- The Review Sub-Committee presented two grade appeals which were accepted by the committee.
- The Academic Policy Sub-Committee presented a report concerning the ACE National Guide. The Academic Policy Sub-Committee made a decision to send a letter to all department chairpersons making them aware of the National Guide for their potential use. In the letter, the policy on credit by examination will be reviewed. Following the policy that departments retain autonomy in granting credit, the decision will be left up to each department.

If there are any comments or questions on the above, see Dr. Bruce Ardinger, Chairperson or Sarah Denman Secretary.

MU faculty and staff achievements, activities. . .

DR. ROBERT J. GREGORY, assistant professor of counseling/rehabilitation, has an article dealing with techniques used in work adjustment services scheduled to appear in Volume 15, "Vocational Evaluation and Work Adjustment Bulletin." The article is an outgrowth of a curriculum development project Gregory directed at Cornell University.

DR. WILLIAM A. McDOWELL, Counseling/Rehabilitation Department chairman, was a featured speaker for Family Life Week, sponsored by the Central Christian Church Feb. 26-27. He discussed "How to Teach Children Values." McDowell also was a presenter for a workshop on "Care and Treatment of the Terminally Ill" conducted March 2 by Ashland (Ky.) Community Hospice and Ashland Community College. His topics were "Minister Counselor Role in Caring for the Dying" and "Grief and Bereavement."

DR. RICHARD O. COMFORT, professor of sociology/anthropology, addressed the Huntington Ministerial Association on "The 1981 White House Conference on Aging" and "The Role of the Church in Working with Aging Persons" on March 3.

DR. DAVID R. WOODWARD, professor of history, has an article, "The Imperial Strategist: Jan Christiaan Smuts and British Military Policy, 1917-1918," appearing in Military History Journal (South African National Museum of Military History), 5 (December 1981): 131-145. 148. 153.

DR. JEAN WATSON-ROSENBAUM, assistant professor of English, presented a paper, "Tennyson's 'Gareth and Lynette' as Microcosmic Idyll," at the annual meeting of the Philological Association of the Carolinas at the University of South Carolina at Columbia, March 4-6.

DAN O'HANLON, Criminal Justice Department acting chairman, was featured in a series of interviews on legal issues of concern to senior citizens during the week of Feb. 20-27 on WOWK-TV. Interviewing him was DEAN STURM, director/producer, for Marshall's Instructional Television Services. O'Hanlon also was a judge for the

44th Annual Regional Golden Gloves Championship which took place Feb. 17-21. On Feb. 23, he addressed a dinner meeting of the YWCA's Business Women's Club on the topic "My Year as Municipal Judge."

DR. RALPH OBERLY, Physics and Physical Science Department chairman, attended a National Science Foundation Chautauqua short course on "Microcomputers in the Laboratory" at the University of Dayton March 1-2.

DR. DEAN A. ADKINS, assistant professor of biological sciences, was a participant in the fifth annual symposium of the Instructional Media Production Project for Severely Handicapped Students in Nashville, Tenn., March 8-10.

DR. FRANK L. BINDER, associate professor of biological sciences/microbiology, presented a paper entitled "Pyridine Nucleotide Cycle Metabolism in the Mycoparasite Tiaghemiomyces parasiticus" at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology in Atlanta, Ga., March 7-13. DR. JOHN FOSTER, assistant professor of microbiology, and Craig Brestle were co-authors. Binder also represented the society's Allegheny Branch (western Pennsylvania and West Virginia) of which he is a councilor.

WILLIAM J. RADIG, assistant professor of accounting, and DR. RONALD J. MADISON, associate professor of accounting, published a feature article in the January issue of The Woman CPA Journal. Their article, "Acknowledging the SEC as Standard Setter," discussed the development of the Securities and Exchange Commission as the dominant force in establishing accounting and financial reporting standards from 1960 to the present time.

DR. WILLIAM A. McDOWELL, Counseling/Rehabilitation Department chairman, conducted a four-part series on "Death and Dying" for the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church in February. He also spoke on "Dealing with Problem Behavior" on Feb. 22 at the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Round Table.

Pathology residency gets full accreditation

The Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) has awarded full accreditation to the Marshall University School of Medicine's Residency Program in Pathology.

The four-year residency program was granted full accreditation following a four-year period under provisional accreditation, according to Dr. Stebbins B. Chandor, MU Pathology Department chairman and program director.

Word of the program's new accreditation status was received by Dr. Chandor in late February in a letter from Dr. Robert H. Sebring, secretary for the ACGME's Residency Review Committee for Pathology.

"Obviously, we are pleased that the program has received this endorsement by the ACGME," Dr. Chandor said. "There are a number of excellent people from the area medical community to whom we owe a special thank you for their assistance in refining this program," he added.

The medical school's residency program offers graduate training in anatomic and clinical pathology in conjunction with Cabell Huntington Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital and the VA Medical Center.

