(Penny Serenade)

The first in a series of "Penny Serenade" programs will be presented by the Marshall College Men's Concert Choir at the Student Union tomorrow (Mar. 3) at 11 a. m., according to Professor R. Wayne Hugoboom, Choir director.

As part of an organized fund raising campaign to help send the Symphonic Choir to New Orleans, the "Penny Serenade" will consist of several numbers from the Choir's tour repertoire to be used down south.

Students and friends of the choir are being urged to save their pennies and present them to the choir during their serenades, "to help build a mile of pennies" to send Symphonic to New Orleans. (C)

All three choirs, the Symphonic, the A Capella and the Men's Concert Choir, plan to participate in serenades before Symphonic leaves for New Orleans March 24. Other planned events include parties, private teas, and a benefit concert which will give Huntingtonians an opportunity to hear the group prior to its departure.

Having been selected as one of the outstanding representative choirs in the southern district, the Symphonic Choir will appear in formal concert at the Music Educators National Conference at New Orleans March 24-29.

The Choir will be used to illustrate choral selections and performance possibilities for the Division of Higher Education.

The choir will also appear in concert while enroute to New Orleans, Swimming his way through college Charles Stott, winner of more than twenty swimming trophies and medals, has partially financed his college education with his aquatic skill.

Stott, who started swimming at the age of eight, has had full time summer employment and part-time winter work as instructor, life guard, and pool manager at various organizational, public and private pools since his entry into college in 1951.

Income derived from these jobs, and a scholarship from the Academy of Science, which he received upon graduation from St. Joseph High School, have enabled Stott to attend college on a self sustaining basis. (11)

Stott entered competitive swimming when thirteen years old. One year later he won the Y. M. C. A. twenty-five mile indoor swim and his first trophy.

Stott, son of Mrs. C. W. Stott of 2016 R. Tenth Avenue, became interested in speed swimming at this time and joined the Y. M. C. A. speed sprint team. In his first meet he won three events in the short sprint field.

The Y. M. C. A. entered him in the tri-state meet at Columbus, Ohio and Stott placed third in the fifty yard free style against Kentucky, Ohio, and W. Va. swimmers.

The summer after his graduation from high school, Stott began his first swimming job as life guard at the Guyan Country Club. In September of that year he enrolled at Marshall as a Zoology major.

Since entering college Stott has been active in intramural swimming, leading his Kappa Alpha teammates to three straight swimming trophies. Stott has not been beaten in the plunge for distance or the 200 yard free style since his arrival at Marshall.

At the end of his freshman year Stott entered the Canadian National championship "Roscoe Trophy" race in Toronto, and against the top fifteen distance swimmers of Canada and the United States he finished eighth.

Stott was determined to better his showing in the next Canadian trophy race and he trained by competing in meets around the tri-state area. He placed fifth in the National A. A. U. Meet in Cincinnati and represented Huntington in the Columbus Invitational Meet, winning the 200 and 400 meter free styles. (P)

When the starters gun went off for the 1953 two mile "Roscoe Trophy" race Stott was among the fifteen distance swimmers who hit the cold waters of Lake Ontario. "I was sixth man back, said Stott, going into the final half of the race, when I ran into a group of struggling contestants. I had one of two alternatives; either to burn up valuable energy in pulling ahead or to drop back for a better chance. I dropped back, but when my chance came, fatigue kept me from moving up." According to Canadian Press releases however, Stott staved off fatigue long enough to finish fifth in one of Canada's most difficult swims.

Stott, a twenty-one year old senior, wants to go into bacteriology after graduation, but first he must fulfill his military obligation. As to his swimming plans, he hopes to participate in the

To- Bob Howard, Sports Publicity Director, Miami University, Mid-American Conference.

Next year should be Marshall's best in the Mid-American Conference, both in football and basketball. Lost from this years basketball team are Dave Robinson, Ray Ftazier, Frank Crum, Lewis Burns, and Paul Hopper.

Men coming back are Cebe Price, Charlie Slack, Paul Underwood, Bob Ashley, Joe Hunnicutt, Sonney Parkins, and Jerry Pierson. Price, Slack, and Underwood are regulars from this years team and with an improvement should be hard to cope with next year. Bob Ashley could play some next year, but Parkins, Hunnicutt, and Pierson are not expected to carry much of the load.

The big help will not come from this years bench, but from ~~the~~ the Freshman Team that averaged better than 90 points per game. Robinson's replacement will be Jack Freeman who hit for an average of 26.5. Freeman run the left side of the break on the freshman team. Dave Kirk will be the top candidate for the open guard berth. Other who will fight him for it are Yale Patton who scored 93 points as a freshman .

Next year's team should read something like this Cebe Price and Jack Freeman at the forwards. The nations top rebounder, Charlie Slack at center. Paul "Push" Underwood and Dave Kirk at the guards.

Middle man of the Marshall fast break and top scorer, Cebe Price will get some help from freshman Hal Greer. Greer scored 288 points for an average 19.2, and is a great ball handler. He is first Negro to play for Marshall. (Bob, We have layed off this untill he proves himself for his own good, but he is a great basketball player, and will play a lot of ball next year.

I am dropping this clipping in on the freshman team.

Well, Bob as you know Western put us out of the running, so all of us at Marshall will be pulling for the Redskins and the best of luck to them in the NCAA. I checked with Henderson today on the all Conference team.

We are having the State High School Tournament in Huntington this year and its just a lot more work. I ~~am~~ am working on the box scorexs and will get them out as soon as possible.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.---(MCIS)---Memorial Field House, site of the 1955 state Class A and Class B basketball tournament, is being prepared for the expected influx of state sports fans who will attend the annual event March 17-18-19. The building, West Virginia's most modern all-round arena, has been host to all types of programs, ranging from sports events to musical concerts, in its five years of existence. (17)

Field house employees have been working steadily to prepare its facilities for the tournament which will feature in addition to the Class B finalists, the top eight scholastic teams in West Virginia.

According to Manager Mike Lewis, there will be eight concession stands in operation, manned by twenty-five servers and food handlers. A hospitality room has been set up for newspaper and radio representatives covering the event. Tables and typewriters for the working press will be located on the main floor, with permanent press boxes upstairs for broadcasters and non-working pressman.

More than 6,600 seats will be available for each session of the tournament, which has attracted the largest crowds of amateur athletic fans in the state in past years.

The field house, which is located at Fifth Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street in east Huntington, was constructed at a cost of $1,087,700 and is one of the few such buildings in the country financed by publicly subscribed bonds. It is under the supervision of the Cabell County Court.

It is equipped with the most modern of facilities including automatic timing and scoring devices. A staff of 103 individuals, including standby electricians and plumbers, will be on hand during the tournament.

There will be four spacious locker rooms to serve the needs of players and coaches, with a total of 100 lockers. These rooms are easily reached from the downstairs entrance to the arena.

Special attention is being given to the arena's interlocking portable floor which cost approximately $13,000. Crews have been working on the maple surface, and will continue to do so until the tournament's opening day, according to Mr. Lewis. The back-boards are constructed of transparent plastic to eliminate obstruction of view from any part of the stands.

The field house has been the scene of many events of importance in the world of entertainment, politics, and general community interest. Conventions, home shows and boxing have attracted thousands of people through its doors since 1950. The largest crowd ever to attend any field house affair was in 1954 when 7,700 people witnessed Liberace's first appearance in West Virginia.

HELMS FOUNDATION HALL OF FAME

A TALL OLD MAN with deeply-lined face and a body bent with age slowly ambled into the college president's office last Saturday and laid a paper on the desk which contained his resignation as basketball coach: "I, Cam Henderson . . ."

The move brought to a close an athletic era at Marshall College. Cam Henderson, during his twenty year stay at Marshall, dominated to a great extent, the athletic picture. He was once athletic director. He has coached basketball throughout the period. He coached football up until 1949. He served also as baseball coach for many years.

Henderson in 1947 took a "Cinderella" Marshall basketball team to Kansas City and won the national small college championship. He took a Marshall football team to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida.

Cam Henderson tutored players in both sports that carried on in making a name for themselves in the professional ranks. Julius Rivlin, Gene (Goose) James, and others spent a time in the pro basketball ranks. Frank Gatski, Norm Willey, Eddie Ulinski, and others entered the professional football ranks.

An era has ended, but the "Old Man's" influence will remain.

Cam Predicts Faster Basketball In Future

By BOB FRIEDLY

(Parthenon Sports Editor)

College basketball will be faster and scores will be even higher, if the prediction of Cam Henderson, a fast break pioneer himself, is fulfilled. Henderson was com-rather than decrease scoring. A rule, he says, similar to the 24-second "non-freeze" rule as used in the professional ranks will be invoked on the collegians.

Henderson's own teams were typical of high scoring colleges.

Both Say They Will Accept If Offered Vacated Position

Immediately following the resignation of Cam Henderson on Saturday morning, rumors began to circulate throughout the campus and city as to who would fill the vacated coaching position.

Among all the speculation the names of Jules Rivlin and Buck
Jamison, two former Marshall cage greats were mentioned as the possible successor to Henderson.

These men were interviewed

So Long, Cam

Eli Camden Henderson announced Saturday that he was resigning as head basketball coach

CAM'S CAGE

The announcement came from the "Old Man" himself as he sat in his office in the Marshall gymnasium. In a note he had written, he said "I am 65 years old and happy to be retiring in good health, so that I may be able to enjoy the days remaining to me down on the farm where I grew up", near Clarksburg.

With these words, the greatest era in Marshall College basketball came to an end. The word spread "The 'Old Man' has retired." One of the greatest football and basketball coaches of all time had finally succumbed to the enemy of time and called it quits.

Rumors had been flying thick and fast this past week as to just what happened at Western Reserve. Tales of "incidents" that would probably cause the "Old Man" to retire were offered on every side, but whatever the reason for the action, one thing is sure. A brilliant coaching career has ended. Nothing will be able to over-shadow the job that he has done at Marshall. For twenty-years he has given all that he knew of the game he loved to Marshall and to its students.

His was a name known everywhere in the game. Cam Henderson, originator of the fast break. Cam Henderson, the originator of the zone defense. Cam Henderson, who with this season has won 400 games.

Cam has sent out into the sports world some of its finest players, players who have been learned well the lessons of fundamentals and discipline that he stressed. They have returned time and again thanking him for it.

One of these players will probably return to take the place of the teacher. Marshall teams will probably go on winning, but when the genial "Old Man" sat in his office in a "green and white" jacket and said "I've had enough," basketball at Marshall College suffered a loss it probably never will be able to replace.

"SO LONG CAM".

menting on the future of college basketball several weeks before he announced his retirement.

"Teams are scoring a hundred points a game that never scored like that before," says Henderson. "Eventually all coaches will realize that they have to play fast basketball to get the customers out. People like fast basketball. And you've got to give 'em their money's worth."

Henderson, nevertheless, does believe that some of the highest scoring teams have nearly reached their point-producing maximums. He holds that "even faster basketball" that he speaks of will come as other teams abandon control ball and adapt themselves to hell-for-leather speed tactics.

Despite the talk of efforts to curb scoring, Henderson is confident the only legislation that will go into effect will tend to increase mark sixteen times in his last three seasons. The Helms Foundation Hall of Fame mentor holds a view shared with him by many other coaches of modern basketball: "I don't care if the other side scores 99 points, if we can score a hundred."

CAM HENDERSON, according to his own estimate, has used the three-man fast break for "about 25 years." Before that time, he recalls that the "shooting forward" did nearly all the scoring for a team. Scoring was so infrequent that when one team made a basket the other called time out and tried to figure out how the defense had failed.

Guards didn't score at all in the old days, according to Henderson. Ceilings were so low in the old converted gyms that outside set shots weren't even attempted.

Saturday afternoon by telephone to see what their reactions would be if they would be offered the open position.

"I'M SORRY to hear that Henderson resigned" said Rivlin after being informed of the fact. When asked if he would accept the Big Green coaching job, the former famous middleman of the Henderson fast-break replied, "Yes, I would accept the position immediately if it were offered to me." Rivlin added, "I'm certainly thrilled to even be considered to fill the position of Cam Henderson."

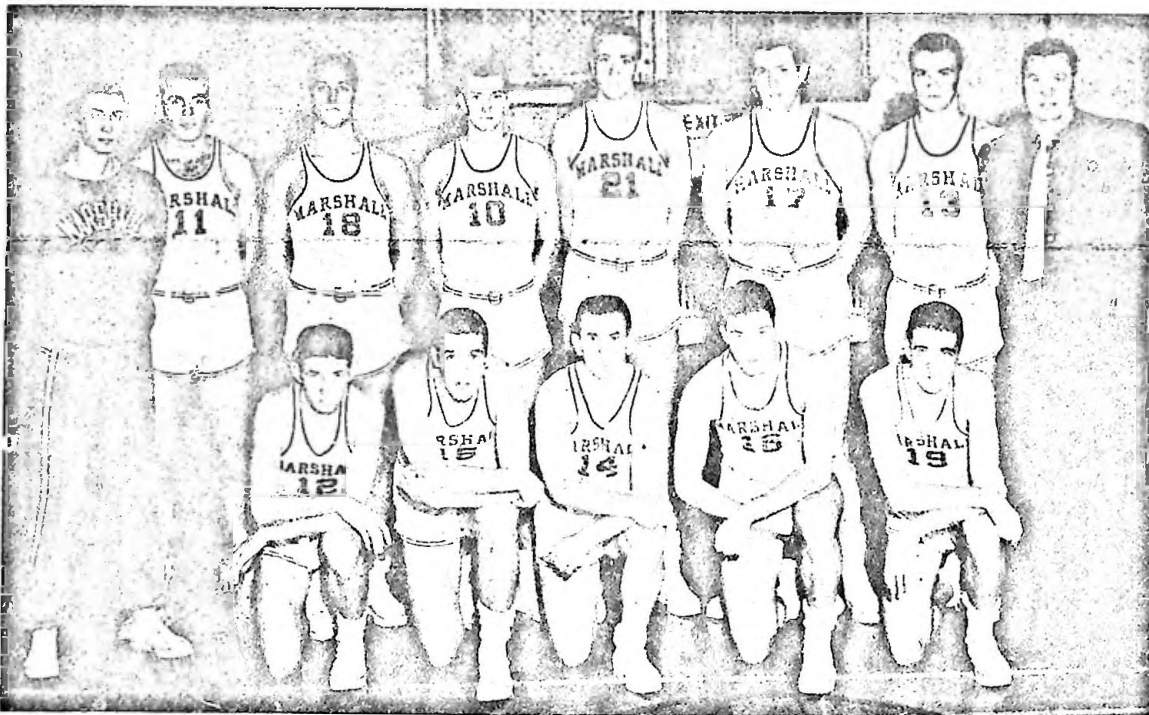

Speaking to Jamison at his home in South Charleston, he said, "suppose it would be silly for a man in my profession to refuse the job at Marshall and if offered the position I would accept it." Jamison went on to say that, "I consider it a great honor to be considered to replace Henderson."

