

1-30-1981

Marshall University News Letter, January 30, 1981

Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter

Recommended Citation

Office of University Relations, "Marshall University News Letter, January 30, 1981" (1981). Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986. Paper 502.

http://mds.marshall.edu/oldmu_news_letter/502

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Marshall Publications at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Marshall University News Letter 1972-1986 by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu, martj@marshall.edu.

Continuing education courses to start

Three short, non-credit courses are among those offered this semester by the Continuing Education Division of the Community College of Marshall University.

They are "Baseball Officiating" for future umpires, "Risk Management and Insurance" for insurance agents, and "Sociology of the Sexes."

"Baseball Officiating" teaches baseball's rules and prepares students to be certified as umpires by the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

Taught by Jim Morgan, the baseball class will meet at 6 p.m. Monday, Feb. 2, in Lincoln Junior High School Room 103 for the first of eight sessions. Times and dates for the remaining sessions will be discussed at that time. Cost will be $35.

"Risk Management and Insurance," the first section of Chartered Property Casualty Underwriters program for insurance agents, focuses on the framework for risk management in insurance. Discussions include basic legal concepts and fundamentals of insurance contracts. After the course, the agent should have a clearer understanding of how to determine the need for insurance and to recognize financial risks.

The insurance course will be taught by Bob Mitts from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays from Feb. 17 through May 26 in Corbly Hall Room 267. Cost will be $85.

"Sociology of the Sexes" deals with sexual stereotypes, where they come from and how they developed. The course seeks to raise the level of consciousness about sexual stereotypes by presenting historically significant factors and by observation of music, art and the mass media.

Taught by Dr. Shirley Banks from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays from Feb. 17 through April 14 in Harris Hall Room 138, the course will cost $35.

Persons wishing more information or to register may contact Robert L. Lawson, Continuing Education director for the Community College of Marshall University, by calling ext. 5431.

Louise Bailey heads committee

Louise Bailey, assistant professor of English, has been elected chairperson pro tem of the Faculty Service Committee. The previous chairperson, Maxine Phillips, associate professor of English, is on temporary leave because of illness.

Faculty with need of the committee's services, or those with suggestions for expanded activities or improved services, should contact Miss Bailey at ext. 3155 or at home at 525-9403.

"Maxine Phillips, as chairperson of the Faculty Service Committee, for years has looked about our faculty in times of illness and distress," said Dr. Sam Clagg, University Council chairman. "In her time of need, the faculty wishes her a speedy recovery and assurance that the committee is in good hands," he added.

development of the instrument he performs on and plays musical numbers for his audience.

Tickets are available for the concert from the Marshall Artists Series Office, located in Memorial Student Center 2W38, and may be reserved by calling the office at 696-6656. General admission for adults will be $4 and youth age 17 or younger may purchase tickets for $2. Marshall students with ID and Activity Cards will be admitted free.

MARSHALL DELEGATION WINS HONORS

Members of the Marshall University Model United Nations Club display the awards they won at a recent Model United Nations meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio. The six-member delegation was runner-up to Michigan State University for the "Best Delegation" award and team member Martha C. Berry received a trophy as "Best Individual Delegate" to the Model UN Security Council. From left are Barry Reed, Shepherdstown sophomore; Jessica L. Edwards, Slanesville freshman; Miss Berry, Kenova senior; and David Booth; Radford, Va., sophomore. The other members of the delegation are Nicholas Malone, Huntington junior, and Lloyd Sowards, Huntington freshman. (MU photo by Rick Hays)

Michael Iceberg to bring Pyramid Machine Thursday

Juilliard-trained Michael Iceberg will bring his one-man multi-keyboard show to Marshall University's Smith Recital Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 5, as part of the Marshall Artists Series' Student Series.

The Iceberg Pyramid Machine, named for its creator, is a keyboard structure composed of five synthesizers, plus a number of special effects and mechanical devices. All the music is live.

During the 90-minute concert, Iceberg discusses the

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

News Letter

January 30, 1981

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

Delegate Hartman to address faculty

A faculty meeting will be held at 4 p.m. on Feb. 10 in Old Main Auditorium. The agenda is as follows:

1. Delegate Patricia Hartman will speak to these points:
 - a. The current status of "old House Bill 1029". This is an important matter for all faculty. The original bill before the Legislature last session would have stripped the faculty of every reasonable vestige of self determination by turning professional decision making over to lay people.
 - b. The potential for a legislative supplemental appropriation for the summer session 1981.

- c. The potential for placing future summer school sessions on a sound fiscal basis.
 - d. In terms of legislative priorities, the rank of higher education on a list of priorities such as highways, welfare services, correctional institutions, retirement funds, etc.
2. President Hayes will discuss the progress of accumulating fund to meet the deficit for Summer School 1981.

Submitted by

Sam Clagg

Chairman, University Council

Library receives award for computer cataloging

Marshall University's James E. Morrow Library has received a major award as a result of its participation in a 2,500-member cooperative library program which includes computerized cataloging of library materials.

