

Marshall University

Marshall Digital Scholar

Marshall University News Releases

University Archives

4-1-1982

Marshall News Release, April, May, June, 1982

Marshall University

Follow this and additional works at: https://mds.marshall.edu/marshall_news_releases_archives

Part of the Higher Education Commons

I
1.7
Apr-June 1982

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 1, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Huntington-Marshall University Chorale, directed by Dr. Wendell Kumlien, MU professor of music, will present its spring concert at 8 p.m. Monday, April 5, in Smith Recital Hall.

The event is free and open to the public.

The 30-voice choir will present a program of love songs in two parts. The first half of the program will feature Brahms' "New Love Song Waltzes," 15 love songs written in Viennese waltz style.

"Songs of Broadway Music Theater" is the theme for the second half which will include show tunes from "South Pacific," "My Fair Lady," "Most Happy Fella," "The Music Man," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Mame," "Funny Girl," "Sound of Music" and "Gypsy."

Huntington area soloists for the program will be Leo Imperi, Wendy Painter, Helen George, William Glover, Melanie Glover, Elizabeth Gee, Kenneth Beaty, Nancy Beaty, Norma McDonie, Joyce Kumlien, Dorothea Slack, Danielle McQueen and Ruth Crowe. Linda Curtis will be the accompanist.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 2, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Individual Events (IE) team placed second in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Forensic Association-sponsored state championships held last weekend (March 27-28) at Parkersburg Community College.

Led by Melissa Phelps, a Wheeling sophomore who took first place in three events and second in one, the team was runner-up to Glenville State College in both the IE and Grand sweepstakes.

Ms. Phelps won the persuasive speaking, informative speaking and extemporaneous speaking divisions and placed second in impromptu speaking.

Ed Heaberlin, Huntington junior, placed second in prose interpretation. Fifth place rankings were won by Bernie Kröllinger, Triadelphia junior, in extemporaneous speaking and informative speaking; Peter Layne, Sissonville freshman, after-dinner speaking, and Laura Leslie, Winfield freshman, teamed with Heaberlin, dramatic duo. Taking sixth place in drama duo was the team of Mike Gothard, Huntington freshman, and Ed Napier, Kenova junior.

All eight members of the MU team qualified for competition in the National Forensics Association-sponsored national championships which will be held at Ohio State University April 22-26, according to Dr. William N. Denman, MU associate professor of speech and team coach.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 2, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NOTE: ROBERT LEUCI WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR MEDIA INTERVIEWS AT 2:30 P.M. MONDAY, APRIL 5, IN MEMORIAL STUDENT CENTER 2W37.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Robert Leuci, the New York City narcotics detective whose undercover exploits were the basis for the best-seller book and movie, "Prince of the City," will speak at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Monday, April 5, in Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room.

Leuci's campus appearance is sponsored by the MU Student Activities Office's Contemporary Issues Committee. The program is free and open to the public.

Now retired from the NYC Police Department, the 41-year-old Leuci was a member of an elite narcotics squad which investigated the "big busts." Turning informer for the prosecutor's office--whether because of a sense of self-preservation or disgust at abuses--Leuci has been credited with helping to provide evidence which led to the indictment of more than 50 narcotics detectives.

Writing in the October, 1981, issue of Life, Loudon Wainwright said that Leuci is considered an authority on narcotics control and the administration of criminal justice, and especially on the bad habits of lawyers, policemen and members of the mob. Considering the extreme disregard in which he is still held by people in all three groups, Wainwright noted, "Leuci is fortunate to be alive at all, much less making well-tailored and entirely unprotected public appearances" to promote the movie and Robert Daley's book.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 2, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Approximately 1,500 juniors and seniors from 44 West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky high schools are expected to be on Marshall University's campus Saturday, April 3, for the fourth annual Academic Festival.

The festival, sponsored by SCORES (Search Committee on Recruiting Excellent Students), is sort of an "Academic Olympics," in which some of the region's most gifted students vie for scholastic honors, according to Dr. Claire Horton, festival coordinator.

Competitive events ranging from standardized tests and essays to scientific experiments have been designed by nearly three dozen of Marshall's academic departments.

Awards will be presented to the first, second and third place winners in each event and the school compiling the greatest number of points will receive a trophy. Paul Blazer High School of Ashland, Ky., has won the trophy since the festival's inception. Each student competing will receive a certificate.

Registration will be conducted at 8 a.m. in Memorial Student Center Lobby and the first competitions will begin at 9:45 a.m.

West Virginia schools expected to participate will be: Barboursville, Buffalo of Wayne, Charleston, Charleston Catholic, Dunbar, DuPont, Huntington, Huntington East, Hurricane, Milton, Nitro, Parkersburg, Parkersburg Catholic, Parkersburg South, Point Pleasant, Ravenswood, Ripley, St. Albans, St. Joseph of Huntington, Sissonville, South Charleston, Stonewall Jackson, Valley, Vinson, George Washington, Wayne, Williamson, Winfield, Cabell County Senior High Gifted Program and Kanawha County Senior High Gifted Program.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Schools in Ohio registering for the competition include: Bloom Local (South Webster), Fairland, Ironton, Oak Hill, Portsmouth, Rock Hill, St. Joseph Central of Ironton, South Point, and Wheelersburg.

Kentucky schools sending competitors will be: Paul Blazer of Ashland, Holy Family of Ashland, Raceland, Russell and Sheldon Clark of Inez.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 2, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's effort to recruit academically-outstanding students are paying off--and the Marshall Foundation needs $56,636.

Foundation Executive Director Bernard Queen today announced the launching of a special fund drive to raise additional money earmarked for academic scholarships.

"For some time now, Marshall has been making a strong effort to recruit 'stars' of the classroom, just as our Athletic Department attempts to attract outstanding athletes," Queen said. "While the academic recruiting work does not receive as much publicity, in many ways it is as intense as the efforts of the coaches in various sports.

"As part of the academic recruiting, we offer scholarships covering tuition and registration fees to students achieving a grade point average of 3.5 or more and a score of at least 21 in the American College Testing (ACT) program," Queen said. "The Marshall Foundation has provided the money for those scholarships.

"The recruiting effort has been particularly successful this year. Figures compiled by Student Financial Aid Director Edgar Miller indicate an increase of 43 percent in academically-outstanding high school seniors applying for Marshall scholarships. This flood of applicants exceeds the money the Foundation has available for that purpose, so we're going out to raise more," Queen said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"We need another $56,636 and we will beat the bushes until we get it. Marshall wants those outstanding students. They enhance the university and they offer our state its best hope for the future," he added, "so we are calling on the alumni and friends of the university to help Marshall meet this challenge through a special fund drive."

Contributions may be sent to Marshall University Foundation, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701. Donors may note "Special Fund" on their checks to earmark the gifts for the academic scholarships, Queen said.

A successful drive will increase the amount of money available for academic scholarships from $321,404 to $378,040, permitting the university to assist 661 academically-outstanding students during the 1982-83 term, Queen said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 4, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Wind Symphony will present its spring concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, in Smith Recital Hall, according to Dr. Richard Lenke, conductor.

The event is free and open to the public.

Highlighting the program will be a performance of the "Enterprise Overture" by MU composer-in-residence Paul W. Whear, who will be guest conductor for the work.

Also on the program will be Williams' "Symphonic Dance No. 3," Tchaikovsky's "March Slave," Grafulla's "Washington Grays," Tull's "Sketches on a Tudor Palm," Shostakovich's "Hamlet Suite," and the finale from Saint-Saens' "Symphony No. 3," which will feature Dr. Robert D. Wolff, MU professor of music, on the organ.

Members of the Wind Symphony include: BARBOURSVILLE--Matthew Wolfe; CHARLESTON--Judy King, Mia Maselli and Lisa Crow; CLARKSBURG--Richard Crowley; CLENDENIN--Patricia Cobb; CRAIGSVILLE--Jamie Morgan; EAST BANK--John Hopkins; ELKVIEW--Susan McCamey; HUNTINGTON--Sam Coen, Kristi Maeland, Mark Miller, David Eddins, Sidney Tweel, and Frank Barnett; HURRICANE--Lisa Hudkins, Denise Schrimsher, David O'Neal and Nancy Simmons;

LOGAN--Joe Dick Hardin, Stephen Slater and Paula Flimm; MADISON--C. Russell Webb; MASON--Kenneth Bond; MIDDLEBOURNE--David Neff; MIDKIFF--John Johnson; MILTON--Lisa Caviani; NITRO--Ronald Emerson; PARKERSBURG--Charles Peterson and Randall Burke; ST. ALBANS--Theodore Keown and James Groscup; SOUTH CHARLESTON--Scott Byrne; VIENNA--Greg Leach; WAYNE--Joan Mullins and Kenneth Stultz; WINFIELD--Stephanie Stadler and Charles Cook;

(MORE)

2-2-2

OHIO--Panda Boster, Chesapeake; Alice Grubb, Coal Grove; Anita Campbell, Crown City; Kevin Shope, Ironton; Kenneth Johnson, Lucasville; Hayden Lloyd, Oak Hill; Terri Chapman and Tommy J. Willis, Proctorville; NEW YORK--Robin Boccock, Binghampton; Maureen Law, Medina; INDIANA--Ronald Short, Angola; VIRGINIA--Michael Otter, Woodbridge.

#/#

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 6, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Artists Series' Forum Division will present "A Celebration of Spain in Song and Dance" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 7, in Smith Recital Hall.

Admission will be by season membership only, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, MU cultural events coordinator. "We have had such a demand from the students that we will be unable to sell tickets at the door for this performance," she said. MU students with ID cards will be admitted free.

The program features Angela del Moral and Pascual Olivera, performing Spanish classical and folk dances accompanied by Juan Serrano, Flamenco concert guitarist, and Cacharrito de Malaga, Flamenco singer.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 6, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--New techniques in working with learning disabled (LD) children will be explored in a one-day spring conference scheduled Saturday, April 17, at Marshall University's Memorial Student Center.

Speakers for the conference include Suzanne Stevens, author of "The LD Child: Ways Parents Can Help," and Dr. Joyce Steeves, adjunct professor at Johns Hopkins University and consultant to the Jemicy School, a college preparatory school for dyslexic children.

The conference, which is co-sponsored by the MU College of Education and the Huntington Area affiliate of the West Virginia Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, is designed not only for educators and psychologists, but also for parents of LD children.

"An LD child is one who has average or above intelligence, but who is not performing as well as he or she should," explained Dr. Barbara Guyer, Marshall's LD Program coordinator and speaker for the conference. "After failing for a period of time, the LD child may begin to develop emotional problems which are often more obvious in adolescence than the learning problems," she added.

"The key to improving the lives of LD children lies in early diagnosis and prevention rather than attempting to help after years of failure," she continued.

"Interestingly enough, the techniques used in working with LD children are also effective in working with most children."

The deadline for registration is Monday, April 12. Additional information on the conference, which runs from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., may be obtained by calling Dr. Guyer at 696-2340.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 6, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Artists Series' Forum Division will present "A Celebration of Spain in Song and Dance" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 7, in Smith Recital Hall.

Admission will be by season membership only, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, MU cultural events coordinator. "We have had such a demand from the students that we will be unable to sell tickets at the door for this performance," she said. MU students with ID cards will be admitted free.

The program features Angela del Moral and Pascual Olivera, performing Spanish classical and folk dances accompanied by Juan Serrano, Flamenco concert guitarist, and Cacharrito de Malaga, Flamenco singer.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 7, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--One of the world's foremost authorities on genetics, Dr. Victor A. McKusick, will visit the Marshall University School of Medicine on Tuesday, April 13, as the Huntington Clinical Foundation Distinguished Lecturer.

In addition to meetings with medical students and faculty, McKusick will present a free, public lecture on "Genetics in Health and Disease" at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room, Memorial Student Center.

The lecture will be of interest to the general public as well as the medical and scientific community, according to Dr. C.W. Jones, Continuing Medical Education director for the school.

McKusick is Department of Medicine chairman and the William Osler Professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. He also holds appointments as professor of epidemiology at Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health and as professor of biology on the university's arts and sciences faculty.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins, he completed residency training at Johns Hopkins Hospital and has been on the university's faculty since 1947.

An honorary life member of the American Genetic Association, he is a past president of the American Society of Human Genetics and holds membership in numerous professional, scientific and scholarly societies. A Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of London, McKusick is a corresponding member of the French National Academy of Medicine. He also served as president of the International Medical Congress from 1974 to 1978.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The recipient of the 1972 John Phillips Award from the American College of Physicians for distinguished contribution in internal medicine, he also has received honorary degrees, including one from the University of Liverpool.

He also has received the Silver Medal from the University of Helsinki, the William Allan Award of the American Society of Human Genetics, the Gairdner International Award, and numerous other honors.

The author of 13 books in his field, McKusick is associate editor for several of the major medical journals.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 7, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Students in the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism at Marshall University won more awards than those from any other school at the Region IV, Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi Convention April 2-4 at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

With six awards including three first places, Marshall won two more certificates than any other school in the four-state area of Michigan, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Marshall's first-place finishers were Meria Dawson Broomes, Huntington freshman, news photography; Kathy Young, Huntington senior, radio spot news, and Doug Sheils, Huntington senior, television spot news.

Steve Hauser, Charleston senior and editor of the university newspaper, The Parthenon, placed second in editorial writing, and Todd Meek, Huntington junior, was third in feature photography. In the category that drew the most entries (58), Michael Bailey of Kenova placed third in feature writing.

There were 230 entries in the 14 categories of competition, according to Region IV Director Michael Kelly, business editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Twenty-eight certificates were awarded.

