

Marshall University

Marshall Digital Scholar

---

Marshall University News Releases

University Archives

---

10-1-1981

Marshall News Release, October, November, December, 1981

Marshall University

Follow this and additional works at: https://mds.marshall.edu/marshall\_news\_releases\_archives

Part of the Higher Education Commons

---

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 1, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A seminar on Race Awareness will be conducted at Marshall University at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 8, in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center, DeWayne Lyles, MU minority students program director, announced today.

The program, which is open to the public, will feature a film of the recent Phil Donahue Show appearance of Dr. Charles King, director of the Urban Crisis Center, Atlanta, Ga., followed by a panel discussion on "Racism: Its Catastrophic Effects on Mankind from All Walks of Life."

The panel will include: Dr. Clyde C. Perry Jr., MU assistant professor of sociology/anthropology; Patti Matters, MU Women's Center director; the Rev. Martha Lloyd, Campus Christian Center minister; Joe Williams, Huntington City Council member; Andra P. Madkins, Minority Students Office; Paul Connerty, Huntington Human Rights Commission; Sister Maria Theresa, Pallotine Sisters of St. Mary's Hospital, and Phil Ricco, MU residence life area coordinator.

After the panelists present their reactions to the film, there will be a question and answer period.

The seminar is sponsored by the MU Sociology/Anthropology Department, Women's Center, Residence Life Office, Minority Students Office and the Campus Christian Center.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 4, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Tickets for Marshall University Theatre's production of "Dracula," which opens a four-night run in Old Main Auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 7, are still available.

Reserved seat tickets at $2.50 each may be purchased at the Theatre Box Office, located in Old Main 107, between noon and 4 p.m. weekdays. Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 696-2306. Tickets also will be available at the door prior to performances.

The production, directed by Dr. William G. Kearns, MU associate professor of speech, features Jeffrey Perhacs, Weirton sophomore; Yvea Duncan, Logan sophomore; Mark Swam, Huntington junior, and Dan Henthorn, New Martinsville sophomore. The supporting cast includes Craig Johnson, Huntington junior; Ellen Burns, Proctorville, Ohio, senior; Ed Heaberlin, Huntington junior, and Michael Gerwig, Ravenswood sophomore. Student directors are Robert Drake, Charleston sophomore, and Nadra Carter, Huntington junior.

"Count Dracula may be the most famous of the classic monsters," said Kearns, the director. Unlike others, he has a human form, that of an impeccably dressed and charming aristocrat, who rather than repelling his victims lures them with his hypnotic charm," he explained.

Although Bram Stoker's novel, "Dracula," was a best-seller when it was published in 1897, Hamilton Deane's stage adaptation did not make its debut until 1927. The New York premier in 1929 featured Leslie Howard (Ashley Wilkes of "Gone With the Wind" fame) in the starring role.

The New York critics at that time described the show as "an evening rich in horror," one that was "blithely blood-curdling."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

PLEASE HOLD FOR RELEASE OCT. 5, 1981, AND AFTER

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dixieland music, floats and bands, football, and food are all a part of Mountain Mardi Gras, Marshall University's Homecoming 1981, set for Oct. 23-24.

Activities for alumni and friends will begin Friday, Oct. 23, with a Mardi Gras celebration from 8 to 11 p.m. in Suite B of the Huntington Civic Center.

Special prizes will be awarded at the Friday Mardi Gras. The alumnus traveling the farthest distance for the weekend will receive a collection of Marshall memorabilia. The oldest alumnus in attendance will be awarded the Homecoming game ball and the first alumnus to make reservations for Homecoming receptions will win a bottle of imported champagne.

A door prize for a dinner for two at Michael's, Huntington's newest French restaurant, will be awarded through a drawing at the Friday night gathering.

The Jewel City Jazz Band will provide Dixieland music for the Mardi Gras. Hors d'oeuvres and beverages are included in the price of $10 per person. Active members of the MU Alumni Association pay only $8 per person if they make reservations by Oct. 19.

Saturday's activities start off with free coffee and doughnuts in the lobby of Memorial Student Center at 9:30 a.m. Campus tours also begin at 9:30 a.m. from the lobby.

A Homecoming parade, with floats, the MU Marching Band and area bands, drill teams, majorette squads, and antique cars, will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday. The parade route will be announced later.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The traditional Lunch-Under-the-Tent at Prindle Field (adjacent to Fairfield Stadium) will begin at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. The smorgasbord-style picnic includes fried chicken, potato salad, baked beans, rolls, iced tea, and coffee for $5. (Discount price for active members prior to Oct. 19 is $4.) The Jewel City Jazz Band also will play during the lunch.

The Thundering Herd football team meets Southern Conference opponent Virginia Military Institute at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Fairfield Stadium. Ticket price for the Alumni Section is $7.25. Price for youth (high school seniors and younger) is $4.25.

Mums for the game may be ordered prior to Oct. 19. Cost is $4 and the flowers are to be picked up in the lobby of the Student Center between 10 a.m. and noon on Saturday.

The weekend's events close Saturday evening with the Fifth Quarter, a post-game party to be held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. in Suite B of the Huntington Civic Center. Meat and cheese platters and beverages are included in the price of $7 per person ($5 for active members prior to Oct. 19).

Tickets for Homecoming events may be obtained from the Alumni Affairs Office in Memorial Student Center or by calling (304) 696-3134. Active members who want to take advantage of discount prices must make reservations by Oct. 19. Non-members may receive discount prices prior to Oct. 19 by submitting $10 for individual annual membership dues in the Alumni Association or $15 for couples membership when they mail in ticket orders.

The weekend's activities were planned by the Alumni Association's Homecoming Committee, chaired by Bill Heaberlin. Other committee members were Marc Sprouse, Mike Kiger, Joe Hunnicutt, Ken Gainer, Dave Harris, John Underwood, Jennifer Fraley (student representative), Dru Moehling, Betty Kinzer, and Everett Roush.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 5, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Reserved seat tickets for the Oct. 22 appearance of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra are now available to the public at the Huntington Civic Center Box Office.

Tickets are priced at $15 and $13 each and there is a special half-price ticket for youth age 17 or under.

The concert, part of the Marshall Artists Series Community Division, will feature the Atlanta Symphony, Robert Shaw, conductor, and a massed chorus of voices from 14 area choral groups in a performance of Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony."

Guest soloists will be four West Virginia vocalists: mezzo-soprano Jane Hobson, MU professor of music; baritone Paul A. Balshaw, MU Music Department chairman; tenor Jon Crain, artist in residence at West Virginia University, and soprano Frances Yeend, professor of voice at WVU's Creative Arts Center.

The performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 22, at the Huntington Civic Center. "Moving the concert to the Civic Center to accommodate the large orchestra and chorus has an added benefit in that a greater number of Tri-State Area residents will have the opportunity to hear this marvelous program," said Mrs. Nancy Hindsley, MU cultural arts coordinator.

Shaw, who gained international fame as director of The Robert Shaw Chorale, became music director of the Atlanta Symphony in 1967-68, after having been associate conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell. The orchestra under his direction has played to capacity houses in Washington's Kennedy Center and New York City's Carnegie Hall and has toured extensively.

(MORE)

Ms. Hobson (Mrs. Robert Shepherd of Huntington) has appeared as soloist with Conductor Szell for all of his performances of the "Ninth Symphony" in the United States.

Making her concert debut under Leopold Stokowski at Carnegie Hall, she has appeared with Arturo Toscanini and many of the major symphony orchestras including the New York Philharmonic, National Symphony of Washington and the Pittsburgh Symphony. She has sung at numerous Bach festivals, at the annual Cincinnati Music Festival and the Ann Arbor Music Festival.

Balshaw, a New York native who graduated from the Eastman School of Music, appeared in concerts all over the United States prior to joining Marshall's faculty in 1965.

A frequent guest soloist for area musical groups, he is active in the West Virginia Opera Theater and Huntington Musical Arts Guild. A violist, he has played with the Charleston Symphony and is a co-founder of the Huntington Chamber Orchestra.

Crain has appeared in leading tenor roles with the Metropolitan Opera, the San Francisco Opera and the New York City Opera. He has sung some 60 leading roles in as many operas, many of which have been world or American premiers, and has appeared with many of the world's major symphonies in symphonic works and oratorios.

Ms. Yeend lists more than 500 soloist appearances with major symphonies in America and Europe under such distinguished directors as Sir Thomas Beecham, Leonard Bernstein, Sir Georg Solti, Dimitri Mitropoulos and Serge Koussevitsky. Opening the 1958 season at Italy's Arena di Verona as Puccini's Turandot, she received a standing ovation from the audience of 25,000.

Choral groups represented in the chorus include: Marshall's A Capella Choir, the MU-Huntington Master Chorale, MU Symphonic Choir, Alderson-Broadus College, Ashland (Ky.) Community Chorus, Charleston Civic Chorus, Concord College, Fairmont State College, the choirs of Ashland's First United Methodist Church, Huntington Musical Arts Guild, Parkersburg Community College, the choirs of Trinity United Methodist Church of Portsmouth, Ohio, West Virginia Institute of Technology and West Virginia State College.

In addition to the Beethoven work, the Atlanta Symphony will present Brahms' "Tragic Overture."

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Repertory Dance Theatre (RDT) will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15, in Old Main Auditorium as part of the Marshall Artists Series Student Division programming.

General public admission tickets are available from the Artists Series Office at $6 each for adults and $3 for youth age 17 or under. MU students with ID and Activity cards will be admitted free and MU students with ID Card only may purchase tickets at half-price.

(The Artists Series Office is located on the first floor of Marshall's Memorial Student Center behind the Information Desk.)

In addition to the performance, the RDT will conduct a residency program on Wednesday, Oct. 14, presenting a lecture/demonstration session and two master classes. Additional information on the residency program may be obtained by calling Dr. Mary Marshall, MU associate professor of health, physical education and recreation, at 696-3186.

The campus appearance of RDT, the modern dance company in residence at the University of Utah, has been made possible in part by a grant from the Arts and Humanities Division of the West Virginia Department of Culture and History.

The performance program will include Jose Limon's "Concerto Grosso in D Minor," Helen Tamiris' "Negro Spirituals," Carolyn Wood's "The Egg and I," and Robin Chmelar's "Presto."

(MORE)

2-2-2

RDT has been described as a "museum of dance" in that while promoting new choreography, it continues to preserve the roots of modern dance, the master works of the past, and maintains the artistic integrity of the dances it acquires.

Established in 1966 as the first full-time professional dance company outside of New York City and on a university campus, RDT is the result of a partnership between the Rockefeller Foundation, the University of Utah and the Salt Lake City community.

Last fall RDT appeared as part of the Smithsonian Institution's American Dance Experience series, recreating works by such pioneers of modern dance as Ted Shawn, Isadora Duncan and Ruth St. Denis.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Oct. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Forum Division of the Marshall Artists Series will present Robin Williams with a film lecture, "Florence and the Hill Towns," at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 12, in Old Main Auditorium.

