QUE IS ESTO? is the question of Bill Sturm as he holds up a plant to be described in Spanish by Ellen Steele. The two are pupils at the Marshall Laboratory school, where Spanish is being introduced on an experimental basis to students of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. The instruction by Mrs. Mae Houston is all oral, no text books are used, and the pupils learn in the same way they learn their own language, by carrying on conversations in Spanish and by playing such games as "Knock Knock" in Spanish. At the end of the year, a group will be selected to take a special advanced class in Spanish next year. The experiment is one of the first of its kind to be conducted in a West Virginia school. Seventy-five pupils, twenty-five from each of the three grades, are participating in the program. Principal Rex C. Gray said that the experiment was being tried because it was felt that there is a greater need than ever before for Americans to know a second language, and it was felt other languages might be learned more easily by younger children whose speech patterns were not already too fixed. Others in the picture are Karyl Collins, Mary Alice Donald, Carroll Kincaid, G. G. Varnum, Judy Kay Daniels, Linda Gibson, and Sarah Hoffman. (Staff Photo by Joe Rimkus.)

(African sculpture---1)

Thirty-two enlarged camera studies of examples of African Negro ~~xxxx~~ sculpture and seven original sculptures will be on display at the Marshall College art gallery from today through Nov. 23, in an exhibition called "Understanding African Negro Sculpture."

The public may view the exhibition in room 5 of the James E. Morrow library from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mondays through Fridays and from 9 a. m. to noon Saturdays.

The photographic studies are the work of "Life" photographer Eliot Elisofon. Two of the original sculptures in the exhibition are from ~~Mr.~~ Elisofon's own collection and these appear side by side with their owner's photographic analyses of their form. Other camera studies document outstanding examples from European ~~xxxxxx~~ ethnological museums and private collections and from the collection of Nelson A. Rockefeller. Rockefeller has lent to the exhibition five original pieces of wood including individual figures and masks from the Ivory Coast, French Sudan and Gabon regions.

The exhibition was prepared by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, N. Y., where it had its first showing before its tour of museums and ~~galleries~~ galleries throughout the country began.

Joseph S. Jablonski, Marshall College professor of art, explained that the relation of ~~a~~ African art to modern art is noted in an introductory statement which points out that Negro ~~a~~ sculpture has played an important role in the development of modern Western art.

"Modern art, in ~~turn~~ turn," he said, "has opened ~~our~~ our eyes to the bold structure and ~~expressions~~ expressive force of African art and brought it out of the ethnologist's cabinet and into the art museum."

In his camera studies, Elisofon sometimes has selected pieces of each type of sculpture to photograph and in some instances has enlarged the details to many times the size of the original. He has varied the lighting so that surfaces detailed are either emphasized or on other occasions deliberately obscured so that the broader ~~design~~ design of the sculpture received the emphasis. ③

Front, back and profile views give some idea of the total effect of sculpture in the round and one picture shows five views of a small Dogon piece, all exposed on the same negative, following the Cubist device of simultaneously seeing around an object rendered on one plane.

Elisofon has made three trips through Africa with his camera and has photographed African art in museums in Paris, London and Brussels. He began his own collection in the late 1930's.

Jim Herring, Director

November 3, 1953

Mr. Herbert Royer, Coach
Marshall College
Huntington, West Virginia

Dear Coach Royer:

We of the Marshall College Athletic Scholarship and Aid Sub-Committee wish to commend you and your staff on the fine work you are doing this season. It is particularly pleasing to us that the same wholesome attitude which typifies our coaching staff is reflected in the performances of every player. With such a spirit, no football organization can really be defeated, even though superior physical forces may be allied against it. We share a feeling that is general on the Marshall Campus: that win or lose, you and your whole organization deserve everyone's respect and admiration.

The value of football, we know, cannot be measured simply in terms of a numerical victory. Just as important in our estimation is the way a game is played, the brand of sportsmanship displayed, the preservation of one's self-respect through thick or thin; it is gratifying that our Thundering Herd, under your leadership, is ever cognizant of a goal higher than the simple score. The winning spirit of our men obviously has triumphed over defeats of the moment.

Congratulations on a job well done. We are always ready to help in any way we can.

Very sincerely yours,

THE ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP AND AID
SUB-COMMITTEE

The Marshall College Thundering Herd, only four days away from the Homecoming battle with Dayton, are in "top condition for the first time this year," according to Coach Herb Royer. The Marshall mentor expressed no optimism concerning the outcome of the game, but commented that none of the present twenty-one team members were suffering from minor injuries except place-kicking specialist Bob "Gunner" Miller.

Miller received a cracked wrist in the Kent State game, but will be able to fulfill his kicking duties this Saturday.

Royer and the Herd will concentrate on defense this week in an effort to stop a strong Dayton offense. The Flyers although losers in four of six games pack a strong wallop both on the ground and in the air. Dayton will probably rate as heavy favorites due to the strong opposition they have faced this year. (30)

In offensive workouts this week the Thundering Herd will devote most of its time to bettering its ground game and specifically to "running the ends." The attack has been weak on "end runs" as of late.

End Jim Swierczek, the Mid-American Conference's third ranking pass receiver, has been showing up well at left halfback after being shifted there to alleviate the backfield man-shortage situation. Guard co-captain Phil Milano may see action at fullback if needed there. If Milano's services are needed in the backfield Huntington sophomore Bob McCollins who has been an outstanding guard fillin will move into the vacant line spot.

MARCH LL FOOTBALL COACH HERR ROYER HAS BEEN HAVING A TOUGH TIME WITH HIS BACKFIELD DRAFT PROBLEM, BUT, THE THUNDERING HEAD BENTOR HAS MADE SEVERAL MOVES TOWARD STRENGTHENING IT. ROYER, AS YOU KNOW, WAS LEFT WITH ONLY SIX BACKFIELD MEN AFTER INJURIES SIDELINED GARLAND B RHART IN THE KENT STATE GAME TWO WEEKS AGO.

ACCORDING TO ROYER, THE MID-AMERICAN CONFERENCE'S THIRD KICKING PASS RECEIVER, JIM SMIERCZEK, HAS SUCCESSFULLY MADE THE TRANSITION FROM END TO HALFBACK. SMIERCZEK HAS BEEN USED AT LENGTH IN PRACTICE SEVERAL TIMES THIS SEASON BUT HAS BEEN NO ACTUAL GAME EXPERIENCE THERE. (31)

GUARD CO-CAPTAIN PHIL MILANO MAY ALSO SEE SOME BACKFIELD DUTY. IF THE NEED ARISES, MILANO WILL BE SHIFTED TO FULLBACK. HE HAS AN EXPERIENCED REPLACEMENT AT RIGHT GUARD IN HUNTINGTON SOPHOMORE BOB MC COLLINS. ^{THEN TOO,} MOST OF THE KEE BACKS HAVE HAD EXPERIENCE AT TWO BACKFIELD POSITIONS THROUGH EARLIER NECESSITY.

THE MARCH LL SQUAD, AS A WHOLE, IS IN ITS BEST SHAPE OF THE SEASON PHYSICALLY. ONLY PLACEMENT SPECIALIST, BOB MILLER OF HUNTINGTON, IS AILING, AND HE WILL HAVE RECOVERED SUFFICIENTLY TO DO THE KICKING AGAINST DAYTON SATURDAY.

The Dayton Flyers may be minus two of their regulars, Saturday, when they come to Huntington to meet Marshall in the Big Green homecoming. Fullback Ralph Jelic, the Flyers number two ground gainer and end Jim Haggerty are both nursing sprained ankles suffered in the 27-0 Dayton loss to Cincinnati last week.

Marshall's Big Green, on the other hand, is in its best physical shape of the season and the players are trying to pull an upset.

End Jim Swierczek, who has been working out at left halfback this week will continue to work out at the backfield spot, but will probably start the game at his old end spot, according to Coach Herb Royer. If and when "Swize" moves into the backfield against Dayton, Dick Bryan will occupy his end position. (32)

Another change that Royer might make, in his efforts to increase his backfield depth and versatility, is a switch to fullback for Paul Long, regular left half.

Dayton brings to Huntington one of the lightest and swiftest backfield combinations seen here all year. The starting Flyer backs average only 168 pounds which is about eight pounds lighter than Marshall's backfield starters. The small Dayton backfield, however, operates behind a tremendous line. Twelve linemen weighing more than 200 pounds are listed on the roster. Hawaiian tackle Dick Miyata and end George Weywood tip the scales at 235 apiece.