MU Director of Libraries Kenneth T. Slack was presented the "Fred Award" at a recent regional meeting of the Ohio College Library Center (OCLC), held in Pitsburgh, Pa.

The citation recognizes "consistently high quality cataloging, and dedication to the principles of shared bibliographic information in the OCLC on-line Union Catalog." Marshall was cited for error-free input into the OCLC data base for 1979.

The computerized system makes it possible for Marshall to trace volumes held by any other library in the consortium and arrange to obtain use of them through inter-library loans. More than seven million holdings are listed in libraries throughout the United States, Canada and Australia.

Slack credited library staff member Kay Wildman and former staff member Mary Faith Pankin with making possible Marshall's selection for the award. Miss Wildman, music librarian, provides cataloging information to the computer for materials in that field. Mrs. Pankin, who has moved with her family to Alexandria, Va., was responsible for all other original cataloging.

The award is named for Frederick Kilgore, who designed the OCLC data base.

J. H. Fletcher & Co. increases scholarship fund to $30,000

A scholarship fund established in memory of James H. and Ruth L. Fletcher has been increased to $30,000 with a recent $6,000 gift from J.H. Fletcher & Co. of Huntington, said Marshall University Development Director Bernard Queen.

The scholarship endowment, which honors the company's founder and his wife, was initiated by the firm in December 1979. J.H. Fletcher & Co. produces equipment for the mining industry.

The "James H. Fletcher and Ruth L. Fletcher John Marshall Scholarship" was the second to be funded under the John Marshall Scholars program. Funds contributed to the program are invested and proceeds are used to provide scholarships to academically outstanding students. A student selected for the honor could receive as much as $10,000 over a four-year period of studies at Marshall, Queen said.

Queen expressed appreciation to James H. Fletcher, president of the company and grandson of the founder, and to the firm's directors for their continuing interest in the John Marshall Scholars program. J. Robert Fletcher, chairman, and William F. Fletcher, also a director, are sons of the company's founder. Philip E. Cline, vice president for finance and treasurer of the company, is president of the Marshall Alumni Association.

MU directory error noted; other corrections solicited

The telephone number for the Physics and Physical Science Department is incorrectly listed on page 4 of the Faculty/Staff Directory as 2397. The correct number, 6738, is listed on page 2. Faculty and staff are asked to mark the change in their directories.

* * * *

ANYONE WHOSE telephone number is incorrectly listed in the faculty/staff directory is asked to submit both the incorrect number and the correct number to the University Relations Office no later than 10 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 4. The corrections will be run in the Feb. 6 edition of the News Letter.

Dr. Glen H. Stassen to speak at forum

An associate professor of Christian ethics at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., will speak on "Conscience and National Security: A Forum" at Marshall University's Campus Christian Center Feb. 3-5.

Dr. Glen H. Stassen will speak at three sessions of the forum, which will be held in the Campus Christian Center. Each session will be followed by a panel discussion and then by discussion for the audience. The sessions include:

—"A Biblical Call to Peacemaking as Surprising Initiative," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 3, followed by a panel consisting of Bernard Kern, executive director of Goodwill Industries; the Rev. Martha E. Lloyd, campus United Methodist minister, and Dr. Charles Mabee, MU associate professor and chairman of the Department of Religious Studies.

—"Idolatry as the Cause of the Nuclear Arms Race," at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 4, followed by a panel consisting of Dr. Clair W. Matz, MU associate professor of political science; Rabbi Frederick L. Wenger, MU part time faculty member in the Department of Religious Studies and rabbi of the B'nai Shalom Congregation, and Dr. David R. Woodward, MU professor of history.

—"Conscience and National Security," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 5, followed by a panel consisting of Dr. Mahlon C. Brown, MU professor of social studies; Dr. Frank J. Mininni, MU associate professor of philosophy, and Dr. Hugh B. Springer, campus Presbyterian minister.

The "Conscience and National Security" program is this semester's series offering in the University, Church and Community in Dialogue Forum Series sponsored each semester by the Campus Christian Center.

Each of the forum events are free and open to the public.

ArTime scheduled for elementary school children

Any child in kindergarten through the seventh grade may sign up for ArTime, a series of weekly art classes to be taught from Feb. 17 through April 1 by Marshall University students in an art education class, according to Dr. Edith S. Summey, MU assistant professor of art. Dr. Summey is the course instructor and will supervise the classes.

Kindergarten and first grade students will meet from 3:30 to 4:15 p.m. Tuesdays, second and third grade students will meet from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesdays; fourth and fifth grade students will meet from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m. Wednesdays, and sixth and seventh grade students will meet from 4:30 to 5:45 Tuesdays.

Classes meet in Smith Hall Room 625 at Marshall, and the cost is $6 per child, which covers the cost of art supplies, said Dr. Summey. Classes will not be held during Marshall's Spring Break March 9-15. After ArTime is finished, the children's drawings and sculptures will be exhibited at MU's Birke Art Gallery for a week beginning April 6, Dr. Summey said.

