Dear West Virginia Clubwomen:

As you read this the trees will be in their full autumn glory. I hope you have gotten off to a good start in your club work and that you will be really ready to accomplish many things during this administration. There is so much to be done that I'm sure that we are not always certain of the best place to start. The important thing is to start and then keep going. We will have some new and interesting programs this year with lots of new ideas coming from Department, Division and Committee Chairmen---both General Federation and West Virginia Federation. By now each club should have the new Directory and you will be able to see for yourselves what we hope to do. Along with the regular programs with which we are familiar, you will find several new ones. There will be something for everyone. We all realize that not everyone is interested in the same things so we have "Unity in Diversity". One new program is my own special project of preventing drug abuse. Every day we can read items in the newspapers that point out to us the need of such a program. Let us remember that people of all ages get involved with drugs in one way or another. We need to get ourselves involved with our youth so that they will know that we believe in them and have faith in them. The youth is not all bad any more than adults are all good. Think about it!

As I write this I am making plans to attend the eight District Conventions. I hope to see you there. I also hope to have some information and some inspiration for all of you as I give my message. I feel proud to have been chosen as your President and I thank you for that honor. I am trying to do my job well. I need your help before we can accomplish anything but together we can accomplish much. We will want to keep Mrs. Haugan's theme, "respect, Reverence, Responsibility", in mind as we go about our tasks. I will repeat that there is much to be done. We must not and can not wait until tomorrow to begin for "The Time Is Now".

Sincerely,

Billy

GFWC President, Mrs. Kermit N. Haugan and WVFWC President, Mrs. William R. Ross are happy and eager to begin their administrations. Mrs. Haugan's theme is a version of the 3R's - "Respect, Reverence, and Responsibility." The theme chosen by Mrs. Ross is "The Time is Now."

Many excellent speakers appeared on the convention program. Some were: Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale; the Honorable Walter J. Hickel, former Secretary of the U. S. Department of the Interior; Ambassador to the United Nations — George Bush; Clifford L. Dochterman, Director of Public Relations for the Education Commission of the States; Julie Nixon Eisenhower; and participating in a panel, "The Environment — Where Do We Go From Here?" — Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs; Dr. Richard L. Kenyon, Director of Public Affairs, American Chemical Society; Carl A. accepting for the clubs. This makes the fourth time West Virginia has had a national winner in the program which began in 1955 to stimulate clubwomen to develop and complete important community self-help projects.

Many other awards were won by West Virginia, including a tie with Colorado for the largest number of entries in the Clean Air Now Program, a Membership Award, first place in Epsilon Sigma Omicron (reading program), a second place award of $300.00 to the Woman's Club of Charleston and its Junior Department in the Brighten the Night program. The West Virginia Junior Women's Clubs won top honors in both of their national projects — National Association of Retarded Children and Project Concern, with Mrs. Daniel Warren of Beckley, outgoing director, accepting these awards. West Virginia Juniors won awards in the Fine Arts Department, Creative Expression Division, division awards in Public Affairs and in Religion and Ethics, and a special citation for the Juniette Clubs program.

A special event for the 28 West Virginia delegates was a dinner party for the group from our state on Thursday, June 8. West Virginia delegates also enjoyed the Southeastern Council Dinner. Mrs. Delmas Miller of Morgantown not only presided as president but made an excellent talk to delegates from the ten southeastern states and Puerto Rico.

Miller as she assumed the office of First Vice President, GFWC, as West Virginia's candidate with a bouquet of roses during the installation service on Friday night. This of course was the BIG HIGHLIGHT of the whole convention for our West Virginia delegation! Mrs. William H. Hasebrook, Honorary President, was the installing officer. Following the Inaugural Address of Mrs. Kermit V. Haugan, the convention adjourned, to meet in 1973 in Baltimore, Maryland.