Currently, Rivlin is coaching at Wheeling McKinley Vocation High School where he has built the small school into one of the Ohio Athletic Conference's powers in the northern panhandle of the state. Rivlin was the former playing coach of the professional Toledo Jeeps.

JAMISON IS presently situated in South Charleston where he has built his cage squad in to one of the Kanawha Valley's powers. In addition to this, Jamison turned out two of Marshall's current sophomore sensations in Cebe Price and Paul Underwood, both ex-all-stars at the KVC school.

According to information received, Robert A. Morris, athletic director, said "It's too early" to hazard a guess at who the new coach for the Big Green cage team might be.

Mr. Morris said that although the agenda for the next Athletic Board meeting is already out, "You can be pretty sure they'll be some talk about the basketball job".

IT'S ALL OVER NOW—Coach Cam Henderson is on the extreme right with the 1954-55 squad, his last one at Marshall. The squad finished the season with a 18-4 mark and in winning their 18th game made it win number 400 for Henderson. Only four men of these will be missing from next year's squad and the rest will be on hand to greet a new coach when a successor is named for Henderson.

'OLD MAN' QUILTS AFTER 42 YEARS

Originated 'Break And Zone'; Came To Marshall In 1935

By STEVE POSTI

The "Grand Old Man of Basketball" has resigned.

Basketball coach Cam Henderson resigned his post as head coach at Marshall last Saturday. The resignation was tendered by Henderson to President Stewart H. Smith on Saturday morning. It will become effective June 30, 1955.

Henderson has coached at Marshall for twenty years and is one of the most celebrated mentors in the profession. The 65 year old mentor has been coaching for 42 years, and during that period has been acclaimed national distinction in the world of sports.

HALL OF FAME COACH

Henderson has already been named to the Helms Foundation Basketball Hall of Fame and a bronze plaque bearing his name and face appear in the famed Cow Palace in San Francisco where one of his Big Green squads won the Pepperdine basketball tournament.

Upon graduation from Salem College, where he starred in football, basketball and baseball, Henderson accepted a coaching position at Bristol (W. Va.) high school. It was at Bristol that the "Old Man" originated the zone defense and the fast-break offense game schedule with 27 wins. During these two cage season's, the Green was sparked by the all-time great Jules Rivlin.

During the next few years, Marshall did not predominate the athletic conference. The Green went on to win only one more conference championship which came in 1940 when the basketball squad won 26 while losing only 3. The football team also enjoyed a good year when they won 9 and lost two in the 1939 season.

DURING THE next two years Henderson's squads compiled 15 victories and 3 losses in football and in basketball won 30 out of 47. Then the war began to plague the athletic picture at Marshall.

In 1942 the grid squad won only a single game while losing 7 and tying one. The next season, football was dropped from the Marshall athletic program. In the meantime, the cage squads of Henderson were playing better than average ball and during the war period they won 56 games and lost 26.

WINS 200TH IN 1946

In his eleventh season at Marshall, Henderson's basketball teams had already won 200 games on the hardwood courts. His 200th win came in the 1945-46 season when the Big Green had a 24-10 name appeared on the list of applicants but refused the job and a possible high raise to remain at Huntington.

Finally, in 1953 the basketball picture at Marshall began to brighten as the Big Green canned 20 wins and dropped only 4. It was during this season that Marshall was admitted to the Mid-American Conference.

skin's 89-77 to present the "Old Man" with his 400th basketball win of his career. This is a feat that many college coaches have not accomplished. Henderson's victory total is sixteenth among the nation's active college coaches.

Along with his outstanding coaching ability, the genial grand "Old Man" has turned out many noted athletes. To mention all of them would be a task, but some of the more noted ones are the "mighty 31" Jules Rivlin, Walt Walowac, Gene "Goose" James frequently called time-outs.

CLAIR BEE, famed Long Island University mentor, participated in the game between the Grafton YMCA and the Bristol squad when the zone defense was first used. "Green pine lumber had been used in the floor construction and it was slippery than glass" said Bee. "Both teams were using a man-to-man defense, but found it difficult to keep up with opponents because of the sap from the pine flooring," he added. "When the second half started the Bristol team did not use the man-to-man defense. The players stationed themselves in certain zones which they did not leave until a shot was taken. The new defense was crude but so far as those who played that night were concerned it presented a new development in basketball," Bee continued.

AFTER SIX years at Bristol, the bright young Henderson moved to Shinnston High to coach there for a brief period. He then accepted his first college coaching position at Muskingum College at New Concord, Ohio. With a bright future ahead, Henderson left the little Ohio school to accept the head coaching duties at Davis and Elkins College in the three major sports.

AT D AND E 15 YEARS

It was at Davis and Elkins that Henderson began to gain national recognition for himself and the small West Virginia college. Cam remained at D&E for 15 years. During this period he had established one of the finest coaching records possible.

In his coaching reign at D&E, Henderson's squad met and defeated some of the nations best collegiate teams. Over a span of two years, one of his basketball squads set a new national record winning 40 consecutive games on the hardwood. The long winning streak was stopped by the famed Long Island Blackbirds who later went on to break the national mark by winning 42 straight games. The LIU win streak was of the all-time football greats, are credited for the origination of the double wing offense in football. Warner at the time was coaching at Temple and the two worked on the new offensive pattern and developed it.

COMES HERE IN 1935

After winning the first state college football championship and then later winning six more at D&E, Henderson decided to move to Marshall College. In 1935, at the age of 42, Henderson accepted the duties of athletic director and head coach of the three major sports at the Huntington college. He replaced the late Roy "Leg" Hawley as athletic director.

In beginning his 20 year reign at Marshall, Henderson's first squads in both football and basketball were not very successful. The Thundering Herd team in 1935 won 4 out of 10 while the Big Green cage squad won 6 out of 16.

After making it through a lowly first year, Henderson began to build a strong hold on the athletic program. In 1936 the University of North Carolina athletic board sought to bring Henderson to the Chapel Hill, North Carolina, campus to assume a vacated coach post when Carl Snavely resigned to head for Cornell. Henderson declined the offer in order to stay at Marshall.

MARSHALL, then participating in the Buckeye Conference, began rolling in 1936-37 when the Green cage squad captured the conference championship by compiling a 21-8 record. It was the first championship in the conference for Marshall. During the fall of '36, the Herd improved over their last season as they won 6, lost 3 and tied 1.

HAS UNDEFEATED SEASON

The following fall, Henderson's Herd finished the season undefeated and captured the Buckeye grid crown. Not to be out done, the basketball squad captured their second consecutive championship by finishing their 30

FOLLOWING THE war national recognition began to come to Marshall. During the 1946-47 basketball season, Marshall's Big Green compiled a 32-5 season's record.

Henderson guided the 46-47 squad to two tournament wins, the first being the Mid-West Tournament played in California and biggest of all the coveted NAIB (now the NAIA) at Kansas City.

SPEARHEADING the football squad through a successful season, the Thundering Herd was asked to participate in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Florida. Playing without Henderson's coaching, the Herd dropped a 7-0 decision to Catawba College in the New Year's Day game. At the time Henderson was grooming the defending NAIB champions for the Los Angeles National Basketball Tournament which they won. Marshall defeated Syracuse University 42-40 to capture the western classic.

Also in that same season, Marshall was on hand to defend their NAIB crown before being nudged out in the second round by San Jose State (California) 73-72 in an overtime period. The 1948 campaign found the Green cagers winning 22 and losing 11.

RESIGNS FOOTBALL POST

At the completion of the 1949 football season, Henderson resigned his post as head coach to devote full time to basketball. During his 15 year period in coaching football at Marshall, Henderson won 62 games, losing 41 and tying one.

NOW THE "Old Man" had only one job—Basketball. Marshall entered the Ohio Valley Conference and was confronted with tough opposition in OVC. From '49 to '53, the Green fared better than average although they were never able to cop the rugged OVC crown.

In 1949 it was believed that Henderson was to move to Loyola of Los Angeles to fill a vacated coaching position. Henderson's

PLAYS IN THE GARDEN

It was during that season that Henderson realized two of his great desires. The first was to have one of his squad's play in Madison Square Garden and the other to have his Big Green obtain its first major college rating. In making their debut at the famed New York basketball palace, the Green, sparked by all-American Walt Walowac, defeated Iona College 93-81 to give the "Old Man" something to remember.

Last year Henderson's former athletes paid tribute to the aging Big Green mentor when they honored Cam with a mammoth testimonial dinner at Huntington's Memorial Field House.

DURING the past cage season, the Green finished a close second in the MAC with a 10-4 record. Miami won the conference title with a 11-3 mark. Marshall finished the season with an overall record of 17 wins and 4 losses.

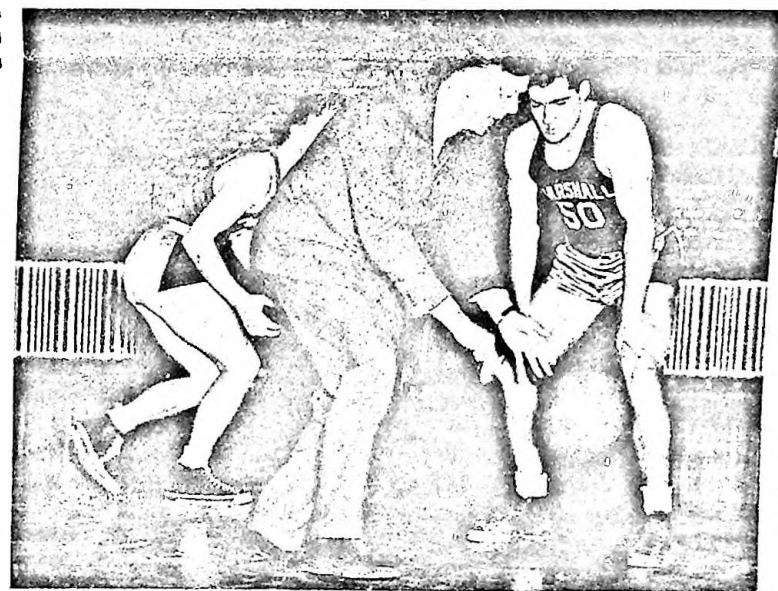

DEFEATS MIAMI FOR NO. 400

In Marshall's last home appearance of the season against Miami, the Big Green spanked the Red-

Morris Harvey's Eddie King, South Charleston coach Buck Jamison, Andy Tonkovich, and Huntington coaches Spike Underwood, Aldo Paletti, Johnny Cox, Bob Koontz, Ed Lambert, and Babe Mazza.