Admission will be by season membership tickets or by single admission tickets at $4 each for adults and $2 for youth age 17 or under. MU students with ID cards will be admitted free.

The film will provide the audience with a tour of the palaces, castles and picturesque villages and towns where the Renaissance began with Williams' commentary providing insights into the history, art and architecture of the era, as well as glimpses into the lives of the people.

Williams is the grandson of a man who lost his life on the Amazon River, the son of the author of the best-seller "The World Is My Oyster," and is descended from a long line of Welsh sea captains.

Williams began his own travels while a student at Valley Verde School, Sedona, Ariz., with a one-month trip into old Mexico. After attending the University of Arizona, he began organizing tours to Europe, working for his father who ran a travel agency.

After touring the world extensively as director of international tours for other major travel agencies, he studied cinematography at the Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Well established as a film lecturer, Williams has been recognized for the photographic excellence of his films and his narrative style.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Cardiac Rehabilitation Conference will be presented by Marshall University's School of Medicine, the Cabell Huntington Hospital and the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, West Virginia Board of Vocational Education on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16-17.

The sessions will be open to physicians, nurses, physician assistants, resident physicians and students as well as to vocational rehabilitation counselors.

Seven hours of AMA Category I Continuing Medical Education (CME) credit will be offered to physicians through the School of Medicine, according to Dr. C.W. Jones, MU CME director. Continuing Education Units (CEU) will be offered to non-physicians through the university, Jones said.

The faculty includes guest specialists from the Medical College of Georgia and George Washington University, cardiologists and other physicians, physical education specialists, rehabilitation counselors and a nurse.

The conference, which will be held at Marshall's Memorial Student Center, will begin at noon Friday, Oct. 16, with registration, followed by an introductory session. The first panel discussion will start at 1:30 p.m.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Dr. William Echols, MU School of Medicine clinical instructor in medicine, will be the conference moderator. The sessions will cover such topics as psychosocial problems in cardiac patients, management of angina, stress testing and exercise prescriptions, patient rehabilitation following cardiac surgery, trends in rehabilitation programs and counseling.

Friday evening's activities will include a social hour and a $15 per plate banquet at the Holiday Inn, Gateway. The registration fee, which covers credit application, syllabus and Saturday breakfast, will be $60 for physicians; $25 for nurses, physician assistants, counselors and others, and $7.50 for residents and students.

Additional information on the program and registration details may be obtained by contacting the CME director at (304) 526-0515.

Members of the conference faculty will include:

Dr. John P. Boineau, director, Cardiac Rehabilitation for the Augusta (Ga.) VA Medical Center and professor of medicine at the Medical College of Georgia; Dr. Mel Stern, associate clinical professor of medicine and psychiatry at George Washington University; Dr. Patricia Eisenman, MU associate professor of health, physical education and recreation; Dr. J.D. Harrah, MU clinical professor of surgery;

Jack Jones, executive director, Huntington YMCA; Dr. Leslie F. McCoy, MU clinical assistant professor of community medicine and former medical director, Vocational Rehabilitation Division; H. Meador, registered nurse with Cabell Huntington Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation Program; Geoffrey R. Mohn, counselor, Vocational Rehabilitation Division; Dr. Robert J. Marshall, MU clinical professor of medicine; Dr. Frank Rivas, cardiologist, and Dr. William S. Sheils, MU clinical assistant professor of medicine.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Andrea Jean Pfeiffer, a graduate of Northwestern University School of Law, has accepted the part-time position of attorney for students at Marshall University, Associate Dean for Student Affairs Mary-Ann Thomas announced today.

In the post, Ms. Pfeiffer will be responsible for providing legal advice to MU students, recognized student organizations and Student Government and for developing an educational program on legal rights of students, Dean Thomas said.

A cum laude graduate of Goucher College with a B.A. degree in political science, Ms. Pfeiffer was a student staff member of the Northwestern Legal Assistance Clinic for three years, was certified as a senior law student to practice law, was an instructor for the Pro Se Divorce Project and counselor for the Women's Legal Clinic.

A member of the Illinois and West Virginia State Bar Associations, she was staff attorney for the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago from 1976 to 1980 and staff attorney for the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission from 1975 to 1976. She also was house counsel and legal research director for Chicago's Project LEAP (Legal Elections in All Precincts).

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation's Board of Directors has re-elected Huntington attorney James O. Porter as president, Foundation Executive Director Bernard Queen announced today. Also re-elected were Kermit E. McGinnis, president of Huntington Federal Savings and Loan, first vice president, and William F. Agee, senior trust officer with First Huntington National Bank, second vice president.

The board's election meeting took place immediately following the annual meeting of the foundation Oct. 2 at the Guyan Golf and Country Club.

J.E. Katlic, chairman of the West Virginia Coal Association, was the guest speaker for the dinner meeting, discussing "West Virginia and Coal--the Future."

The 50-member foundation solicits, receives and administers private funds for support of Marshall University programs.

Three new members were elected to three-year terms on the foundation. They are Philip E. Cline and R. Sterling Hall of Huntington and R.G. Miller Jr. of Chicago, Ill.

Re-elected to three-year terms were Mrs. William D. Birke, Dr. Walter E. Brewer, John D. Drinko, Maurice J. Flynn, Frank E. Hanshaw Sr., James H. (Buck) Harless, G.B. Johnson Jr., Patrick R. McDonald, William G. Powers, Robert W. Simmons, Mrs. John F. Speer, William A. Thompson, Richard K. VanZandt and Thomas D. Wilkerson.

Elected or re-elected to serve on the Board of Directors for three-year terms were Cline, Jack J. Klim, Mrs. Birke, McDonald, Simmons, Johnson, Powers and William A. Thompson.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Oct. 9, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Fifty-nine grant proposals by Marshall University faculty and staff members were funded during 1980-81, yielding nearly $3.5 million for various research, teaching, public service and other projects.

Eighteen additional grant proposals initiated during that period are still pending and many will be funded this academic year, according to an annual report by Grants Director Corey Lock. The pending proposals amount to $1,870,000.

Funding sources include the federal and state governments, along with private foundations and companies.

The School of Medicine received the largest dollar amount with 10 proposals yielding $2,311,836. Another 12 proposals totaling $1,748,952 are pending, Dr. Lock said.

The School of Medicine total includes $1,781,065 from the Veterans Administration as its contribution toward staffing the medical school, which was established in cooperation with the VA.

The College of Education was the university's most active division in developing successful grants proposals, with 23 funded for $676,104.

Grants activity by other university divisions includes:

College of Liberal Arts, eight projects funded for $102,239 with three pending for $106,106; Administration, four funded for $61,000 and one pending for $3,000; College of Business, two funded for $9,304; Community College, one funded for $34,343; School of Nursing, four funded for $19,404; College of Science, four funded for $38,759 and two pending for $12,413, and Student Affairs Division, three funded for $227,470.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 11, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Applications are now being accepted for a special summer study program in comparative educational systems, sponsored by Marshall University's College of Education.

The program, "Fortnight in The Netherlands," runs from June 10 through June 30 and will offer participants the opportunity to study the school systems of The Netherlands and other European countries through an international seminar, according to Dr. Katherine W. Simpkins, MU associate professor of education.

"Not only will participants have an opportunity to visit schools to observe the day-to-day operation and meet with teachers and students, but they also will be able to participate in discussions with students from other countries," Dr. Simpkins said.

The program will be based in Apeldoorn, Holland, with side trips to Amsterdam as well as to the cities of Brussels and Antwerp in Belgium.

Marshall will offer credit in Curriculum and Foundations 428-582, Special Topic: Comparative Education (3 hours), and in Educational Foundations 621, Educational Research and Writing (3 hours). Registration is open to seniors and graduate students.

Cost of the program, based on current air fares, will be $1,695, which covers round trip from New York, meals, lodging and some European travel expenses. MU tuition and fees are not included in the base price.

Enrollment in the program will be limited to 20 students. Additional information may be obtained by calling Dr. Simpkins, (304) 696-3630.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 12, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Huntington, W.Va.--Marshall University's Student Activities Office will sponsor a 'Mountain Mardi Gras' concert, featuring entertainers John Bayley and Michael Murphey, at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 19, in Smith Recital Hall.

MU students with ID and Activity cards will be admitted free, but must pick up tickets prior to Oct. 13 at the Student Activities Office, Memorial Student Center 2W38.

Tickets for the general public will go on sale Oct. 13 at the Student Activities Office and will be $5 each. MU students with ID cards only may purchase tickets at that time at $3.50 each.

Bayley is described as a "super solo, raggae/calypso/good-time singer, musician," Born in Georgetown, Guyana, he performed professionally as a teenager throughout South America. As a performer in the United States, Bayley has been a 'warm-up act' for Bill Withers, Ike & Tina Turner, Ravi Shanker and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, as well as AC/DC.

His one-man show consists of a mix of original tunes, which can ramble rhythmically for up to 15 minutes, and cover versions of more familiar raggae and calypso standards.

Singer/writer Murphey and his band developed a brand of Southwestern music which blends rock rhythms, country harmony, poetic lyrics and improvisational solos. His album, "Blue Sky, Night Thunder," containing hit songs "Wildfire" and "Carolina in the Pines" sold 2 million copies and is considered a pop album classic.

A native of Texas, Murphey studied creative writing and poetry at UCLA. As a songwriter for Sparrow Music and a Ledbetters Club performer in the early years of his career, he included in his circle of friends a number of young artists who were part of the growing Southern California music scene, such as Linda Ronstadt, then with the Stone Ponies, Glen Frey of the Eagles and Buck Owens.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Oct. 12, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--An exhibit of paintings, prints, sculptures and photographs by artists from the region will open Monday, Oct. 19, at Marshall University's Birke Art Gallery.

Gallery hours are from noon to 4 p.m. weekdays and the Regional Group Exhibition will continue through Nov. 20.

In conjunction with the exhibit, Carl Solway of Cincinnati, owner of Carl Solway Gallery and Not in New York, will present a free, public lecture on "The Commercial Gallery and its Role in the Art Market," at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21, in the gallery. A reception will follow.

Solway has been an art dealer for many years and specializes in modern work, according to Beverly Twitchell, MU assistant professor of art and gallery curator. Solway also will speak to art classes at Marshall on Thursday, Oct. 22. Information concerning these lectures may be obtained by calling the Art Department at 696-6760.

Artists represented in the exhibition include: Noel Reifel of Kent, Ohio, and Jack Frederick Myers of Berea, Ohio, prints; Sue Wall, formerly of Cleveland and now New York City, paintings; Douglas Pickering of Pittsburgh, sculptures, and Gregory Spaid of Gambier, Ohio, and Berry Anderson of Highland Heights, Ky., photographs.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 13, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 2,700 band members from 35 high schools will participate in the Tri-State Marching Band Festival at Fairfield Stadium Saturday (Oct. 17).

The annual event, which starts at 11 a.m., is sponsored by Marshall University's Department of Music with Dr. Richard Lenke serving as project director. Lenke is director of the Marshall Marching Band.