MEET YOUR CHAIRMEN

THE ARTS DEPARTMENT

Mrs. William G. Farmar,
Chairman

Planning the work in this department for 1972-1974 should be an exciting adventure for all of us. It should be the responsibility of every local Federated Club to involve its membership in some phase of the Arts. The local chairman and her committee need to be creative in their planning relative to programs and projects. In a broad sense Art is an appreciation of the beauty which surrounds us whether it is found in an art gallery, a concert hall, a snowflake, a cobweb or a rose garden. Our aim should be to learn to search for forms of Art in our daily life. Whether it be sponsoring a contest of fashions for the handicapped, setting up an exhibit, presenting a neighborhood musical in an unlikely site such as a parking lot, playground, or a city park, encouraging young artists by awarding scholarships, or holding craft classes, the major accomplishment for these next two years will be to develop in all club members an appreciation for Art in some form. We need to be aware of our country's contributions to all forms of Art by learning about American history, literature, architecture and music. Learn to appreciate what has been done in the past but also remember that what we as club women contribute today will become tomorrow's heritage.

CULTURAL HERITAGE DIVISION

Mrs. Morris A. Stamm,
Chairman

The Cultural Heritage Division will seek to make each club aware of the diversity of our American culture and to encourage clubs to learn how different ethnic and racial groups have contributed to our heritage. It is hoped that in some small way we may help to preserve some of the unique customs and traditions of each group.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT

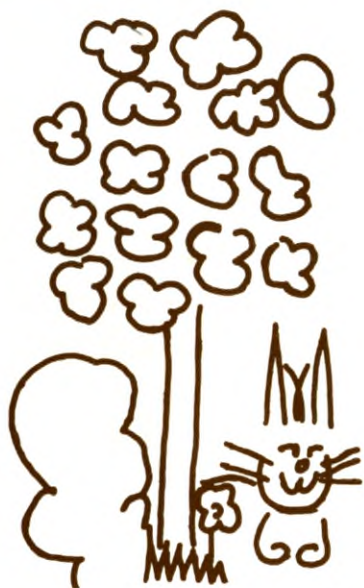

Mrs. Donald T. Harvey,
Chairman

Respect for our natural resources and Reverence for others is our Responsibility in managing our natural resources for our well-being and that of future generations.

In this department, we will concentrate on the above three R's in meeting our goals.

Goals

- A Conservation Club in every high school in West Virginia where there is a federated club.
- Every federated club sponsoring a youth group in the West Virginia Youth Conservation Program co-sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources and The Sears-Roebuck Foundation.
- Every club entering the GFWC/Shell Oil Company Environmental Conservation Program.

Look around your community . . . find your conservation NEEDS . . . involve youth and adults in solving the problems, and you will be able to achieve the three R's of Respect, Reverence, and Responsibility for your environment.

ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

Mrs. Robert Nuzum,
Chairman

There is so much that needs done that it is virtually impossible to tackle all the problems in one year. Make an effort to select the most immediate needs of your particular area. We ARE responsible for our environment and we must assume this responsibility as individuals and as a society. The problems we now face stem mainly from poor planning in the past. As we attempt to clean our land, air, and water, we must plan for the conservation of all our resources, both new and reusable. Set a good example. Make responsibility the "in" thing this year.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Miss Betty Jane Wade,
Chairman

"The Time Is Now" for all clubwomen to assume active responsible leadership for education.

Through the divisions of the Education Department, you have great opportunities to participate in the education of persons of all ages. Help inform others through COMMUNICATIONS. Enlighten your own members through CONTINUING EDUCATION AND ESO, and help enlighten others through support of LIBRARIES. Make your club stronger through LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT of your members in order that it can become a vital force in your community. Strive for quality education for all through PUBLIC EDUCATION. Help persons obtain job training through SCHOLARSHIPS AND STUDENT AID.

And while assuming your responsibility for education, inspire respect and reverence for the privileges of education.

Let's have action for EDUCATION! NOW!

COMMUNICATIONS DIVISION

Mrs. Don F. Riggle,
Chairman

"NO PRESS BOOK COMPETITION" is the story for this year. Press books are being taken out of competition. This does not mean you should not keep a press and scrap book combination for your club as this is necessary to keep a story of your year's work for future reference. These books may be brought to Convention for display only. See the instructions in the Communications Division report concerning the Traveling Silver Bowls previously given under the Press and Publicity Division.

