11-7-1980

Marshall University News Letter, November 7, 1980

Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter/487

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.
Academic Planning. Standards considers five items (continued from page 3)

b. A person may receive more than one Associate Degree in addition to a Bachelor's Degree by satisfying all the previous requirements. A minimum of 30 additional hours after the receipt of BA degree or associate degree will be required for purposes of meeting General Education requirements, the University policy, and any new revisions to the catalog.

2. A motion was made and approved to make Dr. Paul Stewett, Graduate Dean, responsible for any catalog changes or insertions concerning MU/COGS programs.

3. A motion was made to excuse BOR candidates for the BA degree from the English Qualifying Exam. The motion was approved.

4. A request for catalog changes concerning the BBA program was approved. The changes were as follows.

a. A motion was made and approved to make the Budget and Appropriations Committee

b. The Governor's staff will coordinate the Friday morning services marking the 20th anniversary of the Crash of the Marshall University football team.

Memorial services were held on Friday, Nov. 14, at 11:30 a.m. at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church in Huntington, said Marshall President Robert B. Hayes.

A brief service also will be conducted Saturday, Nov. 15, at 11:15 a.m. in Fairfield, West Virginia, at the Memorial Church in Fairfield, according to MU Athletic Director Lynn Snyder.

In addition, a student-sponsored candlelight service is planned for 7 p.m., Nov. 14, at Memorial Fountain on the Marshall campus. Tammy Utt, vice president of the student body, is coordinating arrangements for the candlelight service.

The crash of a Southern Airways jetliner carrying the Marshall football team occurred the evening of Nov. 14, 1970, as the plane approached Tri-State Airport. The team was returning from Greenville, N.C., where it had played East Carolina University.

In all, 29 people, including the team, coaches, Marshall staff members, supporters and the plane crew died in the crash.

The Rev. R.F. Smith, pastor of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church and chaplain for the 1970 Thundering Herd, will officiate at the Friday morning services, which will be open to the public. Also participating will be Father Memorial services marking the 10th anniversary of the Crash of the Marshall University football team were held on Friday, Nov. 14, at 11:30 a.m. at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church in Huntington, said Marshall President Robert B. Hayes.

A brief service also will be conducted Saturday, Nov. 15, at 11:15 a.m. in Fairfield, West Virginia, at the Memorial Church in Fairfield, according to MU Athletic Director Lynn Snyder.

In addition, a student-sponsored candlelight service is planned for 7 p.m., Nov. 14, at Memorial Fountain on the Marshall campus. Tammy Utt, vice president of the student body, is coordinating arrangements for the candlelight service.

The crash of a Southern Airways jetliner carrying the Marshall football team occurred the evening of Nov. 14, 1970, as the plane approached Tri-State Airport. The team was returning from Greenville, N.C., where it had played East Carolina University.

In all, 29 people, including the team, coaches, Marshall staff members, supporters and the plane crew died in the crash.

The Rev. R.F. Smith, pastor of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church and chaplain for the 1970 Thundering Herd, will officiate at the Friday morning services, which will be open to the public. Also participating will be Father Robert Scott, now of Clemmons, N.C., chaplain for the 1970 team; the Rev. Edward Carter, MU alumnus and member of the 1970 team who missed the East Carolina game because of a death in his family; Hayes and Snyder.

Following the service, a procession will move to Spring Hill Cemetery where a wreath will be placed at the monument marking the grave site of six of the crash victims.

Snyder said the university has attempted to locate relatives of those killed in the crash and announcements of the memorial service have been sent to them. The relatives also are being invited to attend a luncheon in Marshall's Memorial Student Center following the Friday services.

"We're certain we have not been able to locate all the families," Snyder said, "but we hope those who did not receive an invitation will learn of the services and that they will be able to join us."

Smith and Carter will conduct the pre-game service on Saturday.

Miss Utt said Smith, Scott and Carter are being asked to participate in the Friday evening candlelight service, which will be accompanied by music. She added that Marshall's student government is requesting that churches in the city toll their bells at 7:30 that evening.

5. More than 200 physically handicapped students at Marshall will be able to attend a new president for the future because of a new president for the university.

The task force, appointed by Student Government, and

The Governor's and his staff will defend the budget request in the hands of the leadership of the 20th legislature, according to the Governor's office.

A final word about allocations: During the first half decade of its existence the Board had considerable flexibility in the formulation of salary and wage guidelines.

During the last several years, however, expressions of legislative intent or gubernatorial preference (or a combination of the two) have all but taken away that flexibility. An awareness of this trend is essential in understanding the 1980-81 deficits in summer school and part-time pay. Responsibility for the deficit does not rest with the Board of Regents. Neither is it within the Board's power to provide it.

