

Marshall University

Marshall Digital Scholar

Marshall University News Releases

University Archives

1-1977

Marshall News Releases: Janurary, Feburary, March, 1977

Marshall University

Follow this and additional works at: https://mds.marshall.edu/marshall_news_releases_archives

Part of the Higher Education Commons

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

Jan. 4, 1977

JUL 22 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The West Virginia Board of Regents today approved a report from the consulting firm of Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates which recommends construction of a multi-purpose physical education facility at Marshall University adjacent to Gullickson Hall on the university's main campus.

At the same time, the report recommends acquisition of property immediately south of the university to provide for outdoor instruction and recreation, as well as parking. The property includes the area between Fifth and Sixth avenues from Elm Street to 19th Street.

The report also calls for acquisition of one parcel in the 1800 block of the south side of Third Avenue as well as the entire 1900 block on the south side of Third Avenue. The university already has acquired most of the 1800 block.

Total cost of the project, including land acquisition and development, is estimated at between $22 million and $25 million.

Cost of the multi-purpose facility alone, including a total renovation of Gullickson Hall, will be approximately $18 million.

The arena section of the facility will include 11,000 seats, all movable. The Sverdrup & Parcel recommendation calls for new construction of 208,000 square feet, in addition to the Gullickson Hall renovation. Under the plan, Gullickson Hall will, in effect, be "absorbed" into the multi-purpose facility.

(MORE)

Details of the report were revealed this afternoon in a news conference held in the Marshall Memorial Student Center by Board of Regents President Edward H. Greene, Chancellor Ben Morton and Marshall President Robert B. Hayes. Also participating were James L. Haack and Lawrence H. Smith of Sverdrup and Parcel.

The massive building will include a natatorium, physical education instruction stations, offices, and facilities for intramural sports and recreation. It will be completely air-conditioned.

"We are very pleased with the total package prepared by Sverdrup & Parcel," President Hayes said. "Our original proposal to the Board of Regents had three objectives: indoor facilities for instruction, intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports and recreation; outdoor facilities for baseball, recreation and instruction, and increased parking. The Sverdrup & Parcel proposal fully meets all of these objectives."

Hayes also noted that the proposal provides dual-purpose parking to serve the university's general academic sector as well as the multi-purpose facility. "Marshall needs that parking space desperately," he added.

Board President Greene said the regents prefer to see Marshall expand to the south rather than east of 20th Street, as the university had proposed earlier. "Since we have purchased the Doctors' Memorial Hospital building on Sixth Avenue for use by the Marshall School of Medicine, we believe it is logical that Marshall should grow in that direction," the board president said.

Chancellor Morton noted that the Board of Regents already has acted to include the Marshall project in its capital improvements budget request to the 1977 State Legislature.

(MORE)

The new construction will displace several tennis courts which are used for physical education instruction purposes. These will be relocated in the 1900 block of the south side of Third Avenue. A major outdoor intramural and recreation field adjacent to Gullickson will not be affected, nor will Marshall's new eight-lane, all-weather track.

Haack said the building will be done in phases in order that Gullickson Hall might remain in use until the new construction is completed. At that time, activities now housed in Gullickson will be shifted and the renovation program will be initiated.

Haack said the total construction-renovation project will take about two years.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

Jan. 4, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Department of Bible and Religion will offer a special course, "African Religions," during the spring semester, Dr. Louis B. Jennings, departmental chairman, announced today.

The course, according to Jennings, is designed to introduce students to African religions and philosophy. It will deal with traditional concepts and practices in African societies which had not been deeply exposed to Christian and Muslim teachings prior to the African Colonial Period.

Listed as Bible and Religion 490, the course will be taught from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, in Harris Hall 445 by Dr. Frank L. Horton, the campus United Methodist minister.

Horton has a B.A. degree in philosophy and religion from Salem College, a Rel. D. in church and society from the School of Theology at Claremont, Calif., and a M.A. in African-Afro American Studies from the State University of New York at Albany. He has taught at Wheeling College and the University of Pittsburgh.

Before his current assignment, Horton was pastor of Charleston's Simpson Memorial United Methodist Church. A former director of the campus ministry section of the United Methodist Church's Board of Higher Education and Ministry in Nashville, Tenn., he has held pastorates in Los Angeles, Cumberland, Md., and Clarksburg.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Students may enroll in the course during registration on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 10-11, from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. in Memorial Student Center. There will be evening registration from 5 to 9 p.m. on Monday.

Marshall's spring semester begins Wednesday, Jan. 12, and ends May 13.

#/#

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 5, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Speech Department is offering a classical theater course over the state's three public television stations during the spring term.

The course, Speech 479-679 offers three hours of university credit on either the undergraduate or graduate level.

Registration for Marshall's spring semester will be held Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 10-11, from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. both days. An evening registration period is scheduled from 5 to 9 p.m. on Monday.

Thirteen plays, produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation and featuring some of England's finest actors, will be shown at 9 p.m. weekly on Thursday nights, beginning Feb. 17, over WMUL-TV (Channel 33), WSWP-TV (Channel 9) and WWVU-TV (Channel 24).

The plays will be "MacBeth" by Shakespeare; "Edward II" by Marlowe; "The Duchess of Malfi" by Webster; "Paradise Restored" by Taylor; "She Stoops to Conquer" by Goldsmith; "Candide" by Voltaire; "The Rivals" by Sheridan; "The Wild Duck" by Ibsen; "Hedda Gabler" by Ibsen; "Trelawny of the Wells" by Pinero; "The Three Sisters" by Chekhov; "The Playboy of the Western World" by Synge and "Mrs. Warren's Profession" by Shaw.

Students enrolled in the course for undergraduate credit will be required to watch the productions at home, write one paper, come to the Marshall campus for four seminars and take a final exam, according to Dr. Elaine A. Novak, MU professor of speech and course instructor. Students enrolled for graduate credits will be required to write an additional paper, Dr. Novak said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The seminars will be held on Saturdays, from 9:30 a.m. to noon, on Feb. 26, March 26, April 16 and May 7. The final exam will be given on May 14.

For additional information, contact Dr. Novak, Speech Department, Smith Hall Room 249, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or telephone (304) 696-6786.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 5, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Registration for Marshall University's Spring Term will be conducted Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 10-11, in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

The hours will be from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. both days. On Monday, evening registration will be held from 5 to 9 p.m. All fees must be paid at the time of registration.