Participating bands will be divided into three classes based on the number of members playing instruments. Class A includes bands with more than 80 playing members; Class B, 80 or fewer, and Class C, 50 or fewer. The band scoring the most points in the competition will be designated Grand Champion.

Class A bands that will participate are Hurricane and Huntington Vinson from West Virginia and Russell from Kentucky.

Class B bands will be Milton, Harrisville, Point Pleasant, Richwood, Hamlin, Logan, Wahama, Huntington, Poca, Barboursville, South Charleston and Wayne from West Virginia and Marietta, Portsmouth West, South Point, Greeneview of Jamestown and Oak Hill from Ohio.

Class C bands will be Mount Hope, Williamson, Clay County, Chapmanville, Bluefield, Buffalo, Duval, Sissonville, Guyan Valley, and Stonewall Jackson from West Virginia, Kyger Creek of Cheshire, Southeastern of Richmondale and Mason from Ohio, and Paintsville and Mason County from Kentucky.

Huntington Vinson has been Grand Champion three of the last four years, Lenke said.

In addition to the high school bands, the 392nd U.S. Army Band of Fort Lee, Va., and the Marshall University "Big Green" Marching Band will be performing.

Admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for students.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 15, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Malcolm E. Jewell, one of the nation's foremost scholars of state and local politics, will present a free, public lecture at 7:30 p.m, Wednesday, Oct. 21, at Marshall University in Corbly Hall 105.

Jewell, University of Kentucky professor of political science, also will meet with various political science classes on Thursday. His campus appearance is sponsored by the Marshall University Foundation's Distinguished Lectureship Program.

The author of several publications on state legislatures, Jewell is co-author of "The Legislative Connection: The Representative and the Represented in Kenya, Korea and Turkey," which is scheduled for publication this year. He also is the co-author of the book "Kentucky Politics," which is considered by many to be the authoritative volume on the state's political system.

A former president of both the Southern Political Science Association and the Midwest Political Science Association, Jewell has been editor of three professional journals and serves on the Council of the American Political Science

A member of the UK faculty since 1958, he also has taught at Duke University and the University of Colorado. He received the B.A. degree magna cum laude from Harvard University, the M.A. degree from Columbia University and his Ph.D. degree from Pennsylvania State University.

"The political science lectureship is to expose Marshall students to the finest scholars in our discipline," said Dr. Simon Perry, MU Political Science Department chairman. "We are especially pleased to have Dr. Jewell visit our campus, because his work represents the cutting edge of research on state legislatures. We are proud to have him share these insights with us," Perry added.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 16, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The 15th annual meeting of the West Virginia Political Science Association will convene Friday and Saturday, Oct. 23-24, at the Uptowner Inn, with Marshall University as the host institution.

The meeting theme will be "15 Years of Change in West Virginia Government and Politics," according to Dr. Richard H. Rosswurm, MU professor of political science and association president. The group's annual banquet on Friday evening will feature West Virginia Attorney General Chauncy Browning as speaker.

Participants will be from a variety of occupations throughout the state, Rosswurm said, and there will be a number of panel discussions on a wide range of public affairs issues.

The purpose of the association is to promote study, teaching, research and discussion in public affairs. The meeting is open to anyone interested, the president said.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Marshall Political Science Department office at 304-696-6636.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 16, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Tom Sullivan, athlete, actor, author, entertainer and musician, will speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21, in the Multi-Purpose Room, Marshall University Memorial Student Center.

Sullivan, whose campus appearance is sponsored by the Contemporary Issues Committee of the Student Activities Board, has been blind since birth. The event is free and open to the public.

Sullivan rowed in the 1967 Henley regatta, won a place on the 1968 U.S. Olympic Wrestling team and earned a degree in clinical psychology from Harvard University.

A music arranger for such stars as Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin and Lou Rawls, he has appeared in the movie "Airport '77," on the "Mork and Mindy Show," the "Tonight" show and other television programs. His autobiography has been made into a movie.

Sullivan, who sang the National Anthem at the 1976 Super Bowl, has performed in clubs in Las Vegas, Chicago, New York City and Los Angeles. He plays basketball, golf, swims, rides horses and motorcycles, runs eight miles a day and has made 35 skydives. He once pulled his drowning daughter from a swimming pool and saved her life with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Married and living in California, Sullivan also works with the National Committee of the Arts for the Handicapped, an educational affiliate of the Kennedy Center.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 16, 1981

RELEASE AT WILL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Kathryn E. Lee, a senior from St. Albans, was elected 1981 Homecoming Queen at Marshall University on Thursday, Oct. 15.

Miss Lee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Lee of 362 Scenic Drive, St. Albans, will be crowned at noon Monday, Oct. 19, on the plaza of the MU Memorial Student Center.

The Homecoming Queen and her attendants will be presented at half-time ceremonies at the Homecoming football game against Virginia Military Institute on Saturday, Oct. 24. The game begins at 1:30 p.m. in Fairfield Stadium.

The Senior Class attendant will be Margaret Anne Calcutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Calcutt of 24 Willowbrook Acres, Parkersburg. The Junior Class attendant will be Catherine Lynn Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murphy of Hurricane.

Cheryl Jean Broyles, daughter of Mrs. Audrey Joan Broyles of 2312 Windham Road, South Charleston, will serve as Sophomore Class attendant. The Freshman Class will be represented by Sheri Lynn Gainer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Gainer of 216 North Court Street, Glenville.

"Mountain Mardi Gras" is the theme for MU's 1981 Homecoming festivities. Information on events during the week-long celebration may be obtained by calling the Alumni Affairs Office, (304) 696-3134.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 20, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Shades of the '60s--there's going to be a student revolt.

A group of Marshall University students today announced plans to take over the office of MU President Robert B. Hayes at 1 p.m. Thursday (Oct. 22) and declare Marshall an independent nation-state to serve as a haven for international refugees.

Hayes said he plans no resistance, since the students, members of the Model United Nations Club, are staging their takeover in order to call attention to United Nations Day Oct. 24, the 36th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations.

The U.N. has been in the forefront of efforts to meet the needs of some 10 million international refugees and the Marshall students will emphasize that problem in their seizure of the president's office Thursday.

"International refugees have increased in number in recent years and they have shifted location," Barry Reed, Shepherdstown junior, said. "After World War II, most refugees were in Europe. Now they are mostly in Africa and Asia."

(MORE)

2-2-2

The U.N. office of the High Commissioner for Refugees recently won the 1981 Nobel Peace Prize for its work with the refugees. Reed noted that few countries are willing to accept refugees and as conditions of entry become strigent, the needs of refugees become more urgent.

"We decided to offer a haven to refugees, if only symbolically, to call attention to the needs of the world and the valuable work of the U.N.," Reed said. He added that his group is calling itself the Coalition for the Alleviation of the Refugee Problem (CARP).

Hayes said he didn't mind being ousted for a good cause--"and calling attention to one of the world's major problems certainly falls into that category." He commended the students for their show of concern.

This year's U.N. Day theme is "Improving the Quality of Life" in three subtheme areas: International Refugees, the International Year of Disabled Persons (1981), and the International Decade for Pure Water (1980s).

Model U.N. Club members regularly participate in intercollegiate U.N. simulations, debating U.N. issues, and the club has won several awards. Dr. Clair W. Matz, professor of political science, is the club's advisor.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 21, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The U.S. Department of Education has awarded a $78,000 grant to the newly-formed Southern West Virginia Deans' Grant Consortium, according to Dr. Arthur S. Maynard, Marshall University assistant professor of education.

Maynard, who will coordinate the group's activities, said the eight-institution consortium was established this fall to assist members in revising teacher preparation curricula to include experiences in teaching the handicapped in a mainstream (regular classroom) setting.

Members of the consortium are Bluefield State College, Concord College, Glenville State College, Marshall University, University of Charleston, West Virginia College of Graduate Studies, West Virginia State College and West Virginia Institute of Technology.

Five representatives from each member school are currently involved in the project's first phase: assessing existing courses to determine areas of need and developing recommendations to meet those needs. They also will participate in two workshops--one this fall on awareness of the handicapped students' needs and one in the spring on adapting the curriculum to resolve these needs.

"Each school's representatives will return to their home institution and share the information with other faculty members," Maynard said. Visits to other states to see how problems are handled by other institutions also are planned and resource centers with materials related to teaching of the handicapped will be established at each institution.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A preliminary needs assessment study has been completed by the consortium members and the project staff and is being distributed to approximately 4,000 current education majors and graduates of teacher preparation programs in the state over the past two years.

"What we are trying to do is discover what are the actual problems teachers face in this situation on a day-to-day basis," Maynard said. "It is important that teachers understand the students' problems in order to determine the best learning experience for the child," he added.

"There is a tendency to generalize, but really each student's needs may differ with the individual situation," he said. "Not only will teachers need to be prepared to help the handicapped student to adjust, but also to help other students adapt to the child's presence," Maynard noted.

The consortium project staff includes Laura Moul, assistant coordinator, who has seven years of public school experience in teaching exceptional children, and Cathy Richmond, a graduate assistant. Dr. Philip J. Rusche, MU College of Education dean, is project director.

The consortium office is located on the Marshall campus in Jenkins Hall 201. The telephone number is (304) 696-6632.

##

(NOTE: ATTACHED IS A LIST OF REPRESENTATIVES FROM EACH CONSORTIUM MEMBER INSTITUTION.)

CONSORTIUM MEMBERS

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

Jack Jervis, curriculum and foundations; Margaret Campbell, early childhood education; Charles Cox, social studies; Ronald Crosbie, health, physical education and recreation; Clifford Schneider, occupational, safety and adult education.

BLUEFIELD STATE COLLEGE

Jack Kaufman, education; Burleigh Breedlove, education psychology; Rita Hill, English; Mildred M. Jones, professional education; Gail Sark, special education.

CONCORD COLLEGE

Paul Morgan, educational foundations; Janet Abbott, reading/ECE; Ruth Mills, human development & learning; Roger Sheppard, science; Beryle Santon, elementary education.

GLENVILLE STATE

Larry Keaton, special education; Joe Evans, special methods science/chemistry, physics; George D. Harper, art & art education; Wayne deRossett, English; Dolores Mysliwicz, sociology.

UNIVERSITY OF CHARLESTON

Jack Newhouse, foundations/elementary methods; Mary Ellen Sigman, reading; Susan Thomas, reading; Claudia Q. Tull, early childhood education.

WEST VIRGINIA COLLEGE OF GRADUATE STUDIES

Al Blumberg, special education; Michael Burton, counseling; Christina Neal, reading; Charles W. Paskewicz, school psychology; Powell E. Toth, educational administration.

WEST VIRGINIA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

Gordon Short; Stephen W. Brown, history; Charles H. Cobb, physical education; Linda L. Corbett, business education/business supervision; Jerry R. Jones, teacher education.