Frank Aldred

Robert Lawson, continuing education director for the Community College, and Dr. John Hoback, professor of chemistry.

Student members of the task force are Lisa Lefile, Paden City sophomore; Greg Hottis, Bridgeport sophomore; David Henderson, Bridgeport freshman, and Karen Boyce, Parkersburg junior.

Regents consider items (continued on page 4)
Artists Series events are tonight, Tuesday

Two Marshall Artists Series performances will be given tonight. The concert team of mezzo-soprano Joan Morris and pianist Graham Johnson will present an evening of music from the late 1800s to today in Old Main Auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight as part of the Forum Series programming.

The Glenn Miller Orchestra with Jimmy Henderson conducting will perform at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11, at the Keith-Albee Theater, as part of the Marshall Artists Series' Moon (Student) Division programming.

The husband and wife team of Bolcom and Morris will trace the evolution of the classic American popular song from turn-of-the-century music halls to the musical comedies of the 1920s and 1930s and from the somewhat grander musicals of the 1940s to their modern day counterpart.

Yale's Edward Tufte to discuss 1980 election

Dr. Edward R. Tufte of Yale University, the New York Times Poll chief political consultant, will visit Marshall University Friday, Nov. 14, under the auspices of the MU Political Science Department. Tufte is a former member of the Marshall Foundation's Distinguished Lectureship Program.

Regarded as one of the nation's foremost political scientists, Tufte is the author of "The Display of Data" and "How to Lie with Statistics: What Happened?" in a free, public lecture at 11 a.m. in Smith Hall Auditorium, according to Dr. Clair Matz, MU associate professor of political science and Political Science Lectureship Series chairman.

He also will speak to students in an American government class and appear as guest speaker at a dinner meeting of Pi Sigma Alpha political science honor society.

A former political consultant to NBC Election News and the Newsweek Survey, Tufte teaches politics and the economy, politics and macro-economics, public opinion and data graphics at Yale.

"We are most fortunate to have Dr. Tufte here who provides an election most-mortem just 10 days after the fact," said Matz. "During the past 10 years, the Political Science Department has brought several distinguished scholars to the campus under this program so that our students may learn about research within the discipline. Our lectureship series concentrates on scholarly analysis rather than practical politics," he noted.

Excused Absences...

Absences have been excused by the respective deans for the following:

Oct. 28--Soccer team.
Oct. 29--University officers.
Oct. 30-Nov. 1--Cross country track team.
Nov. 10-11--Mark Miller, Kristy Maeland, Alice Crubb, Joe Hardin, Paula Flowers and Fonda Klingensmith.

People Magazine has described the pair as "troubadours of the 19th century," while the Boston Globe said they were "among the most consciencious custodians of our national history of popular songs."

Bringing the Glenn Miller Orchestra to the area has been made possible in part by a grant from the Arts and Humanities Division of the West Virginia Department of Culture and History, according to Mr. Hindsley, MU cultural events coordinator. "We are most appreciative of this support," she said.

Appearing with the orchestra, which is the group leading the way to use the Miller name and the original Miller arrangements, will be the vocal group known as The Phoenix Serenaders.

One of the giants of the "big band era" of the 1940s, the late Glenn Miller organized his orchestra in 1937 and three years later it was one of the top musical organizations in the country. The group features a distinctive sound created by blending reed instruments with a clarinet lead, growing trombones and wailing trumpets.

Among the hit songs produced by the Miller orchestra were such classics as "Moonlight Serenade," "Tuxedo Junction," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "String of Pearls," "Pennsylvania Six-Five-Thousand," and "Serenade in Blue."

In December, 1944, Miller—who then was entertaining the troops with his Glenn Miller Army/Air Force Band—disappeared on a military flight over England and France. According to the report, the plane exploded and the formation of the present orchestra with Ray McKinley as lead was organized. He was followed by Bud DeFranco and Buddy Morrow, with trombonist Jimmy Henderson taking over as leader in 1975. A graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Henderson has toured with the big bands of Hal McIntire, Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Dorsey and the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra when it was reorganized. Reserved seat tickets for the concert may be obtained from the Artists Series Office, located in Memorial Student Center 2W38. Tickets also may be reserved by calling the office, ext. 6656.

Two Music Department groups will have free, public concerts next week. The Marshall University Symphony Orchestra's concert, conducted by James Mitchener, will present its first concert of the season at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Smith Recital Hall, and the Marshall University Choir will bring its annual tour home Thursday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m. in the same place.