To begin the registration process, students must have a time card which can be obtained, along with a course schedule, from the Registrar's Office, Old Main 105, this week between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., and next week during registration hours. Time cards will be issued upon presentation of ID cards which will be available in Main 1B.

Before reporting to register on Monday or Tuesday, students with time cards should pick up pre-printed registration forms in the lobby of the Student Center.

Students who have not been admitted previously to the university should fill out an admission application, available from the Admissions Office, Old Main Room 123. The office will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Classes begin Wednesday, Jan. 12. Late registration and schedule adjustment periods are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 17-18. A late fee will be assessed students registering at that time.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Registration is currently underway for classes offered on campus by Marshall's Community College. Students may register in the Community College building, 18th Street and 4th Avenue, this week during these hours: 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. today and tomorrow (Jan. 5-6); 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., Friday, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Those students not registering this week, can report to the regular university registration. Registration will resume for Community College classes Jan. 12 through 18 in the Community College building.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 5, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Israeli statesman Moshe Dayan will speak at Marshall University on Sunday, Feb. 20, at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

His topic will be "Middle East Perspective." Following his speech, Dayan will answer questions from the audience.

Dayan's visit is sponsored by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., in cooperation with the Huntington Jewish community, according to Lynne Mayer, administrative assistant in the president's office at Marshall.

The lecture, which will be free and open to the public, will culminate the local observance of National Brotherhood Week, said Mrs. Mayer, who is coordinating Dayan's campus arrangements.

"We hope that General Dayan's visit will enhance community relations and promote a better understanding of the Middle East situation as it relates to and affects each of us," Mrs. Mayer said.

A former Minister of Defense and Armed Forces General Staff Chief for five years, the 61-year-old Dayan has been involved in the military policies and political growth of Israel since his early teens when he was a member of the Haganah, the underground Jewish defense force.

(MORE)

During World War II, he was attached to reconnaissance and commando units which preceded the allied troops' invasion of Syria. It was in that campaign that he was wounded, losing his left eye.

During Israel's War of Independence, he commanded a mechanized battalion in the Jordan Valley. Rising rapidly through the ranks, he became Chief of General Staff with the rank of major general in 1953.

As top commander, his principal impact on the Army was to develop the fighting spirit of the Israeli soldier through rigorous training, ingenuity in combat, and unorthodox tactics which were reflected in daring forays behind the enemy lines. The confrontation was climaxed by the Sinai Campaign in October, 1956, when the Egyptian forces were driven from the Sinai Peninsula in 100 hours of fighting.

In May 1967, under the threat of Egyptian invasion, and following the popular demand in the country for "the hero of the Sinai Campaign," Dayan was appointed Minister of Defense and was a major factor in Israel's victory in the Six-Day War.

Often described by journalists and others as unconventional, daring and outspoken, Dayan currently is a member of the Israeli Parliament.

"Moshe Dayan: Story of My Life," his autobiography, was published last year by William Morrow and Co. An earlier book, "Diary of the Sinai Campaign," was published by Harper and Row.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Community College

Jan. 6, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"Energy Management," a special course designed to provide instruction in energy efficiency techniques and methods in industrial plants and commercial facilities, is being offered by the Community College of Marshall University this semester.

The one hour-credit class will begin Jan. 24 and meet for six weeks on Mondays from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The instructor will be Barry L. Long, power engineer with Appalachian Power Company, Huntington Division.

Tuition and books for the course cost $25. Applications for admission to the course are available from the Community College. Application and fees should be returned to the Community College prior to the first class meeting. Registration will take place at that meeting. The class is limited to 25 students.

"Energy Management" provides an overview of the major energy consuming systems currently in use, and information on the development, implementation and maintenance of non-residential energy management programs and was produced by The Electrification Council specifically for industrial, commercial and governmental users of electricity as well as interested members of the general public.

Further information may be obtained by calling Glenn E. Smith, director of instructional services at the Community College, (304) 696-3646 or the instructor, Barry L. Long (304) 522-0311, extension 254.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

Jan. 10, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A preview of the Marshall University Alumni Association spring cruise to the Mexican Riviera will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 13, in the Alumni Lounge, on the second floor of Marshall's Memorial Student Center.

Terry Carter, a Sitmar Cruise representative, will give an illustrated introduction to the ports of call and the cruise ship, the T.S.S. Fairsea, Dr. Everett N. Roush, alumni affairs director, said. The seven-day cruise departs Los Angeles April 30 for Puerto Vallarta, Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas, Roush added.

The preview is open to members of the Marshall Alumni Travel Club and any other interested persons. Parking will be available on campus, next to the center. Light refreshments will be served.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. DONROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

Jan. 12, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Music Department will sponsor its fourth annual Music Careers Day for area high school students on Saturday, Jan. 22, beginning with registration at 8:15 a.m. in Smith Music Hall.

More than 250 people are expected to attend the daylong program, according to Dr. James Taggart, MU professor of music and event coordinator. The program, featuring MU music faculty members and guest professionals from the region, will include seminars on music careers, a concert by MU music ensembles and special discussions on college music study, Taggart said.

Students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades in West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southern Ohio schools, high school music teachers, counselors, parents, church music directors and private teachers may attend.

Pre-registration cards are available through the school systems from music teachers, counselors and music supervisors. They may also be obtained from the Marshall Music Department by calling 696-3113 or 696-3117.

There will be no charge for the seminars and discussions, but there will be a fee for a special luncheon in Memorial Student Center at which attendance will be optional. The cost of the luncheon, partially underwritten by the MU Alumni Association, will be $2.

(MORE)

Reservations for the luncheon must be made no later than Monday, Jan. 17, but registration for other events may be made as late as 9:15 a.m. on Music Careers Day, Taggart said.

During the morning session, Marshall music faculty members will talk with students about college music programs and what is expected of students.

At 10:45 a.m., there will be a concert by the Marshall Symphonic Choir, Wind Symphony and Student Brass Quintet.

After lunch, panel discussions will be conducted in three areas: teaching, performance, and non-teaching and allied fields. Students may spend the afternoon in one discussion group or divide their time among the three areas.

Guest speakers and their areas of expertise are:

--Church Music, Sandra Rogers, director of music at Huntington's First United Methodist Church.

--Public School Teaching, Elinor Copenhaver, Cabell County Public Schools music director.

