’s Organizing, 1979-91” at the annual convention of the American Sociological Association. She also served as the discussant for a panel on Academic Research and Community Action.

Dr. AKHTAR LODGHER, assistant professor in the Computer and Information Sciences Department, has had two papers accepted for presentation at the Southeastern Small College Computing Conference which will be held Nov. 6-7 in Jefferson City, Tenn. The papers are titled “Teaching Ada at the Senior Level” and “An Interactive Demonstration of the Quicksort Algorithm,” which was co-written by Michael Reed, a junior computer science major.

WILLIAM EDWARDS, interim director of Marshall University’s Institute for Regional Development, was a special guest at the “Champions of Change” conferences hosted by the American Society for Training and Development Sept. 16-18 in Akron, Ohio. He discussed lessons learned through some of the organizational changes at Marshall for conference participants interested in the areas of training, human resource management, change management, quality, management development and organizational effectiveness. He was one of 20 representatives from companies and organizations in a three-state region who shared views and strategies for winning in the 1990s.

Dr. MICHAEL P. CASTELLANI, assistant professor in the Department of Chemistry, presented a paper titled “Synthesis and Characteristic of the (C5Ph5) Cr (CO)3 Radical” at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society held Aug. 25. He also served as a session chair during the meeting. CASTELLANI presented a seminar on “Polyphenylated Cyclopentadienyl Complexes of Some Transition Metals” Sept. 18 at Western Kentucky University.

Dr. AIMEE HOWLEY, associate professor of educational administration, co-authored an article titled “Pastoral Power and the Contemporary University: A Foundation Analysis” with Dr. Richard Hartnett of West Virginia University. The article was published in the summer 1992 issue of Educational Theory. HOWLEY and Hartnett also had a paper titled “Recalctrance and the Canon Wars: A Foucauldian Genealogical Study” accepted for presentation at the annual meeting of the American Educational Studies Association which will be held Nov. 4-6 in Pittsburgh.

Dr. ALAN ALTANY, assistant professor of religious studies, has had an article titled “Mysticism: Madness or Holiness?” accepted for publication in a future issue of U.S. Catholic. The article discusses the nature, role and meaning of mysticism in the Catholic religious tradition as exemplified by Teresa of Avila, Meister Eckhart, Teilhard de Chardin and Thomas Merton.

An article titled “Theodore Thomas’s ‘March to the Sea’” by Dr. LESLIE PETTEYS, associate professor of music, was recently published in the summer 1992 issue of American Music. The article discusses the first transcontinental tour of the United States by conductor Theodore Thomas, his orchestra and a group of distinguished soloists in 1883.

Dr. LORENZO GONZALEZ-LAVIN, professor of surgery at the School of Medicine, was one of 11 surgeons leading a teleconference on heart valve banking and surgery Sept. 17-18 in Marseilles, France. The conference included televised demonstrations of graft implantation techniques, talks on valve banking and surgery, and a laboratory experience.

DEBRA COOK, program coordinator for Medical Records Technology, and SHIRLEY BANKS, associate professor of business technology, attended the Virginia Master Teacher’s Conference held this summer at Hampden-Sydney College.

MARJORIE KEATLEY, associate professor of office technology, and GLENN SMITH, associate professor and chairman of Public Service/Allied Health Technology, attended the “Learning to Learn” conference held this summer at Potomac State College. The program was sponsored by the West Virginia Community College Association.

RHONDA SCRAGG, assistant professor of computer technology, and ANNE TODD, assistant professor of computer technology, attended the “Academic Computing Training Seminar” held this summer in Los Angeles. The program was sponsored by IBM.

MORTEZA SADAT-HOSSIENY, assistant professor of engineering technology, and MERLE THOMAS, assistant professor of engineering technology, attended the “IBM Training Seminar on CIM/CAM and MAPICS” held this summer in Los Angeles.

Dr. PAUL LUTZ, associate professor of social studies, presented his Chautauqua-style historical impersonation of “Devil Anse” Hatfield at Canaan Valley’s Festival of Leaves held Sept. 26 in Davis.

Dr. JOHN L. HUBBARD, professor of chemistry, had a paper titled “Carbonylation of Lithium Triethylborohydride: Structure of the Initial Product” published in Heteroatom Chemistry (3: 223-225, 1992).

‘Steel Magnolias’ set

Marshall University’s Office of Student Activities will sponsor an off-Broadway production of “Steel Magnolias” on Thursday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. at the Keith-Albee Theatre.

Tickets will be $12, $15 and $18 and will be available in the Office of Student Activities, Memorial Student Center Room 2W38. Tickets will be half-price for Marshall faculty and staff.

To obtain further details contact Marie Brown or Annmarie Merritt, 696-6770.