Application deadline is Feb. 10, and students will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

Anyone wishing more information or to register may contact Dr. Summey in the Art Department, ext. 6760.

Fire protocol reviewed

REMEMBER—when a fire alarm sounds, all personnel in the building are to evacuate immediately. The only exceptions are those persons who have been assigned emergency duties.

Basic instructions are posted on the doors. Faculty members have the responsibility of ensuring that students leave the classrooms, and of providing assistance to handicapped students.

Upon leaving the building, move away to provide space for emergency equipment and to prevent injury. Remain outside the building until authorized to re-enter by emergency personnel.

University Safety Subcommittee

Job openings announced

The Personnel Office has announced the following job openings:

Secretary II, Institute for the Arts, full time regular, closes Jan. 30;

Secretary I, Community College, part time/temporary, closes Feb. 2;

Licensed Practical Nurse, Medical School, full time regular, closes Feb. 2.

Applications and additional information may be obtained from the Personnel Office in Old Main 207, ext. 6455.

Sexuality researcher Hite to lecture at MU Feb. 10

Human sexuality researcher Shere Hite will lecture at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room.

She is the researcher and author of "The Hite Report: A Nationwide Study of Female Sexuality," which dispels the myth of the sexual revolution and is considered the best study of female sexuality ever conducted.

Currently, she is finishing a study of male sexuality. She is director of the Feminist Sexuality Project.

Admission is free for Marshall students with ID and activity cards; $1 for those with IDs only, and $2 for the general public. Her visit is sponsored by the Contemporary Issues Committee of the Student Activities Office.

Excused absences. . .

Absences have been excused by the respective deans for the following:

Jan. 9-13 and Jan. 24-27—Men's basketball team.

Jan. 21-25—Martha C. Berry, Jessica Edwards, Cherly Malone, Barry Reed, Lloyd Sowards and David Booth.

MU faculty and staff achievements, activities. . .

NANCY P. HINDSLEY, cultural events coordinator, attended the 24th annual conference of the Association of College, University and Community Arts Administrators Dec. 18-22 in New York City.

JUNE KILGORE, associate professor and Art Department chairman, had an exhibit of prints, paintings and drawings on display this past month at the University of Charleston Art Gallery in the UC Student Center. The works deal with energy, space, color and light.

DR. ROLAND L. MADISON, associate professor of accounting, is the lead author of "Why the Traditional Accounting Model Has Withstood the Test of Time" to be published in Directors and Boards: The Journal of Corporate Action. Co-authors are Dr. Robert H. Raymond of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln; Dr. Phillip Balsmeier of Louisiana Tech University, and Dr. Zafar Iqbal of California Polytechnic State University.

DR. ROBERT J. GREGORY, assistant professor of education (counseling and rehabilitation), submitted a final report entitled "Work Adjustment Services Training Project" to the Rehabilitation Services Administration, Office of Human Development, Social and Rehabilitation Service, Department of Health and Human Services. The project, under SRS Grant No. 44-P-81258, was directed by Gregory as the senior extension associate at the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

DR. ROBERT P. ALEXANDER, professor and Management Department chairman, spoke on "The Big Boss" at the Portsmouth Area Jaycees 34th annual Bosses' Night Banquet at the Portsmouth American Legion Hall on Jan. 21.

University Council considers three items

The University Council met on Jan. 21 and conducted the following items of business:

1. Heard a progress report from the subcommittee conducting a study relative to possible conflict of interest on the part of members of standing faculty committees. It appears that ultimately this work will result in suggestive guidelines.
2. Took under consideration the changes of administrative titles in the Faculty Constitution. This is being done to reflect certain title changes due to administrative reorganization. This activity is provided for in the Constitution, Article XII, Procedural Amendments.

3. Invited Delegate Pat Hartman to be with us at our next faculty meeting on Feb. 10 to discuss:
 - a. The current status of "old House Bill 1029".
 - b. The possibility of a legislative supplemental appropriation for our Summer School 1981.
 - c. A fiscally sound summer school budget in the future.
 - d. Where does higher education stand on the list of legislative priorities.

Submitted by

Sam Clagg

Chairman, University Council

Academic Planning, Standards reports five actions

The Academic Planning and Standards Committee (APSC) met Dec. 4 and completed the following items:

1. The Library Advisory Committee member from APSC was chosen: Dr. Robert Alexander, chairman of the planning subcommittee.
2. Information on credit by exception courses for graduate courses was sent to standards subcommittee.
3. APSC accepted the graduate catalog statement on Humanistic Studies as information with the addition of a request to add a statement on GPA requirements for admissions.
4. The curriculum subcommittee presented the following course additions and deletions:

C&I 418/518 "Classroom Motivation," 1-3 cr.

C&I 619 "Reading Leadership: Roles, Responsibilities and Problems," 3 cr.

PHL 523-524 Deletion

All were approved.

5. A grade appeal report heard from the Hearing Committee was accepted and approved.

Any questions or suggestions about the above may be addressed to Giovanna Morton, chairman, or Sarah Denman, secretary.

Sarah Denman