--Music Therapy, Dr. Michael Kellog, registered musical therapist and music therapy director at Ohio University.

--Arts Management, James Martin, director of the Marshall University Artists Series.

--Private Studio Teaching, Elizabeth Johnson of Ashland, Ky., private piano teacher.

The students will have opportunities for individual conferences with music faculty members at various times throughout the day, Taggart said. The program will close about 4:30 p.m.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 15, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Mini-Concert Committee of Marshall University's Student Activities Office will sponsor a concert by Bluegrass musician John Hartford and Hickory Wind at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3, at the Keith-Albee Theater.

Hartford, who plays fiddle, banjo and six-string guitar, was seen regularly on The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour and gained national fame with his work on Campbell's recording of "Gentle On My Mind."

Shunning the label of Bluegrass, Hickory Wind prefers to call its music "Appalachian gypsy music." Composed of four young men from West Virginia and one "outsider," the group plays and sings folk music of the region, which grew out of the various European cultures of the people who settled in this area.

The group's members play a variety of instruments--fiddle, banjo mandolin, guitar, dobros, hammered dulcimer and flute.

After touring earlier with his own band, Hartford is now working solo.

In addition to his appearances on the Glen Campbell Show, Hartford has been seen on the Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, the Johnny Carson Show, Midnight Special, Rock Concert, the Phil Donahue Show and several other national television programs.

(MORE)

Last fall Hickory Wind performed in Spain, Rumania, Kuwait, Oman, the United Arab Republic, Tunisia, Austria and Portugal as a cultural presentation of the U.S. State Department to promote the Bicentennial.

Tickets for the concert will be $3 for Marshall students and $5 for the general public. Tickets may be purchased on campus at Opus One in the Memorial Student Center.

Other Huntington ticket outlets include Stationers, Audio Tape and Records and the Keith-Albee Theater. In Charleston, tickets may be purchased at Pepperland and Turner's Records.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

Jan. 17, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Lisle G. Brown, curator of special collections at Marshall University's James E. Morrow Library, has been appointed to the West Virginia State Historical Records Advisory Board by Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.

Brown, a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, was notified of his two-year appointment to the newly-created board recently in a letter from the governor.

Brown joined the MU library staff in 1972. He previously served as manuscripts librarian at the University of Utah. He earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the University of Utah and a Master of Library Science degree from the University of Oregon, where he received a federal grant to study archival history.

He and his wife, the former Merry Janet Lewis, are the parents of two children.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

Jan. 17, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will hold its 1977 Commencement program at 11 a.m. Saturday, May 14, in Memorial Field House, President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

Commencement originally was scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 15. This will be the second year that the university has broken with the traditional Sunday Commencement.

"We tried it last year--on the recommendation of the Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee--as an experiment," Dr. Hayes said. "It proved so convenient for all those concerned, graduating students, their families, faculty members and others participating in the ceremonies, that the committee again recommended a Saturday Commencement," the president added.

The Sunday Commencement tradition dates back to a time when travel was more difficult and when the graduation ceremonies were preceded by Baccalaureate (religious) services. Many schools, including Marshall, dropped Baccalaureate services several years ago.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

Jan. 18, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Chris Unger, a Marshall University graduate student in music from Coplay, Pa., will present a voice recital Friday, Jan. 21, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

Unger, a tenor and student of Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, MU professor of music, will perform art songs by Brahms, Richard Strauss, Vaughan Williams and Peter Cornelius.

Unger's piano accompanists will be Balshaw, Malana Henderson, Kenova senior, and Nancy Asbury, Huntington junior. During the Williams number, he will be accompanied by a string quartet composed of professional musicians from the community: Nancy Whear and Winona Comfort, violinists; Janet Bromley, violist, and Jean Davidson, cellist.

Unger has performed at Marshall as a soloist and as a member of university choral groups, including Symphonic Choir, Opera Workshop, and Collegium Musicum. He has appeared also with Theater West Virginia's summer productions of "Honey in the Rock" and "Hatfields and McCoys."

The recital is open to the public without charge.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 18, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. James L. Taggart, Marshall University professor of music, will appear on the Hurricane United Methodist Church "Ministry Through the Arts" series Sunday, Jan. 23, at 3:30 p.m. at the church.

The topic for his lecture-recital is "The Classical Masters: Human Emotions in Abstract Forms." The program is free and open to the public.

Dr. Taggart, who joined the MU music faculty in 1970, has served various area music groups as a solo pianist, accompanist and chamber music artist. He has appeared with the Huntington Chamber Orchestra, the Marshall Community Orchestra and other campus and community ensembles.

He is an official accompanist for the Tri-State District, Metropolitan Opera Auditions and has been accompanist for the West Virginia Opera Theater.

At Marshall recently, Taggart performed 16 of Haydn's piano sonatas in five consecutive lecture-recital programs and has lectured also on Mozart and Beethoven piano works. Listed as one of the sponsored artists in the West Virginia Arts and Humanities "Arts in the Community" program, he has given two concerts inaugurating county arts programs in Logan and Lewisburg.

Dr. Taggart received his Ph.D. in music literature and performance from the University of Iowa where he also earned Bachelor of Music and Master of Fine Arts degrees. He has studied at the Royal Academy of Music in London under John Hunt, a protege of Arthur Schaebel.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. HORNBY LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

Community College

Jan. 18, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Six classes at Huntington Galleries are planned by the Community College of Marshall University for the winter session, Glenn E. Smith, director of instructional services at the college, has announced. Each class will meet for 10 weeks.

"Beginning Photography" will be taught by Yvonne Alsip beginning Feb. 7 on Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m. in Studio 3. Tuition is $36 and materials, $4. Students will provide their own paper.

David Schwenker will teach "Beginning Painting" on Tuesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Feb. 8 in Studio 1. Tuition is $36.

"The Indians of North America: Their Culture and Art" will be taught by Tom Kuhn on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. The class will be in Studio 7 beginning Feb. 8 and will cost students $24.

"Drawing, Collage and Construction" will be on Tuesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Feb. 8. Eugene Armistead will teach the class in Studio 2. Tuition is $36.

Adele Lewis will teach a class in "Watercolor" on Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Feb. 9. The class will be in Studio 2 and cost $36.