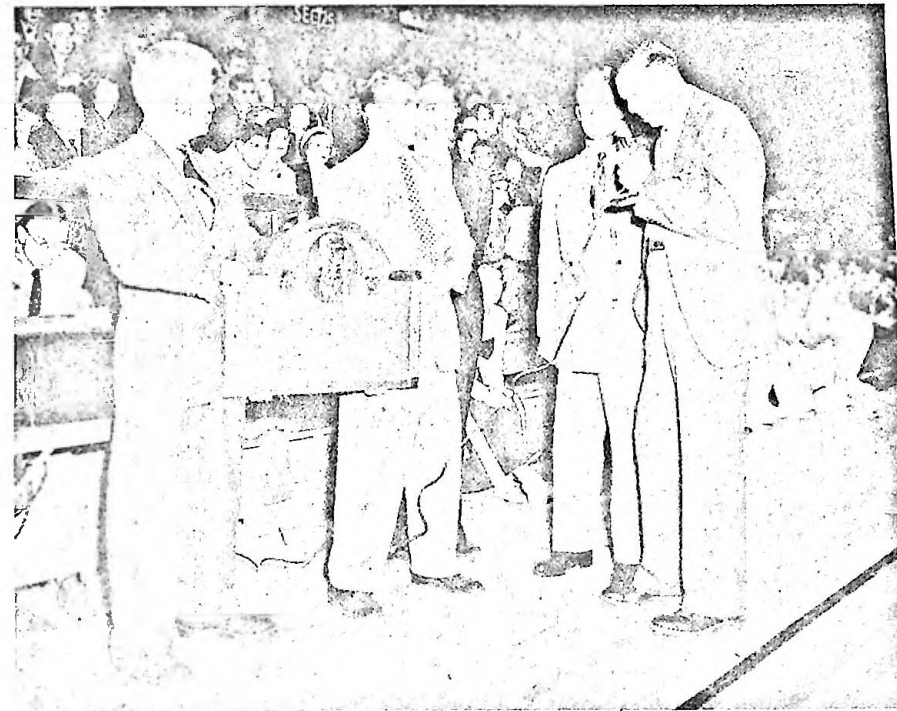

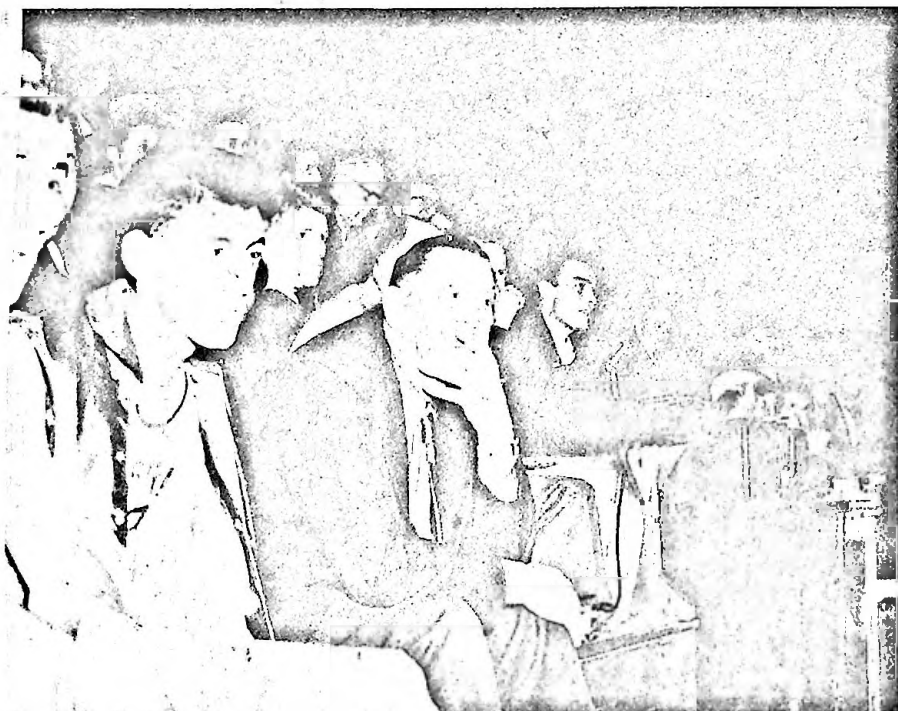

Other outstanding players to study under Henderson were Big Green grid coach Herb Royer, Sam Clagg, Dan Wickline, Ed Prelaz, Frank "Gunner" Gatski of the Cleveland Browns, Norm Willey of the Philadelphia Eagles, Albie Maier, Sid King, Pud Hutson, Shorty Fields, Dick Sidebottom, Donnie Brown, Red Underwood, Nelson Bragg, Harry Douglas, Bob Anderson, W.V.U.'s Red Brown and many others.

DURING HIS career, Henderson has met some of the toughest teams in the country with his squads. He has played California University, Indiana, Seton Hall, Maryland, Tennessee, Kansas State, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Dayton, Western Kentucky, Army, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Fordham, West Virginia University, Xavier, Wichita, Louisville and numerous others.

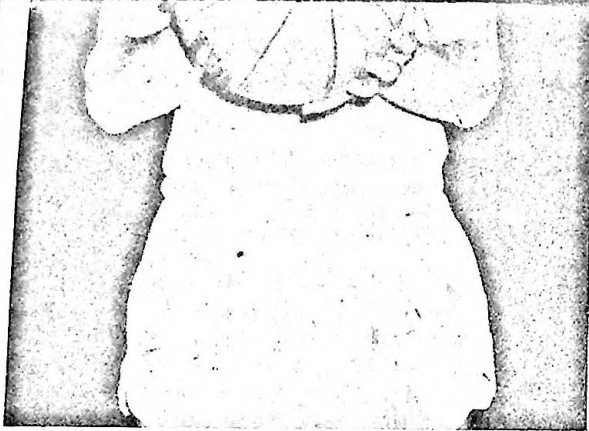

NOW AS A COACH—Taking over the duties of athletic director and coach of three major sports, Henderson is shown above instructing a Big Green player the correct procedure of passing.

Games. The LIU win streak was pionship by finishing their 30 coaching position. Henderson's a Big Green player the correct procedure of passing.

RECORD HOLDER — All-American Walt Walowac, who graduated last June, is pictured shown at the foul line practicing the famed one-handed shot that enabled him to break practically every Marshall scoring record in the books. Walt is now in the army.

LOOK OUT FOR THAT "Goose" —One of the finest players to play under Henderson at Marshall was the famed Gene "Goose" James. James will be remembered for his winning shot in the final game of the N.A.I.B. Following graduation, James signed to play professional basketball with the New York Celtics.

(Art Exhibit)

An exhibition, "New Design Trends", circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York City, will be on view at the James E. Morrow Library Art Gallery March 11 through April 1.

The exhibition is a comparison of today's design with that of the 'thirties and shows how emphasis has shifted from pure geometric forms to greater fluidity of line and shape.

An armchair by Le Corbusier designed in 1928 illustrates how the new architects of the day endeavored to achieve the same new freedom for their furniture as they had evolved in their architecture.

A comparison of two wooden platters shows interesting divergences both in shape and in the use of material. One, the work of James Prestini in the mid-' thirties, has the clarity and symmetry of form characteristic of Machine Art, although Prestini works with craftsman's tools. The other is a recent design by Tapio Wirkkala using a solid block of wood strips from which an asymmetrical shape is carved.

Through these and other comparative exhibits in the display, most of which come from the Museum's own Design Collection, the evolution of the modern style may be observed.

Visiting hours for the James E. Morrow Art Gallery are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

Flood waters didn't reach the Marshall Student Union yesterday, (Mar. 7) but road blocks caused by the swollen Ohio river left Union Manager Don Morris as his own chief cook and bottle washer.

Filling in for three of his stranded cooks who live outside of Huntington, Morris turned out 250 hamburgers and 75 pounds of french fries, in addition to juggling his regular managerial duties.

It was the first time in ten years of managing the Union that Morris has been called on to assume the duties of a cook and his only previous experience in that line has been restricted to observing others.

"I won't know how my cooking tasted until tomorrow", Morris said near the end of his first day on the job, "I haven't had any complaints as yet."

When the water finally subsides Morris' cooks will report back to duty but until then it means "long days over a hot griddle" for the Union manager.

After 42 years as a ^{basketball} hardwood coach and twenty of them at Marshall, Coach Cam Henderson has retired from the helm of basketball coach that he held since 1935.

His retirement ended the career
It marked the end of one of the greatest teachers of the game. Henderson, ^{had been} before this season, was listed as the sixteenth coach in the nation in his winning record. His record reads like Who's Who in American Sports. The 65 year old coach is credited with the starting of the fast break offense, with the behind-the-back pass and the famed zone defense. He ~~was~~ awarded the Helms Athletic Foundation Trophy at Kansas City and was admitted to the Helms Foundation Basketball Hall of Fame. In twenty years at Marshall College, he had only one losing season, and that was his first.

basketball
Called his greatest team was the 1947 outfit that won 32-5, and won the National Small College Championship. Kansas City fans fell in love with the Henderson crew in 1947, and called the Marshall team the Globe Trotters of College basketball. 27

In 1949-50, Henderson led
This year he lead Marshall to second place in the Mid-American Conference and a season's record of 17-4. Marshall was unbeaten at home as well as outside of the Mid-American Conference.

Henderson started his coaching at Bristol High School in 1913. He then moved on to Muskingum College, Davis-Elkins, and Marshall. He was not only a basketball coach but headed the Thundering Herd in football and coached the ^{team} baseball ~~line~~ in past years.

Who will fill the shoes of Henderson? At the present, the talk is of Jule Rivlin and Buck Jamison . Rivlin played under Henderson, as did Jamison and was one of Marshall's all time greats in the middle of the fast break offense. Jamison is a Marshall man and coached Marshall's Cebe Price and Paul Underwood at South Charleston High School. Both coaches are popular with Marshall basketball fans. Athletic Director, R. A. Morris, Jr. said that there would be no rush replacement for Henderson and that applications would be accepted.

The 65 year old Henderson will move to his farm near Clarksburg to take a long ~~needed~~ rest. It's good-bye to one of the greatest coaches of all time.--- The Immortal Eli Camden Henderson

Dear WVIPA Members,

We are sorry that members of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association have been unable to get together this term. The latest attempt by William Chaddock, WVIPA president, to have the membership agree on a date has failed. Only two schools responded by the February 18 deadline and one other has replied since that date. Therefore, the WVIPA will not meet during the 1954-55 term.

Marshall College was stated to be the host institution this term and we shall be glad to have the group come to our campus whenever there is another meeting. We await your action in that direction.

Meanwhile, we welcome you individually to our campus any time you happen to be in Huntington. It is our hope that WVIPA members will band together with a determination to restore the association as a living, useful and inspirational movement of young men and women in journalism. (38)

Phila. Orchestra To Play

Concert Will Be Friday At Keith-Albee

The Philadelphia Orchestra, rated the world's greatest, will arrive in Huntington aboard special train tomorrow at 4:10 P. M. and will appear in concert at 8:30 P. M. at the Keith-Albee Theatre under sponsorship of the Marshall College Artists Series. Eugene Ormandy is conductor and musical director of the orchestra.

Curtis Baxter, series manager, said a capacity house is anticipated and holders of season tickets who will be unable to use their seats are asked to notify the box office at the Becker Music Store. Seats for non-members of the Artists Series are on sale there.

Stage Is Enlarged

Mr. Baxter said workmen are building a stage extension at the theatre in order to accommodate the full contingent of 110 members of the orchestra.

One of the leading members of the orchestra is Lorne Munroe, principal violoncello, who received his appointment with the Philadelphians in 1951, and has been soloist in several works.

Munroe was completing his training at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, when he won an audition entitling him to be soloist at a Philadelphia Orchestra youth concert.

Lorne Munroe, above, principal cellist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, will appear here with the orchestra in concert tomorrow at 8:30 P. M. at the Keith-Albee Theatre on the Marshall College Artists Series.

"Ugly Man" Contest Set At Marshall

By ROBERT WILLIS

The annual Marshall College "Ugly Man" contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary service fraternity, will begin Wednesday, March 9 and end Tuesday, March 15 at 9:30 P. M., according to Dr. N. Bayard Green, professor of zoology at Marshall.

The contest is open to all male students who are carrying 12 or more semester hours, a full-time faculty member, or a full-time male employe of the college. They must be sponsored by a recognized student organization. Each organization may sponsor only one candidate and joint sponsorships are not allowed.

All sponsors who submit applications must also turn in an 8 x 10 photograph of their candidate in the makeup in which he will appear for the contest. An entrance fee of one dollar must be paid by March 7.

Votes To Cost Penny

During the contest, pictures of the contestants will be on display in the Student Union building. Anyone wishing to vote for a particular candidate must drop a coin in the container corresponding with the candidate's picture. Each penny will be worth one vote. The candidate with the largest number of votes wins the title.

The proceeds for the contest will be used to outfit a new music room on the second floor of the union. Last year, $171 was raised to help pay for new Marshall band uniforms.

The "Ugly Man" of 1954 was Freddie Kemp, a 1955 graduate from Crumpler. Kemp was sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity.

Orchestra Here Friday

The famed Philadelphia Orchestra, with Eugene Ormandy conducting, will be on the Arts Series program tomorrow evening at 8:30 at the Keith-Albee Theatre.

The program will include the "Prelude and Fugue in C Major" by Bach-Ormandy, "Symphony No. 2" by Beethoven, the tone poem, "Dawn Juan" by Dello Jolo and "La Valse" by Ravel.

Back in the "Gay 90's" the attention of music loving Philadelphians was attracted to a series of summer concerts being given at a nearby amusement park under the direction of a German musician named Fritz Scheel.

The music was so well accepted that three of Philadelphia's musical societies asked him to assume leadership of them and to stay in the city throughout the winter. He agreed on the condition that an orchestra of professional musicians be put at his disposal for at least two concerts.

The two concerts were given and thus began the first Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

In 1907, after the death of Scheel, Carl Pohlig was appointed to succeed him and continued as conductor for five years. By its thirteenth season the orchestra was solidly established in fundamentals and rapidly developing in virtuosity. Adventurous leadership came to the group with the appointment of Leopold Stokowski.

In 1936 Eugene Ormandy, now conductor and music director, was appointed to work with Stokowski. Under his direction the orchestra has brought music to every part of the world.

Ohio Beat WM

At Athens, Ohio, twice a victim of Marshall, made sure the Big Green finished the conference race in undisputed possession of second place by whipping Western Michigan. If the Brones had won, they would have tied the Big Green for runner-up honors.

The score: Ohio 85, Western Michigan 87.

So, that takes care of the Mid-American Conference chase. Miami wins it, 11-3, Marshall takes second, 10-4, Western Michigan is in third, 9-5, and Ohio is fourth, for the present, 8-5, but can tie Western Michigan by winning its finale.

By winning the championship Miami, which split a pair with the Big Green, has earned a berth in the NCAA regional playoff at Lexington, Ky., March 8 and will play powerful Marquette.

Marshall, with a still excellent 17-4 overall record, may now begin to take very seriously those overtures being made for it to appear in the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. Marshall has been consistently named as a possible entrant in the MAC, but Big Green officials could do little while a chance for the MAC and the NCAA regionals remained.

May Try Same

Last year Bowling Green, which finished second to Toledo pushed through a telephone vote of approval by conference presidents and played in the NIT. With that precedent set, Marshall may try to do the same.