BIG GREEN CAGERS - Helms Foundation All-American Walt Walowac was elected captain of the 1953-54 Big Green, Monday, as Marshall began basketball practice for the first time as a member of the Mid-American Conference. The veteran squad of NAIA Hall of Fame Coach Cam Henderson could prove to be spoilers in their initial Conference year. Bowling Green, appears to be the outstanding threat in the conference which includes Marshall, Ohio University, Miami, Toledo, Kent State, Western Michigan, and Western Reserve.

Ten of the eleven cagers who reported this week are lettermen from last year's team that won twenty of 24 games and ranked third in the nation in scoring. Led by Walowac's 698 points and 29.1 per game average, the Big Green scored more than 100 points on eight different occasions. A final average of 89.6 points a game was set as Marshall recorded victories over Xavier, Memphis State, Mississippi Southern, Ohio University, Murray State, and others.

The muscular 5'11" sharpshooter, Walowac, returns to control the all important middle-man slot in the famed Henderson fast break. Walt, along with Jack Salee of Dayton, were chosen by the Xavier (Ohio) Musketeers as the most outstanding players faced all season. Seton Hall and the great Walt Dukes was among the Xavier opponents. Little Marietta College also lauded the play of Walowac. They chose the Logan, West Virginia, forward as their most outstanding opponent over the scoring phenomenon Bevo Francis of Rio Grande. (34)

The top scoring performance given by Walowac was the 44 point total that he chalked up against Ohio University as the Bobcats came from behind to beat the Big Green in overtime. He now has a 1402 total for his college career which is short of the four year Marshall record held by Bob Koontz.

Charlie Slack, 6'5", 215 pound sophomore returns to the Big Green at center. Charlie grabbed rebounds off the boards at the rate of 16.3 each game to rank fourteenth in national small college statistics last year. He contributed 353 points to the Marshall cause when he wasn't busy rebounding. Along with Walowac, Slack is rated one of the outstanding players in the Midwest.

Dave Robinson and Herbie Morris, a pair of forwards who alternated most of last year have returned. The 6' duo threw in 411 points between them with Robbie scoring 222.

The big loss falls at the guard slots. Both set shot ace Jack Ferguson and Sid King, balding captain who scored 376 points, are gone. "Crafty Cam" Henderson has several veteran men to choose from in picking replacements, though. Ballhawk Carl York, 6'4" Jerry Gillen, sharpshooter Frank Crum, and rebounder Paul Hopper are all possibilities, but you can never tell what the "old man" is likely to do.

Junior Bob Bias is a middleman and lanky 6'6" Ray Frazier a veteran center. Junior Bob Bradley is the lone new man on the squad.

PIGSKIN HERDLIGHTS -- Marshall's Thundering Herd squad which is twenty-one in number moves into the final three games of the season, Saturday, when the University of Dayton Flyers come to town for the Marshall homecoming. The strong Flyers have won only two of six games but appear to be one of the toughest foes on the Herd Schedule. Last year, Dayton stopped Marshall 31-14 for their eighth straight win in the rivalry. Marshall will be out this year to try to win the coveted "Flying Cleat" trophy which is given to the winner of the Dayton-Marshall struggle each year.

Thundering Herd coach Herb Royer says that the team "is in the best shape physically that it has been in all year," but the critical depth problem has cost Royer many a night's sleep. Only nine substitutes, excluding place-kicking specialist Bob Miller, occupy the Big Green bench, so many of the gridders have had to adapt themselves to two positions.

The latest switch to be made is that of end Jim Swierczek (Swi' zak) to halfback. "Swize" is the third ranking pass receiver in the Mid-American Conference and a "natural" flanker, but only six backfield men are available making the change almost an absolute necessity. Dick Bryan of Chester, West Virginia, will probably fill the veteran wingman's former post. Guard co-captain Phil Milano (Muh lan' oh) may wind up in the backfield if the need arises. Royer has been tinkering with the idea of running the scrappy 180 pound guard at fullback. Captain Phil has a highly capable replacement in sophomore Bob McCollins.

Quarterback co-captain John Chmara (Shuh mar' uh) will be understudied by Carl Nutter who is also a halfback. Right half Henry Hinte (Hint' ee) has seen quarterbacking duty this season too. Punter Paul Long and Swierczek share the other halfback spot. Fullbacks are Jerry Jones and Dyke Six. Six is the Herd leading rusher and doubles as a halfback.

The Big Green line, which hasn't permitted a first period score all year, will be essentially the same except for Bryan at right end. Lowell Stanley will be at left end, Albie Maier (Myer) and Milan Zban (Zuh ban') at the tackles, Carl Barger and Milano at the guards, and Jim Sovine (So' vine) at center.

Marshall will take a 1-4-1 record into the Dayton game after sitting out an open date last week. The Herd Freshmen got a chance to show Huntington fans who the possible successors to the ten graduating varsity men will be. The frosh fell 14-2 to the Ohio University Bob-kittens. It was their third straight loss.

The Big Green will play a tough twenty-one game schedule this year which includes a trip to Madison Square Garden in New York to play Iona College, January 2, 1954, on a twin bill which also features a match between Miami and New York University.

Senior Queen, Doris Ramsey, Wins 'Miss Marshall' Title

By CONRAD RIPLEY

Doris Ramsey, Huntington senior and queen of the senior class, will act as Marshall's answer to the Coronation tomorrow when she reigns over all Homecoming activities as Miss Marshall College of 1953.

Miss Ramsey was given the number one title on the campus by an election which was called by Student Body President Noel Copen, "The best turn-out for a student election I've ever seen." The over-all vote came to a total of 821.

THE QUEEN won over her nearest competitor by a margin of 32 votes. She tallied 262, while Jo Betty Prichard, junior queen from Dunmore, collected 234.

The election to choose Miss Marshall took place Wednesday, from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. in the Student Government Office. Immediately after the voting deadline, the votes were tabulated by the two-member counting board consisting of Byron Thornton, election committee chairman, and Noel Copen.

Miss Ramsey graduated from Huntington High School where she won the title of salutatorian of her class. She was also an attendant to Miss Pony Express and Relay Queen.

SINCE ENROLLING at the College, she has majored in elementary education, and has become a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, Fagus, women's honorary; the cheerleading corp, and president of the Marshall chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

Although Miss Ramsey will preside over the Homecoming Game tomorrow afternoon, she will not be officially crowned as Miss Marshall College until the intermission of the Homecoming Dance

The student body president pointed out that there were 809 votes cast in the preliminary election last week, and 821 in the final go-around Wednesday. "This shows," Copen said, "that student interest is definitely improving. And if this is any indication, then we can look forward to one of the best Homecomings we've ever had."

NOT FRIENDLY, SPORT NEWS EDITOR

The Marshall Thundering Herd and the University of Dayton Flyers meet tomorrow at Fairfield Stadium in a continuance of a long time rivalry, and the possession of the "Flying Cleat" trophy will be the victor's prize.

Marshall has several other motives for considering the Dayton battle one of the most important of the season. It will be the Thundering Herd homecoming and the Herd griders haven't been victorious in a homecoming game since 1949. A win would "even things up" with Dayton who humiliated Marshall 37-13 in the 1951 homecoming and took the measure of the Big Green 31-14 last year.

Then too, a win would break an eight game losing streak at the hands of the Flyers who haven't been beaten by Marshall since 1940. A win might possibly give a downtrodden but spirited Marshall team the added incentive to upset Wofford next week. "The Flying Cleat" has been in Dayton's possession ever since the trophy was founded and the Royermen would certainly like to see it in their trophy case. (4/6)

Despite the Marshall spirit and the many incentives to win tomorrow, Dayton will take the field as heavy favorites. Big Green Coach Herb Royer expects the extremely light and fast Flyer backfield to run the Marshall ends as they did in losing to Cincinnati last week, but he realizes that behind the big Dayton line they could pick up a lot of yardage through the middle. "No matter how small their backs are, they could run through the middle with a big line doing the blocking." Halfback Jack (Rabbit) Martin, little All-America honorable mention last year is one of the chief threats. Martin is 5'8" and 168, and is paired with Chuck Gnida, 5'9" 163, the Dayton leading ground gainer who is averaging nearly six yards per carry.

Marshall will go with the same starting lineup used against Kent State two weeks ago. Lowell Stanley at left end, Milan Zban at left tackle, Carl Berger at left guard, Jim Sovine at center, Phil Milano at right guard, Albie Maier at right tackle, and Jim Swierczek at right end. The backfield will show John Chmara at quarterback, Paul Long at left halfback, Henry Hinte at right Halfback, and Jerry Jones at fullback. Royer says that end Jim Swierczek who has been working out in the backfield this week will probably be shifted to left half sometime during the game to take a little of the load off Paul Long. Swierczek's presence in the backfield would give the Big Green an added pass receiver if the ground attack bogs down.