SCHOLARSHIP AND STUDENT AID DIVISION

Mrs. Charles Henry,
Chairman

This is one of the areas of special concentration during GFWC President Mrs. Haugan's administration. Therefore, clubs are urged to engage in a total program aiding financially and in other ways kindergarten through twelfth grade students and other persons, including club members, who need assistance.

Emphasis is placed on offering help to students desiring vocational/technical training. Clubs can promote training centers.

Cooperation with guidance counselors, involvement of other organizations, sponsorship of classes for public personnel, use of pertinent films and speakers may be considered.

Girls needing assistance for advanced schooling may be referred to the WVFWC Scholarship Loan Board.

HOME LIFE DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Daniel H. Warren,
Chairman

Let's make home life — the center of Everyone's life — a CHALLENGE! Our projects should be creative, dealing with problems of the 1970's — the generation gap, the menace of drug abuse, coping with the budget-hazards in the marketplace, and plans for as well as enjoyment of true golden years following retirement. We can lead the way for Respect, Reverence, Responsibility, and Love in the home. With food baskets for the needy and surface charity projects, we've missed the point and so much fun! Let's get busy on every level of the community, especially with the STATE OF THE FAMILY and the BUSINESS FOR BEAUTY PROGRAM to make the influence of the modern home a moving force.

WEST VIRGINIA CLUBWOMAN
THE TIME IS NOW!

SPIRITUAL VALUES AND ETHICS DIVISION

Mrs. Howard S. Meadows,
Chairman

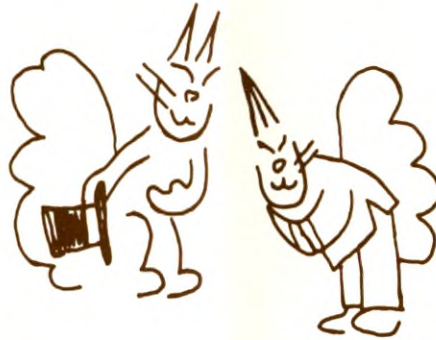

God is at work in His world in a variety of wonderful ways today. The

FALL, 1972

SPIRITUAL VALUES AND ETHICS DIVISION challenges clubwomen to seek out these ways and to deepen not only their own spiritual lives but those of their communities. "Ethics" is simply the Golden Rule of "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Others Do Unto You," and we must act accordingly, in love. Clubwomen are urged to memorize, individually, The Club Collect, using it in the way it was intended — as a prayer for daily living. We must never forget the new Three R's . . . RESPECT for those of other faiths and origins . . . REVERENCE for the abundant life . . . and a RESPONSIBILITY for those who need us.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Robert H. Frilen,
Chairman

Please appoint an International Affairs Chairman for your club as soon as possible.

Goals:

- To provide aide through CARE to African countries requesting it with the emphasis on rural development as a first step toward national self support. $1,300.00 goal for West Virginia for next two years.
- Understand that international policy is a constantly changing matter that should receive the attention of all. Foreign policy has a wide variety of facets that are intertwined with domestic policies as well.
- Respect the human dignity of those with thinking unlike our own. Hold with Reverence those principles for which the United Nations was founded. Accept our Responsibility to strengthen the United Nations through study and understanding.

UNITED NATIONS DIVISION

Mrs. Eugene Chandler,
Chairman

The outline of work for the United Nations Division calls for various programs on a people to people basis. Any program for better human environment is a UN report. Concerned West Virginia Clubmembers will observe International World Day for Peace. They must decide what they can do to help POWS/MIA's. Don't let West Virginia be MIA (Missing

Mrs. Jack H. Vital, Jr.,
Chairman

The goal of the Public Affairs Department for the next two years will be to work hand in hand with others in your community to assist in solving some of the pressing problems that come under public affairs. Special efforts should be made to form new partnerships between the volunteer and the professional to achieve desired ends. Become involved in community problems and issues by volunteering your help — it will be appreciated and much can be accomplished. The eight Divisions under Public Affairs are: American Heritage and Citizenship, American Indian, Crime Prevention and Law Observance, Justice Rehabilitation, and Corrections, the Emerging Woman, Veterans and Returnees and Community Improvement and Safety.