Such a move would get the full support of Huntington and of the college's alumni who realize that maybe, after all, a change to play in New York and at the Garden again, brings more immediate recognition to the school than the long, wandering, gypsy-like NCAA tournament.

Which isn't really sour grapes — only a little unsweetened.

It just wasn't Marshall's night against Reserve Saturday. The Red Cats, who lost here in December, 90-84, held the 88.8 averaging Big Green to its lowest offensive output of the season and to a mere 18 points in the first half. That was five under the 23 point job Marshall turned in at Oxford, O., against Miami in the first 20 minutes.

Broke Walowac's Mark

The victory gave Western Reserve a 3-11 record in the MAC and enabled it to leave the conference on a victorious note and enter the purist President's Conference where athletic scholarships are to be banned.

'Penny Serenade' Set By Choir At Marshall

The first in a series of "Penny Serenade" programs will be presented by the Marshall College Men's Concert Choir at the Student Union tomorrow at 11 A. M., according to Professor R. Wayne Hugoboom, Choir director.

As part of an organized fund raising campaign to help send the Symphonic Choir to New Orleans, the "Penny Serenade" will consist of several numbers from the choir's tour repertoire to be used down south:

Students and friends of the choir are being urged to save their pennies and present them to the choir during their serenades, "to help build a mile of pennies" to send Symphonic to New Orleans.

Three Serenades Planned

All three choirs, the Symphonic, the A Capella and the Men's Concert Choir, plan to participate in serenades before Symphonic leaves for New Orleans March 24. Other planned events include parties, private teas, and a benefit concert which will give Huntingtonians an opportunity to hear the group prior to its departure.

Having been selected as one of the outstanding representative choirs in the southern district, the Symphonic Choir will appear in formal concert at the Music Educators National Conference at New Orleans March 24-29.

tion for this season, also rubbed it into the Big Green a little extra by sinking 24 points to break Walt Walowac's one-season conference scoring record of 352 points. Howard surpassed that by two — totaling 354.

Playing for Marshall for the last time, unless the NIT bid comes through, were Co-Captain Dave Robinson of Wheeling, Frank Crum of Betsey Lane, Paul Hopper, and Lewis Burns — all of who will graduate.

The game was simply one where Marshall slumped for eight minutes during the first half and never could get going again.

Marshall's Loss Nets Miami Title

By ERNIE SALVATORE

Advertiser Sports Editor

The Mid-American Conference basketball race, which looked for awhile last week as though it was going to imitate Old Man River and just keep rolling along, has ended.

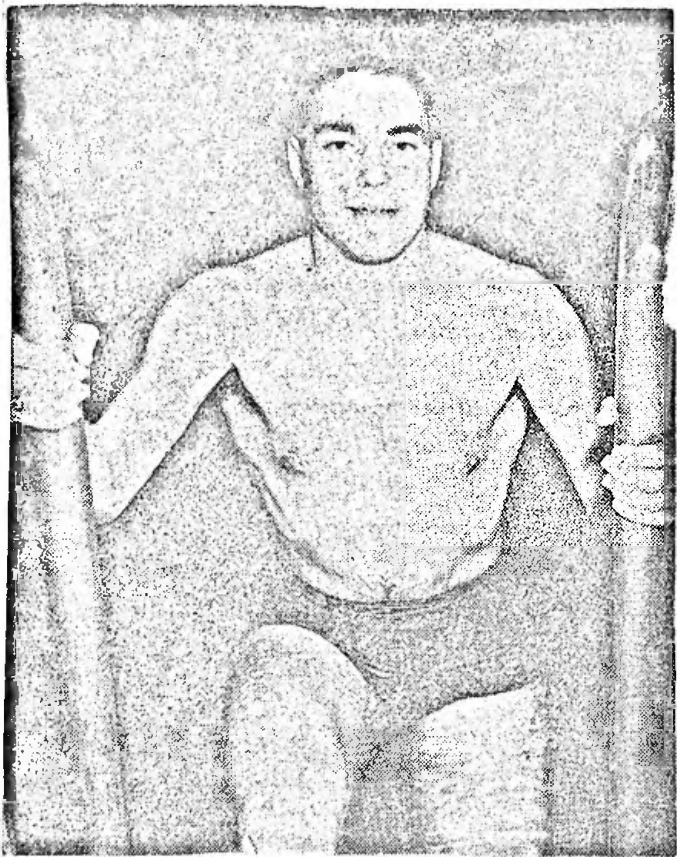

It happened very quickly on three Ohio fronts Saturday night:

At Cleveland, Marshall College, riding brilliantly towards a possible first place playoff with Miami, suffered one of the season's biggest upsets, bowing to a cellar-dwelling Western Reserve team, 70-58. The loss left Marshall one game short of the front-running Redskins who were defeated by the Big Green here last Tuesday, 88-77.

At Cincinnati, Miami was taking its eighth loss of the season in a game against an earlier Marshall victim, Xavier, but this was a non-league game and it probably didn't hurt Coach Bill Rohr's hot-and-cold Oxford club who were backing into the Mid-American championship while bowing to the Musketeers.

Local Boy Swims Way Through College

By ROBERT G. ADAMS
Marshall Student Journalist

Swimming his way through college, Charles Stott, winner of more than 20 trophies and medals, has partially financed his college education with his aquatic skill.

Stott, who started swimming at the age of eight, has had full time summer employment and some winter work as instructor, lifeguard and pool manager at various organizational, public and private pools since his entry into college in 1951.

Income derived from these jobs, and a scholarship from the Academy of Science, which he received upon graduation from St. Joseph's high school, have enabled Stott to attend college on a self-sustaining basis.

He entered competitive swimming when 13 years old. One year later he won the YMCA 25-mile indoor swim and his first trophy.

Stott, son of Mrs. C. W. Stott of 2016 Rear Tenth avenue, became interested in speed swimming at this time and joined the "Y" speed sprint team. In his first meet he won three events in the short sprint field.

The YMCA entered him in the tri-state meet at Columbus, and Stott placed third in the 50-yard free style against Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia swimmers.

The summer after his graduation from high school, Stott began his first swimming job as lifeguard at Guyan Country Club. In September of that year he enrolled at Marshall as a zoology major.

Since entering college Stott has been active in intramural swimming, leading his Kappa Alpha teammates to three straight swimming trophies. Stott has not been beaten in the plunge for distance or the 200-yard free style since his arrival at Marshall.

At the end of his freshman year Stott entered the Canadian National championship "Roscoe Trophy" race in Toronto, and against the top 15 distance swimmers of Canada and the United States he finished eighth. In 1953 he finished fifth.

Stott was determined to better his showing in the next Canadian trophy race and he trained by competing in meets around the tri-state area. He placed fifth in the National AAU meet in Cincinnati and represented Huntington in the Columbus Invitational meet, winning the 200 and 400-meter free styles.

Stott, a 21-year-old senior, wants to go into bacteriology after graduation, but first he must fulfill his military obligation.

To help those still undecided about a project Dr. Green suggested that they begin with a number of questions. For example, what scientific subjects interest me most? What experiments have I done with which I have had good or interesting results? How much time can I devote to making a good exhibit?

"Answers to such questions" Dr. Green said, "will lead to ideas worthy of developing into a project."

"Books and other publications offer a rich source of ideas for exhibits," he continued. He further suggested that students desiring help and advice should consult their science teachers. Once the student has selected his project he should attempt to present in the most interesting and educational way possible. "Let your creative imagination work for you", Dr. Green urged. (46)

Huntington, W, Va-(MCIS) - Marshall's Wrestling Coach Sam Clagg is enthused about the future of three under classmen, Charlie Tanner, Phil Fisher, and Don Willis from Beckley.

Last week Charlie Tanner battled his way to the finals of the Mid-American Conference Championships held at Bowling Green University. On the way to the finals, he decisioned Ohio's Bob Karbam 3-0, and pinned Harold Bruck of Bowling Green. He was beaten in the championship round by Frank Baumgartner of Toledo University, who had defeated Charlie earlier in the season. The only other man to a victory over Tanner this season was Bob Downy of Alburn University. Downy was a Southeastern Conference Champion three years in a row. The fast moving Tanner kept his record of having never ~~xxx~~ been pinned in five years of wrestling.

Fisher and Willis are members of the freshman class and are ineligible to compete in official matches, because of the Mid-American Conference rule that bars freshmen. Still the two participated in exhibitions

All three boys are products of Woodrow Wilson High School in Beckley where Tanner and Fisher were members of the Flying Eagles football and mat teams. Willis was also a student at WW, but learned his wrestling business while in the Navy. Tanner and Fisher wrestled in the West Virginia State High School Tournament with outstanding success. Tanner was in the runner up position his junior year, but went all the way his senior year to crowned state champion. Fisher was beaten in the finals by Parkerburg's Bob Frezze, however Fisher got sweet revenge by beating the clever Parkerburg boy in the finals of this year's Marshall Wrestling Championships held by the Intramural Department.

Tanner and Willis, like Fisher, won their weight division in the school's wrestling affair. Tanner won the 167 pound crown for the second straight year with two pins. Willis battled his way over two opponents to be the 147 pound Kingpin.

Tanner and Fisher are members of the Marshall Thundering Herd Football Team. Tanner is a center, while Fisher is a strong candidate for the vacated guard position, which was played last season ~~by~~ by Marshall's All Mid-American Conference guard Albie Maier.

Tanner has two more years to show his athletic ability at Marshall, while his other two home town buddies will be around for three more.

Marshall's Plight To Be 'Serious' Says Smith Of Budget Curtailment

President Stewart H. Smith of Marshall College said last night he was "very much disappointed" about the Marshall budget for 1955-56 as finally enacted yesterday by the Legislature.

The budget was fixed at $1,467,021, including $1,250,660 for personal services, the latter item virtually unchanged from the current year. Marshall had asked $1,412,962 for salaries, and the State Board of Education recommended $1,369,823. The proposed increase was to provide salary increases and for additional teaching staff members.

"We will really be in serious shape next year in view of increasing enrollment," Dr. Smith said. "We needed not only salary increases but additional staff. There are no funds as far as I can see to provide additional staff."

Dr. Smith pointed out that freshman enrollment increased to such an extent this year that some of the deans have taken over classes in certain freshman subjects.

The State Board of Education had recommended an over-all Marshall budget of $1,674,983. Funds in addition to those for personal services include allocations for current expenses, repairs and alterations and new equipment.

The Board of Public Works pared the Board of Education's figure to $1,478,240, and the $1,467,021 finally appropriated represented a flat five per cent cut in current expenses, repairs and alterations and equipment.

Coach Herb Royer of Marshall College reminds quarterback Bill Zban how he tossed passes during the 1954 season, as the Big Green gridgers go through their initial spring training drill. The bandage under Zban's helmet protects an infected ear. See story below.

Big Green Gridgers Have First Practice

By DON HATFIELD

It was a chilly day, with brisk winds prevailing, but Marshall College's 1955 football team took the field yesterday afternoon for its first workout of spring training.

Most of the boys were in high spirits, as was head coach Herb Royer. The team was in full dress and it posed an odd picture, what with the tennis team drilling a few yards away and the baseball and track teams waiting for warmer weather to begin their workouts.

Bill Zban, quarterback who'll be a junior next year, gave Coach Royer his first scare of the early season when he appeared with gauze draped around his right ear and forehead.

Ear Infection

"What on earth happened to you?" snapped Royer, worriedly.

"Had an infection in my ear," came the reply. "Had to have it lanced."

Wearing a green and white 'sweat suit' and giving a few pointers here and there was Albie Maier, Marshall's great lineman last season who has since signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League. It was estimated Albie signed for 'around' $4,000.

The team ran a good bit, took a good drill of calisthenics and then the linemen and backs separated. After this, Royer and assistants Sam Clagg and Dan Wickline went about their duties.

More of the same work is on tap for today. And, the gridgers may go through some signal drill from last year's formations and plays.

Ohio U. Tough

Before taking the field yesterday, Royer talked to the boys in the physical education building conference room for approximately 45 minutes.

"Gotta get down to serious work, here," he said. "We open against a tough one next year you know—Ohio University."

Many freshmen who expect to be sophomores next season were working out. However, there were also many absent and the consensus among many on-lookers was that many of these had not even returned to school this semester.

Senator Harley M. Kilgore, Beckley Democrat who heads the judiciary committee of the United States Senate, will speak at the banquet of the 21st annual Congress of the United High School Press of West Virginia scheduled April 29-30 at Marshall College.

Professor W. Page Pitt, head of the Marshall College department of journalism and UHSP founder, announced today that Senator Kilgore had accepted his invitation to address the approximately 300 high school newspaper staff members.

The banquet will take place in the Marshall cafeteria at 6:45 P. M., Saturday, April 30. Raymond Brewster, president of the West Virginia Board of Education, will be master of ceremonies.

Sponsored By Hupco

This feature of the UHSP congress is sponsored each year by the Huntington Publishing Co. and Colonel J. H. Long, "daddy of the United High School Press of West Virginia."

Two associated organizations will meet jointly with the UHSP. They are the United High School Yearbook Association and the Journalism Teachers Association of West Virginia.

Representatives from 170 West Virginia public high schools and five Catholic high schools are expected to attend the two-day affair.

Senator Kilgore, a native of Harrison county, attended West Virginia public schools and received the LL. B. degree from West Virginia University in 1914. He taught in a Hancock county public school in 1914-15, and in 1915 organized the first high school in Raleigh county. After serving for a year as principal of that school, he began the practice of law in Beckley.