IT WILL BE HOMECOMING AT FAIRFIELD STADIUM TOMORROW FOR MARSHALL COLLEGE, AND THE UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON FLYERS WILL PROVIDE THE FOOTBALL OPPOSITION.

THE MARSHALL THUNDERING HERD WILL BE DECIDED UNDERDOGS IN THE SIXTEENTH ~~~~ GRIDIRON MEETING OF THE TWO SCHOOLS. THE MARSHALL TEAM AND COACHES HAVE SEVERAL REASONS FOR CONSIDERING THE DAYTON BATTLE ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT OF THE SEASON. BESIDES BEING ~~~~ HOMECOMING, THE THUNDERING HERD WOULD LIKE TO GAIN POSSESSION OF THE "FLYING CLEAT" TROPHY WHICH IS AWARDED THE VICTOR OF THE MARSHALL-DAYTON RIVALRY EACH YEAR. MARSHALL HAS NEVER WON THE FLYING CLEAT SINCE THE TROPHY WAS FOUNDED. (48)

THEN TOO, A HOME TEAM WIN WOULD BREAK AN EIGHT GAME LOSING STREAK TO THE FLYERS. DAYTON HASN'T BEEN BEATEN BY MARSHALL SINCE 1949. THE THUNDERING HERD HASN'T EVEN COME UP WITH A HOMECOMING VICTORY SINCE 1949, AND IT WAS DAYTON THAT HUMILIATED MARSHALL 37-13 IN THE 1951 AFFAIR.

MANY FANS BELIEVE THAT A WIN TOMORROW MIGHT GIVE A DOWNTRODDEN BUT SPIRITED MARSHALL CLUB THE ADDED INCENTIVE TO UPSET MCFFORD NEXT WEEK.

DESPITE THE SPIRIT AND THE MANY INCENTIVES TO WIN OVER DAYTON, THE VISITORS WILL TAKE THE FIELD AS HEAVY FAVORITES.

MARSHALL'S THUNDERING HERD MOVES INTO FAIRFIELD STADIUM ON FRIDAY NIGHT INSTEAD OF SATURDAY THIS WEEK. THE MARSHALL OPPOSITION, FRIDAY, WILL BE THE TOUGH TERRIERS FROM WOFFORD COLLEGE OF SPARTANBURG, SOUTH CAROLINA. MARSHALL COLLEGE OFFICIALS HAVE NAMED IT WEST VIRGINIA HIGH SCHOOL NIGHT AND HAVE EXTENDED INVITATIONS TO HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS AND COACHES THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

WOFFORD BRINGS A RECORD OF SIX WINS AND TWO LOSSES TO HUNTINGTON, THEIR MOST NOTABLE VICTORY BEING A 7-6 WIN OVER FURMAN TWO WEEKS AGO. ON THE OTHER HAND, MARSHALL HAS ONE WIN AND ONE TIE IN SEVEN STARTS. THE HERD LOST THEIR THIRD STRAIGHT GAME LAST SATURDAY NIGHT TO DAYTON, ALTHOUGH THE GAME WAS PLAYED ON FAIRLY EVEN TERMS. (49)

THE OPINION OF THE BIG GREEN COACHING STAFF AND HUNTINGTON FANS IN GENERAL IS THAT THE MARSHALL SQUAD HAS GIVEN A FINE ACCOUNT OF THEMSELVES THIS SEASON, CONSIDERING THE ACUTE MANPOWER SITUATION.

COACH HERB ROYER TOLD THE TEAM THIS AFTERNOON THAT HE WAS NOT DISAPPOINTED IN THE DAYTON GAME SHOWING AND WAS LOOKING FORWARD TO A POSSIBLE SECOND WIN THIS WEEKEND.

The Marshall College Thundering Herd will take on the tough Wofford College Terriers at Fairfield Stadium Friday night, and will attempt to gain their first victory in the last five starts. The Terriers from Spartansburg, South Carolina, have a record of six won and two lost, including a 7-6 decision over Furman.

Officials at Marshall have declared the Wofford game, Friday night, West Virginia High School Night, and invitations have been sent out to various high ~~schools-and-~~ school players and coaches to attend.

Marshall coach Herb Royer is confident that the Big Green can hold its own with Conley T. Snidow's Wofford outfit. Royer told his 50 squad this afternoon: "I believe that we may be able to beat this Wofford ballclub if we set our minds to it." The Terriers coach Snidow is an ex-West Virginian, who played ball at Princeton High School.

The Herd limbered up this afternoon for 45 minutes, going over the Wofford defenses and then studying the Terriers Split-T offense. Royer expects Wofford to put up a strong ground game. Quarterback Sherry Awtrey is the leading scorer in the state of South Carolina.

Royer was ~~also~~ pleased with the showing of end Jim Swierczek at halfback. Swierczek was shifted to left half because of the lack of depth in the backfield and did a yeoman's job carrying the ball 19 times. Royer said that "Swize" would probably continue at ~~right end-~~ right end, but would shift to his backfield position ~~as~~ as often as Halfback Paul Long needs a rest.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- November 9, 1953

The Thundering Herd will attempt to salvage a second win out of a near-disastrous season, Friday night, against Wofford College at Fairfield Stadium. The Marshall gridgers, beaten five times in seven outings, look to the Wofford game as their best chance of pulling an upset. Marshall is host to the Mid-American Conference leader, Ohio University, in the season finals a week from Saturday.

No injuries occurred Saturday against Dayton, and it was the first time this season that the Herd had played without coming up with at least one injured man. The squad still numbers twenty-one, including place-kicking specialist Bob Miller, so the probable lineup for the Wofford game will be about the same as last week. The lineup against Dayton's Flyers was: Lowell Stanley, 205, and Jim Swierczek, 175, at ends; Milan Zban, 215 and Albie Maier, 205, at tackles; Carl Barger, 190, and co-captain Phil Milano, 180, at guards; Jim Sovine, 185, at center; co-captain John Chmara, 180, at quarterback, Paul Long, 185, and Henry Hinte, 160, at halfbacks; and Jerry Jones, 185, at fullback. (65)

End Jim Swierczek, third in the Mid-American Conference in pass receiving, may expect to see more action at halfback this week after a sterling performance in that capacity against Dayton. Swierczek was shifted to that position after injuries cut the backfield roster to six men. The gluefingered flanker did a yeoman's job during the game lugging the pigskin 19 times. Should Coach Herb Royer deem it necessary to make the shift again this week, Dick Bryan, Chester junior, would move into the right end spot vacated by "Swize".

The Dayton Flyers pulled off a "first" in their 21-6 win over Marshall last Saturday afternoon at Fairfield Stadium. The Ohio team became the first opponent to score against Marshall in the first quarter this year. Three foes hadn't even scored in the first half. Dayton grabbed an early 7-0 lead on a beautiful Paul Spakowski aerial that Chuck Guida caught over his shoulder on a dead run in the Marshall end zone. A John Chmara to Jim Swierczek pass grew the margin to 7-6 at halftime.

The second half saw the Thundering Herd thunder up the field on the longest drive of the game before failing to score the touchdown that would have given them the lead. Halfback Paul Long took the kickoff in the end zone and carried it out to the 25. From there he

1 Jerry Jones alternated carries and moved quickly down to the Dayton one yard line where on fourth down Long stumbled and fell going into the line and was stopped. The Flyers immediately booted out of danger, took over the ball on an interception, moved deep into Marshall territory on a 15 yard penalty, and scored. The final score of the afternoon came on a 20 yard gallop with an intercepted pass.

BOB FRIEDLY, SPORT NEWS EDITOR

The Marshall College Big Green basketball team will play a tough 21 game schedule this season that includes thirteen Mid-American Conference games and features a Madison Square Garden engagement with Iona College January 2. Hall of Fame Coach Cam Henderson's Big Green, winners in twenty out of twenty-four games last year, play each of the seven other Mid-American schools twice, except Western Reserve. Marshall closes out the season with Western Reserve March 2 in a home game. Only twelve Conference games are necessary to be eligible for the title, and with a thirteen game card, Marshall will be officially eligible for the crown for the first time.

Along with Iona College of New Rochelle, New York, eight other newcomers are on the Marshall schedule. They are Georgetown(Ky.), Indiana State, and conference members Miami, Kent State, Toledo, Bowling Green, Western Michigan, and Western Reserve. All of the newcomers to the slate are played on the home floor. Miami University returns to the schedule this year after drubbing the Big Green 83-59 two years ago. (70)

Marshall opens with West Virginia Wesleyan, December 5, at the Memorial Fieldhouse. Led by All-American Walt Walowac the Big Green best Wesleyan 115-85 last year in the Antlers Invitational Tournament (which Marshall won) and then went on to hit the hundred mark in scoring seven eight more times before the seasons end.