"Sing Me a Story" is the name of the class to be taught by Jean Lepley. The students will explore Appalachian Ballads through lecture, discussion, instrumental and recorded activities. The class will meet on Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Feb. 10 in Studio 6.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Further information about the classes can be obtained from Huntington Galleries, 529-2701.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan 20, 1977

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

----- CORRECTION -----

Several lines were dropped inadvertently from the fourth paragraph of a release on the Marshall University Jazz Festival dated Jan. 23. The fourth paragraph should read:

The concerts are scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Keith-Albee Theater. Tickets are available now from the Kenney Music Co. and the MU Music Department. They may be purchased at the Keith-Albee beginning at 6:30 p.m. on performance evenings. The cost will be $5.50 for adults and $2.75 for students through 18 years of age. MU students may obtain free tickets with valid activity cards.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Community College

Jan. 21, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A class for training Emergency Medical Technicians will begin Feb. 14 and will be sponsored by the Community College of Marshall University.

Class sessions will be on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at St. Mary's Hospital. Tuition for the five-credit-hour class is $41.75 for West Virginia residents and $239.75 for non-residents. The class is limited to 25 students.

Registration will be conducted at the Community College, 18th St. between 3rd and 5th avenues, until Jan. 25, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Additional details may be obtained from Larry T. Artrip, guidance coordinator at the Community College, (304) 696-3646.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 450 high school and college music students and their teachers are expected to participate in Marshall University's eighth annual Jazz Festival which begins Wednesday (Jan. 26), according to festival director J.D. Folsom, MU assistant professor of music.

The four-day event is sponsored by the MU Music Department and the Marshall Artists Series, with support from the Kenney Music Company of Huntington. More than 30 high schools and colleges have registered for the festival, including schools from northeastern Ohio.

Highlighting the festival will be the appearance of renowned jazz musician Stan Kenton and his orchestra, who will give two public concerts and conduct clinics.

The concerts are scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Keith-Albee beginning at 6:30 p.m. on performance evenings. The cost will be $5.50 for adults and $2.75 for students through 18 years of age. MU students may obtain free tickets with valid activity cards.

Other events during the festival will be held in Smith Music Hall and will be open to the public without charge, Folsom said. This includes all clinic-demonstrations of jazz techniques, performances by participating ensembles and a concert by the MU Jazz Ensemble.

West Virginia University, West Virginia State College, West Virginia Wesleyan and Fairmont State College have registered jazz groups for participation in the festival.

(MORE)

The following West Virginia Schools are expected to send representatives: Barboursville, Vinson, Elkins, Huntington High, Fairmont Senior, Hamlin, Burch of Delbarton, Hurricane, Greenbrier East of Lewisburg, Winfield, Scott of Madison, Pineville, Washington Irving of Clarksburg, Cameron, Man, Logan Senior and Parkersburg South.

Schools in Ohio registering are: Berea, Champion at Warren, Parma at Cleveland, Gallia Academy at Gallipolis, Jackson, Portsmouth West, Shaw at East Cleveland, Boardman and Westland at Grove City.

Also planning to participate is Paul G. Blazer High School, Ashland, Ky.

In addition to Kenton and his orchestra, two guest artists will work with the ensembles attending. The clinicians are Dave Sporny, trombonist, and Al Ipri, percussionist.

One of the country's most influential jazz figures, Sporny is a performer, composer, arranger and conductor. His program at Interlochen produces top flight professional talent. He earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Illinois where he won the Top Brass Performer Award. In addition to his own jazz groups, he has played with the Les and Larry Elgart bands as well as with Kenton.

A Philadelphia native, Ipri grew up with the "big band sound." As a teenager he played with the Bob Petit band and later joined the Navy in order to attend the Navy School of Music. A former player with the Charlie Chase Unit band, Ipri also studied under the late George Lawrence Stone. He now is a private teacher, primarily in Philadelphia, where he also serves as a high school drum section consultant. For the past several years, Ipri's students have taken first place in the South Jersey Band contests. In 1970, eight of the 11 students picked for top honors were his students.

(MORE)

3-3-3

Also working with the visiting ensembles will be Paul Jennings, associate director of the MU Jazz Ensemble and Jazz pianist.

The festival will close Saturday with an 8 p.m. concert by the MU Jazz Ensemble. Other events include:

--Wednesday, 1 to 4 p.m., jazz techniques clinic-demonstration by MU Jazz Ensemble.

--Thursday, all day, Kenton and musicians working with high school jazz ensembles.

--Friday, 9 a.m. to noon, jazz technique clinic-demonstrations by Sporny, Ipri and Jennings.

--Friday, 1 to 5 p.m., performances every 30 minutes by high school jazz groups with critiques by guest artists.

--Friday, 5 to 9 p.m., performances hourly by college ensembles.

--Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., more high school jazz ensemble performances every 30 minutes with critiques by guest artists.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY JAZZ FESTIVAL 1977

Schedule of Performance

Barboursville High School	Friday	1 p.m.
Vinson High School	Friday	1:30 p.m.
Berea (Ohio) High School	Friday	2 p.m.
Elkins High School	Friday	2:30 p.m.
Huntington High School	Friday	3 p.m.
Champion High School Warren, Ohio	Friday	3:30 p.m.
Fairmont Senior High School	Friday	4 p.m.
Parma High School Cleveland, Ohio	Friday	4:30 p.m.
West Virginia State College	Friday	5 p.m.
Fairmont State College	Friday	6 p.m.
West Virginia University	Friday	7 p.m.
West Virginia Wesleyan College	Friday	8 p.m.
Hamlin High School	Saturday	8:30 a.m.
Gallia Academy Gallipolis, Ohio	Saturday	9 a.m.
Hurricane High School	Saturday	9:30 a.m.
Burch High School Delbarton, West Virginia	Saturday	10 a.m.
Paul G. Blazer High School Ashland, Kentucky	Saturday	10:30 a.m.
Jackson (Ohio) High School	Saturday	11 a.m.
Greenbrier East High School Lewisburg, West Virginia	Saturday	11:30 a.m.
Winfield High School	Saturday	noon
Portsmouth (Ohio) West High School	Saturday	12:30 p.m.