He is the first person to be elected to the U. S. Senate for three successive terms by the West Virginia electorate. He was elected first in 1940 and was re-elected in 1946 and 1952. He is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Budget Cut For Marshall Is Avoided

(Special to The Advertiser)

CHARLESTON — The House of the 52nd Legislature this afternoon will consider its own and revised version of the state's 1955-56 budget, and up to now it appears that Marshall College in Huntington has escaped a pruning.

The House finance committee, according to Delegate Tennyson Bias (D-Cabell) only county Democrat on the committee, said the committee labored until midnight last night on the budget.

"We did not cut Marshall's budget," said Mr. Bias. "However, we did cut down many items. We took a big chunk out of the West Virginia University budget. We produced a balanced budget. Now we will have to get together, we folks in the House, with the Senate and agree on a budget."

Delegate Bias added that the House version of the budget closely parallels the trimmed-down version of the Senate. The Senate lopped off $3,290,111 of the $91,634,199 recommended by the Board of Public Works.

Marshall Spring Grid Drills Will Begin Today

adv.
By DON HATFIELD

Barring a continuation of the recent bad weather, Marshall College's 1955 football team will go through the first of its 20 sessions spring season this afternoon on the physical education field.

Head coach Herb Royer said he expected approximately 60 boys to report for spring drills. The mentor added that equipment had already been issued and that full dress will be worn by all participants.

"Most of them have stayed in pretty good shape," he explained. "Wearing the equipment the first day will be good for them, it'll get them use to it. You know, 20 sessions in a 30 day period isn't much, when you consider what you have to do. We're going to get right down to business."

'Plenty Of Running'

He pointed out that the first day would find a revving of fundamentals, plus limbering up exercises and "plenty of running" taking place. He added he may send the group through some signal drills.

Marshall lost only three men from last year's young squad. It was believed that the Big Green would lose only co-captains Henry Hinte, a versatile back who worked both as quarterback and halfback, and guard Albie Maier, who recently signed a contract to play with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League. However, Royer reports that Henry (Skip) Hawkins, top halfback and one of the team's best runners, plans to graduate during the summer. Also, adding to the list of those who may not report are ends Gene Blake and Bill Day Ray, who may not be eligible. Full reports on the status of each have not been made evident, however.

Baseballers waiting

If the weather, like it has done other area spring sports action, takes its toll of the Big Green gridgers today, the coach plans to "put off drills" until it improves. He explained that he wouldn't work out in the gym today if the weather does get bad. In fact, he won't use the gym until he has to, he says.

Meanwhile, remaining Marshall College spring athletics are also keeping a watchful eye to the sky. The baseballers, who will more than likely be coached by Jack Cook, are anxiously awaiting better weather, since their season opens before long. And likewise is the story for the tennis team and track squad.

The Big Green net men, piloted by Lanny Brisbin, have the jump on the other activities, however, having been working out for approximately two weeks, on the campus courts.

CAM HENDERSON

Quits After Talk With President

Led M. C. Teams Since 1935

3.5.55 adv.

Cam Henderson, basketball coach at Marshall College since 1935, resigned today.

His resignation followed an outbreak of rumors concerning a recent Marshall basketball trip to Western Reserve, when Marshall, battling for a Mid-American Conference championship tie, lost by a big margin to last-place Reserve.

Marshall lost to Reserve, 70-58. Henderson didn't return to Huntington until Tuesday, although the team returned Sunday night.

Called In By Smith

Dr. Stewart H. Smith, Marshall president, wrote a letter to Henderson earlier this week asking that the coach come to his office for a conference regarding the trip. Henderson reported this morning and resigned.

Dr. Smith said several players were summoned to his office this week to answer questions about the trip. Others came in voluntarily, he added.

Even before excitement of his resignation had subsided, speculation began on Henderson's successor. Among the first mentioned were Buck Jamison, coach at South Charleston high school and Jules Rivlin of Wheeling, both of them former stars under Henderson.

Henderson is a veteran of 41 years in the coaching profession and prior to this season in which his team won 17 out of 21, ranked 16th among the nation's coaches in victories.

As a college basketball coach, both at Davis and Elkins and at Marshall, Henderson directed his teams to 399 victories against only 161 defeats. Counting an exhibition game at the start of the present campaign against the Republic of China, won by Marshall, his victory total stands at an even 400.

Originated Zone Defense

He is credited with all basketball experts as being the originator of the famed zone defense. Clair Bee, former coach at Long Island University and a native of Grafton, W. Va., recalls that he himself first came into contact with the "new fangled" zone back in 1914.

Three years ago, additional credits were bestowed on Henderson. He was singled out as the originator of the fast break in basketball — a racehorse style of offense dependent on split-second timing and spectacular behind-the-back passing — not only by the middleman or engineer of the attack but by others in the forward attacking line.

Marshall Dominates All-MAC Team Picked By Loop Coaches

OXFORD, Ohio, March 7 — Dick Howard, 6-6 ace of the last-place Western Reserve team, was the only unanimous choice on the Mid - American Conference Coaches' All - Conference team announced today.

Howard made the Coaches' All - MAC for the third straight year, the second player to do so in the loop's history. Phil Martin of Toledo has been the only other three-time choice. This year's first team ranges from 6-2 to 6-6 in height and from 234 to 355 points for scoring over 14 conference games apiece.

Second - place Marshall, knocked out of a possible playoff for the league crown when it lost its final game to Reserve, dominated the squad with two first - team choices, a second - team spot and one honorable mention as the loop's other seven teams placed one apiece in the top ten.

The 1955 selections, with scoring indicated in conference play only:

FIRST TEAM

	Ht.	Yr.	Pts.	Home
Dick Howard, Western Reserve	6-6	4	355	Jamestown, N. Y.
Cebert Price, Marshall	6-2	2	321	So. Charleston, W. Va.
Charles Slack, Marshall	6-5	3	264	Pomeroy, O.
Dan Potopsky, Kent State	6-3	3	327	Independence, O.
Tom Bryant, Miami	6-3	4	234	Chillicothe, O.

SECOND TEAM

Jim Ray, Toledo	6-1	3	260	Toledo, O.
Paul Underwood, Marshall	6-0	2	270	So. Charleston, W. Va.
Harold Stacy, Western Michigan	6-0	4	242	Grand Rapids, Mich.
Bill Rogers, Bowling Green	5-10	4	248	Medina, O.
Dick Garrison, Ohio	6-4	3	188	Corning, O.

Honorable mention: Jim Tucker and Max Chapman, Bowling Green; Dave Robinson, Marshall; Bill Kennon, Dick Klitch and Don Barnette, Miami; Fred Moore, Ohio; Fred Corbus and Alan Barkeley, Western Michigan, and Darrell Simko, Western Reserve.

This selection, on which Commissioner David E. Reese bases the official all - conference certificates which he issues each year, differs from wire - service and other polls in that no coach is permitted to vote for his own players. For the past several years berths on the basketball Coaches' All - Conference have gone according to total votes, regardless of nominal position assignments on individual teams.

4 Marshall Cagers Hit Double Digits

Final basketball statistics released today by the Marshall College athletic office bore out early-season expectations: No less than four team members finished with scoring averages in two figures.

Cebe Price, South Charleston sophomore, paced the Big Green in compiling its 17-4 season mark, one of the finest in the 20-year Marshall career of retiring coach Cam Henderson. Price made 496 points for a 23.6 per game average.

Charles Slack, Pomeroy, Ohio, junior, whose rebounding average of 25.6 a game was just about — if not THE — best in the nation this year, made 407 points for a 19.4 average.

Paul Underwood, Price's South Charleston classmate, finished with an 18.7 average and Dave Robinson, Wheeling senior, averaged 17.7.

In team scoring, Marshall averaged 87.3, its opponents 71.3.

Flood Puts Student Union Manager Over Hot Griddle

By RICHARD A. KELLY

Marshall Student Journalist

Flood waters didn't reach the Marshall Student Union yesterday, but road blocks caused by the swollen Ohio River left Union Manager Don Morris as his own chief cook and bottle washer.

Filling in for three of his stranded cooks who live outside of Huntington, Mr. Morris turned out 250 hamburgers and 75 pounds of French fries, in addition to juggling his regular managerial duties.

It was the first time in 10 years of managing the Union that Morris has been called on to assume duties of a cook and his only previous experience in that line has been restricted to observing others.

"I won't know how my cooking tasted until tomorrow," Mr. Morris said near the end of his first day on the job, "I haven't had any complaints as yet."

When the water finally subsides Mr. Morris' cooks will report back to duty but until then it means "long days over a hot griddle" for the Union manager.

South Charleston will commute Thursday, Wheeling will stop over night at Point Pleasant and Huntington will stay at home. The Class B school teams will arrive Thursday morning and will be housed at the dormitory from then on.

The following teams will be quartered at the Men's Dorm, Hodges Hall:-

This regulation must be followed strictly because of the necessity for quiet and order for the benefit of the competitors. 3. RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE COACH

Each Coach will be responsible for the conduct and behavior of his players during the tournament. Should there be any damage to the dormitory or to the furniture and fixtures, adjustments for such will be made in the final allowances for the team involved. It is through the courtesy of the permanent dormitory residents who have moved out voluntarily that the rooms are available to the competing teams for the duration of the tournament. Much of their personal property will remain in the rooms and every consideration should be given this property by visiting teams.

In no case will an individual player, coach or team be permitted to make room charges of any kind at the dormitory for extra services such as long distance phone calls. In the event that any such charges are made the school representative will be charged with the expense. (89)

As the teams are eliminated, the dormitory management and the team sponsors will assist in moving such teams to another wing of the dormitory in order that the winning teams may be housed together. This step is taken to protect those desiring quiet and rest for the following games.

4. EXPENSES, ALLOWANCES AND INSTRUCTIONAL MEETINGS.

The Coach and team captain are notified that there will be a meeting of the officials of the tournament at the Prichard Hotel on the mezzanine floor at 10:00 A. M. Thursday morning for the purpose of reviewing all of the instructions and directions for conducting the tournament. The Director, the Board of Appeals, Coaches, Captains, Referees and members of the tournament Staff will participate in this last summary of directions. Decisions regarding color of uniforms will be made.

In advance each Coach will receive from the Director a check for meals at $25.00 per team meal plus an incidental allowance of $25.00. The remainder of the expenses will be forwarded to the High School Principal after the business of the tournament is concluded. In the last check the remainder ($75.00) of the incidental allowance for Class A schools will be included. The Class B schools having one less day at the tournament will receive $50.00 in addition to the initial allowance.

Each team will be allowed 35¢ per round trip-team mile as travel expense figured on State Road Commission mileage from home to the tournament site, to be included in the last check.

The Coach will be responsible for payment of bills incurred at the tournament.

5. MEALS

Marshall College has arranged with the college cafeteria Director, Mrs. Smock to feed all tournament teams. The service and the food are always of the best and we are certain that you will find both to your complete satisfaction. Mrs. Smock will be glad to prepare special menus for you at special hours if you will let her know your wishes as far in advance as possible. Coaches are to make their own meal arrangements with Mrs. Smock in person or through the team sponsor. The Cafeteria is conveniently located adjoining the Hodges Hall.

6. TICKETS

The Team Sponsor has 25 tickets for each school, 14 of which will be Contestants' admissions to the Field House for the squad. He will retain these tickets until the team has been eliminated, after which he will give them to the Coach. The remainder of the tickets are for the use of the Principal or Coach in providing admissions for the cheerleaders, assistant managers, chaperones etc., at their discretion. Your attention is called to the fact that at NO TIME WILL ANYONE BE ADMITTED TO THE FIELDHOUSE WITHOUT A TICKET. When not in competition, the Contestants' tickets will be recognized for the Main Floor-West End bleacher seats which are being held for them without number or section.

7. TEAM SEATING

Each team's bench during the tournament may be occupied only by the 12 players, the Coach, the Student Manager, the Team Sponsor and the Principal or a Trainer certified by the school. The maximum number of persons on each bench will be 16. The Coach will be responsible for the conduct of each person on the bench, subject to the usual rules. Violations will result in penalties by the Referees. The Coach, the Student Manager and the Principal or Trainer will be required to wear an Official Ribbon for identification on the bench. (90)

QUOTES FROM THE COACHES

Anthony Folio, Washington-Irving: "Oh Me," said the coach at the end of the game. "We weren't hitting, they were," he explained. "That's the whole story right there." When asked to compare South Charleston with any teams he's beaten this year, the coach said "We've played teams just as good as they were, I don't know if any of our opponents have been any better or not." Folio was completely quiet throughout the final seconds, except for a loud, "They didn't count that basket," when a goal by his team was ruled no good.

Coach Buck Jamison of South Charleston: "The fast break!! The fast break!! That's what did it," explained the coach in a loud voice. "Fast basketball, the only kind we know how to play. All the boys were terrific, I could hardly ask anything else out of them. When Hawkins sank two foul goals which gave us a 76-70 lead, with less than two minutes to go, I thought we were in. It's easy to see why Washington Irving had such a good year, they're an exceptionally good ball team, with great height."

QUOTES FROM THE COACHES

Coach Stewart Way of Huntington: "They fought their hearts out.

It's a great team, wouldn't you say." "What about Byrd," we asked the happy but calm coach. "As a player, student and gentlemen, he's the best I've ever had. "Cunningham was great filling in for the injured Watson. "They all were great." "Will South Charleston be as tough?" "I haven't given them much thought, I was too worried about this one," he added.

Coach Jerome Van Meter of Beckley: "We lost to a better team. Huntington High's Leo Byrd is the best high school player in West Virginia." Asked to compare Byrd with Dwayne Wingler, Beckley's sharp-shooter who held the tourney record until Byrd broke it, Van Meter replied, "Byrd's much better than Wingler."

