Graduate School heads the listing of prospective graduates with 623 students scheduled to complete their work prior to May 10. The College of Education lists 355 prospective graduates, followed by the College of Business with 242, the College of Liberal Arts with 205, the Community College with 110, the College of Science with 102, and the School of Nursing with 63. Another 61 students are scheduled to graduate under the Regents Bachelor of Arts Degree program.

More than 900 of the graduating students are completing their work this month; 380 finished their classes last December and another 455 completed work during the 1979 summer terms.

Among those appearing on the program will be Rabbi Frederick L. Wenger, who will deliver the invocation and the benediction; the Marshall Wind Symphony, directed by W. Richard Lemke; the Symphonic Choir, directed by Wendell Kumlien; Leo V. Imperi, who will sing the "Alma Mater," and Alumni Association President Philip E. Cline.

The academic degrees will be conferred by Marshall President Robert B. Hayes.

Commencement

1,700 students to receive degrees

Approximately 1,700 Marshall University students will be awarded degrees during annual Commencement ceremonies Saturday, May 10, Registrar Robert H. Eddins said.

The graduation program will be held in the Huntington Civic Center, beginning at 11 a.m. It will be open to the public.

The degrees will be awarded to students who have completed their academic work during the course of the past year. Eddins said 211 will be graduated with honors.

Dr. Charles H. Moffat, retired chairman of the History Department who taught at Marshall for more than 30 years, will give the principal address. His topic will be "Moments to Remember."

Honorary degrees will be awarded to Moffat and to John D. Drinko, nationally-prominent attorney and businessman who graduated from Marshall in 1942. He resides in Lyndhurst, Ohio, and Palm Springs, Calif.

Retiring: Faculty and staff members to be honored for years of service to Marshall University

Eight Marshall University faculty members with a total of 132 years of service and eight staff members, whose years of service total 110, will be honored Saturday, May 10, at a luncheon following Marshall's Commencement.

Faculty members retiring this spring will include: Dr. George J. Harbold, College of Liberal Arts dean and professor of speech; Berfitt Jordan, associate professor of mathematics; Joseph M. Lichtenstein, director of Medical Education and professor of education; Dr. Marvin O. Mitchell, professor of English and former department chairman; Lyled F. Plymale, associate professor of physics and physical science; Alice Ertresvaag, assistant professor of art, and Herbert H. Royer, assistant professor of education.

Also receiving faculty emeritus rank will be Dr. Clarence A. Kellner, professor of speech, who retired in August.

Staff members who are retiring this spring include: Edmund Dean, a building service worker, who has been at the university 12 years; Helen W. Hoyer, clerk-typist in the Registrar's Office, who has 13 years of university service; Clifton R. Leadmon, building service worker, eight years of service; Olive W. Summers, Graduate School administrative secretary, at Marshall for three years; Mrs. Evelyn Bishop, office supervisor, Physical Plant Operations, with 26 years of service, and Winsett Templeton, supervisor of remodeling and alternations, with eight years of service.

Also to be recognized at the luncheon are Jeanne F. Childers, who retired last semester as director of accounting with a record of 22 years with Marshall, and June L. Zimmerman, payroll clerk, who retired last semester after 18 years of service.

Dean Harbold has a total of 19 years of service with Marshall, having first joined the faculty as a speech instructor in 1947. He has been with the university continuously since 1966 and was professor of speech and department chairman until his appointment as dean in 1971. A native of Indianapolis, he earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Florida and Ph.D. from Ohio State University.

Two of the retiring faculty members have more than 20 years of service at Marshall. Dr. Mitchell, a native of North Carolina, has been on the faculty since 1952 and served as English Department chairman from 1974 until last December. He earned his Ph.D. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Joining the Marshall faculty in 1946, Joseph Lichtenstein taught psychology and education courses until he was named Medical Education director with the School of Medicine in 1978. He earned the M.A. degree from Fordham University and has taken graduate work at Columbia, Rutgers, Cincinnati and New York universities.

A Mason County native, Berfitt Jordan joined the faculty in 1960. He earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Marshall and has taken additional work at Cornell, Colorado and West Virginia universities as well as Oberlin College.

Earning his degrees from Marshall, Herbert Royer first joined the MU faculty in 1948 as an English instructor. He has a total of 16 years of service which includes a six-year stint as head football coach in the 1950s. In 1970, he joined the College of Education faculty.

A member of the faculty since 1966, Miss Ertresvaag earned her B.A. and M.Ed. degrees from the University of Minnesota. She has taken additional graduate work at Columbia University and the University of Minnesota.