Bowling Green University will probably be the outstanding opponent to face Henderson's cagers this year. With-an-~~unimp~~ Despite an unimpressive 15-11 record last year, Bowling Green is rated by many pre-season forecasters as one of the top ten teams in the nation this year.

55 years of football

By Milan Zban
Marshall Student Journalist

This is a story of Huntington football in retrospect covering 55 years of pigskin activity in the Tri-State area, ^{to} replace with ~~illustrations~~ and names of prominent citizens.

In November of the year 1898 while everybody was busy reading about the Spanish-American War, there appeared in the Huntington Advertiser, in a column of miscellaneous activities, a small notice which announced what your reporter believes to have been the first football game to be played in Huntington. The notice read: "On next Saturday football teams of Huntington and Cattslettsburg will meet on college (Marshall) campus in this city. The game will be hotly contested and those failing to attend will miss a rare treat."

The following ~~Saturday~~ Saturday, the twenty-first of November, ~~and~~ an account of this game was printed on the front page. The headlines declared: "Huntington A Winner." Huntington defeated Cattlesburg 17-0 before a crowd of about 100 people. A fellow named Perkins scored the first touchdown in this city and Myers kicked the

From 1901 to 1903 Marshall College ~~was~~ played a total of twelve games, winning five, losing four and tying three. They amassed a total ~~for~~ of 56 points while their opponents got 64. They had no coach until 1904 when Professor George H. Ford brought Mr. Pearl Rardin to the campus ~~as a player-coach~~ as a player-coach. According to Mr. Rardin who ~~is now retired and lives at 1122 - 12th Ave.~~ is now retired and lives at the Elks Club, Marshall played Cincinnati at Cincinnati and held them to a scoreless ~~deadlock~~ deadlock. Mr. Rardin relates how he had to foot a $70 hotel bill ~~for~~ for busted hotel furniture. Seems that shoulder pads had become the football fad that year and the Marshall ~~boys~~ boys, wearing them for the first time, decided to try them out. ~~Thus~~ they did by climbing on their hotel bed, in full gear, and leaping at the helpless chairs, tables and anything that had legs. The result was, the boys had good equipment because the furniture they mauled cost ~~the~~ Coach Rardin $70. Mr. Rardin also tells about the time Marshall's favorite play cost him a broken jaw. ~~This~~ play was called "the flying hurdle", ~~it went like this.~~ Player-coach Rardin, being the lightest man in the backfield, could easily be lifted by the other Marshall backs. ~~Thissidein~~ They concieved the idea of sewing leather straps onto the ~~xxx~~ back of the pants of Rardin and when they needed short yardage Rardin lined up between the two brutes playing half-backs ~~mix~~ and took the pass from center. The two halfbacks lifted him by these straps and hurled him bodily over the opposition. "It was always good for a few yards", said Mr. Rardin, "but I didn't get the kick out of that play that the other boys did, especially after the time we ran it and it cost me a broken jaw!" Another favorite play was ~~ix~~ called the ~~thunderbox~~ "Buckarina". It consisted of the two ends criss-crossing in the backfield, both handling the ball. The last ~~xxxxxx~~ recieve r gave it to the waiting fullback who spun ~~xxxxxx~~ around and went straight up the middle.

~~Thissix~~ There were only twelve men on that 1904 squad and nobody ever came out to practice. They made up plays in the huddle or ~~x~~ called them from the line of scrimmage. There were no training rules whatsoever and at times there were no players. To remedy this situation Coach Rardin picked up a few Cattletsburg stalwarts who were always ready to fill in when needed.

Milan Zban 4-4-4-4-4

Enrollment in the college was unnessesary, the only requirement was that the boy be rough, tough~~x~~ and reckless. Mr. Rardin recalls some of his players never used a headgear. The hard-headed ones let their hair grow during the entire season until it became a thick ~~er~~ protective matt and served to ward off~~x~~ any blows aimed at the skull. They also let their beards grow all week long ~~er~~ so their faces would be ~~toughened for the coming game.~~ toughened for the coming game.

Since there was no athletic field of any consequence nearby, the boys played their games at Cliffside Park in Kittlettsburg. ~~The~~ ^A games attracted about 100 persons and they were seated in makeshift bleachers. Women hardly ever came to see a football game." Either because it was too bloody or because it was considered uneithical or unladylike" said Rardin.

According to Mr. Rardin football was really rough in the 1900's. Some parents forbade their youngsters to play the game for fear of a serious injury.

On road trips the squad dressed in their hotel rooms and walked to and from the playing field in their equipment.

Zban 5-5-5-5-5

Some of Mr. Rardin's "boys" came out of football in one piece and went on to make good for themselves. There were the ~~Sharps~~ Sharp twins, George Winters and ~~Stummers~~. Both played tackle and George ~~Stummers~~ is a one time Secretary of State while brother ~~Stummers~~ became a Federal judge. Also in the line were now prominent Huntington citizens like Kemper Shelton of , Frank Glass, Charley Wheat Cy Young and Mr. Roy M. "Legs" Hawley. (81)

In a 1908 Marshall College yearbook there is a description of the football captain, Summers Sharp. "He was rather lean, but powerful through the shoulders. Best game was at Cincinnati. His opponent had to wipe blood from some fresh wound in his anatomy after each ~~my~~ play. His opponent was Yeardley of W.V.U. fame. He ~~mix~~ blocked punts, smeared interference time after time. His pre-game speech is recored. He said, "We are now facing the hardest proposition of the season, yet one of the easiest if we play together. Give me team work, for you own glory boys, and for the glory of the school, and we will give these Buckeyes such a drubbing that after the game they will sing that beautiful song " ~~Stummers~~ Show Me The Way To Go Home" The ball game ended in a tie. One of the outstanding backs in the contest was a lad called ~~Smithson~~ "Gentleman John" Hawley. He was so called because whenever he kicked an opponent on the shins, he always said, "I beg your pardon". It was in that same season that ~~Kemper~~ Mr. Kemper Shelton ran ninety yards for a touchdown against Morris-Harvey, the longest run of the year.

In 1909 Marshall played such teams as Ashland Y.M.C.A., Parkersburg M.S.B.C. and Charleston A.C. That year they lost to Morris-Harvey 5 to 0. (a touchdown in those days counted only five points while a ~~kick~~ goal after touchdown was worth two points)

It was in this same year that Huntington High School fielded a football team. They actually played and beat Morris-Harvey College by three touchdowns, 18-0. Odell, McKnight and Persinger played good ball that day for Huntington High. They went on to defeat Iron ton and Charleston and lost to Portsmouth, due to injuries 57-0.

The following year Boyd Chambers took over the Marshall coaching reins and guided them through eight fairly successful seasons. His best year was in 1917, ^{more} when his squad won seven, lost two and tied one, ~~xxx~~ scoring up to that time the most points ever scored by a Marshall team in a single season, 267 ~~points~~ points. Their opponents got only 76.

~~xxx~~ Two years prior to that Douglass High School played its first game. The year was 1915, their coach was and still is, the amiable Mr. Zelma ~~Davis~~ Davis. According to Mr. Davis his job was that of teacher, not of a coach, but one day some of his students came to him and asked that he coach a team which they hoped to form. Since there weren't enough boys in the school to make a team, they enlisted the aid of several boys from the community.

The boys from Douglass and their teacher-coach played and beat a Negro team from St. Albans 37-0. Some of the boys who played on that ~~first~~ first team were Dr. ~~Ky~~ K. Elliott, now a Huntington dentist, Gardner Dickinson and Dr. Jesse Carter, a Logan dentist. It was Dickinson who came to Coach Davis with the idea of an Athletic Union for Negro High Schools. Dickinson wrote to boys in from other schools in the state and arranged a meeting in Parkersburg where they organized ~~and organized the Athletic~~ what is now the Athletic Union for all for all Negro High Schools in the ~~xxx~~ state. ~~there~~ more

Zban 8-8-8-8-8

The thing got so big that the school principals decided to take the snowballing project into their hands. In 1917 the Union was a working organization which now includes 38 schools in the state of West Virginia.

In 1915, '16, '17 Douglass was declared state champions. In 1918 they were also state champs, but Coach Davis laughingly recalls since it was during a war they managed to schedule a single game. They won it and claimed the title on that basis. (34)

When ~~1919-1920~~ the fall of 1919 rolled along Marshall ~~College~~ College fielded a team that went through eight games without a defeat, the best record thus far. ~~They~~ They scored 302 points to their opponents 13. The next year, 1920, was just the reverse, Marshall lost eight and won none. Army beat them that year 38-0. A Marshall yearbook tells how some of the players that season didn't know how to play football and had to go to nightly sessions after practice to learn the rudiments.