Scott High School Madison, West Virginia	Saturday	1 p.m.
Pineville High School	Saturday	1:30 p.m.
Washington Irving High School Clarksburg, West Virginia	Saturday	2 p.m.
Shaw High School East Cleveland, Ohio	Saturday	2:30 p.m.
Boardman (Ohio) High School	Saturday	3 p.m.
Cameron High School	Saturday	3:30 p.m.
Man High School	Saturday	4 p.m.
Westland High School Grove City, Ohio	Saturday	4:30 p.m.
Logan Senior High School	Saturday	5 p.m.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Please Release Sunday, Jan. 23, 1977

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES EARL RAY LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Jack C. Phillips, director of development at Marshall University for the past two years, has been appointed president of the National Methodist Foundation, effective Feb. 15. The foundation is headquartered with the United Methodist Higher Education and Ministry Offices in Nashville, Tenn.

Phillips also has been serving as executive director of the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., which is responsible for receiving and administering private contributions to the university.

"These last two years working with Marshall University alumni and friends have been a tremendously rewarding experience and I sincerely regret leaving," Phillips said. "On the other hand, I have a very strong commitment to the church and I believe this is an opportunity for service that I cannot pass up."

Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said a search committee will be appointed immediately to seek a successor to Phillips.

A native of Scottsboro, Ala., Phillips was assistant to the president for external relations at the University of Alabama in Huntsville prior to coming to Marshall in January, 1975. Previously he had been in development work at Florida Southern College and Birmingham-Southern College. He earned degrees at Birmingham-Southern and at Vanderbilt University.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Phillips served with the U.S. Marine Corps from 1954 to 1957. He was listed in "Outstanding Young Men of America" in 1972. He also is an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church.

He and Mrs. Phillips have one daughter, Annette.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

JAMES E. MORROW, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

Jan. 24, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Harmon L. Smith, who holds dual professorships at Duke University's Divinity and Medical schools, will be the speaker for a forum on "Bio-medical Ethics," sponsored by the Campus Christian Center at Marshall University.

Each semester, the Christian Center sponsors a public forum for discussion of current issues, bringing together representatives from the university, church and community, according to the Rev. Hugh B. Springer, Presbyterian campus minister.

"In discussing 'Bio-medical Ethics,' we will be dealing with the full range of moral issues evolving from modern medicine and biology, especially in view of today's advanced technology," the Rev. Mr. Springer said.

During his three-day stay in Huntington, Dr. Smith will give two free public lectures, in addition to several informal classroom and roundtable dialogues.

The first public lecture, "Bio-medical Ethics and the Health Professions," will be geared toward persons in the health fields. Co-sponsored by the Marshall School of Medicine, the lecture will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 1, at St. Mary's Hospital.

(MORE)

Responding to Dr. Smith's remarks will be Dr. Willard K. Bentz, professor of behavioral sciences, MU School of Medicine; Mrs. Giovanna B. Morton, associate professor and director of the associate degree program in nursing education at Marshall, and Dr. Charles Turner, a local physician with the Huntington Internal Group.

Smith's second public lecture will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 2, at the Campus Christian Center. The topic, "Bio-medical Ethics: Issues, Cases and Problems," is more suited to a general audience.

The response panel that night will be Dr. Richard O. Comfort, MU professor of sociology and anthropology; Dr. Ruth C. Harris, chairman of the Pediatrics Department, MU Medical School, and the Rev. Mr. Springer.

Professor of moral theology at the Divinity School and professor of community health sciences at the Medical School, Smith joined Duke's faculty in 1962. His teaching and research fields are in the areas of Christian ethics and medical ethics. He is the author of several books and is a frequent contributor to religious, scientific and medical publications.

He received several research and study grants in 1968-69 to do work at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1973, he was Humanities Research Fellow in the Neurologic Surgery Department of St. Barnabas Hospital, Bronx, N.Y., where he is still an affiliate staff member.

Dr. Smith has taught on the Greensboro and Chapel Hill campuses of the University of North Carolina. He has lectured at more than 50 colleges and universities and more than 25 medical schools and hospitals in the U.S. and Europe.

Active in several civic and professional groups, he is a member of the American Society of Christian Ethics and the Society for Religion in Higher Education.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

Jan. 24, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. James W. Harless, Marshall University admissions director, has been appointed to the Serviceman's Opportunity College (SOC) Advisory Board.

The appointment was made jointly by Naomi M. McCracken, president of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, and Dr. Allan W. Ostar, executive director of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Composed of representatives from higher education and the armed forces, the SOC meets twice a year in Washington, D.C., to assist the SOC staff and the U.S. Department of Defense in coordinating military education programs with college and university curricula.

Harless will begin his work with SOC at the next advisory board meeting, Feb. 14-15. The appointment is for the duration of the SOC project.

A Charleston native, Harless was director of the former MU Logan Branch before joining the main campus administrative staff in 1967. Harless also is a former Man High School math teacher and counselor.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

DANE M. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 24, 1977

JUL 22 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Norman Baker of the University of Cincinnati will give a free public lecture at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Thursday (Jan. 27) in Harris Hall Room 134.

Baker, chairman of the UC Quantitative Analysis Department, will discuss "Quantitative and Behavioral Applications in Research and Development Management."

Baker's appearance at Marshall is sponsored by the College of Business and Applied Science under the First Huntington National Bank Lecture Series, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the college.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. HONOROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

Jan. 25, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Students interested in earning an undergraduate degree in economics from Marshall University now have two options open to them.

The degree may be earned either through the College of Arts and Sciences or through the College of Business and Applied Science.

In its Jan. 4 meeting, the West Virginia Board of Regents approved the College of Business and Applied Science's proposal to offer a Bachelor of Business Administration in economics, said Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the college.

Previously the only avenue open to students interested in this field was a Bachelor of Arts degree through the College of Arts and Sciences, Drewry said.

"The basic difference between the two degrees is that the B.B.A., as its title implies, is business oriented, while the other is social sciences oriented and directed to students in the liberal arts," said Dr. Joseph S. La Cascia, chairman of the MU Economics Department.

Additional information on either degree program may be obtained from the Marshall Economics Department, Northcott Hall Room 213. The telephone number is 696-6492.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 25, 1977

JUL 2 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Student Activities Office in cooperation with West Virginia University is sponsoring a trip to Hawaii this spring.

A chartered jet will leave Pittsburgh on March 4 and return March 12. The cost of the trip will be $409 or $459, depending on land accommodations. The fee includes roundtrip fare, hotel room and either one or two evening events.

The trip is open to anyone who would like to take advantage of the charter rate, according to Mrs. Nancy Hindsley, Student Activities Office coordinator. "This means not only students, faculty and staff, but friends of Marshall as well, are eligible," Mrs. Hindsley said.