This symphony's program, will feature Tana Roquegome, Marshall flute instructor, as soloist with the symphony for Jean River's "Concerto for Flute and String Orchestra." A reception will follow the concert, according to Academic Planning and Standards Committee makes course changes

The Academic Planning and Standards Committee met on Oct. 23 and covered the following major items of business:

1. Requests for catalog statements concerning second associate and baccalaureate degrees were approved.

The Kentucky Board of Regents has increased the minimum campus faculty and staff achievements, activities...

People Magazine has described the pair as "troubadours of the 19th century," while the Boston Globe said they were "among the most consciencious custodians of our national history of popular songs."

Bringing the Glenn Miller Orchestra to the area has been made possible in part by a grant from the Arts and Humanities Division of the West Virginia Department of Culture and History, according to Mr. Hindsley, MU cultural events coordinator. "We are most appreciative of this support," she said.

Appearing with the orchestra, which is the group leading the way to use the Miller name and the original Miller arrangements, will be the vocal group known as The Phoenix Serenaders.

One of the giants of the "big band era" of the 1940s, the late Glenn Miller organized his orchestra in 1937 and three years later it was one of the top musical organizations in the country. The group features a distinctive sound created by blending reed instruments with a clarinet lead, growing trombones and wailing trumpets.

Among the hit songs produced by the Miller orchestra were such classics as "Moonlight Serenade," "Tuxedo Junction," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "String of Pearls," "Pennsylvania Six-Five-Thousand," and "Serenade in Blue."

In December, 1944, Miller—who then was entertaining the troops with his Glenn Miller Army/Air Force Band—disappeared on a military flight over England and France. According to the report, the plane exploded and the formation of the present orchestra with Ray McKinley as lead was organized. He was followed by Bud DeFranco and Buddy Morrow, with trombonist Jimmy Henderson taking over as leader in 1975. A graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Henderson has toured with the big bands of Hal McIntire, Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Dorsey and the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra when it was reorganized. Reserved seat tickets for the concert may be obtained from the Artists Series Office, located in Memorial Student Center 2W38. Tickets also may be reserved by calling the office, ext. 6656.

Two Music Department groups will have free, public concerts next week. The Marshall University Symphony Orchestra's concert, conducted by James Mitchener, will present its first concert of the season at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Smith Recital Hall, and the Marshall University Choir will bring its annual tour home Thursday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m. in the same place.

This symphony's program, will feature Tana Roquegome, Marshall flute instructor, as soloist with the symphony for Jean River's "Concerto for Flute and String Orchestra." A reception will follow the concert, according to Academic Planning and Standards Committee makes course changes

The Academic Planning and Standards Committee met on Oct. 23 and covered the following major items of business:

1. Requests for catalog statements concerning second associate and baccalaureate degrees were approved.

The Kentucky Board of Regents has increased the minimum number of college credits for admission to state universities. The new requirement is for 60 semester hours of college credit.

MU faculty and staff achievements, activities...

DR. EMORY CARR, associate professor and Modern Languages Department chairman, and DR. HAROLD MILBERG, professor of Francophone studies, attended the West Virginia Foreign Language Teachers Association (WVFITLA) conference in Parkersburg Oct. 17. Both are members of the executive committee preparing for the Spring meeting of the continuing conference, to be held April 14-15 at Fairmont State College. Also attending the conference on Oct. 18 were the following Modern Languages Department faculty members: DR. CORNELIA DORES, associate professor; DR. JACOME, associate professor; DR. TERENCE McCARY, assistant professor; and DR. ANNE WELLS, library specialist. Future symphony, choir concerts scheduled next week

McWhorter, who is in his second year as Marshall's symphony conductor, was selected as a semifinalist for the doctoral degree at the University of Arizona, is a cellist and studied under Gordon Epperson. He is a former conductor of the Tucson (Ariz.) Civic Ballet and has played with the Tucson Symphony and the U.S. Marine Corps Band's "White House Orchestra" and with the cavalry and the infantry band.

The choir recently concluded a tour of Charleston, Beckley and Bluefield, W.Va., and Blacksburg, Roanoke, Salem, Vinton and Covington, Va.

Featured singers will be Ronald Hazelett, baritone, and David Washington, both of Huntington; David Chafin, tenor, of Ceredo, and Brenda Barry, soprano of Washington, W.Va. Choir director is Dr. Wendell Kumen, professor of music.

Two job openings announced

MU Parking Office has announced the following campus job openings: "Secretarial II, temporary, Institute for the Arts, closes Nov. 2; Director of Plant Operations, closes Dec. 1. Applications and additional information are available from the Personnel Office, Old Main 207, ext. 6455.