The convention, attended by 22 students and four faculty members from Marshall, featured Pulitzer Prize winners David Halberstam and Bob Greene as speakers.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"I am especially pleased with our showing in this competition, particularly when the size of schools we compete against is taken into consideration. Our winning more awards than any other school in our region is certainly a tribute to the talent and dedication of our students and faculty," Dr. Deryl R. Leaming, director of the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism, said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 8, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Mark Simpson of Lesage, a graduate student in art at Marshall University, will have an exhibit of his work on display April 12-16 in the Birke Art Gallery.

The exhibit will open Monday, April 12, with a 7 p.m. reception and will feature paintings, drawing and prints.

The Birke Gallery is open weekdays from noon to 4 p.m. and is located on the first floor of Smith Hall.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Robert L. Bradley, professor of surgery and anatomy, has been appointed chairman of the Marshall University School of Medicine's Department of Surgery, Dr. Robert W. Coon, school dean, announced today.

The appointment of Dr. Bradley, who has been with the medical school since 1975, is effective immediately, the dean said. Bradley was serving as acting department chairman. He succeeds Dr. George J. Hill who served as chairman from May, 1976 through June, 1981.

"A native of West Virginia, Dr. Bradley is well known and respected by his colleagues. He has performed effectively and enthusiastically in any role the school has assigned him and we are pleased he has accepted this new challenge," Coon said.

Prior to joining the MU medical faculty, Dr. Bradley was chief of staff for education and acting chief of the surgical service at the Lexington (Ky.) VA Medical Center. He also served as chief of the surgical service at the Huntington VA Medical Center from 1951 to 1970.

A graduate of West Virginia University, he received his M.D. degree from Northwestern University and a Ph.D. degree in anatomy later from the University of Kentucky.

(MORE)

2-2-2

He took residency training at Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago, Ill., and at VA Medical Centers in Milwaukee, Wisc., and Roanoke, Va. A brigadier general in the U.S. Army Reserve, he was on active duty with the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1943 to 1946 and is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College.

In 1964, he was appointed assistant professor of surgery at the University of Kentucky College of Medicine. An American College of Surgeons Fellow, he also is active in other professional organizations.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Results from the National Residency Matching Program show 11 members of the Marshall University School of Medicine's 1982 graduating class will take their residency training with West Virginia.

All of the 23 students in the class were accepted into excellent graduate training programs, according to School of Medicine Dean Robert W. Coon. "We are also very proud to be sending students to some of the nation's most prestigious medical training centers as well," Dr. Coon said.

"It is particularly gratifying to have three of our graduates going to Bowman Gray School of Medicine--one of the most highly respected schools in the nation," he added.

"Since we are still a new school, our graduates need to demonstrate to themselves and others the quality of our program and we need the exchange with residents from other schools in our own programs lest we become too isolated or inbred. This would be imperative even if we were a long-established school," the dean said.

Of the 11 students selecting residency programs within West Virginia, 10 will study at Marshall and one in Wheeling. Electing to remain at Marshall are: Gretchen E. Oley and Thomas B. Styer, both of Huntington; James M. Bennett, James W. Matthews and Lee B. Smith, all of Charleston; Donald L. Chaffin of Prestonsburg, Ky.; Kim M. Jordan of Petersburg; Michael E. Kilkenny of Ballard, Curtis A. Winter of Weirton, and Richard A. Yocum of Moundsville.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Wheeling native Kenneth K. Kline will go to Wheeling Hospital, while Brian Fawcett, also of Wheeling, has elected for residency training with the U.S. Navy.

Going to North Carolina Baptist Hospital-Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Wake Forest University are Virginia K. Blevins of Chapmanville, John G. Boswell of Princeton and Ron D. Stollings of Danville.

Students from Huntington heading elsewhere for additional training are Joseph E. Evans and Rose Goodwin, Ohio State University Hospitals, Columbus; Elizabeth F. Kemp, University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington, and Clayton L. Walker, William Shands Hospital-University of Florida, Gainesville.

Robert W. Keefover of Fairmont will go to Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N.Y., and Michael P. Kruger of Logan will train at University of Connecticut Affiliated Hospitals in Farmington. Charleston natives Steven D. McCarus and Katherine M. Stone will go to the greater Baltimore Medical Center and Cincinnati General Hospital-University of Cincinnati, respectively.

The students will receive their M.D. degrees at Marshall's commencement program scheduled for Saturday, May 8, at the Huntington Civic Center. They will begin their residency programs on July 1.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Anthony G. Crutchfield, a graduating senior at Marshall University, is one of 11 students selected nationally to participate in a summer internship in broadcasting.

Crutchfield, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Crutchfield Sr. of Roanoke, Va., was chosen by the International Radio and Television Society (IRTS) to spend eight weeks this summer working with network personnel in New York City.

The broadcasting major was one of 1,100 students who competed for the internship and was one of 25 selected to attend the IRTS Faculty/Industry Seminar and College Conference held earlier this year.

During the conference, held at the Harrison Conference Center, Glen Cove, N.Y., he participated in seminars and workshops dealing with the broadcast industry, according to Dr. Dorothy Johnson, MU Speech Department chairman.

"Tony becomes the second Marshall student to participate in the internship program," Dr. Johnson said. "In 1978, John Sadler of Charleston, who is now at ABC-TV in New York, was selected as one of the interns," she added.

"With only 11 of these internships offered, it is a tribute to Tony and to the department that he was selected. He will have an opportunity to work with broadcasting professionals on the network level that few students receive," she noted.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Crutchfield, who has been a part-time announcer for WKEE-FM since 1980, hopes to do his internship in the programming area of ABC-TV.

Crutchfield has held an Army ROTC scholarship for three years and has been a recipient of the MU Broadcasting Scholarship and the Huntington Advertising Club Scholarship.

During his college career, he has worked with WMUL-FM, the campus radio station, in various capacities, including special show producer, announcer, music director and as a member of the sports staff. In 1980 and 1981 he received a Certificate of Outstanding Service to WMUL-FM.

A recipient of a Distinguished Military Student Award, he also is a member of Scabbard and Blade Military Honorary Society.

Crutchfield will receive the B.A. degree in speech/broadcasting at Marshall's commencement on May 8 at the Huntington Civic Center.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 10, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The social impacts of the Mount St. Helen's ashfall will be discussed by a Marshall University Home Economics Department alumna in a free, public lecture at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 12, in Corbly Hall 270.

Dr. Marsha Lynn Roberts, a magna cum laude graduate of Marshall, will discuss how the volcanic ashfall affected the residents of eastern Washington State. She will be using information from a study she conducted while assistant professor of child and family studies at Washington State University.

Serving as co-investigator on the project, which was supported by the National Science Foundation, was Joye J. Dillman, assistant professor of child and family studies at Washington State.

A former research fellow with the Center for Family Research at George Washington University Medical Center, Dr. Roberts currently is president of Audience, Inc., an independent consulting firm headquartered in Ithaca, N.Y.

She earned the M.S. degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University and holds the Ph.D. degree from Pennsylvania State University.

A member of several honor societies, she also holds membership in the National Council on Family Relations, the American Home Economics Association and the Western Association of Sociology and Anthropology.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 10, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The West Virginia Foreign Language Teachers Association's Continuing Education Conference will be held at Marshall University Friday and Saturday, April 23-24.

Deadline for registration will be April 14, according to Dr. Harold T. Murphy, MU professor of modern languages and campus arrangements coordinator for the conference.

Approximately 200 secondary schools and college foreign language teachers are expected to attend the two days of workshops, seminars and business sessions, Murphy said. Marshall's Modern Languages Department will host the conference which will be held in Corbly Hall.

Protase E. Woodford, associate director of the International Office of the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., will present the keynote speech at a 7 p.m. dinner on Friday, April 23, in Memorial Student Center. His topic will be "Evaluation and Standards."

Sessions include discussions of drama in the foreign language classroom, how to organize a high school language club, mastering pronunciation, and travel. The state affiliates of the American Associations of Teachers of French, Spanish/Portuguese and German will conduct business meetings on Saturday.

Registration fee will be $15 for both days, including Friday's dinner session, $10 for Friday events only, and $6 for Saturday session. Registration should be sent to Clara White, 9 Diana Drive, Fairmont, W.Va. 26554. Additional information may be obtained by calling Marshall's Modern Languages Department at 696-6730.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 11, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Artists Series' Student Division will present Rob Inglis in a one-man production of Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 13, in Old Main Auditorium.

Tickets are available from the Artists Series Office, located in Memorial Student Center 1W23, at $ for adults and $2 for youth age 17 and under. MU students with ID and Activity cards will be admitted free. General admission tickets may be reserved by calling the Artists Series Office, 696-6656 or 696-5436.

Inglis' dramatization follows the main thread of Frodo's quest to destroy the ring, relying on the audience's imagination. "All audiences have their own private pictures which I don't interfere with--I just stimulate them," said Inglis.

In his performance, Gandalf, Gollum, Orcs and the Lord of the Nazgul on his winged monster are all presented through change of voice, added Inglis, who has acted with the Royal Shakespeare, National and Royal Court Theatre companies. "They are all extreme types, fairly easy to differentiate," he added.

Inglis has toured Britain, the United States and Europe with one-man versions of "The Canterbury Tales," based on Coghill's text, and "Shakespeare in Persons," which presents conflicting portraits of the bard's life.

The appearance of Inglis in "Lord of the Rings" on the student series was made possible with financial assistance from the Arts and Humanities Division, West Virginia Department of Culture and History.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 12, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Tickets for Marshall University Theatre's production of "Romeo and Juliet" go on sale today (April 12) at the Theatre Box Office, located in Old Main 107.

One of Shakespeare's best-known plays, "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented by an all-student cast at 8 o'clock nightly April 21-24 in Old Main Auditorium. The romantic tragedy, directed by Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech, will feature Dan Henthorn of New Martinsville as Romeo and Kendra Lanette Egnor of Huntington as Juliet.

Reserved seat tickets at $2.50 each may be purchased weekdays between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Ticket orders also may be placed by telephoning the box office, 696-2306. MU students with Activity Cards will be admitted free.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 12, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Marshall University student, Kelly Kearfott of Follansbee, has been selected as Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) Province V Leader of the Year.

The 20-year-old graduate student will be one of 12 ODK province leaders competing for ODK's National Leader of the Year Award which will be announced later this spring, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, Marshall's ODK advisor. ODK is a national leadership honorary.

Candidates from 17 colleges and universities in Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western West Virginia vied for the Province V title. Nominees are judged on leadership potential as shown through scholastic achievements and campus and community involvement.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kearfott of Follansbee, Miss Kearfott graduated summa cum laude from Marshall in December, 1981, and now is enrolled in the MU Graduate School.

A zoology major, she has been accepted by the Marshall University School of Medicine and West Virginia University's School of Medicine for Fall 1982. Miss Kearfott has been president of Alpha Epsilon Delta premedical honorary and vice president of Chi Beta Phi science honorary.

A member of the campus student chapter of the American Chemical Society, she has performed with the MU Flute Ensemble and appeared in several University Theatre productions.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Her volunteer activities include working with the Red Cross Blood drives, tutoring at the Guyandotte Boys' Club, serving as a big sister to youngsters under the state Department of Welfare's Friends Unlimited Program, and coordinating Marshall's Volunteers in Community Service (VICS) program.

Miss Kearfott has been a nursery school supervisor at Trinity Episcopal Church, a nursing home nurses' aide, a MU New Student Orientation advisor, and active in the Charleston Chamber Music Society's membership drive.

A Rhodes Scholarship candidate, she received the MU Honors Book Award in 1980 and the MU Theater Award in 1981. The recipient of the Dr. Francis Scott Endowment Scholarship and a Masonic Scholarship, she has a 4.00 grade point average.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 14, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Civil War historian and Marshall University alumnus Richard O. Curry will be the speaker for the MU History Department's 1982 Charles Moffat Lecture Series.

Dr. Curry, who earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Marshall, is professor of history at the University of Connecticut.

A native of White Sulphur Springs, Curry will present a free, public lecture at 11 a.m. Friday, April 16, in Smith Hall Auditorium. His topic will be "President Lincoln's War Against Slavery."

He will also address a dinner meeting of Phi Alpha Theta history honorary at 7 o'clock that evening at the Steak 'n' Kettle Restaurant.

Curry, who was a charter member of the Marshall Chapter of the history honorary, will discuss "Down Under: Recollections of a Fulbright Lecturer in New Zealand and Australia." Information concerning the dinner and reservations may be made by calling the History Department at (304) 696-6780.

The Moffat Lecture Series is named for the historian who taught at Marshall from 1946 until his retirement in 1977, having served as department chairman since 1968. Funding for the series was established through contributions to the Marshall Foundation, earmarked for this account.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 14, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HOMETOWN NEWS

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--South Point (Ohio) High School was the top winner in Marshall University's recent Academic Festival which drew nearly 1,700 high school students from 47 schools in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky.

South Point defeated the reigning champion, Paul Blazer High School of Ashland, Ky., which had held the top spot for the past three years, according to Dr. Claire Horton, festival coordinator.

Paul Blazer placed second, while Russell (Ky.) High School placed third in the in the scholastic competition. Trophies were awarded to the first, second and third place winners in each event and all students who competed received certificates.

Sherri Jones of South Point High received the Gerald von Stroh Award of $500 as the festival's most outstanding student, Dr. Horton said. She added that Stroh, a Huntington businessman, expects to make the award annually.

Winners and their schools in the Interdisciplinary Honors contest were Stephanie Musick, South Point; John Justice, Nitro and Edwin Leap, Barboursville.

Other winners, listed by schools were:

BARBOURSVILLE--Edwin Leap, first place, journalism-editorial writing.