Larry Handel, a representative of a New York travel bureau, will be on campus at 4 p.m. Wednesday (Jan. 26) in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center to talk with those interested in taking the trip.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Hindsley at 696-6770.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 26, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"We intend to keep Marshall University in operation and we're going to do everything we possibly can to ensure that we do," Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said Tuesday.

His comments followed an announcement by Columbia Gas of West Virginia that the university's natural gas allocation for February and March will be drastically reduced.

Hayes met Tuesday with Marshall vice presidents, deans, the director of housing and the registrar to discuss the critical situation.

"We've had an energy conservation program in effect for the past two years," Hayes said, "and we were able to operate three per cent under our natural gas allocation in December. Now we are considering a number of steps to cut natural gas consumption to a bare minimum--which is just about what we are going to be allocated.

Among steps being studied are possible changes in the university's schedule, relocation of some classes to other buildings, and conversion of several gas-fired boilers to use alternate fuels.

"Specific assignments have been made for detailed studies of the feasibility and impact of some of the steps we might take," Hayes added. "We'll be meeting daily for the next few days to discuss the findings and to take action."

(MORE)

Marshall is fortunate in that several of its newer buildings are heated electrically, Hayes noted. These include eight-story Smith Hall, the Twin Towers dormitories, Memorial Student Center, James E. Morrow Library and Harris Hall, a new classroom building.

Conversion of boilers in several other buildings is a possibility, Hayes said, and one or two older buildings might have to be closed with classes being reassigned to other buildings.

"It is essential that we remain in operation from the standpoint of the students," Hayes said. "Many come here from great distances, including several foreign countries, and would have no place to go if we closed the university. In addition, we have to try to complete the semester on time in order that our students might find summer employment or, in the case of those graduating, start their careers."

"I'm sure we are going to experience some inconvenience, and perhaps even some discomfort," Hayes said, "but in all fairness to the students we have to do everything we can to keep Marshall in operation."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 27, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--David O. Barrows, instructor of computer studies at Marshall University, has earned the Ph.D. degree from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, Dr. A.M. Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs, announced today.

Dr. Barrows completed his doctoral requirements in December, the vice president said. His dissertation is entitled "The Construct Validity of Acceptance Acquiescence."

A native of West Virginia, Barrows joined Marshall's faculty as an instructor of psychology in 1975. He is a graduate of Calhoun County High School, Grantsville, and earned his baccalaureate degree from Morris Harvey College.

He received his M.A. degree from Marshall where he was a teaching assistant. Barrows held a teaching assistantship at the University of Nebraska, where he also served as a consultant, writing computer programs for the Psychology Department.

He is a member of Psi Chi, national psychology honorary and the American Association of University Professors.

Barrows and his wife, the former Pamela Sue Wilson of Charleston, are the parents of one daughter.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 28, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Choral Union is looking for new members, according to Dr. Paul Balshaw, director and MU professor of music.

The group is open to Tri-State Area residents as well as Marshall students, faculty and staff, Balshaw said. There are no auditions, he added.

Rehearsals for the Choral Union's spring semester concert will begin Monday, Jan. 31, at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining may attend this session or any of the subsequent sessions scheduled from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday evenings through April 4.

The choral group, accompanied by the Marshall Community Orchestra, will present Bach's Easter oratorio, "The St. John Passion," on Palm Sunday, April 3, and the following evening. The performances will be at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Jan. 31, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Charles A. Hoffman, Huntington urologist, has presented Marshall University three volumes of political and historical significance, Dr. Kenneth T. Slack, MU libraries director, announced today.

The books are "Surgical Treatment of Renovascular Hypertension," written by Dr. Boris V. Petrovskii, USSR Minister of Health; "Practical Observations on the Treatment of the Diseases of the Prostrate Gland," written by an early 19th century physician, and "Israel: A Personal History," autographed by the author, David Ben-Gurion, Israel's first Premier.

The Russian medical volume, published in 1968, was a gift from Petrovskii, a cardiovascular surgeon, to Hoffman during his 1972 visit to Russia. Hoffman and his wife were there at the invitation of the USSR Medical Workers Union which is composed not only of physicians but of all personnel in medical related fields.

Hoffman and Petrovskii through an interpreter exchanged observations about the two countries' medical systems. "Petrovskii admitted that the quality of medical care in the USSR at that time didn't match that in our country," Hoffman said. "He was one of the few who could make that statement without fear of reprisal or contradiction," Hoffman added. "He also talked of how much he wanted to develop a master plan for his country's health program."

(MORE)

The Ben-Gurion book was acquired through similar circumstances. Hoffman recounted a visit he and his wife made to Ben-Gurion's home in Tel Aviv in 1973, shortly before the Israeli statesman's death:

"We were struck particularly by the sight of this old man with bushy hair, who was so short that even seated his feet didn't touch the floor. He was feeble, but his eyes sparkled as he talked of his vision for his country," Hoffman said.

Written in 1811 by Everard Home, sergeant surgeon to King George III and surgeon at St. George Hospital in London, the British treatise is illustrated with copper plates and is a rare book, according to the MU libraries director. The book was given to Hoffman by his office staff.

These books will be placed with other materials in the Dr. Charles A. Hoffman Library of Medical Sciences, founded by the former American Medical Association president, Slack said.

The library, located in the Hoffman Room on the third floor of Marshall's James E. Morrow Library, with its retrospective materials will be separate from the School of Medicine Library of current medical materials, located in the Community College Building, Slack noted.

Dedicated in 1975, the Dr. Charles A. Hoffman room contains the Ironton, Ohio, native's professional papers, medals and other memorabilia.

Establishing an outstanding collection of medical literature for future scholars has long been a dream of Hoffman.

"It was triggered by a gift from Dr. Harry Chambers, a Huntington pediatrician," Hoffman said. That gift was a book containing the minutes of the West Virginia State Medical Society's eight annual meeting in 1875, the constitution adopted in 1869 and resolutions passed in 1870.

"It was fascinating to read. There were changes coming...forceps had just recently come into use in obstetrics," Hoffman noted.

(MORE)

The gift made him realize the lack nearby of collections of old manuscripts for medical and allied health field scholars. The closest probably is the one at the University of Chicago, he noted.

Dr. Hoffman decided to take an active role in making his dream come true and set up an endowed fund with the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., pledging $100,000 himself. His goal is to raise $250,000 from which the income will be used for purchases and to maintain the library.

