$100,000 SMILES AT MARSHALL

Ashland Oil, Inc. President Robert E. Yancey, left, presents a $100,000 check to Robert W. Coon, dean of the Marshall University School of Medicine, during a recent campus luncheon. The gift is the third installment on a three-year, $300,000 pledge by Ashland Oil to assist the development of the MU School of Medicine. Dr. Bernard Queen, executive director of the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., said the funds will be used for further development of the School of Medicine as needs arise. (Marshall University photo by Rick Haye)

Professional development aim of conference

Three professional development seminars will highlight the 1981 Counselors Conference in Higher Education, sponsored by Marshall University’s Student Development Center, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12-13, in MU’s Memorial Student Center.

Gestalt awareness, hypnosis and the interpretation of the Strong Campbell Interest Inventory (SCII) will be explored during the two-day sessions for counselors, psychologists and social workers, according to Stephen Naymick, MU Student Development Center counselor, who is conference coordinator.

Following registration at 8 a.m. on Nov. 12, the conference will open at 9 a.m. with a three-hour workshop on Gestalt awareness conducted by Dr. Mary Ward. At 1:30 p.m. an update on revisions in the SCII and a review of other similar tests which supplement the SCII will be presented by Phil McClung. An “informal get together” has been scheduled that evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Uptowner Inn for conference participants.

Registration will re-open Saturday at 8 a.m. followed by workshop on hypnosis techniques and uses at 9 a.m. conducted by Dr. Steven Dreyer.

Registrations for the conference will be accepted through Nov. 6 and there will be a $30 registration fee. Psychologists attending the conference may earn seven contact hours of continuing education, Coordinator Naymick said.

Dr. Ward received her doctorate from Case Western Reserve University and completed three years of postgraduate training at the Gestalt Institute of Cleveland. She has been affiliated with the Institute for nine years and has a private practice as a Gestalt therapist. She has studied with Fritz Perls, Isadore Satir, Whitaker, and Lederman.

(Continued on page 2)

Documents put on reserve by faculty council representative

Three document files regarding activities of the West Virginia Board of Regents and its Advisory Council of Faculty have been placed on reserve in the James E. Morrow Library, according to Dr. Clair W. Matz, MU representative to the BOR’s Faculty Advisory Council.

The files, placed under Matz’ name, are:

-Board of Regents meeting minutes
-Advisory Council of Faculty meeting minutes
-Supplementary documents related to the Council’s activities.

“The file system was established to foster the flow of information on BOR and Council actions,” Matz said. “The files are for information and internal discussion only and may not constitute official policy,” he added.

(Continued on page 2)

QUESTION BOX

Do you have a question about a Marshall policy or procedure? Or a question related to anything on the campus? Submit it—signed or unsigned—to the Question Box, in care of University Relations, Old Main 102, and we'll try to find the answer and publish it.
MU faculty and staff achievements, activities…

Dr. Cary L. Wright

Dr. Cary L. Wright, associate professor of physiology is the senior author of the “The Concentrations of the Duodenal and Intestinal HPA-Axis” appearing in the Canadian Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology, Vol. 58, No. 7, July 1980. He also won a civic award and the free body for young age 17 and under. Marshall employers may purchase tickets at half price.

MUNCHCON II SET

The Marshall University Science Fiction Society is meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesdays in Memorial Student Center to plan for MunchCon II, its second annual science fiction convention. Anyone interested in helping to organize the convention, to be held April 16-17, is welcome to attend these meetings, according to Randall Meredith, publicity committee chairman.

FRUIT CAKE SALE

The campus chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics honorary, is conducting its annual fruit cake sale. The cakes, made by Manor Texas Company, are 450 per pound. Orders must be placed by Nov. 10 and delivered on Dec. 1. Additional information may be obtained by calling the Home Economics Department, 2386.

SIGMA XI SOCIAL

Marshall's Sigma Xi Society will have a "get-acquainted with your colleagues" social gathering today (Oct. 29) from 4 to 5 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Alumni Lounge. All Sigma Xi members and others interested in scientific research are encouraged to attend. Sigma Xi, a national honor society, promotes scholarship, encourages, recognizes and encourages research in excellence in research.

WOMEN'S STUDIES MEET

Those interested in information on registration or carpools for the second annual West Virginia Women's Studies Conference, scheduled Nov. 6-7 at Davis and Elkins College, should contact Dr. Jo Ann Mixon. At the conference will dwell the Role of Women's Studies, Student Response in Women's Studies Courses and the Images of Women in the Media. Conference registration is $17 for nonstudents and $10 for students and includes meals.

Campus job openings…

The university Personnel Office has announced the following positions: Management, Manager for the Arts, Pay Grade 13, closes Nov. 13. Manager of Shop Stores, Plant Operations, Pay Grade 10, closes Nov. 20. To apply for additional information, call the Personnel Office at 645 or stop by the office, located in Old Main 207.

Excused absences…

Absences have been excused by the respective college dean: OCT. 20-Women's Volleyball Team. OCT. 21-24-Varsity Golf Team.

EXCUSE TO ATTEND A 2nd ANNUAL WEST VIRGINIA WOMEN'S STUDIES CONFERENCE

Marshall University's Music Preparatory Department will sponsor a Fall Festival Master Class in Piano at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31, in Smith Recital Hall, Main C. Epling, department director announced today.

The class will be conducted by Dr. James L. Taggart, MU professor of music. There will be $3 fee for students who wish to perform for the instructor and a $1 fee for those students who wish to attend as observers. Miss Epling said there will be $2 fee for adult observers. Additional information may be obtained by calling Ms. Epling at 2347.

Seminar for tax preparers planned by community college

Marshall University's Community College, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, will sponsor an Advanced Tax Preparer's Seminar on Wednesday, Nov. 18, in Corby Hall 105.

The deadline for registration is Sunday, Nov. 15, and there will be a $30 fee which covers materials and lunch for the all-day meeting, according to Betty Jo Jarrel, Accounting/Legal Secretaries Studies coordinator for the Community College.

The seminar, which begins with registration at 8:30 a.m., will feature a detailed explanation by community Profit and Loss Tax Act" by Prof. Dr. B. J. Corbly, owner of a 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act' by IRS representatives from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

After lunch there will be a question and answer period on the morning session, followed by a presentation on "Estates and Gift Tax" to be given by Leon Oxley, a Huntington attorney appointed public accountant. The final session will feature Marci O'Connell of Ripley, a certified public accountant with the firm of O'Connell and Graves, who will discuss "Financial Planning and Analysis.

Additional information on the seminar may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jarrel at (304) 696-5431 or 696-5432.

Three to lead seminars (Continued from page 1)

McClung, who has conducted SCI workshops on the state and national level, earned his M.S. degree in Industrial Relations, a M.A. degree in counseling and a Certificate of Advanced Study from West Virginia University. President of the West Virginia Vocational Guidance Association, he also is an executive committee member of the West Virginia Personnel and Guidance Association.

A graduate of the University of North Dakota with a Ph.D degree in clinical psychology. Dreyer is co-director of the Process-Strategies Institute in Charleston which specializes in clinical psychology. He previously served on the faculty of West Virginia University's Behavioral Medicine and Psychiatry Department and as an adjunct professor of West Virginia College of Graduate Studies.

Additional information on the conference may be obtained by calling the MU Student Development Center, (304) 696-3111 or 696-2324.

NEWCOMERS

New to the campus are: BETSY B. COOK, Chief Justice adviser, School of Journalism, and CAROL LYNN ROSS, Police Office.

Welcome to campus!