BUFFALO of Wayne--Kimberly Leigh Harbour, third place, three-dimensional art; David W. Riggs, first place, management; Sandy Coleman, second place, sociology; Melinda Johnson, third place, sociology; David Marcum, first place, pantomime; Angie Williamson, second place, pantomime; Kimberly Leigh Harbour, third place, scene design.

DUNBAR--Kathy Duffy, third place, shorthand I.

(MORE)

FAIRLAND (Proctorville, Ohio)--Doug Workman, third place, world cultures.

HOLY FAMILY (Ashland, Ky.)--April Russell, first place, accounting; Mary Sabolsice, third place, biology; April Russell, second place, economics; Nick Bagnoli, third place, management; Mike Bagnoli, Kess Carper and John Foster, third-place tie, social work.

HURRICANE--Shawn McGehee, third place, theater-dramatic monologue.

HUNTINGTON--Taube Marie Cyrus, first place, English-poetry; Kelly Perry, first place, English-argumentative essay; Beth Carlson, first place, algebra II; Benjamin Cyrus, first place, music history; Bernie Cyrus, first place, music-piano; Taube Marie Cyrus, third place, nursing.

HUNTINGTON EAST--Phil Evans, first place, advertising; Robin Williams, third place, crafts; Robin Williams, first place, three-dimensional art; Jackie Mooney, first place, current events; Susanna Cower, second place, English-argumentative essay; Penny Booth, third place, English-short story; Jacie Mooney, first place, American studies.

IRONTON (Ohio)--Rhonda Sabo, third place, medicine.

MILTON--Jennifer Sullivan, first place, English-short story; Jennifer Sullivan, third place, news writing-journalism.

NITRO--Karen Osborne, third place, shorthand II.

PARKERSBURG SOUTH--Becci Barnett, third place, typing I.

PAUL G. BLAZER (Ashland, Ky.)--Lori Simmerman, third place, advertising; Tony Robinette, first place, American history; Mike Samples, third place, two-dimensional art; Leslie Skeens, second place, biology; Richard Eaton and Cara Stevens, third place tie, English-expository essay; Tony Robinette, first place, geography; Andy Hissam, first place, geology; Jeff Grimm, third place, geology; Tamme Quillen, first place, home economics-child development; Angie Greene, first place, health-physical education-recreation written and psychomotor; Greg Conley, first place, health-physical education-recreation psychomotor; Katie Johnson, second place, journalism-news writing; Lanette Colley, third place, music theory; Mike Dowling, second place, music-voice; Matthew Haase, third place, music-woodwinds; Joe Ellen Slone, third place, nursing; Steve Kimecak, third place, physical science; Amber Branham, second place, typewriting I.

(MORE)

POINT PLEASANT--Becky Collins, first place, medicine; Christy Long, third place, nursing.

PORTSMOUTH (Ohio)--Nancy Paul, first place, economics; Steve Liu, first place, algebra I; Tracy Chrisman, second place, algebra I; Flip Phillips, first place, music-percussion; Mary Baugman, third place, pantomime.

RACELAND (Ky.)--Peggy Hunt, first place, finance and business law.

RAVENSWOOD--Lori Lemon, first place, social work.

RIPLEY--Mark A. Poling, first place biology; Janelle Thomas, first place, chemistry; Marc A. Dolly, second place, chemistry; Michael Pendleberry, first place, computer science-general data processing; Steve Good, first place, American government.

ROCK HILL (Ohio)--Rhonda Collins, first place, shorthand II; Rhonda Collins, first place, typing I; Ginger Stallard, third place, typing II.

RUSSELL (Ky.)--Larry Grantham, first place, computer science-basic programming; Valerie Tomlin, second place, English-poetry; Sarah Drammond, first place, home economics-journalism; Steve Caudell, second place, algebra II; Chip Lewis, second place, music theory; Steve Caudill, first place, physical science; Patrick Peterson, second place, physical science; Maria Paquette, first place, political science; Valeri Riddlebarger, second place, shorthand II; Mike Fraley, first place, sociology; Barbara Williams, first place, typewriting II; David Wilkerson, second place, social work.

ST. ALBANS--Tammy Stanton, first place, shorthand I.

SHELDON CLARK (Inez, Ky.)--Shelia Dalton, second place, shorthand I.

SOUTH POINT (Ohio)--Suzanne Lester, first place, anthropology; Melinda Johnson, second place, anthropology; Amette Henthorn, first place, two-dimensional art; Trish Lilly, first place, crafts; Trish Lilly, second place, three-dimensional art; Jim Samons, third place, criminal justice; Brian Dickerson, second place, finance and business law; Angela Kelley, third place, journalism-feature writing; Tanya Chapman, first place, home economics-consumer education; Linda Bowen, first place, journalism-news writing; Rhonda Walls, second place, management;

4-4-4

Tim Burkes, third place, algebra I; Kim Sexton, first place, music-voice; Jeff Hinkle, second place, scene design; William Koster, first place, costume design; Valerie Jackson, second place, costume design; the school won second place in broadcasting.

VINSON--Jeffrey Glen Jackson, second place, computer science-general data processing.

WINFIELD--Nancy Peele, second place, typing II.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 16, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Joseph R. Fiszman, a native of Poland and now professor of political science at the University of Oregon, will present a free, public lecture at Marshall University on Tuesday, April 20, at 2 p.m. in Smith Hall 435.

Fiszman's topic will be "The Crisis in Poland," according to Dr. Jabir A. Abbas, MU professor of political science, who is coordinator for the Political Science Lectureship Program.

A former research scholar at Prague's Charles University, Fiszman earned his B.A. degree from St. John University in Shanghai, China, and his Ph.D. degree from Michigan State University.

A former director of Comparative Communist Systems at the University of Oregon, Fiszman has published numerous articles in various scholarly journals. He is the author of the recent book, "Revolution and Tradition in People's Poland."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--'New Approaches to Diabetic Management: Limitations and Practical Applications' will be the theme for the state meeting of the West Virginia Affiliate, American Diabetes Association, which will be co-sponsored by the Marshall University School of Medicine.

The one-day conference, scheduled for Saturday, April 24, at the Holiday Inn Gateway, will include a wide variety of workshops and seminars, according to Bruce S. Chertow, MU professor of medicine and chairman of the program planning committee.

"The conference sessions have been designed to provide information not only to health care professionals, but also to the general public," Chertow said. "In fact, we are encouraging attendance by diabetics and other persons who have an interest in this disease," he added.

The first session, an overview entitled "Insulin Treatment--What We Always Wanted To Know But May Have Been Afraid To Ask!", will begin at 8:30 a.m. The conference will conclude at 4:30 p.m. Additional information and registration details may be obtained by calling the program committee chairman, (304) 526-0558.

Appearing on the program as guest faculty will be Dr. John Davidson, Diabetes Unit director and professor of medicine/endocrinology at Emory University; Dr. Samuel Cataland, Clinical Research Center director and professor of medicine, Ohio State University; Dr. Steven Podolsky, Endocrine-Metabolic Section chief and assistant clinical professor, Harvard University; Dr. Margaret Albrink, professor of medicine, West Virginia University; Dr. Steven Grubb, associate professor of medicine, Charleston Division, West Virginia Medical Center, and Patti McDuffie, R.N., Diabetes Unit course coordinator, Emory University.

(MORE)

Faculty members from the host institution who will participate, in addition to Chertow, include: Dr. Nicholas Baranetsky, assistant professor; Dr. Samuel Biern, clinical instructor of medicine; Dr. David Charles, Obstetrics/Gynecology Department chairman; Dr. Roberta Gray, associate professor of pediatrics; Jane Fotos, R.N., director of Continuing Nursing Education; Dr. Claire Horton, associate professor of sociology/anthropology;

Dr. William Jennings, clinical assistant professor of pediatrics and clinical instructor of medicine; Marsha Mattison, R.N., diabetes education nurse, Family Care Outpatient Center; Dr. Robert C. Nerhood, clinical associate professor of obstetrics/gynecology; Dr. John F. Otto, clinical assistant professor of medicine; Dr. Donald Robinson, Pharmacology Department chairman; Dr. William I. Sivitz, assistant professor of medicine, and Dr. Robert B. Walker, assistant professor of community medicine.

Also serving as faculty will be Dr. H. Darrel Darby, Huntington podiatrist; Mary Catherine Hawes, Dietetic Services chief, VA Medical Center, and Dr. Joe Werthammer, Huntington pediatrician.

Topics to be covered include the insulin pump, pancreatic transplantation, complications of diabetes, sexual dysfunction, hypertension and drug interactions in the diabetic patient.

In addition, workshops will be conducted in the management of childhood diabetes, diabetes and pregnancy and the complications of diabetes.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University Theatre will present Shakespeare's romantic tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," at 8 o'clock nightly Wednesday through Saturday, April 21-24, in Old Main Auditorium.

Starring in the title roles will be Dan Henthorn of New Martinsville and Kendra Lanette Egnor of Huntington, according to the director, Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech.

Reserved seat tickets may be purchased at $2.50 each from the Theatre Box Office in Old Main 107 weekdays between 1 and 4 p.m. Ticket orders may be placed by telephoning the box office, 696-2306.

Other Huntington students appearing in the production include: Craig Johnson as Mercutio, Nadra Y. Carter as Juliet's nurse, Mitchell Compton as Juliet's father, Laura N. Phillips as Lady Montague, and David Smith as old Capulet.

Steve Freeman of Ona will appear as Friar Laurence, with Yvea A. Duncan of Logan as Lady Capulet, Juliet's mother. Joe McComas of St. Albans will be featured as Benvolio and George R. Snider III of Cincinnati as Tybalt. Joe Chrest of St. Albans will play Paris and Robert Drake of Charleston will portray Montague, father of Romeo.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Other members of the cast are David A. Kosar of Wheeling, Michael Gerwig of Ravenswood, Edward Napier of Kenova, David S. Parks of Moundsville, Troy D. Acree of Charleston, Jim Briscoe of Harrison, Ohio, Robert Sargent of Milton, Steve Hall of San Clemente, Calif., Marjorie Fitzsimmons of St. Albans, Laura Leslie of Winfield, Shelley Sypher of Proctorville, Ohio, Holly B. Faulkner Jr. of Craigsville, William K. Withers II of Ashton, Michael Feldhaus of Charleston, Norman L. Taylor Jr. of Ripley, Steve Roberts of Hamlin and John R. Mullens of Summersville.

Serving as assistant directors are Mallory Mansour of Huntington and Mullens. MU technical director Bruce Greenwood is in charge of scenic design and special effects.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Music Department will present a faculty chamber recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 20, in Smith Recital Hall.

Two ensembles will be featured, the Marshall Trio and the Kingsbury Wind Quintet, with assistance from Dr. Michael Cerveris, professor of music, and Mari Epling, director of the department's Music Preparatory Program, on piano.

The program, which is free and open to the public, will include Mozart's "Trio in E Major," Prokofieff's "Sonata for Cello and Piano," Persichetti's "Serenade No. 3 for Violin, Cello and Piano," and Poulenc's "Sextet for Piano and Wind Quintet."

The Marshall Trio is composed of Patricia Green, associate professor, violinist, James McWhorter, instructor, cellist, and Dr. James Taggart, professor, pianist.

Performing in the wind quintet will be Deborah Egekvist, instructor, on flute; Theodore Heger, assistant professor, on oboe; Thomas O'Connell, associate professor, on clarinet; Dr. Bradford DeVos, professor, on bassoon, and Dr. Richard Lemke, assistant professor, on horn.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Sports Fitness camp for children in kindergarten through the seventh grade will be held July 19-Aug. 6.

Dr. Robert Case, MU associate professor and chairman of the Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) Department, said this year's camp will be split into two age groups, one for children 5-7 (grades K-2), and one for children ages 8-13 (grades 3-7).

The groups for younger children will meet from 8 to 10 a.m. Monday through Friday, and will participate in sections on swimming, sports skills, new games, fitness activities and gymnastics. Cost for the younger children is $75 per camper. Reduced rates are available for families with more than one camper.

The group for older children will meet from 8 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday, and will participate in sections on swimming, gymnastics, diving, volleyball, fitness activities, tennis, badminton, weight training, softball, soccer, archery, wrestling, racketball, orienteering and basketball. Cost for older children is $95 per camper.

Both groups will meet at the Marshall University Henderson Center gymnasium, and will have full use of MU sports facilities, including the gymnasiums, swimming pool, track, weight room, tennis courts, racketball courts and athletic fields.

Campers will need gymnasium shoes, socks, shorts, towels, swimming suits and a lock. Lockers and one t-shirt will be provided. The camp will furnish all sports equipment and supplies, but campers may bring their own equipment.

Campers will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. There is a limit of 75 campers per section.

In addition to Dr. Case, Sports Fitness Camp staff consists of Dr. Patricia Eisenman, Dr. Robert Saunders, Dr. Betty Roberts, Mr. Jack Cook and Ms. Patti Bostic.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's School of Nursing will sponsor a series of one-day Emergency Care Workshops on Trauma for nurses and emergency medical professionals in Huntington, Point Pleasant and Logan, according to MU Continuing Nursing Education Director Jane Fotos.

The workshop sessions, which are co-sponsored by Region II, Appalachian Emergency Medical Services, Inc., are scheduled in Huntington on Tuesday, April 20, at the Holiday Inn Gateway; in Point Pleasant on Tuesday, April 27, at Pleasant Valley Hospital, and in Logan on Tuesday, May 4, on the campus of Southern West Virginia Community College.