In his letter announcing the ACGME acceptance of the review committee's recommendation, Dr. Sebring noted "the considerable improvement made in the program since its last reviews."

The accreditation process for residency programs is much like that for medical schools, with provisional accreditation necessary before students may be enrolled, Dr. Chandor explained. "And, like that for schools, it is a continuing process with periodic reviews of its progress," he added.

"SOURCE BOOK" DISTRIBUTED

Gail Sheets, Instructional Television Services (ITVS) scheduling coordinator, recently presented a copy of the newly-published ITVS' "Source Book" to MU Libraries Director Kenneth Slack. Mrs. Sheets served as editor-in-chief of the "Source Book," which provides program summaries and subject cross-indexing for more than 1,100 instructional television programs in the ITVS collection. Library staff members assisted Mrs. Sheets in devising standardized video cataloging procedures for the book. Faculty members who have not received a copy of the catalog should contact ITVS at 3150. ## Dr. King key speaker for Black Awareness Week

Dr. Charles H. King Jr., president of the Urban Crisis Center in Atlanta, will make two appearances at Marshall University on Thursday, March 25, as part of the Black Awareness Week.

King will conduct a four-hour seminar on racial awareness, beginning at 1 p.m., in Memorial Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room. At 8 o'clock that evening, he will deliver the Black Awareness Week keynote address in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Both events are free and open to the public, according to DeWayne Lyles, MU Minority Students Office coordinator.

King's appearances are part of a week-long observance of Black Awareness Week which includes a gospel jubilee sing, performance of a play, various other seminars and other activities designed to foster an appreciation of black history.

Children's College registration to be conducted on Saturday

The Children's College of the MU Community College will begin its spring classes on Saturday, March 20, according to Robert L. Lawson, CC continuing education director.

Registrations will be accepted on Saturday morning at the Community College, Lawson said. The classes will be held weekly through May 22.

New this semester, is a special course for senior high school students called Teenage Challenges. Taught at 10 a.m., the class will deal with problems confronting teenagers today, including drug abuse, alcoholism, dating and peer pressure.

Students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades may select three classes from the following: Microbiology, Kite Making, Conversational French, Folk Dancing for Children, Drama-Storytelling or Computer Science.

For students in the seventh through ninth grades, the choices include Conversational Spanish, Computer Science, Microbiology, Computerized Rocketry, Film Adventures and Creative Math.

The registration fee for three classes will be $50 per student. For parents registering two or more children, the fee will be $40 per child. The fee for Teenage Challenges will be $25 per student.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Lawson at 3646.

'Morning's at Seven' tickets available for balcony seats only

"Morning's at Seven," the Broadway comedy which won three Tony Awards in 1980, will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, March 22, at the Keith-Albee Theatre as part of the Marshall Artists' Series' Community-Division.

Tickets are available from the Artists Series Office, located on the first floor of the MU Memorial Student Center, for balcony seats at $10 for adults or $5 for youth age 17 or under, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, MU Cultural Events coordinator.

"The demand for seats by students for this production was overwhelming and most gratifying," Mrs. Hindsley said. "Between the student demand and the seats reserved for season subscribers, we find ourselves with seating available only in the balcony for non-subscribers."

In Atlanta, King conducts racial sensitivity seminars for business executives, government officials and private groups. These seminars have been called by some as the "most positive and innovative programs in the area of race relations." King uses a technique he calls "benevolent antagonism" to bring out racial attitudes which often are hidden.

The idea for the Urban Crisis seminars, according to King, grew out of his frustrations in trying to communicate the "anguish of racism" to white students, when he taught Black Studies at Wittenburg University in 1970. One day his frustration led him to shout at the class and he found that the emotion and intensity of the approach was effective.

Other events during the week-long observance include:

Saturday, March 20, 7 p.m., Gospel Sing, First Baptist Church.

Sunday, 7 p.m., "Billy," a four-act play, Smith Recital Hall.

Monday, 3 p.m., Survival Skills Seminar, MSC Rooms 2E10-13; 7 p.m., Ms. Black Pearl and Mr. Black Awareness Contest, Smith Recital Hall.

Tuesday, 3 p.m., Black Male/Female Relationships Seminar, MSC Rooms 2E10-13; 6:30 p.m., Blacks in American Sports Seminar, Northcott Hall 209.

Wednesday, 7 p.m., film, "Lady Sings the Blues," Science Hall Auditorium, repeat at 9:15 p.m.

Friday, 10 p.m., Disco Dance, ACF.

Saturday, 7 p.m., Spring Greek Show, Multi-Purpose Room, MSC.

Additional information concerning the seminar and related to other Black Awareness Week activities may be obtained by calling the Minority Students Office, (304) 696-6705.

Stress, parenting are among offerings of Psychology Clinic

This spring the Marshall University Psychology Department will offer four special clinics designed to help people alter their habits, according to Dr. Joseph Wyatt, MU Psychology Clinic director.