THE EMERGING WOMAN DIVISION

Miss Dolores I. Dowling,
Chairman

THE EMERGING WOMAN IS A NEW PROGRAM OF THE GFWC AND WVFWC. Work plans will be published in Directory. We are to: Work to elect at least one woman Senator or Congresswoman and help them campaign in all ways that we can; help qualified women attain appointive or volunteer roles in government, industry and the professions; study property rights of married women; work to eradicate discrimination against women in government, business, industry and professions; work to equalize Social Security benefits; study child support laws; elect qualified women to local school boards; work toward appointment of a qualified woman as Justice of the Supreme Court and urge WOMEN TO VOTE!

THE RETURNEE AND VETERANS DIVISION

Mrs. Henry Bassel, Jr.,
Chairman

As a part of the GFWC we are one of the national organizations participating in a continuing program known as the VETERANS ADMINISTRATION VOLUNTARY SERVICE. All Clubs should be involved in this program.

Our goal is to welcome home the returnee by accepting responsibility in assisting the veteran (both young and old) to return to the main stream of community life.

We urge you to volunteer your services . . . "to truly envision the vista of service to veterans and in reality to mankind which lies before us in this chronology of time."

JUSTICE, REHABILITATION AND CORRECTIONS DIVISION

Mrs. Jack H. Vital, Jr.,
Chairman

To see that true justice is maintained in our courts and improved methods of correction enforced is the goal of this Division for the next two years. It is hoped that clubwomen will become involved in the systems of Justice, Rehabilitation and Corrections by volunteering their services to institutions, both mental and correctional, to local courts and to halfway houses. Involvement can begin with a study program concerning justice and corrections in your community and creating public awareness of areas of needed change.

COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT DIVISION

Mrs. Fred Wilmoth,
Chairman

The Community Improvement Program is a two-year program and the first year will deal with training and making the entry. Special emphasis is being placed on training and to aid this Sears has increased the grant for State Seminars. Tentative plans call for three regional Seminars to be held in West Virginia this fall. Details will be sent to club Presidents later as to dates, etc.

Complete information and instructions about the program will be in the 1972-74 Guide Book which will be mailed along with the Official entry forms to the Club Presidents from the GFWC office in Washington, D.C.

SAFETY DIVISION

Mrs. W. D. Roll,
Chairman

The work of the Safety Division will center in this administration on the new traffic control devices, some of which will go into effect this year.

We will also be working on both home and recreation safety. While the figures for traffic accidents are very high, home accident statistics are even higher.

Let us work together and expand every effort to insure an active safety program.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

DRUG ABUSE COMMITTEE

Mrs. William Watkins, Chairman

In a film shown in our area recently, Art Linkletter said, "The drug abuse problem is on your doorstep. . ." And so it is, no matter where we live or what our circumstances, we must face the fact that drug abuse is all around us. What can we do about it?

First, educate ourselves — find out what to look for; what drugs can do; etc.

Second, educate the community — adults and youth by using films, programs, panels, pamphlets, publicity.

Third, work for legislation for adequate funding for treatment and rehabilitation facilities for drug abusers.

Fourth, once such facilities are established, assist as we do other hospitals or institutions — volunteer work, supplies, entertainment, furnishings to add homey atmosphere.

The "Time is Now" to do something about the drug problem.

ADULT EDUCATION INSTITUTE

Mrs. Bond Weber

Our Clubwoman editor asked that a summary of the Education Institute be sent to her for the next issue of the magazine. Since I was completely involved in planning the program and seeing that it moved along, I felt a summary should come from one of our participating clubwomen. True to the tradition of great clubwomen, Mrs. Bond Weber of Charleston performed this task and her summary follows. She said she enjoyed writing it and I know you will enjoy reading it. Before you begin, however, may I express my sincere thanks to all those who came, to everyone who helped with the program and other activities, and especially to Betty Weber. The participation of everyone made it a success.