The guest faculty will include Karen Sue Thacker, staff development instructor at Cabell Huntington Hospital and Larry R. Harrison, trauma nurse coordinator for Appalachian Emergency Medical Services.

"Studies have shown that the initial assessment and emergency treatment can determine whether trauma victims survive," Mrs. Fotos said. "It is the care provider involved in the emergency setting who makes the difference in extreme situations. Many deaths can be prevented if certain conditions are treated quickly and effectively," she noted.

Topics to be covered include head injuries, spinal cord injuries, thoracic injuries, major wounds, abdominal, pelvic and orthopedic injuries. An emergency ambulance will be used to demonstrate the latest emergency transportation techniques and technology.

Application has been made to the appropriate accrediting agencies for nurses, EMTs and other emergency medical personnel for 7.2 contact hours, Mrs. Fotos said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The registration fee, which covers syllabus, special handouts and lunch, will be $30 per person for the Huntington session and $25 per person for the Point Pleasant and Logan sessions.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Continuing Nursing Education Office, (304) 696-6750.

#

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Richard Crepeau, historian, author and sport enthusiast, will present two, free public lectures at Marshall University this week under the auspices of the MU Honors Program.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 20, Crepeau will discuss "What Happened to Sports Heroes: Social Tensions and Sport" in Memorial Student Center 2W22. On Wednesday, April 21, he will discuss "History: In the End You Can Never Prove a Thing" at 3 p.m. in Northcott Hall 209.

A professor of history at the University of Central Florida, Crepeau is the author of the recently published book, "Baseball: America's Diamond Mind, 1919-1941."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 22, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Artists Series Forum Division will close its 1981-82 season with a performance by the Mainz Chamber Orchestra at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 27, at Johnson Memorial United Methodist Church.

"The concert has been scheduled for Johnson Memorial in order to provide additional seating for the general public as well as for season members," MU Cultural Events Coordinator Nancy P. Hindsley said.

General admission tickets at $4 each for adults and $2 each for youth age 17 and under are available from the Artists Series Office, Memorial Student Center 1W22. They also will be sold at the door. Forum members will be admitted by season ticket.

Appearing with the orchestra will be American pianist Nina Tichman who will be featured in a performance of Bach's "Piano Concerto in D Minor." The program also will include Haydn's "Symphony No. 33 in E Minor," Mozart's "Sinfonia Concertante in E Flat Major," and Bartok's "Roumanian Folk Dances."

Conducting the orchestra will be its founder and musical director, Gunter Kehr. Kehr is considered by many to be one of the leading authorities on chamber music in the world today and is director of Germany's Mainz Conservatory.

A graduate of the Juilliard School, Ms. Tichman was the recipient of the school's Edward Steuermann Memorial Prize and a Fulbright grant. In piano competitions, she has won Italy's Busoni Prize and Berlin's Mendelssohn Prize. She is a member of the performing faculty of Amherst College Music Faculty and is a frequent guest at various international festivals, including Tanglewood.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 26, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's annual "spring homecoming," Alumni Weekend, is being held this year in conjunction with Marshall's commencement exercises.

Alumni Weekend, celebrating the theme "The Way We Were," is scheduled for May 7-8. Commencement will be held on Saturday, May 8.

Early arrivals for Alumni Weekend may attend a brunch from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, May 7, at the home of Marshall President Robert B. Hayes.

Friday evening, a reception will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. in Suite A of the Huntington Civic Center. Hors d'oeuvres and beverages will be provided.

On Saturday, commencement exercises begin at 11 a.m. in the Huntington Civic Center.

Following commencement, three events are scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. Campus tours will begin at 2 p.m. from the lobby of Memorial Student Center. A tour/reception at the Huntington Galleries also is set for 2 to 4 p.m., with transportation available from the Memorial Student Center.

The School of Journalism is having an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. in The Parthenon Office on the third floor of Smith Hall.

A social hour at 6 p.m. Saturday in the lobby of Memorial Student Center will precede the 45th annual Alumni Awards Banquet.

The awards banquet will begin at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room. The Classes of 1932, 1942, 1957 and 1972 and awards winners will be honored at the dinner.

Reservations for the brunch and the banquet must be made by Monday, May 3. For more information or tickets, contact the Alumni Office at (304) 696-3134.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 28, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 100 Tri-State Area public school educators are expected to attend the Special Invitational Forum on Leadership sponsored by Marshall University's College of Education this weekend (April 30-May 1).

Troy Mills, principal of Annehurst School, Westerville, Ohio, will be the lecturer for the forum to be held in Jenkins Hall 216-217, according to Dr. Ermel Stepp, MU associate professor of education.

Established in 1970 as a model elementary school, Annehurst, in collaboration with Ohio State University, has achieved international recognition for facility design, flexible curriculum and teaching innovations, Stepp said.

Mills, a former Martin County, Ky., school principal will conduct roundtable discussions on organizational development at 9 a.m. Friday and curriculum development at 1 p.m. that afternoon for participating superintendents, central office staff members, and high school and elementary school principals.

On Saturday at 9 a.m., he will discuss "The Principalship Tomorrow: Implications of Annehurst."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 29, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Awards totaling $5,000 have been presented to 23 Marshall University students as winners of the William J. Maier writing competition, sponsored by the Marshall English Department.

The awards were presented Thursday, April 22, by Edwin H. Maier, president of the Maier Foundation.

The winners were:

Freshman essays--first place tie ($500 each), Ralph Wadkins and Sandra Duncan, both of Huntington; third place ($300), Kelly Bragg of Huntington; honorable mention ($100 each), Chris Robinson of Winfield, Tamara Wysong of Princeton and Charlotte Oyler of Culloden.

Poetry--first place ($250), Taube Marie Cyrus of Huntington; second place ($150), Paula Wells of Huntington; third place ($100), Barbara Roush of Barboursville.

Fiction--first place ($300), Ruth Ann Hendrickson of New Haven; second place ($200), Diane McClain of Barboursville; third place tie ($150 each), Rose Davis of Huntington and Ralph Wadkins.

Upper division essays (unranked)--$100 each to Jane Hess and Stephanie Skolik, both of Huntington, Rebecca Phillips of Fort Gay and Michael Tolley of Beckley.

Graduate--first place tie ($450 each), Emily Wells of Wayne and Ruth Ann Hendrickson.

University Honors Program awards of $200 each were presented to David Lusty of Huntington and Jodi Woody of Victor, W.Va. Awards of $100 each went to Jeff Jones, Barry Wyant, Mary Aldred and Julia Moscatello, all of Huntington.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 30, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Two noted physician/educators will be speakers for pre-commencement activities of the Marshall University School of Medicine's 1982 graduating class.

Dr. Harold W. Brown, professor emeritus of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, will deliver the class' "Last Lecture" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, at the Huntington Galleries. "Medical Serendipity" will be his topic.

Dr. Milton Rosenbaum, MU distinguished visiting professor of psychiatry, will deliver the main address at the Doctoral Investiture Program which will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, May 7, in Memorial Student Center.

Dr. Rosenbaum's topic will be "On Becoming a Doctor--A Personal Reminiscence." He will administer the Oath of Hippocrates to the 23 graduating seniors as well.

Class awards and faculty awards will be presented at the Investiture Program by the class president and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs David K. Heydinger, respectively.

Senior Class President James M. Bennett of Charleston will preside at both programs and a reception will follow each event.

"The 'Last Lecture' and the Doctoral Investiture Program are open to the public as is commencement," MU School of Medicine Dean Robert W. Coon said. Commencement ceremonies will be conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday, May 8, at the Huntington Civic Center.

An internationally recognized parasitologist, Dr. Harold Brown is the former director of the School of Public Health at Columbia, where he taught from 1943 until retiring in 1970. Prior to joining the staff at Columbia University, he was dean of the University of North Carolina's School of Public Health and also was professor of preventive medicine and parasitology at Duke University.

(MORE)

He has published numerous papers and contributed to five major textbooks as well as being the author of "Basic Clinical Parasitology," which is in its fifth edition. Among the various honors accorded him has been the New York Academy of Medicine Medal in 1969.

In addition, Dr. Brown has served as a consultant on medical education and in health care to a number of countries, including Puerto Rico, Taiwan, Ethiopia, Haiti, Indonesia, Bali, Malaysia, Surinam and Korea.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, Dr. Rosenbaum joined Marshall's School of Medicine faculty in 1978. His teaching experience includes serving on the psychiatry faculty at the University of Cincinnati and at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine where he was Department of Psychiatry chairman.

A former National Institute of Mental Health Distinguished Visiting Scientist, Dr. Rosenbaum has served as visiting professor of psychiatry at several major medical schools here and abroad, including University of Puerto Rico, Georgetown University, Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School of Jerusalem, and the Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists.

He was director of the Paul Baerwald School of Social Work at Hebrew University from 1969 to 1971 and headed the Jerusalem Mental Health Center-Ezrath Nashim from 1974 to 1978.

Members of the 1982 graduating class and their hometowns are: Clayton L. Walker, Thomas B. Styer, Gretchen E. Oley, Elizabeth Kemp, Rose Goodwin and Joseph E. Evans, all of Huntington; James M. Bennett, James W. Matthews, Steven D. McCarus, Lee B. Smith and Katherine M. Stone, all of Charleston;

Brian Fawcett and Kenneth K. Kline, both of Wheeling; Virginia K. Blevins, Chapmanville; John G. Boswell, Princeton; Robert W. Keefover, Fairmont; Michael E. Kilkenny, Ballard; Michael P. Kruger, Logan; Ron D. Stollings, Danville; Kim M. Jordan, Petersburg; Curtis A. Winter, Weirton; Richard A. Yocum, Moundsville, and Donald L. Chaffin, Prestonsburg, Ky.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 30, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Charles R. "Rusty" Webb, a 20-year old Marshall University political science major from Madison, was elected state chairman of the West Virginia College Republican Federation (WVCRF) during the organization's state convention in Morgantown, on April 17.

Webb, a 1979 graduate of Scott High School in Madison, is the son of Russell G. and Sandra P. Webb of Madison.

Other members of the WVCRF elected to office were: Tom Hall, a West Virginia University chemistry major from Williamstown, vice chairman; Dan Polling, a West Virginia University political science major from Philippi, secretary, and Todd Gaziano, a WVU political science major from Charleston, treasurer.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 30, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Sixteen Marshall University Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets will be commissioned as U.S. Army second lieutenants at 8 a.m. Saturday, May 8, in the Special Dining Room of Memorial Student Center.

Major General (Retired) Robert L. Childers, former Adjutant General of the West Virginia Army National Guard will deliver the commissioning address and will present commissions and gold lieutenants bars to the graduating cadets before an audience of school officials, parents, friends and fellow students.

This commissioning represents the largest number of officers commissioned from the Marshall University ROTC program since December of 1971, according to Lt. Col. William F. Prow, MU Military Science Department chairman. To this date, the Marshall University ROTC program has commissioned 590 officers since its first commissioning ceremony in June of 1954. Among those commissioned in the past are three brigadier generals currently on active duty with the Army.

Among the new lieutenants are three who, because of outstanding performance and scholastic achievement, have been designated "Distinguished Military Graduates" and will receive Regular Army commissions. They are: Anthony G. Crutchfield, Roanoke, Va.; Max D. Lederer Jr., Lockport, N.Y., and James L. Spurlock III, Huntington.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Receiving commissions in the United States Army Reserve will be:
Tysis C. Fletcher, Lenore; Katharine L. Johnson and Pamela Sturm, Huntington; Michael D. Martin, Elkview; J. Steve Myers, Tornado; Wilfred J.
Plumley Jr., Hamlin; Richard D. Puckett, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Carol
L. Rogers, Gilbert; Robert H. Rorrer, Lakewood, Colo.; James M. Sparks, Princeton; Eric D. Stephenson, Parkersburg; Ronald W. Stiltner Jr., Ona, and William R. Taylor, Hagerstown, Md.

Persons interested in attending should contact the Marshall University
ROTC Department at 696-6450.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 30, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will formally award approximately 1,600 degrees at the annual Commencement ceremonies Saturday, May 8, Registrar Robert H. Eddins announced today. The program, to be held at the Huntington Civic Center, will begin at 11 a.m.

Governor John D. Rockefeller IV will be a special guest and will make brief remarks, Eddins said. Marshall President Robert B. Hayes will conduct the program and will deliver the charge to the graduates.

Eddins said 750 students completed work toward their degrees in the terms ending last summer and last December. Students enrolled in the current semester are taking final exams through May 7 and Eddins said he anticipated another 850 will qualify for degrees this term.

There will not be a formal Commencement address, Eddins said. In order to place more emphasis on the ceremonial aspects of Commencement, the university last year ended the practice of having a principal speaker. Instead, those receiving doctoral degrees will cross the platform to receive their academic hoods. This includes the 23 students making up the second graduating class of the School of Medicine.

The 1982 honorary degree recipient is 102-year-old Howard Burton Lee. Because of Mr. Lee's age, his honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree was presented to him in ceremonies near his home at Stuart, Fla., in March. A former West Virginia attorney general and a respected author, Mr. Lee is Marshall's oldest living graduate. His honorary degree citation will be read during the May 8 program.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Father Mark Angelo, who is being transferred after several years as the Catholic campus minister at Marshall, will deliver the invocation and the benediction, Eddins said. Music will be provided by the Marshall Wind Symphony, conducted by W. Richard Lenke, and the MU Symphonic Choir, conducted by Wendell Kumlien.

Eddins said the Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee will be host for a reception for graduates, their parents and the faculty in the Civic Center, immediately following Commencement.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 1, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Jack H. Baur, a Huntington hematologist/oncologist, has assumed the post of associate dean for clinical affairs at the Marshall University School of Medicine, Vice President for Health Sciences Robert W. Coon announced today.