While a full campaign hasn't been mounted yet, the fund exceeds $50,000, including $35,000 in stocks, securities and cash that Hoffman has made. Also included in that total is a $5,000 gift he made in the name of his long-time associate, Mrs. Anne Weber, a registered nurse who heads his office staff.

The library will not be limited to medical books, but will include works on other related fields such as nursing, podiatry, dentistry and pharmacology.

One particular item that Hoffman believes may be invaluable to future scholars is the complete minutes from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's public hearings on malpractice.

"I see this entire collection as a tremendous reference library for scholars who want to research medicine's past," Hoffman said.

"Marshall is truly indebted to Dr. Hoffman for having this far-reaching vision and the determination to bring it about," said MU President Robert B. Hayes. "The collection will do much to enhance our reputation among scholars," he added.

Hoffman's ties to Marshall are long standing. He studied here before earning a pharmacology degree from Ohio State University and his M.D. from the University of Cincinnati. He taught pre-med courses here and directed the campus health service from 1940 to 1944.

Now on the Marshall Advisory Board, he has served as treasurer of the foundation. He received an honorary degree from MU in 1972 and the Alumni Association's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1969.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY JAMES H. HORTON WEST LIBRARY 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

Feb. 1, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Robert A. Taft Institute of Government and the Marshall University Political Science Department will again co-sponsor a Seminar in Practical Politics at Marshall June 13-July 1, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

This will be the ninth annual practical politics seminar to be conducted for West Virginia secondary school teachers, elementary school teachers, librarians and school administrators.

Professor William R. Ross of the West Virginia University political science faculty will continue to serve as director of the seminar. Dr. Troy M. Stewart, Jr., assistant professor of political science at Marshall, will serve as seminar coordinator.

Thirty teachers will be selected to participate in the three-week program which is open only to graduate students. Each participant will be awarded four hours graduate credit and will have the option of earning an additional two hours of credit. Credits earned may be transferred to another institution.

The Robert A. Taft Institute of Government, headquartered in New York, will assume the major costs of the program, including full tuition, room and board, and assigned textbooks. The cost to each participating teacher for fees and related charges will be $45.00, exclusive of transportation.

(MORE)

Selection of the Taft Fellows will be made in early April and the deadline for applications is March 31. Application forms and specific details may be obtained by writing Dr. Stewart in care of the Department of Political Science at Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va., 25701.

A total of 222 teachers have participated in the eight previous seminars, Ross said. The objective of the seminar is to develop among the participants a better understanding of the basic principles of the American political system and the role of political parties through a combined academic and practical approach to the study of politics. The Taft Fellows will have opportunities to have informal discussions with a number of practicing politicians.

The seminar will include 14 days of meetings with Ross conducting morning sessions. Afternoon speakers will include both appointed and elected government officials, spokesmen for both political parties, political writers and others. The seminar will be bi-partisan.

Announcement that Marshall had been selected as one of the 1977 Taft Institute Seminar sponsors was made by Marilyn Chelstrom, executive director of the Institute.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

Feb. 1, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Individual Events (IE) Team ranked fifth out of 19 schools competing in an IE Tournament last weekend (Jan. 28-29) at Georgetown (Ky.) College.

Coached by Maureen Milicia, assistant professor of speech, the team is composed primarily of students in their first year of competition.

"Our novices did an excellent job," Miss Milicia said.

Winners in novice events included Carol Proctor, a Sylvester sophomore, who placed first in poetry; Libby Hay, Huntington senior, who placed third in poetry; Patricia Brown, Lavalette senior, who placed fifth in persuasion and sixth in poetry, and Stewart Glass, Parkersburg freshman, who placed sixth in impromptu speaking.

Leading the IE team in points was veteran Connie Day of Chesapeake, Ohio, who placed second in sales, prose interpretation and pentathlon, fourth in poetry interpretation and fifth in informative speaking. Miss Day's pentathlon win made her the number two tournament speaker.

The team placed behind Ohio University, George Mason College, Bowling Green State University and Eastern Michigan University.

The MU team will compete next at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, early in March.

###

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES T. POWERS LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE
JUL 22 1977

Feb. 1, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Michael E. Cerveris has been selected to coordinate Marshall University's programs at the West Virginia Science and Cultural Center in Charleston this spring, MU Vice President for Academic Affairs A. Mervin Tyson announced today.

Norman L. Fagan, Center director, has invited colleges and universities around the state to share the many artistic endeavors of their students, using the Center as a showcase.

Cerveris, an associate professor of music at Marshall, will be responsible for developing programming for Marshall's showcase, scheduled for April 15-20.

"We have no definite plans at this moment, but we are exploring the various possibilities within the university's student artistic community," said Cerveris.

A native of Pittsburgh, Cerveris joined Marshall's faculty in 1969. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in music from the Julliard School of Music where he won the Harold Gray Prize; a Master's degree from Catholic University, and a Doctor of Musical Arts from West Virginia University.

Cerveris is active in many area musical groups and has worked with the Jenny Wiley State Park summer productions at Prestonburg, Ky. He has produced several events which mix the various arts for community organizations.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 4 1977

ARCHIVES

Feb. 2, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's spring vacation, scheduled for March 7-12, has been canceled, President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

In addition, two "study days" scheduled during final examinations week have been canceled, the Marshall president said.

Marshall has been forced to suspend classes during the first two weeks in February because of new restrictions announced by Columbia Gas of West Virginia on January 31. Under the new restrictions, Marshall is permitted to heat buildings using natural gas only to "maintenance" levels--40 degrees.

The new restrictions were to be in effect only from Jan. 31 until 8 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 5. Because of the uncertainty of the natural gas supply situation, however, Hayes said he had decided to suspend classes one week beyond that time.

Classes are scheduled to resume Monday, Feb. 14, at 8 a.m. Campus dormitories will be reopened Sunday, Feb. 13, at noon.

Marshall is losing nine class days during the current suspension of classes. Seven of these can be recovered through the cancellation of the spring vacation and the study days, Hayes said.

"If we have no additional reductions in our curtailed natural gas allocation, we should be able to complete the semester on schedule," he said.

(MORE)

Meanwhile, Marshall is moving to reduce its reliance on natural gas. About half the campus buildings already are heated electrically. Temperatures also have been reduced to maintenance levels in those buildings not in use.