Burley Miller,
Chairman

The sixteenth Annual Adult Education Institute, sponsored by the West Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, was held at the Towers, on the campus of West Virginia University, August 9-11. Approximately 160 state club women registered for the three day program. Of this group, 121 enjoyed the spacious accommodations of the Towers, having traveled to Morgantown from as far distant as Williamson and Bluefield, West Virginia.

The Westover Woman's Club served as Welcoming Committee in the main Towers Lobby, greeting visitors and distributing informational materials.

The opening session on Wednesday evening was presided over by Mrs. William Ross, President of the West Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. James G. Harlow, wife of the president of the university welcomed participants to the university campus. Mrs. Delmas F. Miller, Chairman of Continuing Education and ESO of our State Federation gave a brief overview of the conference. Mrs. Miller, in her remarks, stressed that "timeliness is important in club work"; she encouraged us to stretch our minds, warning that past civilizations more advanced than ours have failed. In closing she suggested that we listen, absorb, ask questions and grow.

The program for the evening was "A Panel of American Women" — their topic for discussion being racial discrimination against women. The Panel of American Women is composed of a representative of the Jewish community, a Catholic, a Protestant and a Negro. Although the complete panel could not be present, we were fortunate in having Mrs. Paul Hamilton representing the Protestant group and Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmore representing the Negro group. The discussion was lively with many questions being asked, indicating an interest on the part of those in the audience.

Thursday's sessions opened in the Blue Room; the first program of the day being "Leadership for Action." Program leaders were Doctor Howard A. Shriver, Director, Weston Area Appalachian Center; Miss Shirley Campbell, Program Leader, Women's Extension Education Programs; and Doctor Arun Basu, State Extension Specialist, Community Resource Development.

This program proved to be one of the most interesting of the entire institute. Volunteers from the audience led by Doctor Shriver demonstrated three types of leaders found in women's clubs. First, there was the autocratic; second, laissez faire; and third, democratic. Without benefit or rehearsal or "cues" the participants were led into talk situations whereby the audience was able to detect the role Dr. Shriver was playing as leader. Characteristics evident in the autocratic leader were — gives orders and dominates the group; communications tend to be one way — from the leader to the member; the leader accepts ideas on the basis of who made them instead of their merit. All of this resulted in members going through the motions of democratic behavior but actually only rubber-stamping decisions of the leader. Any attempt on the part of members to reverse the direction of communications was squelched. The final result was little or no growth of group members.

Federation of Women's Club.

THE TIME IS NOW!

Characteristics of the laissez faire leader — leader and members alike did not know their reason for even being there. There was no definite goal set, and had there been, it is doubtful that a means for attaining it could have been decided by the group. Everything was helter-skelter — the final result being that little or nothing was accomplished.

The third leader exemplified the role most desired; democratic. Here we found the leader able and willing to communicate with members. Members were encouraged to offer ideas and suggestions. The group was able to function with or without the leader. Each member of the group felt that they had contributed to the effort of attaining the goal, and were recognized for their efforts. In this group the final result was much growth.

In a summation of the first half of the leadership program, Miss Campbell defined leadership as being "the power of influencing people to cooperate." She listed traits to be desired as, (1) the intelligent ability to speak out; (2) to be flexible instead of rigid; (3) being aware of changes; (4) honesty — let the group leader know where they stand; (5) the leader should use his authority in giving the facts; (6) keep in mind immediate problems and their long-range effects; (7) an effective leader must make necessary decisions that are made.

She further stated that good leadership will result in the following: (1) raising the level of member motivation; (2) improving the quality of all decisions; (3) developing teamwork and morale within the group; (4) furthering the individual development of members; (5) increasing the readiness to accept change; and (6) building a leadership basis for the future.

The second half of the leadership training program was led by Dr. Arun Basu, State Extension Specialist, Community Resource Development. Using flash films and audience participation we were made to realize our errors in not getting all the facts of a situation. Based on the old parlor game, "gossip"; participants passed on information they had gleaned from the flash films. In the end, the last participant had little or no accurate information.