As associate dean, Dr. Baur will coordinate the school's residency programs, serve as liaison for hospital-medical school relations and handle various other administrative duties. He also will be involved in medical student and resident education as an associate professor of medicine.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, Dr. Baur has practiced in Huntington since 1955 and has been a member of the Huntington Internal Medicine Group for the past 11 years.

New challenges and an opportunity to be involved in the education of young physicians attracted him to the post, Dr. Baur said. "It was a difficult decision to give up my practice, but this represented such a very different and challenging way to influence the region's health care that I could not turn it down," he added.

"As a full-time member of our administrative staff, Jack Baur brings a knowledge of the area's health care system gained from more than 25 years as a member of the local community," Dr. Coon said. "This knowledge combined with his enthusiasm for this new role will make him a most effective liaison between the school and medical community," he added.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, Dr. Baur is a member of the active staff at St. Mary's and Cabell Huntington hospitals. An American College of Physicians Fellow, he was the college's governor for West Virginia from 1970-75. He is a member of the Cabell County Medical Society, West Virginia Medical Association and American Medical Association. He also is a member of the American and West Virginia Societies of Internal Medicine.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 1, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Sharon Rockefeller will be the speaker for the Marshall University School of Nursing's pinning and awards ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 7, in Smith Recital Hall, Dr. Phyllis Higley, school dean, announced today.

Mrs. Rockefeller, wife of West Virginia Governor John D. Rockefeller IV, is a member of the West Virginia Women's Commission, co-chairman of ERAmerica and chairman of the board of directors for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

During the ceremony, nursing achievement pins will be awarded to students who have completed the Associate in Science in Nursing degree and Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree programs. Fifty-three students in the A.S.N. program and 18 in the B.S.N. program will receive pins. Special awards, including those for academic excellence, will be presented by Dr. Higley and Ruth Pearson, acting director of the B.S.N. degree program.

Pins will be presented to A.S.N. degree students by the dean and Assistant Professors Giovanna Morton and Kathryn Parsons. Graduates of the B.S.N. degree program will receive their pins from Ms. Pearson and Assistant Professor Elizabeth Barker.

Also participating in the program will be MU Provost Olen E. Jones Jr., who will extend greetings from the university; Paula DeBord, A.S.N. program graduate, who will give the invocation, and Jane Hamnum, B.S.N. program graduate, who will give the benediction.

Candidates who will receive the Nursing Achievement Pins for the Associate in Science in Nursing degree program are: Irene M. Arruda, William M. Barrow, Kelly L. Bradshaw, Virginia C. Carver, Lisa D. Cole, Delon L. Conger, Frances A. Conley,

(MORE)

2-2-2

Lucia C. Eskew, John R. Graham, Lisa K. Huff, Claudia L. Jarrell, Christopher W. Johnson, Maria C. Martin, Margaret A. McCoy, Cecilia D. Nagler, Trina L. Perry, Deborah K. Pfeffer, Linda K. Shipley, Cindy L. Smith, Judie K. Stanley, Dawn M. Surya, Carla A. Throne, Susan K. Toulouse, Kathleen A. Watrous, and Robin L. Weed, all of Huntington;

Jane A. Ashworth and Kimberly J. Martin, Hamlin; Brenda F. Brown, Ceredo; Carol A. Call and Barbara L. Gorham, Barboursville; Anne M. Cutlip and Melanie K. Walker, Hurricane; Paula J. DeBord, Alum Creek; Betsy D. Given, Craigsville; Patricia L. Graham, Parkersburg; Robin R. Hatfield, Gilbert; Mary M. Highwart, Wheeling; Karen E. Melton, Poca; Amanda L. Miller, Sistersville; Jonathan Nemeth, Whitman; Sandra D. Poland, Kenova;

Lori A. Rutherford, Point Pleasant; David K. Sowards Jr., Scott Depot; Phyllis M. Stalker and Paula A. Taylor, South Charleston; Robin L. Stinnett, Dunbar; Kristi L. Suits, St. Albans; Lizabeth L. Wolfe, Charleston; Beverly A. Gearhart, Ashland, Ky.; Teresa A. Grigsby, Marysville, Ohio; Donna K. Riley, Butler, Pa., and Julie K. Sturgeon, South Point, Ohio.

Candidates who will receive the Nursing Achievement Pins for the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree program are: Amy Bartholomew, Karen C. Daniels, Laura B. Darby, Diana B. Griffin, Yu-Fong Liu, Lea A. McCoy, and Florence V. Wills, all of Huntington; Ava G. Bostic, Culloden; Vivian A. Grate, South Charleston; Jennifer L. Hurd and Linda G. Miller, Charleston; Jane D. Hannum, Lesage; Virginia A. Kimmel, Parkersburg; Jeanna R. Stowers, Kerma; Patricia A. Stultz, Lavalette; Delores Wigglesworth, Ona, and Freda Ingles and Gemma R. Sayar of Ashland, Ky.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 3, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Twenty-eight first and second year Marshall University School of Medicine students have been awarded stipends for summer study, according to Dr. Robert W. Coon, school dean.

Thirteen students received $1,000 stipends to conduct research in the biomedical sciences under faculty supervision, through a program funded by the American Medical Association's Educational Research Fund (AMA-ERF).

Stipends of approximately $840 each were awarded to 15 students for clinical and research experiences in psychiatry under a special program funded by a National Institutes of Mental Health (NIMH) grant. Binni Bennett, assistant professor of psychiatry, is coordinator for the program.

Recipients of the $1,000 summer research stipends and the departments in which they will be working are:

Robert T. Gallaher, microbiology; Victor Nease, physiology; Cheryl Cook, anatomy, all of Huntington; Charles McCormick of Charleston, biochemistry; Marsha Bailey of Dunbar, pharmacology; Geno Romano of Athens, biochemistry; Andrew Schinzielorz of Follansbee, biochemistry; James W. Banks of Union, pathology; Evelyn Rector of Elkins, physiology; Scott Henson of Hurricane, anatomy; E. Rhett Jabour of Morgantown, physiology; Nancy Joseph of Sylvester, physiology, and James Viglianco of South Point, Ohio, anatomy.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"The eight-week summer program provides students additional opportunities for exposure to research techniques," Dr. Coon said. "The AMA-ERF is supported by physician contributions and fund-raising activities of state auxiliaries," he added.

Recipients of the psychiatry stipends and their activity sites are:

David Nunley of Sissonville, Charles McCormick and A. Hunter Wilson of Charleston, Louis Molina and Danny Rader of Huntington, Randall Maynard of Kenova, Prester Center for Mental Health;

Robert Hess of Proctorville, Ohio and Cheryl Lynn Cook of Huntington, Cammack Center; Mark Byard of Huntington, MU School of Medicine's Mood Disorder Clinic; Karen Johnson of Charleston, as yet undesignated primary care clinic in southern West Virginia;

Stephanie Skolik of Huntington, research project at Marshall and Washington University; Chris Whitten of Charleston, Huntington State Hospital; Kevin Yingling of Huntington, Green Acres Center, and Lee Ann Moricle of Williamson and Ted Vance of Whitman, Logan-Mingo Mental Health Center satellites.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 3, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 50 students received recognition at the Marshall University Speech Department's 1982 Honors Convocation held Tuesday, April 27, in Smith Hall Auditorium.

The awards, which ranged from scholarships to plaques and certificates, were presented to students with outstanding records of scholastic and extra-curricular achievements in speech-related activities, according to Dr. Dorothy Johnson, MU Speech Department chairman.

Recipients of recognition in broadcasting included: Anthony Crutchfield of Roanoke, Va., International Radio and Television Society Internship; Vicki Arbuckle of Charleston and Rhonda Walker of Prichard, West Virginia Broadcasters Association awards; Christi Himmelrick of Hundred and Victor Unnone of Frostburg, Md., Huntington Advertising Club awards; B.W. Thornton of Kermit, WOWK-TV Award, and Sherry White of Huntington, the Andy Vance Outstanding Broadcasting Graduate.

WMUL Radio Certificates of Appreciation were presented to Davana Davis of Barboursville, Alan Hinkle of Rupert and David Nicolas and Sherry White of Huntington.

Carolyn Schmitt, a speech pathology/audiology student from Bridgeport, received the Dr. Harrison Ferrell Memorial Scholarship and was recognized for her outstanding undergraduate scholastic record.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Graduate fellowships in speech pathology/audiology were awarded to Ellen Bogert of Webster Springs, Libby Champe and Kim May of Charleston, L.J. Fauber of Marlinton, Cheryl Matheny of Huntington, and Sharon Murphy of Williamson. Mary Wilcox of Huntington received the award for scholastic achievement at the graduate level.

National Student Speech, Language and Hearing Appreciation awards were presented to Vivian Taylor of Charleston and Robin Jamison of Boones Mill, Va.

Suzanna Bailey of Hinton was the recipient of the Clayton R. Page Award for outstanding contributions to University Theatre. Also recognized for University Theatre achievements were Steve Freeman of Ona; Helen Hage, Becky Shea, Melissa Simmons and Irene Ray Thomas of Huntington; Lynn Isherwood of Gerrardstown; Mark Lynch of Clearwater, Fla.; Vanessa Phelps of Wheeling and Lisa Whaley of South Point, Ohio.

Pledged to Alpha Psi Omega national dramatics honorary were: Curtis Arnold of South Charleston; Warren F. Brown of Somerville, N.J.; Mike Gerwig of Cottageville; Marjorie Fitzsimmons of St. Albans; Dan Henthorne of New Martinsville; Jeffrey Perhacs of Weirton; Helen Hage and Ed Heaberlin of Huntington and Steve Freeman of Ona.

Honored for participation on the MU debate team were William Adams of Huntington, Jody Hamilton of Ceredo and Kathryn Meadows of Hurricane.

Individual events team honorees included: Mike Gothard of Point Pleasant, Bernie Knollinger of Triadelphia, Laura Leslie of Winfield, Ed Napier of Kenova, Missy Phelps and Susan Snodgrass of Wheeling, Pete Layne and Mary Logsdon of Charleston and Ed Heaberlin, Mallory Mansour and Kevin Thompson of Huntington.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 4, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Katherine W. Simpkins, Marshall University associate professor of education, has been awarded the George W. Van Zandt Memorial Research Grant for 1982, according to Graduate School Dean Paul D. Stewart.

The $2,000 award was presented April 29 during a special dinner program to recognize research activities of university faculty members. MU Provost Olen E. Jones Jr. was the speaker.

Dr. Simpkins will use the grant for further research on "A Comparative Study of Post-Secondary Educational Opportunities in Belgium (Flemish Portion), the Netherlands (Holland) and West Virginia."

The Van Zandt Grant was established in 1980 by Margaret Van Zandt Winn in memory of her father, a prominent Huntington businessman, who died in an automobile accident in 1974. Research projects selected for this award must involve social science areas, have international implications and be based on an original idea.

Seven other MU faculty members received Distinguished Research Awards for work published from 1979 to 1981. The award winners were selected by committees composed of faculty members from the disciplines represented in the various divisions. Plaques recognizing their achievements were presented by the provost to:

Dr. Roland L. Madison, associate professor of accounting, Business; Dr. Paul W. Whear, professor of music, Creative Arts; Dr. Sam Clagg, professor of geography, Education; Dr. Warren W. Wooden, professor of English, Humanities; Dr. Bruce Chertow, professor of medicine, Medicine and Allied Health Science; Dr. Michael E. Seidel, associate professor of zoology, Natural Science, and Dr. Robert Maddox, professor of history, Social Science.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696 6453

May 4, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--John Dancy, senior congressional correspondent for NBC News, will address the John Marshall Society at its annual dinner Friday at the Holiday Inn Convention Center. The event will begin with a social hour at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m., according to Dr. Bernard Queen, executive director of the Marshall University Foundation.

The John Marshall Society is composed of 50 individuals or couples who have provided outstanding financial support to the Marshall Foundation, Queen said.

About 70 members and guests of the society are expected to attend Friday evening's dinner, Queen said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 5, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Twenty-one students and nine faculty and staff members have been inducted into Marshall University's Beta Lambda Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) National Leadership Honorary, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, MU circle advisor.

Dr. Maurice Clay of Lexington, Ky., executive director of ODK, was the speaker at a luncheon following the initiation on April 23. He discussed the significance and responsibilities of membership in the honor fraternity.

New student members include: James A. Doddrill, William Hershel Haney, Katherine McClaskey, Carla J. Seamonds, Larry William Watson and Paula Anne Wells, all of Huntington; Jeffrey D. Maynard, Kenova; Samuel Scott Courts, Milton; Sandra Kay Burris and Kathryn Meadows, Hurricane;

Elizabeth Ann Johnson, Ravenswood; Trina Leone, Dunbar; Michael John McGuffey and Mona L. Walters, Parkersburg; Kyle Arthur Adams, Summersville; Gerald Barrax, Wheeling; David Josephs, Shepherdstown; Sharon Lynn May and Megan Elizabeth Nardo, Weirton; Dixie L. Taylor, Mineral Wells, and Colbert Lowell Wang, Fairmont.

Faculty and staff initiates were: Dr. Daniel Babb, professor of chemistry; Dr. C. Robert Barnett, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation; Dr. Patrick I. Brown, associate professor of anatomy; Dr. Michael J. Galgano, professor of history;

(MORE)

2-2-2

Dr. Clayton L. McNearney, professor of religious studies; Jane B. Shepherd, professor of music; Reginald Spencer, Career Services and Placement director; Joseph Stone, assistant professor of finance and business law, and Dr. Claire F. Horton, associate professor of sociology/anthropology.