Just seven years earlier Huntington High, under Coach J.L. Patterson won the state championship. ~~They~~ They rolled over the ~~life~~ over the opposition at will ~~and lost~~ but lost to Charleston in a sea of mud 6-0, a team they had ~~previously~~ beaten earlier in the season. Huntington's captain Forrest Freutell, who also captained the track and basketball teams led his squad over such ~~teams~~ as the Marshall College Reserves, the Morris-Harvey Reserves, beating both ~~teams~~ handily.

In 1920 Huntington High lost only ~~seven~~ one game as they ran up 239 points to their opponents 71. Johnny ~~Stuart~~ Stuart, considered by some the greatest athlete ever to come out of Huntington, was responsible for most of the scoring. Douglass won the state Negro championship that year for the fifth time.

The 1923 Huntington High squad became state champions and some of the players were: "Fat Fred" Fitch, now a Physical Education at Marshall College, and Hunter "Hunk" Williams, a great end and pass receiver. Williams, along with Tag Haeberlin and Oogie Meisel were chosen All-State, it marked the first time three boys from one school got more than two boys on an All-State team.

BOB FRIEDLY, SPORT NEWS EDITOR

The Marshall College Big Green will be seeking their second win of a nearly completed season, tomorrow night at Fairfield Stadium, when the Wofford College Terriers arrive for a 7:30 encounter. Victory has eluded the Big Green since September 26 when they downed Morehead 40-0, but Marshall is determined to make this a "must" game.

The Big Green close out the season next week against Ohio University, the Mid-American Conference leader.

Coach Conley T. Snidow, Sixth South Carolina, team lists Mike Hobbins, 205, as Arnold Nalley, 205, or Jack Cooksey, 190, as late RB.

The game will mark the second meeting of the two schools in their history. Last year, Wofford walked off with a 41-21 decision at Spartansburg, South Carolina. This year the Terriers have a new coach in Conley T. Snidow, former Princeton High School athlete, who switched the team from the single wing to the split-T. Snidow uses his own variation of the split-T. He uses his fullback almost exclusively as a flanker.

Marshall quarterback John Chmara, the Mid-American passing leader, is expected to take to the air to offset one of the nation's finest small college ground attacks. Wofford has gained 1917 yards on the ground out of

A record breaking trio of backs are the main cogs in the Wofford ground game. Foremost among the Terrier rushers is halfback Joe Hazle who is currently ninth best small college back in the nation in rushing. Hazle has eaten up 693 yards in the nine Wofford games, and needs only 32 against Marshall to set an all-time season rushing mark for the school. Quarterback Sherry Awtrey could also set a school mark against Marshall. Awtrey leads ~~the-state-of-South-Carolina~~ all South Carolina college scorers with nine touchdowns only one short of the Wofford season scoring record. Halfback Jimmy Brock set the single game rushing record for the school last week against Catawba when he picked up 130 yards. (99)

The Marshall--Wofford game has been officially dubbed "West Virginia High School Night" with high school players and coaches invited to attend. Invitations have been sent out to high schools throughout the southern part of the state and up along the Ohio River as far north as the panhandle. No indication has been given of the number of high schools that will attend.

Bob Friedly, Sport News Editor

The Marshall College Big Green will engage in limited workouts this week in preparation for the final game of the season against Ohio University, the newly crowned Mid-American Conference champions, Saturday afternoon at Fairfield Stadium. Coach Herb Royer explains the shorter practice sessions as a preventive measure against injury and as a "rest" for his overworked squad.

"We have about twelve or thirteen boys who are playing 90% of the time and we can't afford to put them through long practices this week," he said.

The squad was cut to twenty men with the loss of senior (111) quarterback and passing ace John Chmara. Chmara, currently second in the Mid-American Conference in passing, had his college career ended one game early with a torn ligament. The stocky little quarterback completed three of five aeriels for two touchdowns in the 26-26 tie with Wofford Friday night before his injury. He returned to action briefly in the fourth quarter but his knee buckled and he fell.

As a result of Chmara's loss, Royer will have to continue his backfidded shifting maneuvers this week. Henry Hinte will move from right halfback to quarterback to fill Chmara's post. Hinte has filled the spot ably several times this season. Dyke Six will probably move into the vacant right halfback position.

End Jim Swierczek, once again, will be called on for considerable backfield duty. "Swize" was back at end for most of the Wofford game and responded by grabbing five passes for two scores.

(Friedly--Marshall Big Green)

His five catches strengthened his grip on third place in the Conference pass receiving statistics. Swierczek's two scores elevated him to eighth in the Mid-American in scoring with 36 points.

Further changes may include the shifting of left half-back Paul Long to one of the other backfield positions.

Royer had stated after the Wofford game that he was somewhat disappointed over the "let-down" in the last quarter which permitted the Terriers to score nineteen points and tie the score. He added today that most of the players were tired, and the fine Wofford ballclub were "slow getting organized," but proved themselves in that final period.

Although the Marshall-Ohio U. game this Saturday afternoon will ring down the curtain on the football careers of twelve Marshall seniors, six of the dozen plan to remain in the gridiron sport in the capacity of coaches. Of the remaining six, two plan to sign professional baseball contracts, one may make his home in Texas and run a shoe store, while another wants a public relations job. One senior will continue his studies at Marshall by working towards a Masters degree and the last has aspirations to be a sports writer.

When June rolls around seven plan to serve in the Armed Forces, but Paul Long is a veteran and his immediate plans include a job with Carbide and Carbon Co. of South Charleston as a public relations man. The 27 year old Long has a wife and three children and he feels that the sooner he goes to work, the better off he'll be. "I like to get out and meet people that's why I prefer a public-relation job," explained Long.

Jim Swierczek and Carl Nutter have major league baseball scouts after them and both plan to go into pro baseball after they receive their sheepskins. Swierczek feels he will get drafted before he plays any baseball, but "Two years isn't so long, I'll be 23 when I get out and that's not too old to start a pro career." On the other hand Nutter is married and has a child on the way so he has no immediate draft worries. He says, "I'll have my fling at pro baseball and if I'm not good enough I can always fall back on my education and coach."

Garland Barnhart, who wasn't able to finish this season because of a broken arm, will stay on at Marshall and work on a Masters degree in History. He will graduate next January with an A.B. in Physical

He has no draft worries being classified 4-F due to an old knee injury.

He plans to coach and teach General Science.

Fullback Jerry Jones, Guard Carl Barger and End Lowell Stanley will become commissioned Second Lts. in the Marine Corps. upon graduation. All would like to enter the coaching field. Guard and Co-Captain Phil Milano is'nt going to wait for the Army to draft him, hes going to join the Air Force in June. "After my four years are up I want to come back to West Virginia to coach and teach school," he said.

(Arithmetic Tests---1)

A series of arithmetic tests for school children of grades three through six have been worked out by a West Virginia and Ohio educator and have been published for experimental purposes by Silver Burdett Company.

The tests, titled "Measuring Power in Arithmetic," are designed to determine a pupil's understanding, skill and problem-solving ability. They were prepared by Dr. Robert Lee Morton, professor of education at Ohio University, with Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, dean of Marshall's Teachers College, serving as contributing consultant. (120)

The published tests were distributed recently to selected schools in numerous ^{communities} ~~states~~ and were given to 18,000 boys and girls of grades three through six.

Teachers who administered the tests have been requested to comment on the suitability of each for the grade level upon which it is based. These comments will determine whether changes must be made before "Measuring Power in Arithmetic" is placed on sale throughout the country.

Each arithmetic measurement tests heretofore have been so designed as to cover children of several grades---grades 4, 5 and 6, for example. As a result, children of the lower grades in the group have been unable to work some problems because they have had no experience in the arithmetical processes they represent. The Norton-Wilburn tests are designed to cover accurately, in content and grade placement, the curriculums of modern schools. There is a full, thorough test for each grade, every item of which is within the range of the pupil's experience.

"Measuring Power in Arithmetic" is so written that it may be used as a supplement to a series of arithmetic books in general use in American public schools. The books are titled "Making Sure of Arithmetic." Its authors are Robert Lee Norton, Herle Gray, Elizabeth Springstun and William L. Schoof.

Silver Burdett Gossard Company, publisher of this book series and the new arithmetic tests, has publication offices in New York, Chicago, Dallas, and San Francisco. (72)

Dr. Wilburn has been dean of Marshall's college for teachers since 1947. Prior to coming to Huntington he was assistant professor of education at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Ia.

He was former rural school teacher in Frederick County, Virginia and elementary school principal and assistant school superintendent in Berkeley County.

