FOREIGN POLICY

HARD CHOICES IN U. S. ECONOMIC POLICY WHICH PROMOTE WORLD DEVELOPMENT

"Since our domestic and foreign economic objectives are not basically in conflict, but are in fact mutually indispensable, our course is clear. We must accept wholeheartedly our commitment to world economic development".

League of Women Voters of the U. S.

Our Program will give a realistic picture of the challenge of world development. How can we promote a high and steady rate of employment, price stability, and a high rate of economic growth in ways consistent with the promotion of world development? What about the "Gold Crisis"?

What is government's responsibility?

Mrs. T. W. Aby, Mrs. Nelson Cohen, Mrs. Peter Ellenbogen, Mrs. Joe Midkiff, Mrs. Paul Reigert and Mrs. William Weaver will discuss THE HARD CHOICES which we have to make.

Do come and bring friends.

Mary Daniel, Chairman