Founded in 1915 at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., ODK recognizes and encourages achievement in scholarship, athletics, social and religious activities, mass communication, and creative and performing arts.

"ODK also emphasizes exemplary character, responsible leadership and dedication to democratic ideals," Mrs. Hindsley said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 5, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. H. Darrell Darby, Huntington podiatrist, was appointed to serve on the Marshall University Institutional Board of Advisors by the West Virginia Board of Regents at its meeting Tuesday. He succeeds the late Judge Russell C. Dunbar.

The Board of Regents also re-appointed Dan R. Moore, president of the Matewan National Bank, to a three-year term on the Institutional Board of Advisors.

Both appointments were based on the recommendation of Marshall President Robert B. Hayes.

Dr. Darby has maintained a practice in Huntington since 1956. The Quinwood native attended Anderson (Ind.) College and Marshall and received his D.P.M. degree from the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine in 1956.

He served as president of the American Podiatry Association in 1976-77 and also has been president of the Mid-Atlantic Podiatry Association and the West Virginia Podiatry Society. He is on the surgical staff of Cabell Huntington Hospital and is a consultant for the Huntington Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Dr. Darby was elected to the West Virginia State Senate in 1972 and retired after one term. He was elected to the West Virginia State Democratic Executive Committee in 1978.

(MORE)

2-2-2

He is the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award of the West Virginia Podiatry Society and the Distinguished Alumni Award of Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine.

Hayes also announced the appointment of Dr. Paul Stewart, associate provost and dean of the Graduate School to a second one-year term on the Board of Advisors. Under the legislation creating the 11-member board, seven are lay members and four represent campus constituencies. As a result of recent elections, Jennifer Fraley will represent the students, Dr. Elinore Taylor the faculty, and Lt. Eugene Crawford the university's classified staff. Dr. Taylor and Lt. Crawford were re-elected to one-year terms. Miss Fraley is the new student body president.

Other members of the board are Paul M. Churton of Huntington, Charles K. Connor Jr. of Beckley, David N. Harris of Huntington, Mrs. Sandra S. Wilkerson of St. Albans and James S. Williams of Huntington.

Officers will be elected at the July meeting of the Board of Advisors.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 7, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Thirty-one Marshall University faculty members have received promotions and 11 faculty members have been awarded tenure, effective with the 1982-83 academic year, MU Provost Olen E. Jones Jr. announced today.

The list of tenure and promotions was presented to the West Virginia Board of Regents during its May meeting.

Receiving tenure, effective July 1, were associate professors Donna J. Spindel, history, and Robert F. Godfrey, accounting; assistant professors Ronald J. Oakerson, political science; W. Richard Lemke, music; Karen L. Simpkins, sociology/anthropology; John H. Miller, modern languages; Mary Etta Hight, biological sciences; H. Wayne Elmore, biological sciences, and Robert S. Angel, curriculum and foundations.

Two MU School of Medicine department chairmen also received tenure: Maurice A. Mufson, medicine, and Eugene Aserinsky, physiology.

Faculty members promoted in rank to full professor were: Ralph H. Hall, Harry E. Sowards and Katherine Simpkins, curriculum and foundations; June Q. Kilgore, art; Barbara B. Brown, Leonard Deutsch and Bruce Ardinger, English; Richard B. Bonnett, geology, and James A. Coil, surgery.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Promoted to associate professor rank were: Chong Kim, management; Dan O'Hanlon, legal assistants; Phillip O. Prey, occupational, adult and safety education; Ronald L. Crosbie, health, physical education and recreation; Ronald J. Oakerson, political science; Joan Gilliland and Elinore D. Taylor, English; James McQueeney, modern languages; Charles O. Lloyd II, classical studies; Mary Etta Hight and H. Wayne Elmore, biological sciences; Peter J. Kasvinsky and Michael R. Moore, biochemistry; Donald E. Melnick, medicine and pharmacology; Gary O. Rankin, pharmacology; Nancy S. Scher and Lee P. Van Voris, medicine.

New to the assistant professor ranks this fall will be: Betty J. Jarrell, accounting and legal secretarial studies; Patty B. Jones, curriculum and foundations; Rebecca Johnson-Kerns, journalism; Judith P. Sortet and Marcia S. Pollard, nursing.

Also 12 members of the School of Medicine's volunteer (unpaid) faculty received promotions in rank. William S. Sheils and Winfield C. John will be clinical associate professors of medicine, effective this fall.

Joining the ranks of clinical assistant professors will be William M. Jennings, Joshy Abraham, Samuel Biern Jr., Patrick L. Brown, D. Sheffer Clark, William J. Echols, Harry K. Tweel, Surendra M. Sharma, Charles L. Yarbrough and Charles M. Rhodes.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Three Marshall University faculty members were elected officers in the West Virginia Affiliate, American Diabetes Association, at the affiliate's recent meeting.

They are: Dr. Bruce Chertow, professor of medicine, president-elect; Dr. William I. Sivitz, assistant professor of medicine, director, and Dr. Paul Stewart, Graduate School dean, director.

Dr. Margaret J. Albrink of Morgantown was elected president succeeding Dr. Samuel Biern Jr., MU clinical instructor in medicine.

Also elected were L. Alison Murphy of Charleston, secretary; Paul L. Jefferson of Charleston, treasurer; Dr. Nicholas Cassis, Dr. Glenn Crotty Jr. and Alfred F. Lynch II, all of Charleston, Carter S. Hall and Irma Uhlrich, both of Morgantown, Carol Shaw of Parkersburg and Dr. Syed Rasheed of Beckley, directors.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Applications are now being accepted for a five-week summer program for students with learning disabilities, sponsored by Marshall University's College of Education in cooperation with the Cabell County school system.

The program, which runs from June 17 through July 18, is open to students in grades one through 12, who have been diagnosed as having learning disabilities, according to Dr. Barbara P. Guyer, MU Learning Disabilities Program coordinator and summer program director.

The application deadline is May 21. The fee will be $50 for the elementary school program and $65 for the secondary school program. A limited number of fee waivers will be available based on need, Dr. Guyer said.

Sessions for students in grades six through 12 will be conducted on the MU campus in Smith Hall from 8:30 to 12:30 p.m. Two two-hour sessions for students in grades one through five will be held at Meadows Elementary School, located at the intersection of Hal Greer and Washington boulevards, at 8:30 a.m. and at 10:45 a.m. Elementary students may attend either of the sessions.

The summer learning disabilities program will be staffed by 25 graduate students in Marshall's L.D. program under the supervision of Harold W. Wright, Wayne County schools special education supervisor, and Mrs. Bobbie France, learning disabilities teacher at Fairland East Elementary School, Proctorville, Ohio.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Each student will receive individual and small group instruction in his areas of weakness, with emphasis on developing skills in reading, writing, spelling and mathematics, Dr. Guyer said. Secondary students who failed one or two courses may repeat these in the summer program, she added.

Application forms and additional information may be obtained by calling the MU Special Education Office, (304) 696-2340.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 9, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A popular Conservative spokesman, five travel films, a musical trio and the moderator for PBS' "Washington Week in Review" are the programs scheduled next season for members of the Forum Division, Marshall Artists Series.

Season tickets for the Forum are $28 for adults and $14 for youth ages 17 or under, according to Mrs. Nancy P. Hindsley, MU cultural events coordinator. Season subscriptions may be reserved by calling the Artists Series Office, 696-6656.

All the programs in the 1982-83 Forum season will be held in Old Main Auditorium at 8 p.m., Mrs. Hindsley said.

Opening the season on Sept. 15 will be William Rusher, publisher of the "National Review" and a regular guest on CBS-TV's "Good Morning America" show. His topic will be "A Conservative Looks at the 80s." A graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Law School, he appeared for four years as the Conservative spokesman on PBS' award-winning show, "The Advocates."

Lecturer Gene Wiancko will narrate the film "Istanbul to Egypt" on Oct. 21. The film is a study of the great civilizations of the past which formed the basis for 20th century civilization.

(MORE)

2-2-2

On Nov. 15, Forum-goers will travel along the Thames River via a film lecture featuring Bill Madsen. Starting at the Thames' source in the Cotswalds, Madsen's film follows the river from Gloucestershire eastward to where it empties into the North Sea.

Switzerland will be the destination of the Forum's armchair travelers on Feb. 4, when Phil Walker takes them via film across the Alps in a balloon and for a ride on the Trans-Europe Express with stops at Lake Lucerne, Zurich, St. Moritz, Geneva and other cities.

Paul Duke, "Washington Week in Review" moderator, will speak on March 2 and answer questions from the audience. Duke, who serves as public television's senior Washington correspondent, is a seasoned political reporter, having begun covering capital politics in 1957 as a reporter for the Associated Press. Two years later he was covering Congress and national politics for the Wall Street Journal and then joined NBC News as Congressional correspondent, where he earned a reputation as the network's top congressional expert.

"Source of Faith," a film lecture on Israel with Andre de la Varre Jr., will be presented March 15 and will feature scenes ranging from religious shrines to water sports on the Sea of Galilee and a camel market in Beersheba.

The Kalichstein-Laredo-Robinson Trio will perform on April 14 and is composed of Joseph Kalichstein on piano, Jaime Laredo on violin, and Sharon Robinson on cello. Highly acclaimed by musical critics, the trio's recent New York concert of Mozart, Mendelssohn and Beethoven was sold out three weeks in advance.

Closing the 1982-83 Forum season will be a film lecture with Doug Jones, "The Great World Cruise of the Q.E. II," a 30,000 mile voyage that took passengers around the world in 80 days.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 11, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Mrs. Nellie Maude Dailey, assistant professor of education, is retiring this spring after a 36-year career at Marshall University.

A native of Proctorville, Ohio, Mrs. Dailey joined the faculty of the Marshall Laboratory School in 1946. She was appointed to the university's College of Education faculty in 1969.

Mrs. Dailey earned her A.B. degree from Marshall and her M.A. from Colorado State College. She has done additional graduate work at Marshall and at the University of Southern California.

Prior to joining the Marshall staff, she taught at Green Bank (W.Va.) High School from 1940 to 1944 and at Huntington East High School from 1944 to 1946.

She has been active in the Woman's Club of Huntington, the West Virginia Business Education Association, the National Business Education Association, and the West Virginia Association of Teacher Education.

She and her husband, John D. Dailey, live at 75 Oakwood Road, Huntington.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 12, 1982

RELEASE AT WILL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Mary Aldred of Huntington has been elected president of Gamma Beta Phi Society, national honor and service organization at Marshall University.

A graduate of Huntington High School, she is majoring in interdisciplinary honors, speech pathology and psychology.

Kim Fields of Sissonville, an international affairs major at Marshall, was elected vice president. Lisa Schroeder of Clarksburg, a chemistry major, was elected treasurer. Tina Beardsley of Huntington, a pre-law student majoring in political science, was elected corresponding secretary. Andrea Baker of Huntington, an elementary education major with math specialization, was elected recording secretary.

Marshall's Gamma Beta Phi Chapter received its national charter in March 1981. Members must be in the top 20 per cent of their class scholastically.

The organization's objectives include promoting scholarship, service and character, according to MU Associate Dean for Student Life Mary-Ann Thomas, chapter advisor. The name, Gamma Beta Phi, comes from the initial letters in the Greek words for education, life and friendship.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 12, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Arnold R. Miller of Huntington has been appointed director of the Marshall University Computer Center, succeeding William H. Cox, who resigned several months ago.

Announcement of the appointment was made today by Dr. William S. Deel, MU associate provost.

Miller has been serving as acting director of the Computer Center. He joined the center's staff in December, 1977, as a systems analyst and has served as assistant director since July, 1978.

Miller earned his bachelor's degree from Marshall in 1972 and his master's in 1976. Prior to joining the Marshall staff, he was employed by Cabell Huntington Hospital laboratories successively as a clinical chemist, assistant section chief of bioelectronics, and bioelectronics and quality control specialist. He was involved in the development of the laboratory computer system at Cabell Huntington.

Miller, 31, is a native of Oakland, Md. He is married to the former Trudy Ann Morris and they are the parents of a son.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 13, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Eighteen Marshall University students won awards Friday, April 30, at the 12th annual W. Page Pitt School of Journalism awards banquet.

The student award winners were recognized for their achievement in categories developed by the school's faculty and staff. Many of the awards carry names of the school's alumni who have distinguished themselves in specific areas of journalism.

Speaker at the awards ceremony was State Senator Si Galperin of Kanawha County who was recognized by the faculty for his service to the citizens of West Virginia, particularly for his role in enacting legislation on open meetings.

In addition to student awards, the faculty and staff presented special awards to: Dr. Sam Clagg, chairman of Marshall University's Geography Department, for his biography of Cam Henderson, and Dr Charles H. Moffat, emeritus professor of history, for his history of Marshall University.