Registration is under way now for the clinics which will be conducted by graduate students in psychology under Wyatt's supervision. The groups will meet from 7 to 8:15 p.m. weekly for six weeks. The registration fee is $15.

Stress Reduction, dealing with the psychological and physical effects of stress will be taught on Mondays, beginning March 22, in Harris Hall 136.

Parenting, offering practical techniques for improving child behavior and parent-child relationship, will be taught on Mondays, beginning March 22, in Harris Hall 137.

"When the Honeymoon Ends: Planning for a successful Marriage," designed for soon-to-be-marrieds and newlyweds, will be taught on Wednesdays, beginning March 24, in Harris Hall 402.

Smoking Reduction, providing techniques for cutting down on quitting smoking, will be taught on Wednesdays, beginning March 24, in Harris Hall 331.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Psychology Clinic at 6446.

CAMPUS ANNOUNCEMENTS...

The Sociology/Anthropology Department will sponsor a free public showing of the film "Trobriand Cricket: From English Sport to South Sea Island War Game (An Ingenious Response to Colonialism)" on Thursday, March 25 at 6:30 p.m. in Science Hall Auditorium.

TEA CEREMONY

The Marshall Council for International Education (MCIE) will present a demonstration and explanation of the Japanese tea ceremony with Yoko Suzuki at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 23, at the Campus Christian Center.

ABSENCE REPORT FORMS

Some confusion exists regarding the proper department to return the new absence report forms, according to the Office of Personnel. The absence report forms, after being signed by your supervisor, should be sent to the Personnel Office, not the Payroll Office. However, time cards should be sent to Payroll.

Graveside services conducted for Mrs. Myrtle M. Rouse

Graveside services were held Monday at Woodmere Abbey of Remembrance for Mrs. Myrtle McDannald Rouse of Huntington, former Home Economics Department chairman, who died March 13.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Marshall Foundation, earmarked for the Myrtle M. Rouse Fund, or to any charity of your choice.

Mrs. Rouse, professor emeritus, taught at Marshall from 1936 until retiring in 1961. She was a graduate of Ohio and Columbia universities. She was a member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, Kappa Omicron Phi, the American Association of University Women and the Woman's Club of Huntington.

VIRGINIA ORVEDAHL, assistant librarian, James E. Morrow Library; MAUREEN S. MICK, secretary, Parking and Traffic; JULIE BARTRAM, registered nurse, Medicine Department, and JAMES-WILLIAMSON TYSHAUN, medical laboratory trainee, Medicine Department.

Welcome to campus!!

PCOT tickets available now

General admission tickets are now on sale for the Pittsburgh Chamber Opera Theater's performance of "Il Maestro di Musica" ("The Music Master"), scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, March 29, in Smith Recital Hall.

Tickets are available at the Artists Series Office, located on the first floor of Memorial Student Center, at $5 for adults and $2.50 for youth age 17 and under. MU students with ID and Activity cards will be admitted free. MU employees and students with ID only may purchase tickets at half price.

GRADUATE FACULTY

The Graduate Faculty will meet at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23, in Smith Hall Auditorium to nominate faculty members to the University Council and the Academic Planning and Standards Committee seats held by Dr. Frank Aldred and Dr. Dan Evans.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE ELECTIONS

The College of Science recently elected new representatives to the standing committees. Elected were: Dr. James Joy, Academic Planning and Standards; Dr. Ralph Taylor, Graduate Council, and Dr. Thomas Manakkil, Research Board.

COLA REPRESENTATIVES

Recently elected to serve on standing committees as representatives of the College of Liberal Arts were: Dr. Charles Lloyd, Academic Planning and Standards; Dr. Elinore Taylor, Physical Facilities and Planning; Dr. Troy Stewart, Budget and Appropriations; Dr. Joan Gilliland, Student Conduct and Welfare; Dr. Warren Wooden, Research Board, and Dr. Bradford DeVos and Dr. Barbara Brown, Graduate Council.

DISCOUNT CARDS

The new two-year Shamu Dolphin Club cards are now available in the Personnel Office, Old Main 207. The cards entitle MU employees and their families to admission discounts at the three Sea World Parks and other savings at hotels, campgrounds, car rental and agencies and the Pro Football Hall of Fame as detailed on the back of the membership card.

Dr. Corey Lock writes booklet on study skills

Dr. Corey R. Lock, associate professor of education at Marshall University, is the author of a booklet, "Study Skills," being published by Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society.

The booklet is designed for use by educators "to explore some of the methods teachers can use to help students develop beneficial study skills," Lock says in the introduction.

Lock notes, "Teachers are formally trained to teach, but they rarely receive training in how to help students study. They know how to send a message, but not how students must prepare themselves to receive the message."

The booklet may be obtained from Kappa Delta Pi, P.O. Box A, West Lafayette, Ind. 47906.

Lock, a member of the Marshall faculty since 1974, also serves part-time as the university's grants officer. He is the author of several other publications dealing with the field of education and specializes in the area of instructional problems in the classroom.