Huntington High's Leo Byrd broke 2 records with his 48 point scoring spree against Beckley. Byrd's 48 broke a state tournament record held by Dyawne Wingler. Wingler's record was 44. Byrd's 48 points also established a new scholastic record for Huntington's Memorial Field House. Byrd and Richard "Beanie" Fischer of St. Joe's shared the record with 45.

Estimated attendance at this game: 6,800.

Grafton's Bearcats were awarded 30 feet of congratulations tonight prior to their opening of their first State Tournament game. This was the result of a 30-foot telegram that Grafton fans sent the Bearcats in Huntington before their game against Keyser. (Reporter: Steve Posti)

Quotes From The Coaches

Grafton Coach Randall McKinney : "Well, I don't think either one of us played any basketball at all, at least compared to the other games played here today. Keyser wasn't any better than I figured, but we played worse than I figured. We've played a lot better ball, a lot of times. But, tonight was just one of those games, and that's all there is to it."

Keyser Coach John Shelton: "The only thing good I can say is it's a nice tournament. As far as our game, we were way off and I know Grafton has a better club than they showed. However, we're glad to win although we know it's going to be tougher tomorrow night regardless of who wins the last game. Our game must have been one of the worst in tournament history."

WESTERN UNION REPORT:

The number of words that Western Union is sending out from the tournament to state news media is beginning to pick up, and by late this evening the total should reach an estimated 10,000 words, according to Western Union Manager Roy Fritz.

At last year's tournament at Morgantown, Western Union filed 70,000 words for the three-day event, but the total this year should be considerably less. The reason for this is that last year's largest client, the Associated Press, has its own setup at Huntington's Memorial Field House to cover the present tournament. (106)

At 9 p. m., Western Union had filed 4600 words, but the biggest rush of the evening is yet to come, according to Fritz.

Beckley, South Charleston and Grafton all received telegrams this evening. Each telegram was 25 to 30 feet long and signed by 500 to 600 well wishers listening to the tournament back home. (Reporter: Dick Kelly)

Quotes From The Coaches

Coach Lewis D'Antoni of Mullens: "We've shot a little better before. I'd never seen Wheeling play before, but I don't imagine they played as good as they have. Our play was good; we just didn't hit like we have at times."

Coach Everett Brinkman of Wheeling: "No alibis, they had a better team, perhaps too much experience. However, we played much better ball as our season's record indicates. We didn't last long, but neither did another good team---Washington Irving. I believe Mullens will be the team to beat."

HE SANG THE NATIONAL ANTHEM BEFORE TOURNAMENT CROWDS

A 19-year-old Marshall College student from St. Albans provides the 1955 State Basketball Tournament with its traditional patriotic touch.

Archie Snyder, music-voice major of Marshall's sophomore class, will sing the national anthem at 1 and 7 p. m. today, just as he did on the opening day of the tournament.

Young Snyder is gaining recognition as a soloist with the Men's Concert Choir and Symphonic Choir at Marshall College. He also sings regularly with the choir of Johnson Memorial Methodist Church in Huntington. (110)

It was Professor John W. Creighton of Marshall's music faculty who selected the St. Albans youth to sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Professor Creighton thought a teen-age singer would be appropriate for the state high school basketball tournament. He also recognized that the singer chosen had to be one with a voice quality that would be appreciated by everybody. The thousands who hear Snyder sing at the tournament approve his singing in a manner almost indicative of reverence.

Snyder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Snyder of St. Albans. He had recently graduated from Philippi High School when his family moved to St. Albans a short time ago.

The young singer is a member of Phi Mu ~~Alpha~~ Alpha, a music honorary for college students; the Music Educators Club of Marshall College, and the Junior Music Club of Huntington.

HUNTINGTON ADVERTISER RELEASE

Reporter: Don Hatfield

Huntington high's Leo Byrd, who set a new tournament scoring record here yesterday afternoon, has now scored 809 points in 24 games this year. A check at past box scores revealed that the previously reported total of 816 was seven points too high. His highest output came against Bluefield in the HHS gym when he tallied 56, which, incidentally, is the all-time Huntington city record for a high school player. His lowest total was against Huntington St. Joseph here when he got only 12. However, in that game, both teams tried to see which could "outfreeze" the other. Fact is, Byrd stood and held the ball all of the third quarter and most of the fourth without attempting a shot.

Here is Byrd's scoring per game:

Alumni	31	Williamson	33
Madison	28	St. Joe	12
Columbus	24	Beckley	45
Charleston	31	East	38
Ironton	30	Parkersburg	26
East	31	Stonewall Jackson	32
East Bank	38	Barboursville	36
Mullens	31	Bluefield	56
Ironton	23	Ceredo-Kenova	42 (sec.)
Columbus	21	Barboursville	37 (reg.)
Charleston	38	Logan	45 (reg.)

Quotes From The Coaches

Coach John (Frog) Pinson of Chattaroy: "Ohh, I don't think we played as good as we could've. We played better against Huntington Vinson in the Area tournament. We moved the ball better in that game. Of course, we had our injured boy, John Teeters in today's game. But, I don't think he's regained his confidence in himself since he sprained that ankle."

Coach Jack Adams of Aurora: "We definitely didn't play our usual game. We were standing around too much and not doing anything. Chattaroy has a good team, but I couldn't say they'll go all the way because I haven't seen the other teams play. With this big floor, I could only see what was going on in one half of the court. I couldn't see to the other end."

BRIEF:

Quotes From The Coaches

Frank Rodriguez, coach of Trap Hill: "What hurt us was those five straight fouls late in the game. I think those calls could have gone either way. We've got a better team than they have, I don't care what anybody says. Have we played better ball? Oh, yes, much better. My boys were just tense, nervous. Fairview's got a good team, now, but we just didn't play ball."

Bill Reppert, coach of Fairview: "Sometimes we look like a ball club, other times we don't. We play in spurts. If we do this tomorrow, and Chattaroy is up, we've had it! I believe Retton is the best small player in the tournament. Trap Hill has a fine ball club. They would be rated in the top three in our Mason-Dixon league."

Three-Day Field House Attendance Record Expected

A new three-day attendance record for Huntington's Memorial Field House will be established by Saturday afternoon for the final session of the 1955 State Basketball Tournament, according to Mike Lewis, field house manager. Lewis estimates that tomorrow's turn-out will boost the total attendance for the three days to 30,000.

Yesterday's first session attendance of 7,000 was just under the single-session attendance record of 7,700 for Liberace's appearance at the Field House last fall. Total attendance for both sessions yesterday was 14,000.

The afternoon attendance today has been slack, according to Lewis, but with the South Charleston-Huntington game scheduled tonight it should reach an estimated 13,000 for the day.

The present Field House record for any single event is 21,000, established last year for a four-day running of Holiday On Ice. (Reporter: Dick Kelly)

BRIEFS:

Prior to the end of the first half of the Wheeling-Mullens game last night, Wildcat guard Pete Oliver fired an estimated 45-foot set shot at the basket and with the buzzer sounding the long attempt was made. Oliver's shot was the longest recorded in six games of State Tournament action. Oliver let loose with the shot from a slight angle, 46 inches in the front court.

Fans at the West Virginia State Tournament have been enjoying the organ music of Gene Stephenson prior to the tourney games and during the intermissions. Mr. Stephenson, who has been playing the organ for 15 years, has been literally swamped with requests during the first six games. His selections for the tournament include both popular and semi-classical music. Stephenson is employed at Summer's and Son Music Store in Huntington.

One of the great aids in the Tournament Duplicating Room is Miss Carolyn Warden, member of the Huntington Chamber of Commerce stenographic staff. Miss Warden is the Duplicating Room's chief typist. The pretty 21-year-old stenographer is chiefly responsible for those all-important box scores that must come out just after each game. (Reporter: Steve Posti)

BYRD SHOOTING 46%

Leo Byrd of Huntington who broke the single game scoring mark yesterday afternoon with 48 points is shooting an even 46% for the tournament after the first half of the South Charleston game.

He has now scored 70 points needing only 23 to break Dwayne Wingler's record for the entire tournament.

Byrd scored 16 points in the first frame tonight. He took only two shots in the first six minutes of the second period missing both. He finally fired in his first second quarter goal on a beautiful fake and jump with 1:58 remaining in the half. (Reporter: Bob Friedly)

South Charleston or Huntington could set a new team shooting mark tonight. The Black Eagles of South Charleston made 60% of their tries from the floor. Huntington hit on 55.5%. (Reporter: Bob Friedly)

At 7:45 p.m., 3,600 words had been sent out to various news media by the Western Union, according to Roy Fritz, Western Union Manager.

The total amount for today is expected to reach 9,000, said Fritz. Approximately 1,060 words were sent out yesterday. (Reporter: Bill Keese)

Former Marshall College football great, Frank "Gunner" Gatski was among the thousands watching Friday nights State Tournament action. Gatski is here for tonight's action only and will return home tomorrow. "Gunner" has completed his 9th year with the Cleveland Browns and is looking for his 10th season with the "world champions." Gatski played football at Marshall under Cam Henderson in 1940, '41 and '42. "Gunner" is one of the original Cleveland Browns. (Reporter: Steve Post)

Quotes From The Coaches

Huntington High School Coach Stewart Way: "Heart, that's it! Determination! The boys have a great leader, naturally, in Byrd. But they're great followers. South Charleston was a good team. I think either of us would have given Mullens, if they win tonight, a good game tomorrow. Win or lose tomorrow, my boys have still played great ball. They've had more desire in this state tournament, but I wouldn't say they've : played any better ball other than that. But right now, tomorrow's game is the one we're thinking about."

South Charleston Coach buck Jamison: "We were dead on our feet. Our biggest trouble was we weren't following our shots. We were definitely off. We were capable of playing a much better game. As far as Byrd is concerned, he's the best player in the tournament. He plays harder than any boy I've ever seen. Our first team couldn't stop him, so I put in my second team to help him out. If Mullens wins tonight, the final tomorrow should be a thriller. I refuse to pick the winner. It's a toss-up."

Quotes From The Coaches

Mullens Coach Lewis D'Antoni: "I don't know whether the boys were waiting for tomorrow or not, but they didn't play much basketball tonight. Huntington High will be tough. If we can handle Byrd just a little bit, we will win. I think we can. Byrd is terrific, the best I've seen in my 14 years of coaching. Tomorrow's outcome depends on how we can handle him."

Keyser Coach John Shelton: "I have no comments to make. Mullens is a good team; they'll be hard to beat tomorrow. That's all."

NOTE: The absence of figures after D. Foreman's name in the South Charleston-Huntington box score brings this explanation: Foreman, South Charleston, played for one minute but did not score.

COMMENTS ON THE TOURNAMENT FROM PRESS ROW:

Bill Bibb, sports editor, Wheeling Intelligencer: "The City of Huntington and the folks at Marshall College have done a fine job in their first crack at staging West Virginia's annual schoolboy dribble classic. The red carpet has been rolled out here and everyone has been made to feel at home. Alternating the tournament between Morgantown and Huntington is heartily endorsed by this corner. Huntington has proved it can do the job!"

Harold Effland, associate editor, Preston County Journal: "Everything is fine. The setup couldn't be better."

Tony Constantine, sports editor, Morgantown Post: "Everyone has done a good job. For the first tournament here, everything has been great."

Bob Wills, sports editor, Raleigh Register: "Nice to have it in the southern part of the state. People have done a good job, but believe tournament should be in Morgantown."

C. H. Hardison, managing editor, Welch Daily News: "Have done a good job. From the spectator point the tournament is much better. Good idea to alternate." (134)

Willis Cook, WSAZ-TV: "No comparison of facilities" (between Morgantown and Huntington)

Jim Bobbitt, Western Union: "I have served from one man assignments to political conventions, and this setup ranks with the best of them."

Brief:

Frank Hall of WVIP, Charleston, requests that this announcement be called to your attention: The Barboursville High School faculty and the Barboursville fire department will meet on the basketball floor Friday, March 25, at 8 p. m. There will be a dance after the game.

The little brown burrow that fans saw during the first half of the Fairview-Chattaroy game was not the mascot of any of the competing high schools. He is just a "door prize" that arrived at the Field House during the game. According to Mike Lewis, manager of the Field House, the little burrow will be awarded some youngster during the annual Huntington Home Show which is scheduled to begin on April 25 as a door prize. BRIEFS:

Hungry and thirty basketball fans attending the 42nd annual state basketball tournament in Huntington ate approximately 5000 hot dogs and drank almost 15,000 cups of soda pop, according to Hank Bates, manager of the Field House canteen service. In addition to the hot dogs and pop, 3000 ice cream bars and 2500 boxes of pop corn were sold to fans. 3500 pounds of ice was used to chill the soft drinks that were sold.

Coach's answer to the question: "Considering everything, what do you think of the first tournament to be held in Huntington?"---

Johnny Kirk, head coach, Clendenin High School: "I think they are doing a fine job here on this tournament. I believe you'll find it a much better tournament if it's held each year on an alternating basis."

Quotes From The Coaches

Coach Lewis D'Antoni of Mullens: "This is the greatest thing that ever happened to the team and me. We all said last year when we were defeated in the finals that we would be back this year to win and we did just that. The boys played great. I'm glad we got hot at first since Huntington began hitting at last. Had they been on at the beginning, I would have had to change my defense and that may have given Byrd a break. Like I said last night, if we could handle Byrd just a little bit, we would win and we did. We're all tickled to death."

Coach Stewart Way of Huntington: "Our boys gave it all they had. They played hard all during the tournament and I am proud of them. Mullens has a terrific team. We missed Watson under the boards more than any other time during the tournament. Coming this far I'd like to have gone all the way. But we got too far behind."