Students winning awards were: Michael Bailey, Kenova graduate student, The Jim Comstock Award for Outstanding Feature Writer; Steve Hauser, Charleston senior, The John D. (Jack) Maurice Award for Outstanding Editorial Writer; Patricia Procter, Fayetteville sophomore, The Ernie Salvatore Award for Outstanding Sports Writing;

(MORE)

2-2-2

Greg Friel, Marlinton sophomore, The Dallas C. (Tex) Higbee Award for Excellence in Newspaper Layout and Design, and The Jeff Nathan Memorial Award for Reporter of the Year; Sandra Conrad, Parkersburg senior, and Jeri Hughes, Charleston senior, The Marvin L. Stone Award for Outstanding Contribution as a College Journalist;

Kathy Young, Huntington senior, Outstanding Broadcast Journalism Writer; Doug Sheils, Huntington senior, Outstanding Senior in Broadcast Journalism; Davana Farris, Barboursville senior, Outstanding Contribution to WMUL-FM News; Tim Miller, Madison junior, Special Achievement in Television Videotaping and Editing; Pam Munday, Munday senior, Outstanding News Editorial Senior;

Debbie Jett, Vienna senior, Outstanding Advertising Copywriter; Wilford Walden, Elkview senior, Excellence in Advertising Layout and Design; Linda Bays, Vienna senior, Outstanding Senior in Advertising; Tom Marine, Bellfountain, Ohio, senior, Outstanding Public Relations Writer; Jeri Hughes, Charleston senior, Outstanding Senior in Public Relations;

Meria Dawson Broomes, Huntington freshman, Outstanding Photographer; Sandra Conrad, Parkersburg senior, Outstanding Senior in Journalism Education; Betsy Barger Cook, Parkersburg graduate, Outstanding Graduate Student, and Kim Metz, Parkersburg freshman, Outstanding Contribution to the Chief Justice and the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism Rookie of the Year.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 13, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Kenneth E. Guyer, a Marshall University School of Medicine faculty member, has been re-elected as president of the West Virginia Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) board of directors.

Dr. Guyer, associate professor of biochemistry, is the past president of the Huntington Area ACLD.

Mrs. Litz St. Clair Jarvis of Huntington, who recently earned her master's degree in special education from Marshall, was elected vice president.

Also re-elected were Mrs. Marion Qualls of Huntington, treasurer, and Mrs. Geraldine Bryant of St. Albans, secretary.

The West Virginia ACLD is an affiliate of the national ACLD, which is composed of 50,000 members with chapters in every state and several foreign countries.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 13, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Jeffrey Glen Jackson, a student at Vinson High School, was the top winner in Marshall University's sixth annual Mathematics Competition.

As first place winner, Jackson received $200 and a trophy will be presented to his school.

John Banister, a student at Central Preston Senior High School in Kingwood, received $100 as second place winner and Matthew Funk, a student at Fairmont Senior High School, received $50 as third place winner.

Awards of $25 each were presented to the following students who ranked fourth through ninth place: Kevin Barber of Winfield High School, Amy Eckard of Frankfort High School in Mineral County, Eric Staubly, Lewis County High School; Jeff Breese, South Charleston High School; Beth Carlson, Huntington High School, and Michael Hayes, St. Marys High School.

The competition, sponsored by the MU Mathematics Department, consisted of questions designed to test students' mathematical creativity, insight and expression.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 14, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's two-year Medical Laboratory Technician degree program has received accreditation from the American Medical Association's Committee for Allied Health, Education and Accreditation (CAHEA).

Word of the five-year accreditation status was received last week by MU Clinical Laboratory Department Chairman Bruce Brown from the National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences (NAACLS), according to MU College of Science Dean E.S. Hanrahan.

NAACLS conducted the accreditation survey for the AMA, Dr. Hanrahan said. "Approval of the MLT program not only is good news for the College of Science and the university, but also the 1982 graduates and future graduates," he added.

Graduates of the A.S. degree program, which is offered in cooperation with St. Mary's Hospital, will now be eligible for certification by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and other certifying agencies, according to Brown, who coordinates the MLT Program.

"As is the case in many allied health fields, certification is considered by most clinical laboratories as a requirement for employment," he added.

"MLT is an extremely rigorous science program which involves a significant amount of classroom training in basic and applied clinical science areas before students begin their clinical experience in the hospital laboratories," Brown explained.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"The program trains technicians who not only collect blood and other body fluid samples needed for diagnostic analysis, but who also conduct the tests or analyses on which physicians base their diagnostic judgments," Brown said.

The training of medical laboratory technicians originally began several years ago at St. Mary's Hospital and in 1974 Marshall started assisting the hospital by offering academic credit for course work.

In 1980, Marshall fully integrated the program into its two-year degree offerings and work was begun on the accreditation process. "A great deal of credit must be given to Dr. Dennis O'Connor of St. Mary's medical staff," Brown said. "Dr. O'Connor, who serves as medical director for the MLT program, encouraged the development of an accredited program. His assistance was invaluable," Brown added.

In preparing for the NAACLS site visit last November, the existing MLT curriculum had to be refined, policy standards developed and an intensive self-study conducted which resulted in a document of more than 300 pages.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 14, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's New Student Orientation Program will offer a series of 24 one-day campus orientation sessions for freshmen and transfer students and their parents, according to Stephen Hensley, MU assistant dean for student development.

The sessions, which begin June 17, are designed to help the new students become familiar with campus, to meet administrators and faculty members, and to register for the fall semester. Six sessions have been set aside especially for transfer students.

"Studies conducted across the nation have shown that students who participate in summer orientation programs are much better prepared for the fall semester--their first on a college campus--than those who do not," Hensley said. "Getting off on the right foot at the outset, these students usually do much better throughout their college careers," he added.

Six students will serve as peer advisors during the summer program, providing the newcomers with the student view of campus life. They will be Teresa Cousins of Ronceverte, Jessica Edwards of Slanesville, Kevin Hardy of Charleston and Karen A. Kapp, Kathy Lee and James J. Schwartz, all of St. Albans.

(MORE)

"The program for parents is just as important, we think, as that for the students," Hensley said. "Parents attending will be able to obtain first-hand information on the various resources available on campus to help their sons and daughters through discussions with academic deans and representatives for the Student Affairs Office," he added.

In addition, there will be a special program, "Parents Experience of College Now," which will focus on a variety of topics including classroom pressure, extra-curricular activities and money management.

Orientation sessions will begin at 8 a.m. each day and campus housing in Twin Towers Residence Hall will be available for those wishing to arrive the night before their scheduled session, Hensley explained. "No advance registration for housing is necessary," he said. The cost will be $9 for a single room or $14 for a double room.

Students and parents who wish additional information or to enroll in a New Student Orientation session may call (304) 696-2354.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 15, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--West Virginia Governor Jay Rockefeller will be the featured speaker when Marshall University dedicates Henderson Center, its huge new physical education and athletics complex, Saturday, May 22, beginning at 4 p.m. The ceremonies will be conducted in the building's arena.

Tours of the $18 million facility will be conducted by Marshall faculty and staff members, beginning at 2 p.m.

"The public is invited and we are hoping for a large turnout as we celebrate the completion of this long-awaited project," according to Karl J. Egnatoff, MU vice president for administration.

The Reverend Paul J. Gilmer, president of the West Virginia Board of Regents, will formally present the building to Marshall. Dr. Howard L. Mills, chairman of the Physical Facilities and Planning Committee, will accept on behalf of the Marshall faculty.

Dr. Sam E. Clagg, chairman of the University Council and author of a recent book on legendary coach Cam Henderson, will present a tribute to the man in whose memory the building is being dedicated.

MU President Robert B. Hayes will introduce special guests and will make closing remarks.

Henderson Center's 10,250-seat arena has been in use since the opening of basketball season last November, but work on other sections of the building continued into the spring.

(MORE)

The new facilities are joined with Gullickson Hall, which is being renovated as part of the project.

The large complex also features an 800-seat natatorium, classrooms and class stations, instructional laboratories, a dance studio, training and weight rooms, meeting rooms, locker rooms, and offices for the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, as well as Athletic Department offices. There are facilities for handball, wrestling, judo, tennis, volleyball, archery, gymnastics, badminton and indoor track.

The new construction includes about 136,000 net square feet. With the addition of Gullickson Hall's facilities, the complex totals about 213,000 square feet of activity space.

Funding for the project was authorized during the 1977 session of the State Legislature and ground was broken May 5, 1979. Architects are Robert J. Bennett of Morgantown and The Eggers Group of New York. The general contract was awarded to Mellon-Stuart Co. of Fairmont. Other contractors are Kirby Electric Service, Inc., of Pittsburgh, Pa., electrical work; Hughes-Bechtol, Inc., of Dayton, Ohio, mechanical work; Whitten Corp. of Mendon, Mass., swimming pool, and American Desk Co., seating.

Eli Camden Henderson, for whom the complex was named, came to Marshall in 1935 from Davis and Elkins College as athletic director and head coach of football, basketball and baseball.

Considered one of the great innovators in collegiate basketball, Henderson had a Marshall record of 358 victories against only 158 losses from 1935 to 1955, when he retired. As head football coach from 1935 through 1949, he compiled a record of 68 victories, 48 losses and 5 ties.

His 1946-47 basketball team, with a 32-5 record, won the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball (NAIB) championship.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Two Marshall University English teachers have been selected to participate in the 1982 National Endowment for Humanities' Summer Seminars for College Teachers.

Dr. John McKernan, professor and Writing Program director, will study "Lyric Poetry of the English Renaissance" with Thomas M. Greene at Yale University.

Dr. Joan F. Gilliland, assistant professor, will study "Milton and Critical Theory: The Fall into Reading" at Johns Hopkins University under Stanley Fish.

McKernan, who earned his Ph.D. degree from Boston University, has been a member of Marshall's faculty since 1967. A poet and critic whose work has appeared in several national magazines and literary reviews, he also has had two collections of his works published.

Dr. Gilliland, a Renaissance literature scholar, holds the Ph.D. degree from Vanderbilt University. A member of Marshall's English Department since 1980, she is active in various professional organizations and also has had several articles published in scholarly journals.

Seminar participants receive stipends of $2,500 for travel expenses, books, research expenses and living expenses for the two-month period of the program.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 19, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Warren W. Wooden, professor of English at Marshall University, is the recipient of a Children's Literature Association (ChLA) Research Fellowship.

The $250 fellowship, one of three presented this spring at the ChLA conference in Gainesville, Fla., is for researching a book, "A History of Children's Literature in England, ca. 1500-1700."

In notifying Wooden of his selection, ChLA Scholarship Committee Chairman Carol Gay wrote: "The committee was impressed by the need for such research, your qualifications--based on past performance and your recommendations--to fill that need, and the intelligence and perception with which your proposal was presented."

An English Renaissance literature scholar, Wooden has received numerous research grants for the study of 16th and 17th Century literature and the history of ideas, including two National Endowment for the Humanities awards.

A member of the MU English faculty since 1968, Wooden earned his Ph.D. degree from Vanderbilt University. He is the author of more than 50 articles, papers and book reviews for various scholarly and professional publications. He also has edited two books for Scholars' Facsimiles & Reprints of Delmar, N.Y., "The English Sermons of John Foxe" and Foxe's "Book of Martyrs (1570)."

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 19, 1982

RELEASE AT WILL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Four May graduates of the Marshall University School of Medicine have received recognition for outstanding achievements, according to Dr. Patrick I. Brown, assistant dean for medical student affairs.

Dr. Gretchen E. Oley of Huntington received the Upjohn Achievement Award as outstanding graduating senior medical student as determined by the faculty. Dr. Oley will begin her graduate training July 1 in an Internal Medicine Residency at the MU School of Medicine.

Dr. Robert W. Keefover of Fairmont received the CIBA-Geigy Award as the exemplary physician in his class as determined by his fellow students. Keefover will enter the Psychiatry Residency Program at Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N.Y., on July 1.

Dr. Michael E. Kilkenny of Ballard was chosen by the faculty as the recipient of the W. Edwin Black Award for outstanding achievements in rural primary care medicine. The award is named for the prominent Lincoln County businessman, who died earlier this year. Kilkenny will take a Family Practice Residency at Marshall, beginning July 1.

Dr. Clayton L. Walker of Huntington was the recipient of the Infectious Diseases Award given for excellence in work in the infectious diseases section of the school's Department of Medicine. Walker will begin a Surgical Residency July 1 at the William Shands Hospital-University of Florida at Gainesville.

Dr. Charles L. Yarbrough, a Huntington dermatologist, was voted by the students as "Best Volunteer Faculty Instructor." He holds dual clinical appointments in pediatrics and medicine at Marshall.

The awards were presented at the Doctoral Investiture program on May 7.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 26, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Advance registrations for Marshall University's first summer term, June 14-July 16, are running 10 percent ahead of last year's figures, an analysis released today by the Provost's Office indicates.

As of May 21, the advance summer registration was 2,709 students, or 71 percent of last summer's final enrollment figure of 3,823. On the same date last year, 2,320 had registered in advance, representing 61 percent of the final enrollment for the first summer term.

Computerized advance registration is being conducted on a "walk-in" basis from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fridays through June 11. "Regular registration" for the first summer term will be conducted Monday, June 14, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and late registration will be conducted the same hours on Tuesday, June 15. A $15 fee is assessed for late registration.

Marshall is offering summer programs at the same level as last year. Most schools under the West Virginia Board of Regents have had to reduce their summer offerings as a result of a 5 percent reduction in 1981-82 state allocations, ordered last Jan. 13. The cutback later was reduced to 4½ percent.

The enrollment analysis provided by the Provost's Office shows advance registration for the second summer term, July 19-Aug. 20, running 7 percent ahead of the same date last year. Advance registration for the fall term is 2 percent ahead of last year.

Advance enrollment for all three terms is being conducted at the registration office on the ground floor of Old Main. Course schedules may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 26, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Advance registrations for Marshall University's first summer term, June 14-July 16, are running 10 percent ahead of last year's figures, an analysis released today by the Provost's Office indicates.

As of May 21, the advance summer registration was 2,709 students, or 71 percent of last summer's final enrollment figure of 3,823. On the same date last year, 2,320 had registered in advance, representing 61 percent of the final enrollment for the first summer term.

Computerized advance registration is being conducted on a "walk-in" basis from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fridays through June 11. "Regular registration" for the first summer term will be conducted Monday, June 14, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and late registration will be conducted the same hours on Tuesday, June 15. A $15 fee is assessed for late registration.