He wrote a chapter in the book, The Fiftieth Yearbook of the National Society for Study of Education. The chapter concerns the development of a supervisory program in the teaching of arithmetic. He also has contributed to the Elementary School Journal and the Mathematics Teacher.

BOB FRIEBLY, SPORT NEWS EDITOR

Ohio University coach Carroll Widdoes, mindful of last year's 21-21 battle that Marshall played with his Bob cats, is a bit wary of Saturday afternoon's Ohio University--Marshall game. The Big Green has a habit of playing their best game against the Bobcats and with the Mid-American Conference title already wrapped up by Ohio U, Widdoes may fear a possible team "let-down".

Widdoes complimented Marshall end Jim Swierczek this week saying that Swierczek was "one of the best football players he has seen all year."

Despite the Ohio coach's supposed fears, the Big Green will be decided underdogs when they take the field Saturday afternoon at 2 PM against the conference champs. Ohio has been victorious in six games, losing only to Harvard and tying powerful Miami 7-7. Marshall will make a bid for its second victory in nine starts, in the game which will see the end of playing careers for ten Big Green seniors.

The two main Bobcat offensive threats are end Lou Sawchik and halfback Tom Ascani. The 6'4" 205 pound Sawchik is an outstanding candidate for Little All-American and All Mid-American Conference honors. Sawchik has caught 27 passes for 433 yards and six touchdowns this season. The big flanker doubles as a place-kicker, booting 18 out of 25 extra points.

Sawchik is not only a familiar figure to Marshall gridgers, but also to the Big Green basketball team. Sawchik was a top OUCager last year and was instrumental in the 91-87 overtime win that Ohio nailed down against Marshall.

Coach Herb Royer of Marshall had no comment to make today on the Big Green's chances against the Mid-American Conference champion Ohio University Bobcats at Fairfield Stadium, Saturday afternoon. The game will mark the sixteenth meeting of the two schools, seven of which Ohio has won and six ~~which have~~ ~~XXXX~~ ended in ties. ~~XXXXX~~ The game will be the season final for both schools.

Royer ran his gridgers through a regular practice session this afternoon with Henry Hinte at quarterback, Jim Swierczek at left halfback, Dyke Six at right halfback and Jerry Jones at fullback. Hinte, a starting halfback, will run the signal-calling job, this weekend, after John Chmura was injured last week. (130)

One of the Big things that the Big Green are working on for the Ohio University game, is some method of stopping the gigantic Bobcat end Lou Savchik. Royer said that the 6'5" Little All-America candidate, end halfback Tom Asconi, Ohio's leading ground gainer, are "constant threats."

March 11 guard Carl Berger from Dayton, Tennessee, was named "linebacker of the week" by the Parthenon, Marshall student newspaper, after his performance against Wofford last week. Berger's teammates voiced almost unanimous approval of the selection. One squad member remarked that "he's so consistently good that no one notices him." Another chimed in with "Berger's the unsung hero--the kind you always read about."

The veteran guard broke through from his defensive end spot against Wofford several times to break up the Terrier spread formation.

Herb Royer's 1954 football squad will have a lot of new faces in the starting lineup. Most of these new faces will belong to boys who are now on the freshman team. With twelve members of this year's football club graduating in June, it will be up to the 29 frosh to fill in the vacancies.

Boasting a wealth of husky linemen and hard running backs, the frosh, who will be sophomores next fall, hope to make next year The year in football for the Big Green. Leading these hopefuls are Quarterbacks Bill Zban of Youngstown, Ohio and Bob Lee of Walton. Zban is a long, lean six footer whose main forte is his strong right passing arm. more

Lee is a clever signal caller who does most of his chucking from the port side. Both handle the ball well and direct backs like Granville Zopp of Meadow Bridge, George Templin of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Freddie Freeman of Fairland, Ohio, Bill Cox of Pennsborro, Bob Crews of Beckley, Jim Wells of Wheeling, and Rod Woodbury of Cattlesburg. Zopp impressed fans and coaches alike with his hard, quick plunges through the line. Templin runs well out of the fullback slot and kicks the ball a country mile.

Against the Ohio U. frosh he kicked one for 61 yards and on the next attempt he sent one for 81 yards. Freeman, Cox, and Woodbury like the open field and ~~xxx~~ all are hard to bring down. Crews and Wells run well up the middle, ~~xxxxxx being the ones in the line on trap plays~~ Crews has power while Wells is more deceptive on wide plays.

Snapping the ball back to the Quarterback from the pivot position will be Rany Scott of Hinton, Stan Malecki of North Plainfield, N.J. and Charley Tanner of Beckley. Scott blocks well on trap plays up the middle and is an A-1 snapper, Malecki is a huskey, well built youngster who looks good backing up the line. Tanner is a tireless worker, and smart play diagnoser and also a rugged linebacker. more

Leading interference out of Royer's conventional T will be guards Bob Loudermilk of ~~Exeter~~ Bourberstville, Don Adkins of Charleston, Irvin Wilson of Belfry, Ky. Jim McEldowney of Bridgeport, and Art Thompson of Huntington. Loudermilk should blossom into a sharp blocker, but needs speed down field. Wilson is very aggressive and can move into the middle linebacker spot in a five man line with no trouble at all. McEldowney and Thompson need speed and polish, but both are capable blockers and tough ~~defenders~~ on defence. Don Adkins speed may cause ~~Royer~~ him to be shifted to the backfield. He is aggressive, but lacks ~~six~~ size.

(154)

Looking across the line at Marshall opponents next year will be tackles Jim Clay of Delbarton, Jim Deuley of Wellsburg, Art Katzer of North Plainfield, Carl Milhouse of Tronton, Dick Slater of Nitro, and Flynn Varney of . Clay and Milhouse were the regular frosh tackles. Both have size and should improve under the guidance of Coach Sam Clagg. St. Clair and Katzer are big and rough on defence while Slater and Deuley, ~~run like a pair of halfbacks~~ although big, run like a pair of halfbacks.

Coach Royer will have six frosh ends to look at in spring practice. All are big and able receivers. Gene Blake of Huntington and Dick Athey are tricky and hard to move on defence. Blake may be shifted to halfback because of his speed and ability "turn the corner" while Athey was on the receiving end of many of quarterback Zban's passes. Bill Barrett of ~~Barbourville~~ Barbourville and Campbell Platt of North Plainfield, N.J. are hard to move on end runs and both could develop into ace pass-snatchers.

Bill Dan Ray of Barbourville ~~and Ed Skillman of Ohio Wesleyan~~ is a big fellow and is good for hook passes. Ed Skillman, moved from quarterback to end is a sharp tackler. He ~~xxx~~ is versatile and can play where ever he is needed.

Bob Loudermilk and Bill Zban co-captained the frosh to a one win, two losses sea son. They defeated Ohio U. 13-7 in their last game.

ROYER DOESN'T FEEL THAT OHIO U WILL "LET-UP" EVEN THOUGH THEY WRAPPED UP THE MID-AMERICAN CROWN LAST WEEK.

Except for Monday, Royer has been sending his squad through light workouts this week. He stated earlier that his players were more in need of rest than condition at this stage of the season. Twelve or thirteen squadmembers have had to play more than 90 per cent of the time because of the lack of depth.

The visiting Ohio University team will be matching a 6-141 record against Marshall's 1-5-1, but the Bobcats are expecting no easy time against the Big Green. They remember the two ties that Marshall has played with them in 1951 and 1952. Then too, Marshall this season has "looked good in losing."

This is a pictorial visit to Marshall College in Huntington, West Virginia. It provides an overview of a leading West Virginia institution of higher learning. It takes you momentarily into the departments that make up Marshall's diversified program of service to the state through education.

Marshall College starts its educational service at the first grade level. A child may enter the Laboratory school at the age of six years. And he may remain here to complete his elementary and high school training. Then, without even leaving the campus, the student may take college work leading to specialization in his chosen field. Bachelor's degrees are obtainable in many fields and the Master's degree is offered in some areas. Or due to research, such as this dealing with animal intelligence, contributes to social or scientific progress.

The fields covered by Marshall College's curriculum extend from art---with the opportunity it offers both young and old for creative self-expression.....

To zoology---with the knowledge it gives of the origin and forms of life---the birds that wing their way to the ends of the earth, the walking or crawling creatures and those that swim in the dark recesses of the sea.

For a quick view of the fields in which you may receive training at Marshall, let's go first to the department of business administration. Here the student becomes familiar with the exact problems that will confront him in business. His teachers are educated men with broad business backgrounds. They plan business courses so that the student learns quickly from the broad field of human experience. This produces business graduates who are ready to assume responsible positions in their areas of specialization.