WEST VIRGINIA STATE

Corrine Davis, education; Tom Hutto, biology; Patricia Kusimo, math; Lark Hutto, physical education, health; Rosa L. Pickel, foreign languages.

ROANE COUNTY SCHOOLS

Charles R. Murray, superintendent.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 22, 1981

RELEASE AT WILL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Music Preparatory Department will sponsor a Fall Festival Master Class in Piano at 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 7, in Smith Recital Hall, Mari C. Epling, department director announced today.

The class will be conducted by Dr. James L. Taggart, MU professor of music. There will be a $3 fee for students who wish to perform for the instructor and a $1 fee for those students who wish to attend as observers, Ms. Epling said. There will be a $2 fee for adult observers.

"In music, new ideas, new approaches and new techniques are constantly being added to established performance and teaching methods," Ms. Epling said. "The master class approach offers young musicians additional exposure to these new ideas beyond the private class setting. It is an opportunity for serious students to broaden their understanding," she added.

Taggart, a specialist in classical piano literature, has given solo recitals, workshops, lecture-recitals and master classes in West Virginia, the Midwest and Southwest. He developed a four-part lecture-recital series on the history and stylistic characteristics of Haydn's Keyboard Sonatas which was presented at Marshall, at the Science and Culture Center in Charleston and on the University of Georgia Artist Series. The series was also adapted for airing over WPBY-TV.

A member of Marshall's faculty since 1970, Taggart earned his doctorate at the University of Iowa and studied for two years at the Royal Academy of Music in London. He is a member of the Marshall University Trio.

Additional information on the master class may be obtained by calling Ms. Epling at (304) 696-2347.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 23, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Providing professional development services for nurses not only in the Tri-State Area, but also throughout southern West Virginia, is the goal of Jane Fotos, director of the Marshall University School of Nursing's Continuing Education Office.

"The school will be developing its own continuing education workshops and conferences, but my office also will be available to work with hospitals, health care agencies and other allied health professionals to aid them in designing programs to meet their own specific needs," said Mrs. Fotos, who was named to the MU post this fall.

"Continuing education is as important for nurses and other health care professionals as it is in any field where the technology constantly undergoes changes," she said. "Marshall led the way in providing nursing education degree programs in the state and is now equally committed to providing continuing education for nurses.

"We want to offer a full range of continuing education programs which will be easily accessible to nurses in southern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southwestern Ohio and that means taking programs to central locations," she said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Plans are being completed for a Cardiac Rehabilitation Update to be held at Raleigh General Hospital in Beckley on Nov. 6 under the school's auspices. The Continuing Education Office also is helping King's Daughters Hospital, Ashland, Ky., to coordinate a Neurological Assessment Workshop and is the co-sponsor of an "Emergency Physical Assessment Workshop to be given in Huntington on Nov. 23, in Point Pleasant on Dec. 1, and in Logan on Dec. 8.

Mrs. Fotos earned her nursing diploma from St. Mary's Hospital, a Bachelor of Arts degree (cum laude) in sociology, a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree and a Master of Arts degree in counseling and rehabilitation from Marshall and completed the University of Cincinnati's Master of Science in Nursing degree program.

A former staff nurse at St. Mary's Hospital, Mrs. Fotos taught in the Hospital's School of Nursing from 1968 to 1977, when she joined Marshall's nursing faculty. In 1978-79, she served as executive director of the West Virginia Nurses Association for a year. Mrs. Fotos also was a graduate teaching assistant at the University of Cincinnati.

A former convention delegate for both the American Nurses Association and the National League for Nursing, Mrs. Fotos was on the board of directors of the West Virginia Nurses Association and served as program chairman for District 9. She also is an active member of the West Virginia League for Nursing, having been on the board of directors and on a variety of committees.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 25, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Three professional development seminars will highlight the 1981 Counselors Conference in Higher Education, sponsored by Marshall University's Student Development Center, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 12-13, in MU's Memorial Student Center.

Gestalt awareness, hypnosis and the interpretation of the Strong Campbell Interest Inventory (SCII) will be explored during the two-day sessions for counselors, psychologists and social workers, according to Stephen Naymick, MU Student Development Center counselor, who is conference coordinator.

Following registration at 8 a.m. on Nov. 12, the conference will open at 9 a.m. with a three-hour workshop on Gestalt awareness conducted by Dr. Mary Ward. At 1:30 p.m. an update on revisions in the SCII and a review of other similar tests which supplement the SCII will be presented by Phil McClung. An "informal get together" has been scheduled that evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Uptowner Inn for conference participants.

Registration will re-open Saturday at 8 a.m. followed by workshop on hypnosis techniques and uses at 9 a.m. conducted by Dr. Steven Dreyer.

Registrations for the conference will be accepted through Nov. 6 and there will be a $30 registration fee. Psychologists attending the conference may earn seven contact hours of continuing education, Coordinator Naymick said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Dr. Ward received her doctorate from Case Western Reserve University and completed three years of postgraduate training at the Gestalt Institute of Cleveland. She has been affiliated with the Institute for nine years and has a private practice as a Gestalt therapist. She has studied with Fritz Perls, Isadore and Laura Perls, Satir, Whitaker, and Lederman.

McClung, who has conducted SCII workshops on the state and national level, earned his M.S. degree in Industrial Relations, a M.A. degree in counseling and a Certificate of Advance Study from West Virginia University. President of the West Virginia Vocational Guidance Association, he also is an executive committee member of the West Virginia Personnel and Guidance Association.

A graduate of the University of North Dakota with a Ph.D. degree in clinical psychology, Dreyer is co-director of the Process-Strategies Institute in Charleston which specializes in clinical and health psychology. He previously served on the faculty of West Virginia University's Behavioral Medicine and Psychiatry Department and as an adjunct professor at the West Virginia College of Graduate Studies.

Additional information on the conference may be obtained by calling the MU Student Development Center, (304) 696-3111 or 696-2324.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 28, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"Magic Mountains of the Great Smokies," a film lecture by Richard C. Kern, will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 2, in Old Main Auditorium as part of the Marshall Artists Series' Forum Division.

Admission will be by season membership or individual tickets which will be available at the door at $4 each for adults and $2 each for youth age 17 and under. MU students with ID Cards will be admitted free.

One of the most popular natural areas in the world, the Smoky Mountains of southern Appalachia contain a diversity of flora and fauna. At the highest peaks is vegetation from the Canadian Zone, while at the base are plants also found in semi-tropical Florida. The Smokies are home to the black bear and to a number of fresh water creatures.

The rugged Smokies also have helped to shape a fascinating mountain culture which is rapidly disappearing today.

A native of New Jersey, Kern graduated from Colgate University where he majored in biology. After serving in the U.S. Navy, he taught biology for three years while working on his first film, a documentary about 400 acres of cypress swamp in Florida. Since then, Kern's films have been included on many of the nation's top lecture series, including the National Geographic Lectures in Washington, D.C.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 28, 1981

RELEASE AT WILL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Science Fiction Society is meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesdays in Memorial Student Center to plan for MunchCon II, its second annual science fiction convention.

Anyone interested in helping to organize the convention, to be held April 16-17, is welcome to attend these meetings, according to Randall Meredith, publicity committee chairman.

MunchCon II will feature a film festival, a Dungeons and Dragons tournament, dealer tables, art show, writing workshop and a "live fan-zine," Meredith said.

"If you would like to help, but can't attend the meetings, write the society and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope," Meredith said. Letters may be sent to: MU Science Fiction Society, Memorial Student Center, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701.

##

FOX RIVER BOND
28% COTTON

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Oct. 30, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Community College, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, will sponsor an Advanced Tax Preparer's Seminar on Wednesday, Nov. 18, in Corbly Hall 105.

The deadline for registration is Sunday, Nov. 15, and there will be a $30 fee which covers materials and lunch for the all-day meeting, according to Betty Joan Jarrell, Accounting/Legal Secretaries Studies coordinator for the Community College.

The seminar, which begins with registration at 8:30 a.m., will feature a detailed explanation of the "1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act" by IRS representatives from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

After lunch there will be a question and answer period on the morning session, followed by a presentation on "Estates and Gift Tax" to be given by Leon Oxley, a Huntington attorney and certified public accountant. The final session will feature Marci O'Connell of Ripley, a certified public accountant with the firm of O'Connell and Graves, who will discuss "Financial Planning and Analysis."

Additional information on the seminar may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jarrell at (304) 696-5431 or 696-5432.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 1, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Minority Student Union and the campus chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha service fraternity will sponsor a "Gospel Extravaganza" at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 14, at Young Chapel AME Church, 840 18th Street.

Tickets will be $2 each and may be obtained by calling the MU Minority Student Program Office at 696-6705 or Gustee Brown, Alpha Phi Alpha adviser, at 525-6145, according to Paulette Madkins, ticket sales chairman.

Among the groups expected to appear are: The Freeman Singers of Charleston, The McCoy Family, First Baptist Church Youth Choir, Antioch Baptist Young Adult Choir, George Dunn and the 16th Street Baptist Women's Chorus. Other groups have been invited to participate, Ms. Madkins said.

Proceeds from the "extravaganza" will go to the Minority Student Union and to the NAACP's Million Dollar Fund Drive, according to Brown, a graduate student from Bronx, N.Y.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 1, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University College Republicans are participating in a nation-wide drive for signatures on a nonpartisan petition supporting the Polish people in "their struggle to regain their inalienable rights," according to David Casto, Wayne junior.

The College Republicans will have the petitions available for signing at tables in the lobby of Memorial Student Center from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 4-5, said Wayne, the group's public relations chairman.

After signatures are collected, the petitions will be sent to the College Republican National Committee for delivery to Poland.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 1, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Approximately 300 high school National Merit Semi-Finalists and honor graduates from West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southeastern Ohio will visit Marshall University's campus Wednesday, Nov. 4, according to MU Admissions Director Jim Harless.

The students will be participating in Marshall's annual "National Merit Semi-Finalist and Honor Graduate Day" program, sponsored by the MU Alumni Association.

Invitations were sent to 220 high schools in the region, Dr. Harless said. "The program was begun several years ago to acquaint academically outstanding students with the various programs, scholarships--including special ones for merit scholars--and other services offered by the university," Harless explained.

The activities begin with registration at 8:30 a.m., followed by welcoming remarks by MU President Robert B. Hayes. Harless and Ed Miller, MU financial aid director, will then present a discussion of admissions procedures, the College Level Examination Program (CLEP), and financial aid opportunities.

Dr. Claire Horton, chairman of SCORES (Search Committee on Recruiting Excellent Students) and Dr. Michael Galgano, University Honors Program director, will discuss their programs and activities.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The academic information sessions will feature talks by the representatives of the university's various schools and colleges: Dr. E.S. Hanrahan, College of Science; Dr. Alan Gould, College of Liberal Arts; Dr. Philip J. Rusche, College of Education; Dr. Sara Anderson, College of Business; Dr. Patrick I. Brown, School of Medicine; Dr. Paul Hines, Community College, and Dr. Phyllis Higley, School of Nursing.

