College of Business moves to new home

The Marshall University Brad D. Smith Schools of Business begin a new era this week in the brand-new Brad D. Smith Center for Business and Innovation. The facility is still undergoing completion into the spring, but is already providing great classroom and lab space for students.

For more information on the new facility visit the College of Business site or to see more images, visit our gallery.

President Smith plays role in attracting LG

Marshall University President Brad D. Smith along with state officials, West Virginia University President Gordon Gee and WVU Alum and former Cisco CEO John Chambers was involved in attracting LG Electronics to the region.

"IT WILL SET US UP AS A USE CASE FOR THE
REST OF THE WORLD HOW
RURAL MARKETS AND RURAL STATES CAN LEAPFROG
AND LEAD THE WORLD IN THE 21ST CENTURY."

-- President Smith

The electronics giant plans to open branch offices in Morgantown and Huntington as they begin to create an innovation corridor throughout the Appalachian region. Read more at TimesWV.com.

One Last Thing

A test of the MU Alert emergency messaging system will be conducted Wednesday, Jan. 24. Marshall community members who subscribe to MU Alert are asked to be sure that they have received the message that morning. If a message has not been received by noon, a subscriber should review and update contact information through myMU. If this contact information was already correct, but a message was still not received, then an e-mail should be sent to mualert@marshall.edu with details on which contact method (text, e-mail, voice) did not work as expected.