A native of Shoals, Lyle Plymale also is a Marshall alumnus who has been on the faculty since 1965. He also has taught in the Wayne County schools and at Ohio and East Carolina universities.

A native of Nebraska, Dr. Kellner joined the Marshall faculty in 1969 and retired last August. He earned his M.A. from the University of Cincinnati and his Ph.D. from Ohio University.

The paper was published in the meeting's proceedings. Madison and Larry Posey, controller of the Huntington Sears store, spoke to a student group on "Responsibility Accounting and Departmentalized Reporting" for retail business management.

Horsemanship course to be held in summer, fall

A new course in basic horsemanship will be offered this summer and next fall by the Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) Department at Marshall University in conjunction with the Hillcrest Stables, in Ona.

Kristy Scarberry, stable owner and one of the instructors, said the emphasis will be on equestrian safety and proper care of the horse.

The course will be offered from 6 to 7:45 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays during both five-week summer school sessions, which begin June 16 and July 21. Basic horsemanship classes will meet from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for two fall semester sessions, one beginning Sept. 3 and the other Oct. 2. All classes meet at Hillcrest Stables.

Dr. Robert Case, HPER chairman, said the off-campus course is being offered because of the success of two other off-campus courses, skiing and whitewater rafting.

Mrs. Scarberry and the other instructor, Kate Kessler, will divide the class into three groups, so that while one is riding, the others will be either in class or doing ground work. Each group will participate in all three sections each class period.

The curriculum includes riding balance, correct riding clothes, cleaning and maintaining tack, grooming a horse, bridling and saddling, safe mounting and dismounting, riding safety, horse care, safe stabling, loading the horse into a trailer, and defects to watch for when buying a horse.

The course will be limited to 12 persons, and if possible, the course will be divided according to degree of previous experience with horses. The course will cost $156 per person payable to Hillcrest Stables and $9.50 to Marshall University, which will give one hour of elective credit. Students also must rent a safety helmet and purchase a textbook.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Case at ext. 6490.

Two seminars set

Marshall University's College of Business and its Accounting Department will sponsor two seminars late in May.

One will be a tax seminar conducted by Kyle G. McMullen, associate professor of accounting, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, May 22, in Harris Hall Room 134.

Tax seminar topics include "1979 Changes in the Internal Revenue Code;" "Court Cases Involving Income Tax from July 1, 1979 through May 1, 1980;" "1980 Legislation and Proposed Legislation," and "Deferred Compensation."

The other, "Financial Accounting Standards Review," will be conducted at 9 a.m. Friday, May 23 in Harris Hall Room 134.

The accounting standards review course will be taught by Edward Hennekes of Charleston, a Certified Public Accountant and partner in the firm of Ernst and Whinney.

Excused absences. . .

Absences have been excused by the respective deans for the following:

April 30, May 1—Softball team.
April 30—Men's track team.

Personnel personals. . .

Anne and TOM DRUMMOND, Parthenon advertising manager, became the parents of their first child, Matthew Edward, on April 23.

Proud of a family member's accomplishment? Is there a new baby at your house? Is there something you'd like to share with your colleagues? The News Letter's "Personnel Personals" is another channel open to you. Send your information to Ruth Nerenberg, University Relations, Old Main 102.

Corporation law seminar set May 16-17

"Corporation Law" will be the topic of a two-day seminar to be held at Marshall University Friday and Saturday, May 16-17, under the sponsorship of the university's College of Business.

Five area attorneys will serve as guest lecturers, according to Dr. Merideth P. Wiswell, MU Finance and Business Law Department chairman, who also will conduct a session.

Seminar meetings are scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 16 and from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. the following day in Harris Hall 134.

Speakers and their topics include: Barbara L. Ayres, "Contracts and the Sale of Goods;" Henry Kayes, "Secured Transactions and Loans;" R. Kemp Morton, "Product Liabilities and Warranties;" John E. Jenkins Jr., "Securities Regulation;" Edward M. Kowal Jr., "Corporate Operations;" Wiswell, "Anti-trust Law and Price Discrimination under the Robinson-Patman Act."

Services held for Stewart Way

Funeral services for W. Stewart Way, former head basketball coach at Marshall, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Enslow Park Presbyterian Church. He died Monday, May 5, in a Huntington hospital.

He was head basketball coach for the 1969-70 and 1970-71 seasons, and served as assistant and associate coach for nine years.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred, and two sons, Tom and Tim.

The family requests that memorial donations be made to the Big Green Scholarship Fund.