Representatives from the various departments also will be available to provide departmental tours for the students with lunch in the Student Center to follow.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 3, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The U.S. Department of Education has awarded Marshall University's Political Science Department a three-year, $50,000 grant to establish a "Public Policy Workshop."

The proposal, which was approved by the Fund for the Improvement of Post-secondary Education, was written by Dr. Ronald J. Oakerson, MU assistant professor of political science, who is workshop director.

The workshop, which will be offered as a three-hour course second semester, is designed to improve citizenship education by involving students in developing the skills and interests of good citizens through a specific activity, according to Oakerson.

The activity will be the development of a West Virginia Citizen's Almanac, a guide to citizen participation in public policy. "Preparation of the Almanac will provide focus and direction for the workshop, provide a working relationship for students with basic citizenship issues, and provide an opportunity for students to tangibly contribute to the maintenance of a democratic society," Oakerson said.

"Effective citizenship is not only a matter of knowing what to do, but also where and especially when to do it," he explained. "Using the traditional almanac/calendar format, the Almanac--to be published and sold annually--will provide the public with day-by-day, month-by-month information pertaining to the sequence of decisions in major state agencies," he said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"There are budget cycles, planning schedules and even highway maintenance routines--all of which recur at more or less regular intervals," Oakerson noted. The Almanac will provide information on how, where and when to enter the public policy cycle in the most responsible and effective manner. While who decides what and when is really a matter of public record, the Almanac will provide the same information in a readily accessible, usable and understandable form," Oakerson added.

In addition to the public policy events calendar, the Almanac will include policy papers written by the students on a variety of public issues, such as roads, surface mining regulations and public welfare.

Students will divide their time in the workshop between the classroom and field work, collecting data and doing applied research. "This way students can apply what they learn in the classroom to specific situations of public interest," Oakerson explained. "Essentially, the students will learn applied policy analysis from the perspective of citizens," he said.

The workshop, listed in the Spring course schedule as "PSC 401/501, Special Topic: Public Policy Workshop," will be offered for three undergraduate or graduate credit hours each semester. Undergraduates may earn a maximum of 12 credit hours in the program, while graduate students will be allowed a maximum of six.

Additional information on the program may be obtained by calling the Political Science Department, (304) 696-6636.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 3, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Thirty Marshall University students have received journalism scholarship awards for this year, according to Dr. Deryl R. Leaming, director of the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism.

Receiving awards from the W. Page Pitt Scholarship Fund were:

Katherine Curkendall, Vienna senior; Vaughn Rhudy, Beckley junior; Sandy Conrad, Parkersburg senior; Thomas Marine, Huntington senior; Jeri Hughes, Charleston senior; Mary-Price Barlow, Parkersburg junior; Linda Bays, Vienna senior; Tamas Jones, Huntington junior; Patricia Hale, Huntington senior; Linda Lively, Beckley senior;

Denise McIntyre, Huntington senior; Chris Fabry, Culloden sophomore; Kushleen Conaty, Huntington junior; Sara Crickenberger, Hillsboro sophomore; James Hooker, Selden, N.Y. junior; Vicki Aleshire, Ashland, Ky. junior; Daniel Kay, Dunbar junior; Donnita Wadell, Ashland, Ky. sophomore; Charlotte Thomas-Browning, Huntington senior; Sean Callebs, Huntington senior; Ann Hicks, Alderson junior and Lee A. Smith, Huntington sophomore.

Receiving Scripps-Howard scholarship awards were: Gregory Friel, Marlinton sophomore; Steve Hauser, Charleston senior; Michael Bailey, Kenova graduate student; Crystal Obomanu, Huntington junior; Brice Wallace, Wayne junior; Davana Farris, Barboursville senior; Kim Metz, Mineralwells freshman and Jennifer Dokes, Huntington junior.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 4, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's accreditation has been extended for five years, until 1985-86, by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, MU President Robert B. Hayes has been advised.

Thurston E. Manning, director of the association's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education, told Hayes in a letter this week that the executive board met Oct. 26-27 and approved the extension of accreditation at the master's and first professional (M.D.) degree-granting levels.

The action was based on the report of an evaluation committee which examined Marshall and its programs during a visit last April.

Marshall had been granted the maximum 10-year continued accreditation following a North Central Association evaluation in 1976. At that time, however, the executive board of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education called for a review at the end of five years covering three new programs: the School of Medicine, the Community College and the Regents Bachelor of Arts degree.

The 1981 visit was limited to an appraisal of those three areas and "obviously, the evaluation team found those programs to meet all standards," Hayes said. "In fact, the visitors were lavish with their praise for the progress which had been made."

(MORE)

2-2-2

Hayes expressed pleasure with the results of the most recent accreditation action. "While Marshall has been accredited by the North Central Association continuously since 1928, our current accreditation situation may be the best in the school's history," he said. "Often, the accreditation has contained provisions expressing concern about various areas within the university's operation. But, as of now, Marshall University and all of its programs have the unqualified endorsement of the NCA's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education for the next five years. All of us at Marshall have to be tremendously pleased with that development."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 4, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Kaye J. Parks of Huntington has been appointed payroll manager for Marshall University, Vice President for Financial Affairs Michael F. Thomas announced today. She succeeds June Mierau, who resigned to move to California with her family.

Prior to assuming her Marshall duties, Ms. Parks had been comptroller of Tri-State Opportunities Industrialization Center (O.I.C.) in Huntington since April, 1979. Before that, she was an accountant with the Quad Counties O.I.C. in Beckley.

A 1974 graduate of Collins High School in Oak Hill, W.Va., she received her B.S. degree in accounting from West Virginia Institute of Technology in 1978.

"As is the case with most organizations, the payroll manager plays a very important role at Marshall," Thomas said. "I'm pleased that a person of Ms. Parks' caliber has accepted this challenge."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 5, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"People spend more time with the mass media than perhaps anything else in their lives but understand it less," says Bos Johnson. And to solve that problem, a course specially designed to give outsiders an inside look at the mass media will be offered at Marshall University again this spring.

Journalism 200, "Use and Understanding of the Mass Media," was introduced last spring for non-journalism majors. The course will be taught by Johnson, former news director of WSAZ-TV, Huntington, and now associate professor of journalism at Marshall.

The aim of Journalism 200 is to give non-journalists a better understanding of the roles the mass media play in a free society and some of the problems news reporters often deal with. The class will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9 a.m.

"Here's a chance to get an insight," Johnson said, "which insures that you will never read a newspaper or watch a newscast the same way again.

"We will process information the rest of our lives. We will get most of that information from the mass media. Therefore it is only sensible to understand how it works if for no other reason than as a basis for complaint when they don't do it right," Johnson said.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 5, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Student Council for Exceptional Children will observe "Exceptional Children's Week" Sunday through Friday, Nov. 8-13, with a variety of activities, according to Marsha Kinder of Nellis, coordinator for the week.

"The purpose of the special week is to focus attention and create an awareness of the accomplishments and needs of handicapped children," Ms. Kinder said.

On Sunday, Nov. 8, from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m., Council members will be at the Huntington Mall to distribute information on the various state and community agencies which can provide help for families with children who are physically or mentally handicapped or who have hearing impairments.

Approximately 60 handicapped youngsters from Milton, Emmons and Meadows Elementary schools and students from Green Acres Regional Center will visit Marshall's Child Study Center on Tuesday, Nov. 10, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. The program will include a puppet presentation, stories and bowling at the MU Memorial Student Center, Ms. Kinder said.

Smith Hall Auditorium will be the scene on Wednesday, Nov. 11, of a film festival featuring movies concerning needs and accomplishments of handicapped children. The films, "David," "Changes" and "A Very Special Dance," will be shown at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

On Thursday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in Jenkins Hall 216, Larry Beckett, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Disabled Persons, will conduct a panel discussion on recent special education trends in West Virginia and the commission's responsibilities. A question and answer period will follow and there will be a reception.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 6, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Wind Symphony will present a free, public concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, in Smith Recital Hall, according to Dr. Richard Lemke, MU assistant professor of music and band director.

Highlighting the program will be the presentation of Prince and Hill's "Concerto Grosso for Jazz and Wind Ensemble" which will feature the MU Jazz Ensemble with Joel D. Folsom, MU assistant professor of music, conducting.

The program will open with Catel's "Overture in C," followed by Chance's "Incantation and Dance" and Schuman's "New England Triptych."

After intermission, the combined ensembles will perform the "Concerto Grosso." The remainder of the program will include Grainger's "Irish Tune from County Derry," Sousa's "Fairest of the Fair" and Offenbach's "The Drum Major's Daughter" arranged by Odom.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Enclosed is a membership list by hometown for the Wind Symphony and Jazz Ensemble performers.)

##

WIND SYMPHONY

BARBOURSVILLE--Phil Noel and Bruce Washington; BRENTON--Keith Meadows; CEDAR GROVE--David Keenan; CHARLESTON--Robert Calhoun, Judy King and Mia Maselli; CLARKSBURG--Richard Crowley; CLENDENIN--Patricia Cobb; EAST BANK--John Hopkins; ELKINS--David Gladkosky; ELKVIEW--Susan McCamey and Kathy Mitchell; FRAZIER'S BOTTOM--Stephanie Stadler; HAMLIN--Charles Frasher; HUNTINGTON--Frank Barnett, Joseph Chapman, Sam Coen, David Eddins, Matthew Flowers, Brent Fulks, Kristi Maeland, Mark Miller and Sidney Tweel;

HURRICANE--David O'Neal; LOGAN--Paula Flinn, J. Richard Hardin and Stephen Slater; MASON--Kenneth Bond; MIDKIFF--John Johnson; NITRO--Jeffrey Anderson and Ronald Emerson; PARKERSBURG--Chenita Barber and Charles Peterson; SOUTH CHARLESTON--Scott Byrne; ST. ALBANS--James Groscup, Theodore Keown and Scott Milam; WAYNE--Joan Mullins and Kenneth Stultz; WHEELING--Keith Otte; WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS--Greg Shrader; WINFIELD--Charles Cook;

INDIANA--Ron Short, Angola; NEW YORK--Robin Bocock, Binghamton; OHIO--Lori Klinger, Belpre; Cary Collins and Alice Grubb, Coal Grove; Anita Campbell, Crown City; Kevin Shope, Ironton; Kenneth Johnson, Lucasville; Hayden Lloyd, Oak Hill; Terri Chapman and Thomas J. Willis, Proctorville; VIRGINIA--Michael Otter, Woodbridge.