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.---(Special)---The Marshall College Symphonetic Choir has accepted an invitation to appear in concert at the Music Educators National Conference at New Orleans, La., March 24-29, according to Dr. C. L. Kingsbury, head of the department of music at Marshall College, West Virginia's second largest institution of higher learning. 144

The choir, directed by Professor R. Wayne Hugoboom, has been chosen by music educators as one of the outstanding college choirs in the southern states.

The choir will appear in formal concert at the conference Monday, March 28, for the division of higher education to perform and illustrate choral selections for the college level. Professor Hogoboom will lead the discussion at this general session on the subject, "Criteria for Choosing and Performing Choral Works at the College Level."

Professor Hogoboom will use the choir to illustrate performance possibilities for smaller or unbalanced units, and the changing of parts necessitated under actual teaching conditions in various schools.

(Marshall College Symphonc Choir---2)

Dr. Kingsbury said this will be the first attempt "to attack and solve realistically the ever-present problem of many choral directors in the conference."

Before the concert, the choir will have a two-hour rehearsal period on Saturday and Sunday afternoons which will be observed by other students and faculty members. "This will give them a chance," said Dr. Kingsbury, "to follow the building of a heterogeneous group into a choral unit in two rehearsal periods."

For its formal concert on Monday, the Symphonic Choir will present a compact program which will include two selections written especially for this group. The two selections are "The Hollow Men," by Erickson and "Psalm 150" by Newbury, both of which will be presented for the first time. Other selections will include: "Let Thy Holy Presence," by Tschesnokov; "O Magnum Mysterium," Victoryia; "Trois Chansons (in French), Debussy, and "Es Hat Sich Heut' Eroffnet," an Austrian Carol.

Professor Hugoboom has been chosen as director of a two-day reading clinic for "MENC," a national group of students members attending the conference. About 150 student members are enrolled in the chorus. The Marshall College Symphonic Choir will assist in the clinic as participants and as a demonstration group for a final performance of some of the works to be rehearsed.

The Marshall College Symphonic Choir will also appear in concert while en route to New Orleans, with concerts scheduled at Chattanooga, Tenn., Vicksburg, Miss., and in New Orleans on Sunday evening.

The choir will return to Huntington, West Virginia, immediately following the Monday performance.

The Symphonic Choir was organized in 1950. It shares touring honors with Marshall's Men's Concert Choir, each group touring a part of West Virginia each season. 146

In 1951, the Symphonic Choir appeared at the MENC convention in Richmond, Va., and in 1953 it was invited to represent American college choirs at the first first International Music Educators Conference at Brussels, Belgium.

Choir members are pred^{omin}~~omin~~antly music majors, but many members are majors in other departments of Marshall College.

Beckley Gunning For Fifth In Row

By FRED BURNS
Herald-Dispatch Sports Editor

The sport which annually draws the largest number of spectators will pull some 7,000 fans into Huntington's Memorial Field House this afternoon for the opening session of the West Virginia Scholastic Basketball Tournament.

It will be the forty-second annual state cage classic but the first time it has ever been held in Huntington. From 1914 to 1939 it was at Buckhannon and since has been held in Morgantown.

Under the sponsorship of Marshall College, the tournament will be directed by Bob Morris, Marshall athletic director, and the affair will be supervised by the Board of Appeals of which Jonathan Y. Lowe, Milton High School principal, is president.

Woodrow Wilson High School of Beckley has won the last four state basketball championships and is back again for the fifth straight time. If the Flying Eagles succeed this time they will tie a national record held by Henry Clay High School of Lexington, Ky.

With Beckley in the field of eight Class A teams and four Class B teams are, Huntington's Pony Express, Washington Irving of Clarksburg, South Charleston, Grafton, Keyser, Wheeling and Mullens in Class A and Chattaroy, Aurora, Fairview and Trap Hill in Class B.

The eight Class A teams will all be in action today, with Washington Irving and South Charleston opening the play at 1 P. M. this afternoon. Immediately following, Huntington will face the defending champions, Beckley.

There will be two games at tonight's session, starting at 7 P. M. Grafton faces Keyser in the first game tonight and Wheeling will meet Mullens in the second game. Two games will also be played

State Tourney Sidebars 'First Lady' Has Name Changed By Dr. Smith

By BOB RINE

Yesterday's first session of the tournament opened impressively with a prayer by Dr. Arthur E. Beckett, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and the singing of the National Anthem to organ accompaniment. Archie Snyder, a student at Marshall was the vocalist, and Gene Stephenson was the organist.

Mrs. A. A. Rohrbough of Camden in Lewis county, who has not missed a game of the tourney in its 42-year history, was presented with a bouquet of red roses between games of the afternoon session, as she has been for the last 20 years.

The cheering sections which mustered the most decibels yesterday were Clarksburg and Beckley. Ironically, both teams lost. Several Clarksburg girls cried when their team lost the first game.

There appeared to be only about 100 vacant seats at the afternoon games. Both games turned out to be thrillers, and the fact that Huntington won its game should insure a sellout for tonight's semifinals.

Field House Manager Mike Lewis and his aides outdid themselves in providing a "Hospitality Room" for visiting press and radio men. They also set out an elaborate buffet at 5 P. M.

Marvin "Buck" Bolyard of Class B Aurora, who played today, scored 758 points during the season for an average of 30.3. This is an excellent average under normal circumstances, but is even more remarkable when you consider that the Preston county lad has only one eye.

The rivalry between Huntington high and East didn't exist yesterday. Johnny Frye, East star, was rooting hard for Huntington's Leo Byrd and his mates to defeat Beckley. Which they did.

Choir Still Short Of Tour's Financial Goal

With the date of departure set for next Thursday, the Marshall College Symphonic Choir announced plans for the final drives to raise a balance of $250 to put their fund drive over the top. They will appear in a special half-hour broadcast over WSAZ-TV at 3 P. M. today, singing selections from their tour program in order to acquaint people in the Tri-State area of their projected trip and need for support. Since direct appeals for aid cannot be presented during the broadcast, the choir will present its final Benefit Concert at 4:30 P. M. at the First Methodist church on 5th avenue between 11th and 12th streets and the public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

In their program at the church, the Choir will present the selections to be sung at New Orleans, two of which were written for the Marshall Choir by Margaret Erickson of Scottville, Mich., and Kent A. Newberry of Chicago. They will be interspersed with other selections from the choir's tour program. In the evening the choir plans to serenade Laidley, Hodges and College Halls on the campus as their final "Penny Serenades" which have helped to raise funds for the trip.

The choir during the past few months have sung for all groups who are helping them on their tour and have taken engagements to be fulfilled on their return from New Orleans either to complete the present budget or to replenish the regular tour fund for state tours. Excellent support and backing both from the students, the Student Government, the fraternities and sororities, the local churches and Service Clubs has helped the choir to raise almost enough and it is hoped that the final drive over the week end will enable the group to make the trip without too much discomfort.

The program to be presented by the Symphonic Choir on WSAZ-TV follows:

"Alleluia" ----- Randall Thompson
 "O Magnum Mysterium" ----- Victoria
 Beseda, Czech Folk Songs ----- arr Hugoboom
 Dieu, qu'il la fait bon regarder ----- Debussy
 Es hat sich Heut' eroffnet Austrian Carol
 Selections from "Oklahoma" .. Rogers-Ham'rstein
 Nutcracker Suite ----- Tschalkowsky

Prof Hugoboom received the following letter of commendation from Congressman Burnside concerning the tour:

Dear Professor Hugoboom,

After many years of association with the late Dr. Miller and many seasons of enjoyment of his musical accomplishments there at Marshall, I must extend my congratulations on your good work there.

The signal honor in being invited to appear at the Music Educators' National Conference at New Orleans is testimony of your success. Your contribution to these young men and women of music is invaluable.

Congratulations and best wishes for your continuing success.

Sincerely yours,

Signed:

This is one piece of Memorial Field House equipment which will get a lot of attention for the next three days as the 42nd annual State High School Basketball Tournament is played. It's the $2,000 electric scoreboard clock and for details on its innards, see story below.

Field House Electric Scoreboard Sure To Catch Every Fan's Eye

By RICHARD A. KELLY

One thing at the state high school basketball tournament that is sure to catch every eye in Memorial Field House is the big combination scoreboard and timer. You may not be able to "tell the players without a program," but you won't have to worry about the official game time or score when it goes into action.

The mechanical wizard is suspended directly over the center of the playing floor where it's easily visible from every angle. It gives a reading on the score, the quarter, the teams in action, and the minutes and seconds left to play for each game.

A box like affair, the scoreboard is designed to eliminate neck craning and eye strain, and its bright, red lights flash quadruplicate scorings on all four sides the instant they become official.

It takes two men to operate the $2,000 mechanism, a timekeeper and a scorer, and for the past three years Rex Baumgardner and John Dickey have done it faithfully for all high school and Marshall College games. They will be on duty as usual for the state tournament.

Baumgardner and Dickey manipulate the scoreboard through two control boxes located at the timekeeper's table on the south side of the playing floor. Each control box has four switches which handle impulses from 26 different scoreboard wires.

The interior mechanism of the board contains a synchronous clock operated by a 110-volt motor. Attached to the clock is a rotating cam that trips a micro-switch with every one-second revolution, and the switch, in turn, lights up the results on the face of the scoreboard.

Hank Bates, maintenance chief of the field house, has been doing maintenance on the scoreboard since it was first installed in the field house five years ago.

"The amazing thing about the scoreboard that most people don't realize", Hank said, "is that it has one master side and three dummy sides. When a signal is sent to the switches on the master side, it automatically sets off the lights on the other three."

The scoreboard weighs 600 pounds and measures five feet by six feet. It contains 1,108 light bulbs and in the past five years only about one-third of them have needed to be replaced.