Communication between a leader and members is most important. First, we must look at the situation. The usual fault found in leaders is that there is a tendency to jump on conclusions. We see only what we want to see. Dr. Basu urged us to be analytical. As in "gossip" quite often there is a loss of information.

Do not be afraid to ask questions. Ask for information and take notes. The audience expressed amazement when confronted with what each individual had seen when shown the same identical pictures. This proved Dr. Basu's theory that we only see what we want to see — that is, what is relevant to our own situation.

It was pointed out that in problem solving there are six basic steps to be followed. They are, (1) define the problem; (2) determine priorities; (3) check the resources available; (4) have a plan of action; (5) implement those plans; (6) evaluate. No problem should be undertaken without relevant facts; getting the facts is the responsibility of a good leader.

Thursday afternoon's session was led by Mrs. Keith Wharton, our state parliamentarian, who spoke on "Parliamentary Procedure — An Aid to Getting Things Done." Helpful information was given to the group, not only in the question and answer period, but in the printed material that was distributed. As always, Mrs. Wharton's program on parliamentary procedure seemed much too brief. It is always a pleasure to sit in on one of her classes.

In a lighter vein, Mrs. Max Crum, creator of Doncey Crafts presented a program on Tole painting — that is, the decorative enameling and lacquering of metal. Explaining the various stages involved in the completed product, she then demonstrated her method of painting, pointing out materials used, such as brushes, lacquers, finishers, etc. This program proved to be interesting to the amateur as well as to the accomplished artist.

Thursday night was our "night on the town." A bus trip to the LAST RESORT in the heart of Morgantown was the start of a most delightful evening, where we enjoyed dinner followed by the Town and Country Players in the production, "The Fantasticks." First impressions of the LAST RESORT ranged from "What is it? — to — Why is it?", when we stopped in front of a very small purple door, stepped gingerly down a flight of steep, dark stairs, and entered an unfinished basement room. However, when the house lights were lowered and with the benefit of very picturesque table lamps, the room was transformed into a lovely, intimate looking little cafe. The play itself was excellent. Our evening was topped off with a reception, back at the Towers, with the Woman's Club of Morgantown serving as hostess group.

Friday morning's session was of a serious nature and most timely. The program consisted of an open forum, "The Contemporary Society and Drugs" — a panel discussion with Ruth Ann Panepinto, M.S. acting as moderator. Panelists were Charles Marsh, M.D.; Patricia Porterfield, M.S.W. and James Stevenson, M.D. Miss Porterfield gave a general overview of the drug program here in West Virginia. One panel member suggested that we read the book, "The Drug Scene" by Donald Lauria for more information on the drug problem of today. It was the feeling of the panelists that the general public, rather than the physician, should share the responsibility for the prevalent over-medication. In a recent survey by the Stanford Research Organization it was found that thirty drugs are found in the average household.

Categorizing drugs and users the following information was available:

1. Barbituates — used mostly by middle-aged, middle-class females, highly addictive.
2. Narcotics — used by young people, highly addictive.
3. Tranquilizers and other depressants — used by everybody.
4. Stimulants — used by weight reducers or those needing "a lift."
5. Hallucinogens (LSD, STP, DMP, drugs giving false sensory perception) — used by youth. Marijuana, which is the most highly publicized, but the least harmful of all hallucinogens — used by everybody.

The panelists felt that the Federal Drug Administration should clamp down on advertising of all drugs; physicians should be educated to talk to their patients instead of over-prescribing; and we should all take a long, hard look at the laws concerning marijuana. It was the panel's opinion that laws on marijuana need revamping.

Concerning family application and the drug abuse problem, it was the panel's opinion that the lack of a worthwhile communication system between family members was responsible for part of the drug problem, especially among young people. Hypocrisy between family members is another cause. When a parent tells a child "do as I say, not as I do" — the child cannot understand. An open, free-flowing communication between family members would help prevent not only drug abuse, but the other crimes evident in our youth today, such as shoplifting, property destruction, petty thievery, etc.

