Children's College to begin March 7

Marshall University's Children's College has been expanded to six offerings this semester, and a section on computer science, conversational French and Greek has been added for the spring semester.

"Children's College is designed to give children a chance to delve into subjects they would not ordinarily take in school," said Robert Lawson, continuing education director for the Community College of Marshall University, which sponsors Children's College.

Speech-Hearing Center, ASHA to host workshop

A workshop on developing methods to evaluate and improve services to school-aged children with communication handicaps will be held Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 20 and 21, at Marshall University.

Co-sponsored by the Marshall University Speech and Hearing Center and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA), the workshop is part of a series of clinical and supervision provided by the MU clinic through a grant from the U.S. Department of Education. The workshop will be held in Smith Hall Room 108.

The workshop is open to all speech and language pathologists in the area, with preference given to public school personnel. Enrollment is limited to 20.

Footnotes to the Marshall University News Letter

Hypnotist James J. Mapes will return to Marshall University Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 24 and 25 to combine hypnotism education and entertainment.

Mapes first show will be a brief, free one at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 24, in the Twin Towers cafeteria. At 8 p.m. Tuesday, he will present his show, "PSI-The Power of the Mind," free of charge in the Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room. PSI stands for Positive Self-Image, and the show won him the 1978 Campus Entertainer of the Year award.

At 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Mapes will conduct a PSI training seminar for students and faculty members. The size of the crowd will determine the room to be used. In the seminar, Mapes will teach self-hypnosis to attain such goals as eliminating bad habits, increasing self-confidence and eliminating tension. The seminar will cost $15 for students, $20 for non-students, and Activity cards and a $20 for the general public.

ART DEPARTMENT TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

The Marshall University Art Department will sponsor an open house from noon to 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 27, said Mrs. June Kilgore, MU associate professor of art and department chairman.

"We hope that Marshall students and faculty, area high school students, and members of the community will visit with us and see what we are doing and offering," Mrs. Kilgore said.

Tours of the building on the sixth floor of Smith Hall, and demonstrations of various art media techniques will be conducted by faculty and students throughout the day. Items to be demonstrated will be ceramics, weaving, painting and graphic design.

In addition to the student art exhibit currently hanging in the Birke Art Gallery, art work will be on display in every classroom.

including the 1979 Tony Award as "Best Play of the Year," the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award, the Drama Critics' Circle Award and the Drama Desk Award.

Based on a real case, the two-act play concerns John Merrick (1863-1890), who was rescued from a sideshow by Frederick Treves, a noted London surgeon. His exhibit, "The Elephant Man," was in London. In the play, among the emeritus Victorians who came to visit Merrick is the actress Mrs. Kendal. She, according to Mrs. Kendal, was a member of a panel that presented the luncheon meeting of the Huntington University cultural events coordinator, said. The luncheon is co-sponsored by the Marshall University Cultural Events coordinator and the Marshall University cultural events coordinator and the Marshall University cultural events coordinator. With the fee paid, a small sticker will be issued to validate the expired permit, said Bonnie Lytle, administrative assistant/coordinator of parking and security. The validation sticker should be placed next to the original permit. She said this is the first time this validation system has been used.

Those who have paid for a full year need not get a validation sticker. Parking permits may be purchased by campus mail, and the stickers will be returned by campus mail. Checks should be made payable to Marshall University and sent to the Parking Office.

More information is available from the Parking Office, ext. 6406.