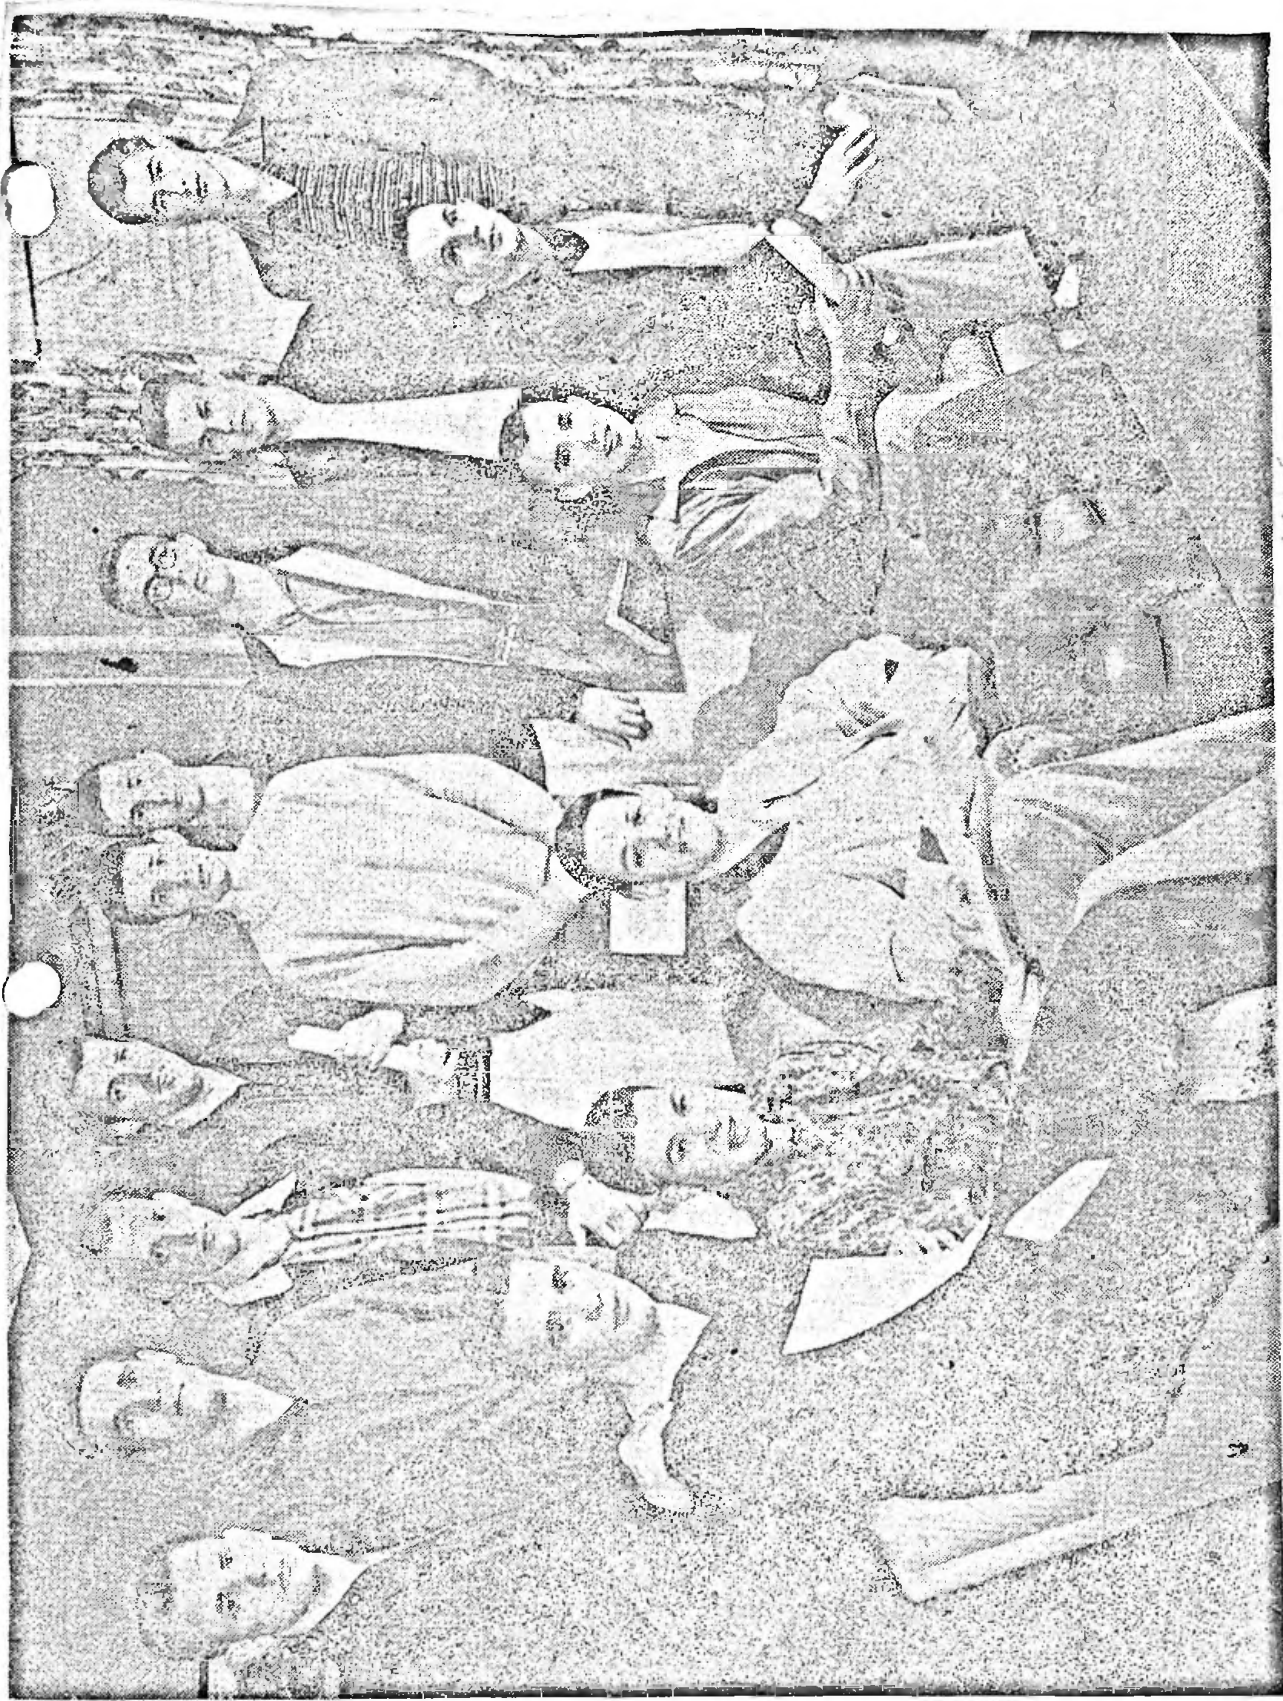

Sometimes when the scoreboard's two fuses blow out, it causes a delay in the game. Ordinarily, any replacement of the fuses would have to wait until half-time or after the game is over. But for the tourney, Bates took the cable out of the scoreboard and ran it through a fuse box on the side of the floor where they can be replaced immediately.

The scoreboard has worked like a charm this year, according to Bates. For the recent Golden Gloves matches, it was used as the official timer from 7 P. M. to 1 A. M. five days in succession without a single hitch. It was also used for the state Catholic tournament this month and again no difficulties were encountered.

'Home Away From Home' Air Marks Typical Sorority House

By JO ANN HERRING

Photographs by Toby Massey

"What's for dinner, Bom?"

That's a familiar question when the members of the "family" residing at 1640 Fifth Avenue start arriving home from school — and just like any "mother", Bom will know the answer.

The "family" consists of the 20 members of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority residing at the sorority house. The "mother" is housemother Mrs. Opal Adams, affectionately known as "Bom".

A 13-room buff-colored brick house on the order of colonial-style architecture is "home" to the sorority, which, incidentally, is the oldest one on the Marshall campus.

The atmosphere it generates is typical of the six Marshall College sorority houses. All are run as much as possible on a home-like pattern, at the same time observing college rules.

Living in a sorority house, the girls share a close community of interests in all areas of campus life.

One of the most important elements in keeping a sorority house running smoothly is having a good housemother. She's "the boss" of the household, and it's her responsibility to see that the life in the house conforms to college regulations.

But a successful housemother is much more than that—usually she is the good friend of her "girls", someone to whom they can turn with both their problems and triumphs. She must play a dual role, however — stern disciplinarian if necessary, but preferably friend and confidant.

Though this is Mrs. Adams' first year as housemother at Tri-Sigma, her twenty girls are devoted to "Bom". The unusual nickname originated when the girls found out that Mrs. Adams' small grandson makes that substitution for "Mom."

"Sorority sisters" is a term used by all sororities, and it is not an idle name. For that is the feeling the girls have for each other. They live as a family, in a "home away from home."

Memorial Field House Gets First Lady's Okeh

By RICHARD A. KELLY

For the 42nd consecutive year, Mrs. A. A. Rohrbough of Camden, Lewis County, sat among the cheering crowds at the state high school basketball tournament yesterday at the first round games at Memorial field house.

There were many veteran tournament goers scattered throughout the crowd of 6,600 but Mrs. Rohrbough was the only one who has "seen them" all, since they began at Bluefield in 1914.

After being honored with a bouquet of 18 red roses during the opening - day floor ceremony, the tournament's First Lady took, as usual, her seat of honor on the front row beside her son, John.

"I love to watch the games," she said, her face beaming with contentment. "I'm enjoying myself so much."

Mrs. Rohrbough expressed her disappointment concerning Washington - Irving's loss to South Charleston in the opening game because the team from neighboring Clarksburg was her regional representative. "But," she said, "I'm always glad to see the best team win."

And as to Beckley's loss in the second afternoon game, "I think it's about time. They have had the championship for four years and I'm happy to see another team have a chance to win it this year."

Mrs. Rohrbough arrived in Huntington Wednesday afternoon with her son, John, and has been stay-

The city of Huntington has changed quite a bit in the past 15 years, according to Mrs. Rohrbough, since her last visit here in 1940. She also said she was well pleased with Memorial Field house and of what she has already seen of this year's tournament.

Mrs. Rohrbough wasn't sure whether she would be on hand for the final session tomorrow afternoon, because she is expecting a brief visit from another son, Dr. A. F. (Nate) Rohrbough of Hampton, Virginia, at her home this week end. She plans to attend both sessions today.

The 42nd annual tournament will be history after tomorrow night but there will be another one next year and 89 year - old Mrs. Rohrbough plans to attend it too. "I feel fine", she said, "and I'll be at the tournament next year if I possibly can."

The choir will arrive in New Orleans Friday evening after a two-day bus trip. Because of the tiring trip south, the choir canceled scheduled concert appearances in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Vicksburg, Miss.

Concert Set For Monday

Selected as one of the outstanding representative college choirs in the southern district, the Symphonic Choir will appear in formal concert Monday, March 28, at 10 A. M. It will illustrate and perform choral selections for the college level.

Professor Hugoboom will lead a discussion at the general session in "Criteria for Choosing and Performing Choral Works at the College Level." He has also been chosen as director of a two-day reading clinic for college MENC student members attending the conference, with the choir assisting as a demonstration group.

For their formal concert Monday, the Symphonic Choir will do: "Let Thy Holy Presence," Tshesnokov; "O Magnum Mysterium," Victoria; "The Hollow Men," Erickson; "Es hat sich Heut' eroffnet," Austrian carol; and "Psalm 150," Newburg.

The choir is composed of 40 members with a majority of them representing Greek, independent, honorary, and scholastic organizations.

Last year the Symphonic Choir was asked to represent American college choirs at the first international MENC at Brussels, Belgium, but due to lack of funds had to refuse the invitation.

Marshall Track Team Prepares Full Slate

Marshall College's track team, now in its third week of practice, is preparing for its first schedule in two years, as four meets have already been slated.

Last season, the Big Green runners competed in only one meet, the Gazette Relays in Charleston. They finished second in the open class there.

Besides the four meets set, track coach Dan Wickline and physical education director Otto (Swede) Gullickson, drilling the tracksters in Wickline's absence, are working on two more meet entries. Wickline is currently serving as assistant coach for spring football sessions.

Already on the schedule are University of Kentucky frosh, April 16, at Lexington; triangular meet, including Marshall, Morehead and Louisville, at Louisville, Ky. April 23; The Gazette Relays in Charleston April 30; and the Mid-American Conference Meet in Athens, O., May 21, 22.

Including freshmen, 30 men are working out daily. Fifteen more are expected at the close of spring football season. Of these 45, only four are returnees from last year's team — Jim Smith, Don Adkins, Fred Pyles and Ozzie Lambert.

The freshmen now drilling will be eligible only for the U. K. meet and the Gazette Relays.

College Club To Give Style Show For Tournament Guests Tomorrow

By RICHARD A. KELLY
Marshall Student Journalist

While the men are talking about the fast break and dazzling one-handed hook shots at the state basketball tournament, the women will have an opportunity to view the latest in Spring fashions at the President's Coffee Hour and Style Show on the Marshall Campus tomorrow at 11 A. M.

Sponsored by the Mars Club and The Marshall Home Economics department, the style show will be presented in the North Parlor of Old Main for coaches' wives, parents and interested students.

Eighteen girls from the Mars

Club, composed of advertising and retailing majors, will model "the latest" in Spring fashions from 14 of Huntington's leading merchants.

The modeling will be done on an informal basis similar to that found in leading dress salons. After a brief introduction by the narrator, the girls will pass through the audience and answer any questions from guests concerning the clothes.

Daytime, sports and evening wear will be modeled as a sort of sneak preview of the annual Mars Club style show to be held on campus March 21.

"Some pretty advance styling will be modeled", said Miss Nancy R. Hess, Mars Club faculty advisor in charge of the show. "High school girls and their parents should be particularly interested as many of the styles will be worn on campus next Fall".

As the style show is to be held in connection with the President's Coffee Hour, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart H. Smith will be on hand to receive guests. Five girls from the Home Economics Department, headed by Mrs. C. A. Rouse, will handle table decorations and serving of guests.

The entire production is under the direction of Emerson Buckley, musical director of the Mutual Network.

LILLIAN MURPHY, discovered in her native Kansas City by talent scouts for James Melton's "Harvest of Stars", has since appeared in the Hammerstein-Kern "Music in the Air", in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas and on various radio programs.

Miss Leslie, winner in 1950 of the Voices of Tomorrow contest sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, has appeared with the Philadelphia Summer Symphony, the Philadelphia La Scala and Civic Grand Opera Companies, and in many concert and oratorio programs.

Mr. Darwin attended the Eastman and Juilliard Schools of Music, understudied for "The Great Waltz" and made his debut as a baritone at the Metropolitan Opera with Helen Traubel. During the war and after, he became famous in Europe and America as "The Singing Sergeant", appearing as soloist and emcee with the Army Air Force Band.

Mr. Rounseville, who serves as host for the festival, made opera history by starring in three world premieres in a single year; the British film, "Tales of Hoffmann", "The Rake's Progress", in Venice, for which he was chosen by the composer Igor Stravinsky, and "The Dybbuk" at the New York City Center. To television audiences he is known for his performance opposite Gladys Swarthout in "Carmen", over CBS, and for guest appearances on The Voice of Firestone, Your Show of Shows and the Jackie Gleason show.

THE CHORAL ensemble is composed of singers of solo calibre especially selected and trained by Emerson Buckley for "Immortal Musicals." Many have appeared in Broadway shows and other top choral groups.

(Marshall Clinic---1)

Nine months of medical care for $5? Impossible many people would say. Yet, for $2.50 per semester Marshall College students receive immunizations, medications, x-rays, heat therapy and other medical benefits through the services of the college clinic.

Approximately $2.50 is taken out of each students tuition to pay for the maintenance of the medical dispensary at Elm Street and Fifth Avenue. (2/9)

The Clinic is under the supervision of Doctor ~~DAVID S.~~ ^{Sheffer} Clarke who was appointed in 1954. Dr. Clarke who received his medical degree from the medical college of Virginia is in the clinic six days a week from 9 A. M. to 12 noon and is available for emergencies and house calls after regular hours.

"We normally don't have too many house calls", said Dr. Clarke, "As we are dealing with a very healthy group of individuals." When emergencies do arise however the doctor is on the scene to make a diagnosis and prescribe treatment, be it bed rest, an aspirin, or a trip to a local hospital for surgery.

Dr. Clarke is aided at the Clinic by Mrs. S. T. Lambert, registered nurse, and James Cyrus, Barboursville sophomore, a pre-med student. Mrs. Lambert assists the doctor in giving medications, examinations, injections and in other phases of clinical procedure. Cyrus handles the clerical work and is responsible for the taking and developing of X-Ray photographs.

(Marshall Clinic---2)

In a typical month the doctor and his staff will treat an average of between 300 and 400 students. Usually most patients can be treated with the facilities the dispensary has to offer, but occasionally the patient will be sent to either a specialist or a local hospital for more advanced therapy.

At the beginning of each semester the clinic conducts physical examinations for incoming freshmen and transfer students. According to Dr. Clark, the clinic gave 685 physicals in September and 300 in October this year. 211

Complete records are kept on physicals and treatments given students during their college lives, thus giving the doctor a ready reference file on the physical condition of his patients.

The clinic is responsible for the immunization of 228 R. O. T. C. students who receive shots periodically throughout the school year. According to Doctor Clark, this task is planned and scheduled in advance to eliminate waiting in line, the chief complaint of R. O. T. C. members in former years.

Although the clinic is not equipped to handle the surgical ailments of the student body it can and does administer to everyday medical needs of the student.