Students planning to become engineers can take ~~the~~ professional work at Marshall. Here they can build that solid scientific foundation needed for success in every type of engineering.

What is more basic in American life than good homemaking? The know-how for improving the home from the basement to the attic can be obtained in Marshall's Department of Home Economics. Better homes make for happier citizens and citizens with the right slant on life produce a better society in general. Marshall's home economics program enables women to become specialists in every aspect of house work. It also produces able teachers who can go out and teach others how to improve their homes.

Chemistry is another important area of student training at Marshall College. Young people are taught to take key positions in the great chemical industries so important to the American way of life.

Next to knowing life, the educated person should know the earth that makes life possible. In Marshall's department of geology, the student can familiarize himself with the planet upon which we live---the soil which grows our food, the rocks which provide building materials and the minerals which man ~~searly~~ needs in his daily life.

Without communication human beings are like isolated islands in the sea. And Marshall College speech courses are intended to give the student facility in effective communication. Those who seek a speech career, as for example in radio, may learn the fundamentals of this work by using Marshall's modern radio studio equipment.

Next to personal communication is mass communication as provided by persons specially trained in journalism. Marshall College's Department of Journalism turns out men and women to staff the newspapers, industrial publications and radio or television news rooms of the state. They learn by writing for actual publication or broadcast.

Some people of perfectly normal intelligence face psychological or physical obstacles in learning to communicate effectively. They cannot speak clearly. Marshall College provides a special clinic to help such people. Trained psychologists get to the roots of their trouble and enable them to start a new life of unimpeded speaking.

Marshall has a separate college devoted to training public school teachers. Hundreds of young people come here every year to receive the broad educational background required for teaching in elementary and high schools. Classroom theory is supplemented by many hours of practice teaching in the Laboratory school. Whether it is showing children how to draw....

....or coordinating youthful energy into a good basketball team, practice teaching lays the groundwork for one's usefulness in the state school system.

Marshall's day and night plan of operation brings the advantages of higher education to every member of the family--- those who work during the day as well as those who can devote their full time to studies.

Students, like those filing into the Marshall College Science Hall, subscribe to the philosophy that evening hours are study hours. They can select from a broad field of evening course offerings.

Marshall's influence is not confined to the campus in Huntington. Through extension courses, people ~~throughout~~ ⁱⁿ southern and central West Virginia can upgrade themselves through further study. Marshall faculty members make weekly motor trips to neighboring cities, to teach classes selected by the residents of a community. This training leads to college credit which can be applied to a degree or to a teaching certificate.

After the undergraduate program has been completed, the ambitious West Virginian can enter Marshall's graduate school for more advanced study. After this rigid training has been finished, the graduate student may go out into the world and assume ever greater responsibilities.

Outstanding among the types of training offered at Marshall College is that of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Well-minded young men with sound bodies are schooled in the techniques of national defense. Trained educators who are also army officers teach them the discipline required for an efficient military unit. And college students, while increasing their education in any field, play an important part in the nation's protection against possible enemies.

All these activities and others, too, combine at Marshall College to produce an effective and extensive program of higher education---a system which you help to make possible.

THE Marshall College Big Green takes on tough Ohio University at Fairfield Stadium, tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 PM, in the season final for both clubs.

It'll be the end of the line for eleven Big Green seniors, including one of the most effective passing combinations in the school's history. Oak Hill quarterback John Chmara and end Jim Swierczek of Seth will be outstanding losses. Chmara, who will not play tomorrow due to injury, and Swierczek collaborated on the ninth longest scoring pass play in the nation, last year, as they performed an 86 yard masterpiece against Kent State. This year the pair almost duplicated the feat when they chalked up an 82 yard score against Miami on the first play from scrimmage. Chmara has led the team in passing for two years now, and Swierczek has topped the pass catchers for all three of his varsity years. (174)

The 5'11" 175 pound Swierczek has picked up nearly a mile of yardage since he came up to the varsity in 1951. He has caught 96 passes for 1631 yards and sixteen touchdowns in his career.

Tackle Milan Zban, end Lowell Stanley, guard Phil Milano, guard Carl Barger, center Gil Smith, halfback Paul Long, fullback Jerry Jones, quarterback Carl Nutter, and injured fullback Phil York are the others who won't be around next year.

(with art)

Mrs. Florence Wallet Troutman, who became a freshman at Marshall College at the age of 48 "to keep up with her children," is winding up her college career this semester and will receive her master's degree at Marshall in January.

She is a ~~candidate~~^{candidate} for the degree of Master of Arts with a major in English. (78)

Mrs. Troutman is the wife of a Huntington physician, Dr. Holmes F. Troutman, and has two daughters who are graduates of Marshall and one son who is now a junior majoring in journalism.

Her ambition as a girl was to become a trained nurse and she began her training at the Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. While serving as a registered nurse, she met Dr. Troutman and "it wasn't long," as Mrs. Troutman jokingly says, "before we decided to get married and save doctor bills."

Twenty-one years later she decided a nursing career was not enough for her, and besides she didn't particularly care for the idea of her children getting ahead of her in school; so she enrolled in Marshall College. She received her English bachelor of arts degree in 1951, the same year that her son, Russell, received his diploma from Huntington High School.

Mrs. Troutman's interests are many and varied. As to music one may find her deeply intranced in a particular opera classic or jitterbugging to a "real gone" Be-bop record.

After she completes her work for her master's degree, she plans to tour Europe and visit some of the literary shrines there.

UP AT THE MARSHALL CAMPUS THEY'RE STILL TALKING ABOUT THAT BIG GREEN UPSET OF OHIO, SATURDAY---AND THEY PROBABLY WILL FOR A LONG TIME. MARSHALL, AS YOU KNOW, BEAT THE MID-AMERICAN CONFERENCE CHAMPS ON A FOURTH QUARTER FIELD GOAL BY BOB "GUNNER" MILLER, A FORMER HUNTINGTON HIGH GREDDER.

COACH HERB ROYER, JUST ~~BE~~ COMPLETING HIS FIRST YEAR AT MARSHALL, WAS HIGH IN PRAISE OF HIS TEAM. ROYER SAID THAT THEY WERE " A FINE HARD WORKING GROUP OF BOYS." HE ADDED THAT HE HATED TO LOSE THE ELEVEN SENIORS ~~HERE~~ AFTER ONLY A SINGLE YEAR OF WORKING WITH THEM.

ROYER, LIKE EVERYONE ELSE, IS A LITTLE UNCERTAIN JUST WHAT HAPPENDED TO INSPIRE HIS SQUAD TO DUMP THE BOBCATS, BUT, HE SAYS THAT THE BIGGEST FACTOR WAS THE SENIORS DESIRE TO MAKE AN IMPRESSION IN THAT LAST COLLEGE GAME. (192)

THE SPIRIT OF THE TEAM WAS "VERY GOOD" ~~XXXXXXXXXXXX~~ DURING THE GREATER PART OF THE SEASON, ACCORDING TO THE BIG GREEN MENTOR. "IT WAS DISAPPOINTING THAT SO MANY INJURIES KEPT US FROM EVER GAINING FULL STRENGTH."

ROYER SINGLED OUT SEVERAL BOYS WHO IMPROVED QUITE A BIT DURING THE SEASON. THE IMPROVEMENT OF BOYS WHO WEREN'T COUNTED ON TOO MUCH AT THE START OF THE SEASON HELPED KEEP THE TEAM SPIRIT UP. SOPHOMORE ELLIOTT DYKE SIX WAS ONE OF THE BIG SURPRISES. SIX BLOSSOMED INTO FIVE DURING AGAINST NORTHEAST WHEN HE GAINED 174 YARDS. THE QUARTERBACK, M.V.A., 170-POUNDS FOUND UP ABOUT IN SECOND QUARTER, STOOD IN DOUBT, AND IN FOURTH IN LAST QUARTER.

THE RETURN OF ELLIOTT JERRY JONES TO ACTION WAS ANOTHER MORALE BOOSTER. JONES SET OUT THE FIRST PART OF THE SEASON WITH A BRUISED KNEE.

Senior left halfback Paul Long walked off with the Marshall Big Green ground-gaining championship this year, beating sophomore Dyke Six by the margin of a single yard. Long, who is the oldest man on the Big Green roster at 27 and the father of three children, moved into the Marshall backfield only this year after playing his first three years as a guard. Long gained a net 272 yards.

End Jim Swierczek was the leading scorer and pass receiver, as he caught ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ 27 passes for six touchdowns and 36 points. The stellar flankman accounted for 496 yards on pass (193) receptions and 73 yards rushing in this his senior year.