The final session of the Institute was a program, "How to Do a Publication" with Mrs. John Hamric, Editor of the West Virginia Clubwoman magazine and Mr. Michael Cross of the Shepherdstown Register, Art Director of the magazine. Many questions were asked, and answers were given by Mrs. Hamric and Mr. Cross. Mrs. Hamric reminded us that when sending material to the magazine we should remember that the story should be of interest to the entire state, not just our own region.

Mr. Cross, a West Virginian by way of England, presented a "home" movie showing how our West Virginia Clubwoman magazine is printed — from the time he receives the material from Mrs. Hamric, until it is ready for mailing. We were all interested to see the $55,000.00 machine that is used in the process. "How to Do a Publication" proved to be a good ending for our three-day meeting.

Enough praise cannot be given to those responsible for planning the 16th Annual Adult Education Institute. Many hours of work were needed to make it a success. For those who attended, it was a rewarding experience. Not only were we able to share in the wealth of information available at the University, but it is good to greet old friends and make new ones each year. Next year you will have the opportunity to visit the campus of West Virginia University for the 17th Annual Adult Education Institute, so plan now to bring a friend from your club and make the Institute the largest one yet!

WEST VIRGINIA WELL REPRESENTED AT SHELL ENVIRONMENTAL CONFERENCE

West Virginia Federation members were well represented in St. Louis the week of July 17 when more than a hundred key members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs met with government, industry and conservation experts to acquaint themselves with environmental problems.

The conference was presided over by our capable Maxine Scarbro, GFWC Conservation department chairman. Other Federation members attending were: Mrs. William Ross, State President; Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, First Vice-President, GFWC; and Mrs. Donald T. Harvey, Conservation chairman, WVFWC.

The three-day conference, part of the GFWC/Shell Oil Company Environmental Conservation Program enjoyed Senator Jennings Randolph as the keynote speaker. Dr. Stacy Groscup, Ombudsman, West Virginia University gave an excellent address on youth involvement.

This is the second year of the GFWC/Shell program in which clubs judged to have conducted the most effective projects receive state and national awards from Shell totaling $55,000 a year. Each club in West Virginia is encouraged to enter the program. Presidents should have received an entry form; if not, they may be ordered from the GFWC head-quarter offices.

Field activities included a trip to Shell's Wood River, Illinois refinery, and a tour of the auto emissions studies being conducted at the company's MTM Product Research and Development Laboratory also located at Wood River.

West Virginia delegates to the conference talk with a Shell official about the Shell mobile test car behind them. Left to right: Mrs. James A. Scarbro, Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, Mrs. William R. Ross, and Mrs. Donald T. Harvey. Shell's mobile test vehicle is actually a highly instrumented laboratory on wheels. It is capable of monitoring as many as 40 driving variables including exhaust emissions under realistic road conditions. Among the mobile test vehicle's sensing equipment is a carbon monoxide analyzer, mileage computer, battery-operated flame-ionization detection device used to analyze unburned hydrocarbon content, fuel flow meters, and nitric oxide analyzer.

JUNIOR NEWS

MESSAGE FROM JUNIOR DIRECTOR

Dear Club Friends:

May marked the beginning of a "bright" new administration with new hopes, goals and enthusiasm for each of us. As we go through the coming club year let us think about what Federation is doing for you, and what you are doing for the Federation.

As individuals it is important that we expand our talents, our interest and become involved in the problems of today. To be a complete person we must truly be concerned for others and exercise this concern in our every day living. Being a member of the Federation gives you all of these opportunities.

You ask, what can I do for the Federation? It begins in your own club. It is a privilege for your community to have a woman's club for we are a strong national organization of 11,000,000 members. Let others know what your club is doing, what you stand for and your affiliation with the General Federation of Women's Clubs. We can be our own best "public relations man". So, let it begin with YOUR club and build the image of the West Virginia Juniors in your community.

When we say good-bye we are not leaving, but we are going forward to new adventures. The West Virginia Juniors have wonderful memories of the past administration for we accomplished much. And now, we will begin a new journey full of rewarding work, endearing friendships and the knowledge that we are helping others to have "A Brighter Tomorrow".

May you always have love, concern and happiness!

Junior love,
Judy