JAZZ ENSEMBLE

ELKINS--David Gladkosky; HAMLIN--Charles Frasher; HUNTINGTON--Edward Bazel, Joseph Chapman, Sam Coen, Van Flesher and Sidney Tweel; KENOVA--Steve Parsons; MOUNDSVILLE--Greg Pakstis; NITRO--Jeffrey Anderson and Ronald Emerson; SCOTT DEPOT--Sally Shipley; ST. ALBANS--James Groscup and Scott Milam; VIENNA--Whitney Hess and Greg Leach; WHEELING--Scott Brosche;

MICHIGAN--Ronald Cavanini, Marquette; OHIO--Kevin Shope, Ironton; Thomas J. Willis, Proctorville.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 6, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Daniel da Cruz, a Middle East affairs specialist, will present a series of lectures at Marshall University next week (Nov. 9-12) under the sponsorship of the Departments of Journalism, Political Science, Sociology and Management.

A native of Oxford, Ohio, da Cruz has lived in Beirut, Lebanon, for the past 25 years, traveling extensively throughout the Middle East in educational, diplomatic and journalistic capacities.

An editor of the Middle East Forum, a scholarly journal, da Cruz will speak to various classes on campus and will present two free, public lectures.

"The Empty Well: Oil and Water Politics" will be the topic for his first public lecture, to be given at 9 a.m. Monday, Nov. 9 in Science Hall Auditorium. On Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 7:45 p.m., da Cruz will lecture in Corbly Hall 104 on "The Lebanese Civil War: The Middle East Crisis in Microcosm."

A former U.S. State Department officer and educator, da Cruz has contributed articles on Middle East affairs to a variety of publications including Business Week, Reader's Digest, Newsweek, Aramco World, Washington Star, Los Angeles Times and Chicago Sun-Times.

He earned the bachelor's degree from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service, took graduate work at John Hopkin's School of Advanced International Studies and was a fellow at both the University of Michigan's Linguistic Institute and the American University of Beirut.

Additional information on da Cruz's classroom lectures may be obtained by calling Dr. Maurice Sill, professor of sociology/anthropology, at 696-6700.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Nov. 9, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Reserved seat tickets are now on sale for the Marshall University Speech and Music departments' production of the Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music," which opens a five-day run on Wednesday, Nov. 18.

Performances are scheduled nightly at 8 o'clock Wednesday through Saturday, Nov. 18-21, with a matinee at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 22.

Reservations may be made by calling the University Theatre Box Office between noon and 4 p.m. weekdays at (304) 696-2306. Tickets purchased before the box office closes on Nov. 18 will cost $2.50 each, but must be picked up by 4 p.m. that day, according to Kitty Allen, box office manager.

Tickets purchased or picked up after that time will cost $3.50 each, she said. The box office is located in Old Main 107.

A Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The Sound of Music" opened on Broadway in 1959 with Mary Martin starring as Maria, running for three and a half years there and nearly twice as long in London. The movie version of the von Trapp Family Singers' story starred Julie Andrews and was a major box office success.

Directors for the Marshall student production are Dr. William Denman, associate professor of speech, and Joel D. Folsom, assistant professor of music.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 11, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Career Services and Placement Office will hold its seventh annual Nursing Employment Opportunities Program Monday, Nov. 16, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center.

More than 20 representatives from hospitals, the armed forces and other health agencies will be available to discuss the current job market with graduates from Marshall's associate and bachelor degree nursing programs and with diploma students from St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing, as well as other nurses.

Health care representatives from Ohio, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia will participate.

Program participants include:

The American Red Cross, Cabell Huntington, St. Mary's and The Huntington hospitals, all of Huntington, the Huntington Veterans Administration Medical Center; West Virginia Civil Service System, Charleston Area Medical Center, Quality Care Nursing Service and St. Francis Hospital, of Charleston; St. Joseph's Hospital, Parkersburg; West Virginia University Medical Center, Morgantown;

Bluefield Community Hospital; Pleasant Valley Hospital, Point Pleasant; Beckley Appalachian Regional and Raleigh General hospitals, Beckley; Calhoun General, Grantsville;

(MORE)

2-2-2

The Department of the Navy Nurse Corps, Louisville, Ky.; University of Virginia Medical Center, Charlottesville; Ohio State University Hospitals, Columbus, Ohio; Holzer Medical Center, Gallipolis, Ohio; Department of the Army, Nashville, Tenn.; Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., and Indian Path Hospital, Kingsport, Tenn.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 11, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Gerard Hilferty of Athens, Ohio, an art and graphics exhibit designer, will speak at Marshall University at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, in the Birke Art Gallery as part of the 1981-82 Birke Fine Arts Symposium.

The program, which is free and open to the public, is the second in a series of lectures offered by the MU Art Department under the auspices of the Birke Symposium, according to Beverly Twitchell, MU assistant professor of art, who is coordinating the symposium this year.

Hilferty, the head of the firm "A Couple Designers Inc.," will discuss exhibition design, including the use of two-dimensional (flat work such as paintings, slide presentations, films and information labels) and three-dimensional (the placing or the grouping of objects) design in presenting information and works of art, Ms. Twitchell said. A reception will follow Hilferty's presentation, she said.

Hilferty and his associates have designed and installed a number of exhibits, including two which may be familiar to Tri-State residents-- the "Dean Collection of Arms" at the Huntington Galleries and the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington.

On Friday, Nov. 13, Hilferty will meet informally with art students to discuss effective design projects.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Established in 1974 by the William D. Birke family of Huntington, the Birke Symposium sponsors fine arts programs on the Marshall campus annually. This year's symposium also is being supported by the MU Foundation's Distinguished Lectureship Series and other foundation programs.

The fine arts division sponsoring the Symposium varies from year to year, Ms. Twitchell said. Past programs have been developed in theater, in writing and in music. "In fact, the first one was a combination of programs representing various fine arts areas," she added.

"The Art Department is offering a series of exhibitions and lectures as the programming for this year's Birke Symposium," she said. "The lecture series was designed to explore professions that are ancillary to art, the professions that determine what art we see and influence how we see it," she continued.

The first lecture, given earlier this year, featured Carl Solway of Cincinnati, a gallery owner and art dealer, who spoke from the perspective of his profession. "Hilferty will focus on how an exhibit designer interprets how we see the works," Ms. Twitchell said. "In late January, we will present a noted New York art critic who will present yet another perspective. All of these speakers represent professions open to people who are interested in art," she added.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 13, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A discussion entitled "Death: A Part of Life" will be presented by the Marshall Catholic Community at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 15, at the Newman Center, 1609 Fifth Avenue.

The program, which is free and open to the public, will feature a panel composed of Dr. Nicholas Baranetsky, MU assistant professor of medicine; Jane Rogers, St. Mary's School of Nursing; Sister Monica of the Pastoral Care Department, St. Mary's Hospital, and the Rev. Mark Angelo, campus Catholic chaplain.

The panel will discuss various aspects of death, including theological reflections; grieving families and life support systems. A question and answer period will follow.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 13, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University Student Financial Aid Director Ed Miller will present a series of five workshops throughout the state for high school counselors and other agency counselors as part of Student Financial Aid Awareness Week, Nov. 15-21.

Miller, a National Student Financial Aid Training Project representative, will conduct sessions as follows: Monday, Nov. 16, at Wheeling College; Tuesday, Nov. 17, at West Virginia University; Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the University of Charleston; Thursday, Nov. 19, at Beckley College and Friday, Nov. 20, at Shepherd College.

Miller will present an overview of financial aid, provide an update on changes in the program, and review the application and eligibility notification processes.

"The special week and the workshops are designed to convey to college-bound students through their counselors the concerns about the shrinking financial aid dollar," Miller said. "The students need to be prepared to apply early and accurately," he added.

West Virginia Governor John D. Rockefeller IV issued a proclamation on behalf of the West Virginia Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators designating Nov. 15-21 as Student Financial Aid Awareness Week to help focus attention on recent developments in financial aid programs, Miller said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 15, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Old Main Auditorium will be alive with "The Sound of Music" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 18, when the curtain goes up on the Marshall University Speech and Music departments' production of Rogers and Hammerstein's popular family musical.

Performances are scheduled nightly at 8 o'clock Wednesday through Saturday, Nov. 18-21, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 22. Reserved seat tickets will be $3.50 each.

Reservations may be made by calling the University Theatre Box Office, (304) 696-2306, between noon and 4 p.m. weekdays. The box office is located in Old Main 107.

Becky Shea of Dunbar will appear in the role of Maria with Dan Henthorn of New Martinsville as Captain Georg von Trapp. Debbie Frederickson of Manassas, Va., will portray the Mother Abbess.

Also cast in supporting roles are Beth White and Jennifer Nessel, both of Huntington, who will appear on alternate nights as Liesel; Mike Feldhaus of Charleston as Rolf Gruber; Yvea Duncan of Logan as Elsa Schrader and Robert Drake of Charleston as Max Detweiler.

All but one of the von Trapp children's roles were double cast, according to Dr. William Denman, MU associate professor of speech, who is sharing directing chores with Joel D. Folsom, MU assistant professor of music. "We had such a number of talented youngsters from Huntington audition for the roles that double casting seemed the best solution," Denman said. "The youngsters may steal the show from some of our veteran student performers," he added.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Alternating performances as Louisa will be Juli Rollins and Elizabeth Ward; as Brigitta will be Susan Gothard and Sandy Williams; as Marta will be Karina Milosovich and Erica Snyder; as Gretl will be Shelley Gothard and Amy Howard, and as Kurt will be David Evans and Peter Revell. Fredrich, the eldest son of Capt. von Trapp, will be played by Scott McVey.

Other Huntington residents in the cast include: Jennifer Hineman, Ed Haeberlin, Craig Johnson, Catherine Elizabeth Hayes, Kathy Lewis, Mallory Mansour and Sheryl Lynn White.

Also in the cast are Joe Chrest, Joe McComas and Karen Kapp, all of St. Albans; Mary Helen McMorran, Cross Lanes; Kathy Kirk, Haymarker, Va.; David Casto, Wayne; Vyvyanne Crabtree, South Charleston; Shelly Lee Ramsey, Proctorville, Ohio; Vanessa Phelps, Wheeling; Michelle McCahan, Sacramento, Calif.; Cynthia Bader, Scott Depot; Dena Bailes, Ravenswood; Penny Brown, Beckley; Sheri Gainer, Glenville; Jenny Huggins, New Cumberland; Laura Leslie, Winfield, and Ed Napier, Kenova.

"The Sound of Music" was the last of the musical collaborations between Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, as Hammerstein died prior to the show's opening on Broadway in November, 1959. The production, which starred Mary Martin, ran for three and a half years on Broadway and was made into a motion picture with Julie Andrews in the role of Maria.

Songs from the musical which drew mixed reviews from critics but enjoyed audience success include: the title song, "My Favorite Things," "Do Re Mi," "Edelweiss," and "Climb Every Mountain."

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 16, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Floriene Messall, public interest representative for the Phillips Chemical Company, will discuss "Free Enterprise: Profits and Energy" at Marshall University at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 18, in the Alumni Lounge, Memorial Student Center.

Ms. Messall's appearance on campus is sponsored by the Contemporary Issues Committee of the MU Student Activities Office. The program is free and open to the public.

An employee of the Phillips Company for more than 25 years, she has been in her present post since 1975, having previously been executive secretary and administrative assistant to the Phillips Products Company president and to the Chemicals Investment Recovery manager.