John Chmara, 180 pound Oak Hill senior quarterback, was one of the Mid-American Conference's outstanding passers even though he missed two complete games because of injuries. Chmara completed 46 aeri@ls out of 110 attempts for six touchdowns. His passes provided Marshall with nearly a half mile of yardage during the season as he rolled up a total of 705.

The Marshall team members will be ineligible for the All-Mid American Conference selections that will be released sometime this week, according to Bob Howard, Conference Publicity man. Since Marshall's season record does not count in the Conference standings, Big Green players will not be voted upon.

(Arithmetic Tests---1)

A series of arithmetic tests for school children of grades three through six have been worked out by two educators-- a West Virginian and an Ohioan--and have been published for experimental purposes by Silver Burdett Company.

The tests, titled "Measuring Power in Arithmetic," are designed to determine a pupil's understanding, skill and problem-solving ability. They were prepared by Dr. Robert Lee Morton, professor of education at Ohio University, with Dr. D. Banks Wilburn, dean of Marshall's Teachers College, serving as contributing consultant. (997)

The published tests were distributed recently to selected schools in numerous communities and were given to 18,000 boys and girls of grades three through six.

Teachers who administered the tests have been requested to comment on the suitability of each for the grade level upon which it is based. These comments will determine whether changes must be made before "Measuring Power in Arithmetic" is placed on sale throughout the country.

Each Arithmetic measurement test heretofore ^{has} ~~have~~ been so designed as to cover children of several grades---Grades 4, 5 and 6, for example. As a result, children of the lower grades in the group have been unable to work some problems because they have had no experience in the arithmetical processes they represent.

The Morton-Wilburn tests are designed to cover accurately, in content and grade placement, the curriculums of modern schools. There is a full, thorough test for each grade, every item of which is within the range of the pupil's experience.

"Measuring Power in Arithmetic" is so written that it may be used as a supplement to a series of arithmetic books in general use in American public schools. The books are titled "Making Sure of Arithmetic." Its authors are Robert Lee Morton, Merle Gray, Elizabeth Springstun and William L. Schaaf.

Silver Burdett Company, publisher of this book series and the new arithmetic tests, has publication offices in New York, (198) Chicago, Dallas, and San Francisco.

Dr. Wilburn has been dean of Marshall's college for teacher's since 1947. Prior to coming to Huntington he was assistant professor of education at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Ia.

He was former rural school teacher in Frederick County, Virginia, and elementary school principal and assistant school superintendent in Berkeley County.

He wrote a chapter in the book, The Fiftieth Yearbook of the National Society for Study of Education. The chapter concerns the development of a supervisory program in the teaching of arithmetic. He also has contributed to the Elementary School Journal and the Mathematics Teacher.

The Marshall College Big Green basketball team will go into action next week, ~~xxxxx~~ scarcely before the excitement of the Marshall upset football victory over Ohio University has worn off. Coach Sam Henderson's cagers will begin a tough 21 game schedule with West Virginia Wesleyan, December 5, at the Memorial Fieldhouse.

All-American Walt Walowec will lead a thirteen man squad into action next week. The stubby Logen senior needs only twenty-four points this season to break the all-time Marshall scoring mark for four years ---which is about the only point-producing record that he hasn't already smashed. Charlie Slack, 6'5" rebound ace, is back to hold down the center slot, and also forward alternates Dave Robinson and Herbie Morris.

Replacing ~~graduated~~ graduated guards Sid King and Jack Ferguson seems to be Henderson's biggest problem. Carl York and Jerry Gillen are good possibilities to fill the vacancy.

Besides the six lettermen already mentioned, the Big Green has five ~~letter winners~~ letter winners working out. ~~With~~ They are Bob Bias, Frank Cram, Ray Frazier, Paul Hopper, and Bob Lowe. Lowe and Hopper earned their letters two years ago, but did not play last season.

Two newcomers are also working out with the squad. Senior Bob Bradley of Charleston, and junior Paul Jones of Dunbar.

(Chamber Huang)

Chamber Huang, born in Shanghai, started harmonica playing under a Chinese harmonica teacher at the age of six. After a few years of study the student became better than teacher and already as a youngster he was showing his talent for music. Mr. Huang graduated from St. John's University in Shanghai and he was able to pass all music studies with flying colors.

From the moment Chamber Huang was on his own and everything he achieved on his instrument technically and musically afterwards, was the result of self-taught and experimenting. At the age of fourteen he began taking on pupils, all boys of his age, teaching them all he knew, and earning his first ~~partly~~ pocket money which was to cover the expenses of his manifold experimenting in building new and better harmonicas. (212)

At sixteen, about thirty of his students were trained well enough to start ensemble playing. So Chamber Huang formed his first harmonica band of thirty members of whom every single boy was his pupil. In the last "Farewell" concert he gave in 1947 before leaving China, this band had grown to nearly hundred performers, and the program presented was an ambitious all-classical one. The self styled virtuoso--teacher--conductor was then almost twenty-one years of age.

Since leaving Shanghai, Chamber Huang has been concertizing extensively in the Far ~~East~~^E and Europe. His successful appearances include engagements over the British Empire Overseas Radio Stations in Hong Kong and Singapore; British Broadcasting Corporation in London; as soloist with Symphony Orchestra; in Trossingen, Germany, where he gave a concert for five thousand enthusiastic workmen of the famous M. Hohner Harmonica Factory; etc.

Recently Chamber Huang became a resident of the United States where he is now busy rapidly building his popularity and fame. His very successful concert recitals, radio and television appearances in this country, including television appearances on the Henry Morgan Show NEC-TV, Buddy Rogers Show WGR-TV, and the Cavalcade Of Bands Dumont-TV in which he was featured with his newly invented Life Harmonica, have earned for him the recognition from the public and press as "The Outstanding Harmonica Virtuoso Of the Day!"

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- November 30, 1953

Hall of Fame Coach Cam Henderson will reveal his 1953-54 Big Green Saturday night, when the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats come to town. Wesleyan will be seeking vengeance for two losses to Marshall last year, including a 115-85 thumping in the Antlers Invitational Tournament at Elkins.

Marshall will endeavor to extend a fourteen game home winning streak, Saturday night. The last time that the John Marshall cagers were beaten at the Memorial Field House was at the hands of Eastern Kentucky two years ago. Last season the home slate went unmarred through thirteen games.

Marshall hardwood fans who watched the Big Green roar to a 20-4 season last year will have an opportunity to find out just how valuable Sid King and Jack Ferguson were. The outstanding guard pair were the only two men lost via graduation. Henderson has had some difficulty finding back courtmen who can work the ball in as well as the two grads did. (3/4)

Carl York, 5'11" of Mullens, and Jerry Gillen, 6'2" of Chesapeake, Ohio seem good bets to start at the guard positions, Saturday. York is a good dribbler, set shot, and ball handler, coupled with considerable speed and experience. Gillen, a sophomore, is a good man under the boards and scores with a one hand jump shot. Paul Hopper, Wayland, Kentucky junior, and Bob Bias, Huntington sophomore are also topnotch guard candidates.

The other Big Green positions are not so much of an uncertainty. Big 6'5" 215 pound Charlie Slack, the nations fourteenth best small college rebounder last year, will be in his sophomore season at center. Slack scored points at the rate of better than fourteen a game in his freshman year to add to his offensive talents.

Helms Foundation All-American Walt Walowac, who averaged 29.1 points per game, controls a forward post and the all important middleman spot on the fast break. The 5'11" jump shot ace may see action at guard since Henderson has an abundance of proven forwards. Three men are currently scrapping for the other forward job. Wheeling junior Dave Robinson and Herbie Morris of Huntington alternated last year with Robbie holding a 222 to 189 scoring margin. Asnland, Kentucky senior Bob Lowe didn't play last season but rolled up 186 points during 1951-52 as a forward starter. Lowe is a valuable man because of his ability as a "natural" left hand shot. The position carries with it the responsibility of handling the left side of Henderson's famed fast break.

Marshall's Big Green opens the 1953-54 basketball campaign, Saturday night at Memorial Fieldhouse ~~against~~ against the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats. The Bobcats will be seeking revenge for two defeats at the hands of the Big Green last year, one of which was the 115 to 85 thumping. handed to them in the Antlers Invitational Tournament.

A couple of items will highlight the Wesleyan game. Coach Cam Henderson will begin his 19th season at the helm of the Big Green. And, the Marshall cagers will be after their 15th straight win on the home floor. They were invincible there last year taking 13 out of 13 games. Eastern Kentucky was the last team to beat Marshall at home. They turned the trick two years ago. 2/16

Henderson is still undecided on the starting lineup. "Crafty Cam" says that it's hard to replace fellows like graduated guard Jack Ferguson and Sid King.