Marshall is offering summer programs at the same level as last year. Most schools under the West Virginia Board of Regents have had to reduce their summer offerings as a result of a 5 percent reduction in 1981-82 state allocations, ordered last Jan. 13. The cutback later was reduced to 4½ percent.

The enrollment analysis provided by the Provost's Office shows advance registration for the second summer term, July 19-Aug. 20, running 7 percent ahead of the same date last year. Advance registration for the fall term is 2 percent ahead of last year.

Advance enrollment for all three terms is being conducted at the registration office on the ground floor of Old Main. Course schedules may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 7, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A report attributed to the West Virginia Health Systems Agency and widely publicized during the weekend today was termed "a shoddy document released in an underhanded way."

Dr. Robert W. Coon, dean of the Marshall University School of Medicine, said the document was a draft report which had failed to receive acceptance from the board of directors of the West Virginia Health Systems Agency.

"I'm afraid some of the news media people have been duped by the release of this document," Coon said. "They may want to investigate who did it and why."

The draft report, "Medical Education and Physician Manpower in West Virginia," was tabled by the board of directors of the West Virginia Health Systems Agency at its May meeting, Coon said today. It had at an earlier meeting been tabled and sent back to the Health Systems Agency staff for revision, he noted.

The document calls for closing the Marshall medical school and the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine, as well as changing the West Virginia University School of Medicine curricula by legislative edict.

"In releasing this draft, the staff has bypassed the entire Health Systems Agency process," Coon said. "It has not been reviewed by the appropriate HSA committees, including the Plan Development Committee. It has not been reviewed by the Regional Advisory Groups, nor have public hearings been held, as required."

(MORE)

"In essence, all we have is a misleading draft report, filled with misrepresentations, errors and untruths, which does no more than reflect the biases and attitudes of the writers," Coon added.

Expressing astonishment at the way the report was released, HSA board member A. Paul Kidd said, "There was nothing to indicate that the document was not board policy. There was no such caveat in the story I read," he added.

"This was not an official HSA document. The board did not endorse it as policy. The report was the work of the staff component whose members are paid to do the will and bidding of the board," he said. "Frankly, I want to know why the caveat was not there," said Kidd, who is director of the Huntington VA Medical Center.

In challenging several aspects of the report, Coon attacked the contention that "20 years of highly expensive medical education of West Virginia residents have not substantially improved physician manpower distribution in the state..."

"The Marshall School of Medicine obviously has not been around for 20 years," Coon said. "We now have graduated two classes and all of our graduates are in residency training. When they complete their training, we expect significant numbers to enter practice in West Virginia.

"The Marshall School of Medicine was established on the premise that we could, by using a non-traditional approach, prepare West Virginians as primary care physicians to help meet the needs of rural West Virginians. We believe we are well along in the process of achieving that objective, and we would like to have time enough to demonstrate that we can get the job done."

Coon also criticized a section of the draft report dealing with incentives to attract physicians to practice in the state.

(MORE)

3-3-3

"The commentary relative to this objective reflects the author's view that most communities in West Virginia are undesirable places in which to live and work," Coon said. "We do not agree with this conclusion. Rather, we believe that physicians educated and trained in traditional centers are poorly equipped for practice in most of our communities.

"We believe that many things can be done to enhance the attractiveness of smaller communities in West Virginia to physicians," he continued, "but we believe this must include different educational experiences than those received by medical students in most traditional schools. This is a specific objective of the Marshall School of Medicine."

The six-year-old West Virginia Health Systems Agency, to which the report was attributed, is a private corporation set up with federal money and given authority to recommend action on hospital construction and expansion projects. Its federal funding has been eliminated and it will go out of business at the end of this month.

Coon suggested an investigation of the Health Systems Agency would be revealing. "The story of HSA is the story of a big boondoggle," he charged. "Millions of public dollars have been spent by a private organization over the last six years and the record of accomplishment is almost zero--unless you care to count its final staff document. Since one of the six sections of that document reflects very little knowledge and understanding of either medical education or the funding of medical education, I don't count it as much of an achievement."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 8, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Mary R. Aldred of Huntington, a Marshall University senior, has been selected by GTE Laboratories, Inc., as a participant in its Industrial Undergraduate Research Participation program.

Ms. Aldred is the daughter of Dr. Frank K. Aldred of Charleston, a MU professor of history, and Mrs. Phoebe D. Aldred of Huntington.

An honor student at Marshall, Ms. Aldred has been assigned to GTE's Waltham, Mass., research facilities and will be involved in a project relating to computer synthesis of speech under the supervision of Dr. George J. Boggs.

The project, which runs June 7 through Aug. 13, is designed to improve the quality of computer speech, making it more human, according to Ms. Aldred, who is majoring in interdisciplinary honors, speech pathology and psychology.

During the 10-week program, she will live on the campus of Tufts University in Medford, Mass., near Boston. Participants in the program receive housing and food, round-trip air fare and a stipend to cover living expenses.

GTE's IURP program is conducted in cooperation with Brandeis University, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, University of Rhode Island, Eastern Nazarene College, the University of Hawaii/Manoa, University of Scranton, Harvey Mudd College, Washington State University, University of Nevada/Reno, the University of Southern Florida and Tufts.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 10, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Auditions for Marshall University's Summer Theatre production of the Neil Simon hit "Chapter Two," will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, June 14-15, in Old Main Auditorium.

"University Summer Theatre auditions are open to students and non-students," said Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech and director for the show.

"Chapter Two" is based on Simon's own experiences in meeting, courting and marrying actress Marsha Mason after the death of his wife.

"Chapter Two," which opens a three-night run on Thursday, July 8, offers roles for two males and two females: writer George Schneider, 42 years old and a recent widower; his brother Leo, a 40-year-old press agent who is unhappily married; Jennie Malone, a 32-year-old actress and recent divorcee, and Faye Medwick, 35-year-old actress, married but attracted to other men.

The second summer production will be "My Three Angels," a comedy by Sam and Bella Spewack, which will be directed by Dr. N.B. East, MU professor of speech. Auditions for the cast of seven men and three women will be held at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, June 21-22, in Smith Hall Auditorium. Performances are scheduled Thursday through Saturday, July 22-24.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 10, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Auditions for Marshall University's Summer Theatre production of the Neil Simon hit "Chapter Two," will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, June 14-15, in Old Main Auditorium.

"University Summer Theatre auditions are open to students and non-students," said Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech and director for the show.

"Chapter Two" is based on Simon's own experiences in meeting, courting and marrying actress Marsha Mason after the death of his wife.

"Chapter Two," which opens a three-night run on Thursday, July 8, offers roles for two males and two females: writer George Schneider, 42 years old and a recent widower; his brother Leo, a 40-year-old press agent who is unhappily married; Jennie Malone, a 32-year-old actress and recent divorcee, and Faye Medwick, 35-year-old actress, married but attracted to other men.

The second summer production will be "My Three Angels," a comedy by Sam and Bella Spewack, which will be directed by Dr. N.B. East, MU professor of speech. Auditions for the cast of seven men and three women will be held at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, June 21-22, in Smith Hall Auditorium. Performances are scheduled Thursday through Saturday, July 22-24.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 18, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--An educational and recreational program for autistic children will be held on the Marshall University campus, Saturday, July 24, through Saturday, July 31.

Funded by a grant from the West Virginia Department of Education, the Autism Summer Program is sponsored by Marshall University's Special Education Department.

Ten children throughout West Virginia will be accepted for the program on the basis of greatest need, according to Paula Jackson of Charleston, administrative coordinator for the program and a teacher at DuPont High School. Application deadline is July 1.

The program will be free for those children accepted and will be conducted by master's level students in special education with emphasis on behavior disorders. All are experienced teachers working on master's degrees at Marshall, Ms. Jackson said.

Children will stay in MU residence halls and will eat in the cafeteria. The educational part of the program will include individual and group instruction in socialization, language, self-help, pre-academics, academics, motor skills, music and art.

The recreational program includes daily swimming, an overnight camping trip, an amusement park visit, roller skating, bowling and restaurant trips.

Before the children's arrival, a three-day, inservice workshop will be held July 21-23 to distribute information and plan for the week. Parents and other interested individuals are invited to participate; however, they should contact Ms. Jackson in advance.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Parents and others also may observe the program or volunteer to assist, she added. Those wishing to obtain college credit should contact Dr. Edward Necco, MU behavioral disorders program coordinator.

Additional information may be obtained by writing Ms. Jackson, in care of the Autism Summer Program, Marshall University, Jenkins Hall 110, Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or calling the program office at (304) 696-2340.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 26, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Music Department will offer a summer workshop on church choral music July 7-16, which will include a five-day clinic with Gil Martin of New York City, a nationally known composer of church music.

The program on sacred choral music is open to church musicians--organists and choir directors--as well as college students, according to Dr. Wendell Kumlien, MU professor of music and workshop coordinator. Interested high school students may also participate, he added.

The workshop, Music 474-574, carries two hours of academic credit which may be obtained at either the undergraduate or graduate level, Kumlien said.

Topics to be covered during the workshop include conducting technique, new materials for church choirs, church youth musicals, organization and planning for the church year and rehearsal techniques.

Cost of the workshop for undergraduate students will be $33.20 for instate students and $120.80 for nonresidents. For students seeking graduate credit, the cost will be $47.60 for state residents and $167.70 for nonresidents. A special room and board package will be available for participants.

Additional information on the workshop may be obtained by writing the coordinator, Music Department, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or calling the department office, (304) 696-3117.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 27, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Tickets will go on sale tomorrow (June 28) for Marshall University's Theatre's summer production of Neil Simon's romantic comedy "Chapter Two."

The show will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, July 8-10, in air-conditioned Old Main Auditorium, according to Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech and director.

Reserved seat tickets at $3.50 each will be available from the Theatre Box Office, located in Old Main 107, from noon to 4 p.m. weekdays. Telephone reservations may be made by calling (304) 696-2306 during those hours and tickets will be available at the door before performances. MU students with valid ID cards will be admitted free.

A recent Broadway and movie hit, "Chapter Two" is based in part on Simon's own life and deals with his courtship of actress Marsha Mason, following the death of his first wife.

When the show opened on Broadway, "Variety" called it the "author's best play to date."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 29, 1982

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A resource affiliation agreement between Marshall University's School of Medicine and Huntington State Hospital to assist in developing model patient care programs at the hospital was announced today by School of Medicine Dean Robert W. Coon and West Virginia Health Department Director L. Clark Hansbarger.

The announcement came at a luncheon for area state legislators and representatives of area mental health agencies at which the new clinical director, Raymond R. Watson, who is associate dean at the school, and the new superintendent, Charles J. Langan III, also were introduced.

Langan, formerly executive director of the Southern Highlands Community Mental Health Center at Princeton, will assume the post July 1. Dr. Watson, the former chief of medical services for the Huntington Veterans Administration Medical Center, began his current role earlier this month.

"We see this collaboration as a giant step toward improving mental health care for West Virginia residents," Dr. Hansbarger told the luncheon guests. "It is apparent that Huntington is blessed with many resources which should enable Huntington State Hospital to become a model for institutional care--and one of the most important of these resources is the Marshall University School of Medicine," he said.

"The basic philosophy behind the affiliation is to develop a relationship similar to that existing between the school and the VA Medical Center which involves a sharing of resources and assistance in developing quality patient care programs," Dr. Coon said.

(MORE)

"In the VA's case, this has been done through the establishment of a Dean's Committee composed of the key members of the medical school staff, the chiefs of clinical departments and key staff members of the VA Medical Center," he said. "That committee is responsible for advising the director in developing professional patient care programs and in recruiting staff members.

"The school's involvement with the Huntington State Hospital will be very much the same as its role with the VA Medical Center," Coon explained. "Many of our faculty have joint appointments with the VA Medical Center so that a portion of their time is devoted to care of VA patients. This is what is envisioned at Huntington State Hospital with the state Health Department sharing in the cost of these personnel services," he said. "Dr. Watson's appointment as clinical director is an example of this," he added.

Langan, the newly-appointed hospital superintendent, noted that the hospital was under a State Supreme Court mandate to improve mental health care and other patient services. "The need right now at Huntington State Hospital is clearly to increase and to enhance the quality of patient services as well as the training and staff development needs of the personnel," Langan said.

"We feel that the affiliation with Marshall will benefit us greatly in this," he said. "It is even conceivable that at some future time through the research potential resulting from integrating Marshall faculty with our staff that we may make some major breakthroughs in mental health care," he said.

"This affiliation reflects the Rockefeller administration's interest and the intentions of the Legislature over the past few years in upgrading the state's mental health institutions through both facility changes and program improvements," Hansbarger said. Coon pledged the medical school's assistance in developing quality psychiatric services and other appropriate health care services.

"One of the very first goals will be to bring the hospital up to the standards of the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) which will improve our care and at the same time open up opportunities for medical education programs for residents and medical students," said Watson.

3-3-3

"This agreement is a further enhancement of currently existing reciprocal agreements between the hospital and the community's other mental health programs. The initial tangible benefit will be in the area of staff recruitment as the attractiveness of a medical school atmosphere which provides an opportunity for an academic as well as clinical roles is a highly desirable recruitment tool," Watson said.

"Among the multiple spinoffs to the entire health community will be the development of a high degree of sophistication within individual patient care programs. As these relationships mature, not only will direct in-hospital patient care be enhanced but so will that for the entire community," Watson said.

An informal reception to introduce the Huntington State Hospital's new administrators to area civic leaders and to discuss the new affiliation is scheduled for 4 p.m. today in Marshall's Memorial Student Center.

##