Chairman of the Oklahoma Petroleum Council's Women's Programs, Ms. Messall received the council's Distinguished Service Award in 1977 and in 1979. Active in the Chamber of Commerce, she is past international president of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs, an educational organization composed of more than 9,500 women employed in the petroleum and allied industries.

###

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 19, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Free parking for as many as 1,300 automobiles will be available on Marshall University-owned parking lots during 10 of the 15 basketball games in the new Henderson Center this season, MU Parking Coordinator Bonnie J. Lytle said today.

Free public parking in Marshall lots also will be available for the other five home games, but will be more limited because of the fact university classes will be in session on those nights, Ms. Lytle said.

Her remarks were made in conjunction with today's announcement of the parking plan developed for home games at Henderson Center, the first of which is scheduled Friday, Nov. 27. Major points of the plan include:

--Public parking will be permitted at no charge on university lots on the north side of Third Avenue west of 18th Street (Lots F, S and A) and on the numerous smaller lots located south of Fifth Avenue between Elm and 19th streets. However, on the five game nights when classes are in session, public parking will not be available on these lots until after 6:45 p.m.

The five game dates on which evening classes will be conducted are Nov. 30, Dec. 15, Jan. 18 and Feb. 8 and 15.

(MORE)

2-2-2

--Vehicular traffic will not be permitted on the main campus (bounded by Hal Greer Boulevard, 20th Street, Third Avenue and Fifth Avenue) during home games. This includes 18th Street, between Third and Fifth avenues. Access to parking lots on the main campus will be limited to regular university parking permit holders and entrances will be blocked to limit access.

--During all home games, Parking Area G on the northeast corner of Third Avenue and 18th Street and all other lots on Third Avenue from 18th to 20th streets will be designated as "Special Parking" and regulated by Athletic Department personnel.

--Limited parking for registered handicapped persons will be available immediately east of Henderson Center at Third Avenue and relocated 19th Street.

"A great deal of interest has been expressed about the Henderson Center parking situation," Ms. Lytle said. "I believe basketball fans are going to find the situation improved over that of previous years when we were using Memorial Field House, even with the limitations on those game nights when classes are in session."

All traffic and parking control plans will be implemented through a cooperative agreement between Marshall's Department of Public Safety and the Huntington Police Department and its Reserve Unit, Ms. Lytle said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 20, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The first full-scale history of Marshall University has just been published by the Marshall Alumni Association, Alumni Affairs Director Karen C. Thomas announced today.

"Marshall University--An Institution Comes of Age" was written by Dr. Charles H. Moffat, a member of the Marshall faculty for more than three decades. The yearbook-size, glossy volume contains 325 pages and includes more than 135 photographs.

Moffat said he first began gathering information for the book in 1961, shortly after Marshall became a university, when then-President Stewart H. Smith suggested the time was right for a history of the school. In his spare time over the years, Moffat pored over presidents' papers and other historical materials in Marshall's James E. Morrow Library and conducted numerous interviews with alumni, faculty members and retirees.

Moffat retired as a full-time faculty member and History Department chairman in 1977 and began devoting nearly all of his time to completing the chronicle. The Alumni Association accepted the publication project in 1980.

The result is the story of Marshall, from academy days to the current "Decade of Progress," written, as Moffat likes to say, with "the warts as well as the dimples."

"We are excited with the book, and I believe those who know and love Marshall will be delighted with it," Mrs. Thomas said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"Most people who have attended Marshall during the last 35 years are well aware of Dr. Moffat's fascinating classroom lectures. This same style is obvious to the reader of the book," Mrs. Thomas said. "His personal glimpses add spice to his writing, just as they did his lectures, as he tells the stories of the people, well-known and relatively unknown, who played a part in Marshall's history."

Moffat arrived at Marshall in 1946 and earned a reputation as one of the school's most outstanding teachers during his 31 years as a member of the faculty. "Students knew him as a teacher who demanded a great deal from them, yet they flocked to his classes," College of Liberal Arts Dean Alan B. Gould recalled. "He was able to fascinate freshmen and graduate students alike in the classroom, and his book is written in that same inimitable style." A former Moffat student, Gould succeeded him as History Department chairman.

Reared in Senatobia, Miss., Moffat earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Mississippi and his Ph.D. from Vanderbilt University. He was honored by the Marshall Alumni Association with its Distinguished Service Award in 1979 and the following year was presented the university's honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

"Marshall University--An Institution Comes of Age" is available from the Alumni Association, telephone 696-3134, at a cost of $20 plus $2 for shipping and handling, Mrs. Thomas said. Limited edition volumes, numbered, signed by the author and emblazoned with a gold seal of the university, are $50 each, plus $2 shipping and handling.

The Alumni Association is sponsoring a complimentary reception honoring Dr. Moffat Sunday, Dec. 6, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Stationer's, Inc., 1945 Fifth Ave., Mrs. Thomas said.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 20, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The West Virginia Legislature's Subcommittee on Higher Education will make its annual visit to Marshall University Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 23 and 24.

Delegate Patricia O. Hartman, Democrat from Huntington, and Senator Si Galperin Jr., Democrat from Charleston, are co-chairmen of the subcommittee.

Beginning Monday at 9 a.m., the legislators will meet with administrators, tour the campus, have lunch with the Institutional Board of Advisors, and have afternoon meetings with students, support staff and faculty.

Tuesday morning, they will have a series of meetings with administration, faculty and students of the School of Medicine, followed by a session with the university Budget and Appropriations Committee. The visit will close with a 12:30 luncheon.

All of the meetings will be held in Memorial Student Center except the School of Medicine sessions, which will be conducted in Doctors' Memorial Building.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 20, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Music Department will present a Faculty Chamber Recital at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 30, in Smith Recital Hall.

The event is free and open to the public.

The program will include three arias from Bach contatas with baritone solo, harpsichord and violin and flute obligatos, Schubert's "Sonata in A Major for Violin and Piano," Faure's "Fantasie for Flute and Piano," and Dvorak's "Trio in E Minor, Opus 90, for Violin, Cello and Piano."

Recital performers will be Patricia Green, associate professor, on violin; James McWhorter, instructor, on cello; Dr. James Taggart, professor, on piano; Kay Wildman, music librarian, on harpsichord; Deborah Egekvist, instructor, on flute, and Dr. Paul Balshaw, department chairman, baritone.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 21, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University School of Nursing will offer the first in a series of Emergency Care Workshops in three West Virginia communities over the next few weeks, according to Mrs. Jane Fotos, director for Continuing Nursing Education.

The one-day workshop on "Basics of Assessment" will be presented in Huntington at the Holiday Inn Gateway on Monday, Nov. 23; in Point Pleasant at the Pleasant Valley Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 1, and in Logan at the Southern West Virginia Community College on Tuesday, Dec. 8.

Co-sponsored by Appalachian Emergency Medical Services, Inc., the workshop is designed for emergency medical technicians, paramedics, emergency room nurses and critical care nurses.

"This particular session is intended to provide a basic understanding of the purposes and methods of patient assessment at the time of life-threatening situations," Mrs. Fotos said. "It also is to serve as the foundation for a full series of programs dealing with emergency medical care," she added.

The faculty for the workshop will be Robin D. Dennison, clinical nurse specialist at Cabell Huntington Hospital, and Larry R. Harrison, trauma nurse coordinator for Appalachian Emergency Medical Services--Region II.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A specialist in cardiovascular nursing, Ms. Dennison earned her B.S.N. degree from Marshall and her M.S.N. from the University of Delaware.

Harrison, whose expertise is in emergency nursing, earned his B.S.N. from Indiana University and received certification as an emergency nurse in July.

Persons completing the workshop may earn .8 Continuing Education Units from Marshall and application has been made to the appropriate agencies for 7.5 contact hours.

There will be a registration fee of $30 for the Huntington workshop which includes lunch and $25 for the Logan and Point Pleasant workshops. Additional information on the workshops may be obtained by calling Mrs. Fotos at the School of Nursing, (304) 696-6750.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 29, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Annapolis Brass Quintet will present "The Spirit of Christmas Brassed" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 2, in Smith Recital Hall as part of the Marshall Artists Series' student programming.

General admission tickets for the public will be $4 each and may be obtained from the Artists Series Office on the first floor of Memorial Student Center. Marshall students with ID and Activity Cards will be admitted free. MU students with ID Card only may purchase tickets at half price. Tickets for youth 17 or younger may be purchased for $2 each also.

The quintet, composed of two trumpets, one horn, one trombone and a bass trombone, will play traditional carols and hymns of the season as well as works from the Renaissance period, when brass was the most awesome musical sound known to man.

The selections will range from "The Twelve Days of Christmas" to "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," with "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" as the closing number.

"This is a marvelous program to launch one of our most joyous holiday seasons," MU Cultural Events Coordinator Nancy P. Hindsley said. "In fact, it is a program for the whole family."

Since its inception in 1971, the Annapolis Brass Quintet has been the only full-time performing brass ensemble in the United States. It also performs each year in the major European cities as well as throughout the United States. Its list of summer festival appearances includes the Carinthian Summer Festival in Austria, Spain's Casals Festival and Portugal's Festival of American Music.

The group recently received a special critics' award for its performance at the Musica Viva Series in Munich.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Nov. 30, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Music Department will present a "Festival of Christmas Music" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 8, in Smith Recital Hall. The concert is free and open to the public.

The program will feature the A Cappella Choir, Symphonic Choir, Master Chorale and University Symphony. Dr. Wendell Kumlien, MU professor of music, is choral director and James McWhorter, instructor in music, is the symphony conductor.

Two "Magnificat" works, one by Schuetz and one by Peeters, will be sung by the A Cappella and Symphonic choirs. A third "Magnificat," a work by Monteverdi, will be performed by the Master Chorale.

Soloists for the work by Schuetz will be Keith Pennington of Kenova, tenor; Ann Johnson of Ravenswood, mezzo-soprano; Myra Hutchison of Kenova, soprano, and Jerome Stone of Huntington, baritone. Soloists for the Monteverdi work will be sopranos Deborah Bradley and Brenda Barry, both of Huntington; tenors William Glover of Huntington and Wes Ramsey of Proctorville, Ohio, and baritone Charles Martin of Huntington.

The University Symphony will present Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" and Vaughn-Williams' "Fantasia on Christmas Carols." The latter will feature MU Music Department Chairman Paul A. Balshaw as soloist and the combined choirs.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 1, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Invading Huntington and Marshall University Saturday for the first time, West Virginia University's basketball Mountaineers will be bringing some high-level supporters with them.

At the invitation of Marshall's Institutional Board of Advisors, the WVU Institutional Board of Advisors, accompanied by spouses, will be on hand for the Thundering Herd's clash with the Mountaineers Saturday night in Henderson Center. WVU President Gordon Gee and Mrs. Gee also will attend.

The WVU and Marshall advisory boards will have a joint meeting in the MU Memorial Student Center starting at 4 p.m. Saturday, followed by separate business sessions of the two groups. After dinner, the two boards will attend the basketball game together.

"I'm very pleased that the WVU Institutional Board of Advisors has accepted the invitation to join us for a meeting in Huntington," MU President Robert B. Hayes said. "While our respective boards represent separate institutions, we have a number of common goals. Our cooperative efforts can be of benefit to both universities."

Members of the WVU board planning to attend the joint meeting are Chairman J. Reginald Dietz, Vice Chairman James H. Harless, William E. Collins, Joe Bob Goodwin, Judge Robert E. Maxwell, Charles C. Wise Jr., Boyd Holtan, William Hinchey, Secretary Harold J. Shamberger and Paul Martinelli.

Members of the Marshall advisory group are Chairman Russell C. Dunbar, Vice Chairman David N. Harris, Secretary Elinore D. Taylor, Paul M. Churton, Charles K. Connor Jr., Dan R. Moore, Sandra S. Wilkerson, James S. Williams, Paul D. Stewart, Eugene F. Crawford and Marc Williams.

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 3, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Charles H. Moffat, author of the newly-published history of Marshall University, will be honored at a reception at Stationers Inc., 1945 5th Avenue, Huntington, from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6.

Dr. Moffat, retired chairman of the History Department, spent 20 years researching the book, entitled, "Marshall University -- An Institution Comes of Age," and has devoted his time since retiring from the school in 1977 to writing the 325-page volume.

The book was published by the Marshall Alumni Association, which is sponsoring the reception. Copies of the book will be available, and Dr. Moffat will conduct an autograph session. Refreshments will be served.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 7, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Music Department will present a free, public concert, "Christmas Music for Winds," at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 10, in Smith Recital Hall.

Traditional and contemporary Christmas music will be performed by Marshall's Wind Symphony, directed by Dr. Richard Lemke, assistant professor, and by various student ensembles.

Highlighting the holiday program will be a performance of "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" with Leo V. Imperi, associate professor as narrator. Also on the program is an arrangement for saxophones of John Denver's "Aspenglow" by Keith Meadows of Brenton.

Performing in the Brass Quintet will be Becky Adams of Nitro and Richard B. Crowley III of Clarksburg, trumpets; Anita Campbell of Crown City, Ohio, horn; David Gladkosky of Elkins, trombone, and David Casto of Wayne, tuba. Dr. John H. Mead, associate professor, is the group's advisor.

Members of the Saxophone Quartet are J. Richard Hardin of Logan, soprano; Keith Meadows of Brenton, alto; Van Flesher of Huntington, tenor, and David Neff of Middlebourne, baritone. Dr. Robert Clark, associate professor, is advisor.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The Flute Ensemble, directed by Deborah Egekvis, instructor, includes Mia Maselli and Judy King of Charleston, Vicki Jordan of Milton, Kelly Kearfott of Huntington, Joan Mullins of Wayne, Stephen Slater of Logan, and Marilyn Warner of Proctorville, Ohio.

Appearing with the Trombone Ensemble will be Gary Collins of Coal Grove, Ohio; Charles Cook of Winfield; David Gladkosky of Elkins; Valerie Hoover of Walker; Jeff Smith of Wayne; Rod Edwards, Brent Fulks and Sidney Tweel of Huntington; Kevin Shope and T.J. Willis of Ironton, Ohio, and Michael Otter of Woodbridge, Va. James Groscup of St. Albans is student director.

Appearing with the Wind Symphony as soloists for "A Christmas Celebration," the selection which will close the concert, are Kristy Maeland and Matt Flowers of Huntington, Kathy Mitchell of Elkview, and Gary Collins of Coal Grove, Ohio.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 8, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation's Annual Giving Program has received a $55,000 boost from Ashland Oil, Inc., Foundation Executive Director Bernard Queen announced today.

A check for that amount was presented by Ashland Oil President Robert E. Yancey to Marshall President Robert B. Hayes during a meeting at Ashland Oil's Headquarters Building near Ashland, Ky.

The gift is in addition to a recent $300,000 contribution from the company, which was designated for use by the Marshall School of Medicine, Queen noted.

The major portion of the latest gift is earmarked for the discretionary "University's Greatest Needs" account, Queen said, while the remainder is to be used for the Marshall Scholars Program and for athletic scholarships.

"Ashland Oil continues to be Marshall University's most consistent and enthusiastic corporate supporter," Queen said. "The company's assistance cannot be measured merely in the considerable amount of dollars directly contributed, but also includes the excellent efforts of Ashland Oil officials in helping us to raise funds from other businesses and individuals. Ashland Oil and its people are very good friends of Marshall University and we are deeply appreciative," he added.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Dec. 9, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The nation's coal industry will be examined in a special topics course, "Coal Industry Studies: Past and Present," to be offered at Marshall University during the Spring Term, beginning Jan. 12.

The course, Social Studies 483/583, will be offered at both graduate and undergraduate levels, Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

The instructor, Dr. William E. Coffey, professor of social studies, said there will be some special emphasis on the coal industry of West Virginia and the Tri-State Region. The course will consist of lectures, films, discussions and reports.

"In all likelihood, we will have some guest appearances by persons connected with the coal industry," Coffey said. "Students also will be introduced to library source materials relating to all aspects of the coal industry."

Coffey said all aspects of the American coal industry--geological, technological, environmental, managerial, labor, social and political--will be covered within an historical perspective. He said he believed the course would be of particular interest to many out-of-school adults in the Tri-State Region. It can be taken either on a credit or a non-credit basis and there are no prerequisite courses, Coffey said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

West Virginia residents enrolling at the undergraduate level will pay $52.20 for the course and non-residents will pay $183.60. At the graduate level, the cost will be $74.70 for West Virginia residents and $254.85 for non-residents. Class sessions will be conducted in Harris Hall Room 137.

Coffey said this is only the second time the course has been offered. It was introduced two years ago.

Marshall is conducting "walk-in" registration Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and Friday until 4 p.m. each week through Jan. 8. Regular registration is scheduled Jan. 11 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Interested persons who have not attended Marshall before should contact the Admissions Office, 696-3160, to arrange to be formally admitted to the university before entering the registration process.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 16, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Slightly tighter restrictions were announced today for those parking on Marshall University lots for Thundering Herd Basketball games in Henderson Center.

The change affects public parking only on those nights when evening classes are scheduled at the same time as basketball games, according to Parking Director Bonnie J. Lytle. On those nights, public parking will not be permitted on university lots until 7 p.m., following the start of most evening classes.

Previously, it had been announced that the public could use the lots after 6:45 p.m. on class nights.

Only three dates are involved during the remainder of the current basketball season. These are Jan. 18 and Feb. 8 and 15. There are no classes scheduled on other home game nights and the public may use university-owned lots south of Fifth Avenue and those on the north side of Third Avenue west of 18th Street without observing the 7 p.m. restriction. There is no charge for use of university parking lots during basketball games.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 17, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Stephen W. Hensley, Marshall University assistant dean for student development, has been named director of the Special Services Program, Associate Dean for Student Affairs Ken Blue announced today.

Hensley, who will continue as assistant dean, succeeds Dr. Edythe Taylor in the Special Services post. Dr. Taylor resigned earlier this year to accept an assistant professor position in the MU College of Education.

A federally funded program, Special Services provides counseling and tutoring in skills development for disadvantaged college students, Blue said. "Steve Hensley's past experience and interest in counseling made him an ideal choice for this particular position," Blue said.

Hensley, a Huntington native, earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Marshall and is enrolled in the Ed.D. degree program offered jointly by Marshall and West Virginia University.

A member of the MU Student Affairs staff since 1972, Hensley has served as a counselor and assistant director in the Special Services Program. He is a member of several professional organizations, including the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 29, 1981

RELEASE AT WILL

HOMETOWN NEWS

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Forty-eight Marshall University students have been selected for inclusion in the 1982 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," MU Assistant Dean for Student Life Don Robertson announced today.

Students selected for this honor are considered to be among the country's most outstanding campus leaders, Robertson said. Marshall's nominees were selected by a campus committee on the basis of their academic achievements, community service, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential, he added.

The MU students are: Mary Wilcox, Melissa J. Simmons, Gregory Scott Rash, Mary R. Aldred, John Reed Davis, James A. Dodrill, Craig Michael Faerbes, Michele Elaine Hale, William Hershel Haney, Katherine S. McClaskey, Kitrina Kearfott and Allyson Bird, all of Huntington;

Bob Wilkinson, Barboursville; Jodi Lynn Woody, Victor; B.W. Thornton, Kermit; Laura Tennant and Karmyn Shane Minnite, Vienna; James Morris Smith, Eleanor; Joanna Tabit and Joseph W. Bartges, Charleston; Randy Ross, Branchland; Gibson Rhudy Vaughn and Cynthia Lee Martin, Beckley;

Donna Jane Bush, Kathy Meadows and Catherine Lynn Murphy, Hurricane; Pamela Ann Munday, Munday; Kathryn E. Lee and Karen A. Kapp, St. Albans; Mary Price Barlow, Parkersburg; William H. Bostic II, Sissonville; Samuel Scott Courts, Milton; Kimberly F. Ewing, South Charleston;

(MORE)

2-2-2

Tamara Eye, Daniels; Jennifer K. Fraley and Frank Ketterman, Moorefield; Mildred Rosalee Juba, Princeton; Kelly Sue Kearfott, Pennsboro; Ruth Ann Hendrickson, Moundsville; David Josephs, Shepherdstown; Betty Rickman, William R. Brown and Helen V. Gardner, South Point, Ohio;

Cheryl Stewart-Newman and Paula Tammie Click, Ashland, Ky.; Max D. Lederer Jr., Lockport, N.Y.; Gustee Brown Jr., Bronx, N.Y., and Kim Battin, Belle Mead, N.J.

##

NEWS

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WV 25701 • TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Dec. 29, 1981

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University School of Medicine's Internal Medicine Residency Program has received full accreditation from the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME).

Dr. Maurice A. Mufson, MU Medicine Department chairman, was notified of the program change from provisional accreditation status to full accreditation by Dr. John C. Gienapp, secretary of the ACGME Residency Review Committee for Internal Medicine.

"The path to accreditation for a residency program is much like that for a school of medicine," Mufson said. "Representatives of the appropriate agency visit the campus and study the program proposal. That committee then makes recommendations to the full ACGME, which, in turn, decides whether or not to issue provisional accreditation.

"A residency program--just like a medical school--must have provisional accreditation before it can have residents. Once the residency has been operational for a period of time, the review committee returns to view it and again offers recommendations to the ACGME as to the residency program's viability," Mufson explained.

"Of course, periodic reviews will continue to be conducted by the ACGME," Mufson said.

A three-year program, the Internal Medicine Residency received provisional accreditation in 1977 and currently has 16 residents receiving training at Cabell Huntington Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital and the VA Medical Center. "Eventually, we hope to have 30 residents in the program, 10 in each year." Mufson said.

##