Two older buildings heated with gas-fired furnaces have been closed for the duration of the crisis. These are the Women's Physical Education Building and the Engineering Building. Classes have been reassigned to other buildings, water lines have been drained and furnaces turned off. Efforts are under way to close still another building, Northcott Hall, but several problems involved with relocation of classes taught in that building must be resolved, Hayes said.

Work was started Tuesday to supplement Memorial Student Center heating, which is now natural gas, with electrical heating and the project should be completed within a few days, according to Karl J. Egnatoff, director of plant operations. Efforts also are under way to convert the Science Hall to electrical heating, but this must await provision of additional power installations by Appalachian Power Co. and will require more time.

Should the crisis continue, students may find themselves in some unusual classroom settings upon their return to classes. Contingency plans are being prepared to make maximum use of electrically heated buildings, particularly the James E. Morrow Library and Memorial Student Center. Small dining rooms, the Alumni Lounge and conference rooms may be converted to Student Center classrooms. Several rooms in the library may be used to house classes, and the faculty lounge on the eighth floor of Smith Hall may be converted.

Hayes said Monday's directive from Columbia Gas came as a jolt as the university had been taking a number of steps to remain in operation despite already-severe curtailments of natural gas. "Because of the additional curtailments made by Columbia Gas on Jan. 31, we no longer had a choice of staying open," Hayes said. "It may be demonstrated later that they do not have a legal right to order our closing," he told a staff meeting Tuesday, "but this is not the time to contest the order. All of us must cooperate to conserve fuel to the maximum extent possible."

(MORE)

Although classes have been suspended, along with many extracurricular activities, Marshall is not "closed." Maintenance and security staffs are busy making changes to cope with the severe weather and the fuel shortage, as well as protecting the campus buildings. Administrative and service departments are functioning, much in the manner they would during the students' spring vacation.

In many instances, however, personnel are working in less comfortable temperatures than before. Where possible, work stations have been moved to electrically heated buildings. In other areas, small electric heaters have been placed in operation. A number of 12-month employees have elected to take their vacations during this period.

"We expect each of you to work a full day at your regular or new assignments," Hayes told the non-faculty employees Tuesday. "We can justify continued pay for you only if there is continued and productive service."

The suspension of classes and closing of the dormitories posed special problems for dormitory residents who, for various reasons, could not return to their homes immediately. This was particularly true in the cases of a number of students from foreign countries. To provide accommodations for these students, the Marshall Housing Office has arranged for students to move into the former Doctors' Memorial Hospital, one block from the campus. The building is owned by a non-profit community corporation, Family Care Outpatient Center, Inc., but is in the process of being sold to the Board of Regents for use by the Marshall Medical School. "The situation for temporary housing of our dormitory students is excellent," according to Warren Myers, Marshall housing director. "The building has a lot of vacant former hospital rooms and these will serve a relatively small number of students nicely."

James E. Morrow Library, electrically heated, is remaining open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. during the recess, Hayes said, in order that students living in the immediate area and faculty members might make use of its facilities. It also will be open Sunday, Feb. 13, from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

A number of activities have been canceled or postponed, including home athletic events. Varsity basketball games with Illinois State, North Carolina-Charlotte and Morris Harvey have been called off, but Athletic Director Joseph H. McMullen said efforts will be made to reschedule the games later in the season.

The Marshall Speech and Hearing Center has been closed until Feb. 14, Director Robert D. Olson announced, and an American College Testing Program (ACT) test scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 5, has been postponed, according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins. He said the test, given to high school students planning to attend college, will be rescheduled for April.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. CROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 4, 1977

JUL 22 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A total of 440 students completed work toward degrees from Marshall University during the Fall Semester which ended Dec. 17, according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

The degrees will be conferred by Marshall President Robert B. Hayes during the school's annual commencement Saturday, May 14, in Memorial Field House.

One hundred and forty-four degrees were earned by the students in the Graduate School, while the College of Education accounted for 141.

Marshall's College of Arts and Sciences reports that 41 Bachelor of Arts degrees, 26 Bachelor of Science degrees, 19 Regents Bachelor of Arts degrees and seven Associate in Science degrees were earned by its students.

The number of degrees completed through the College of Business and Applied Science in December was 56. The School of Medicine and Associated Health Professions had two graduates from its nursing program and four from its medical technology programs.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Huntington residents completing requirements for master's degrees in December were: Oscar Taylor Adkins, M.S. safety; Darlene Kutina Backer, M.A. special education; James Stephen Baumberger, M.S. safety; Eoonida G. Brant, M.A. elementary education; William M. Brizendine, M.A. counseling; Judith Ann Bryant, M.A. secondary education; Charles O. Buzzard, M.S. vocational technical education; James Irvin Carnes, M.A. English; Frank Bernard Cummings Jr., M.A. counseling and Marilyn Magariello Cyrus, M.B.A.

(MORE)

Patricia Ann Damron, M.A. reading education; William Thomas Donnally, M.B.A.; Patricia Ann Faller, M.A. secondary education; Robert Lee Fischer, M.S. vocational technical education; Thomas Merritt Fisher, M.A. art; Douglas R. Hardman, M.B.A.; David L. Hatfield, M.B.A.; Lester Brian Hicks, M.S. safety; Sherlene Hiroskey, M.A. secondary education; Robert Phawn Johnson, M.A. psychology; Barry L. Long, M.B.A.; Carol Ann McCallister, M.A. reading education; Marcus Carlyle McPhail Jr., M.A. counseling; Dianna Lynn Mitchell, M.A. elementary education and Frances Gale Neal, M.B.A.

Ruth Lieselotte Perry, M.A. art; John Alexander Pagnani, M.A. counseling; Demetrius Rovatsos, M.B.A.; Robert Edwin Roswall, M.A. political science; J. Stephen Schauder, M.B.A.; Natalie Moel Schneiderman, M.A. psychology; Donald Gene Simpson, M.A. counseling; Mary Carroll Spensky, M.B.A.; Marsha Elaine Steirn, M.B.A.; Julie Willis Taylor, M.A. secondary education; Frank L. Tetrick III, M.A. counseling; Christine Marie Westerholm, M.A. counseling; Eldon B. Wilson, M.B.A. and James Bryan Zimarowski, M.B.A.

Other West Virginia residents completing graduate degrees in December include:

STOLLINGS--Brenda White Adams, M.A. elementary education and Barry Stephen Shamblin, M.A. elementary education; MATEWAN--Helen Lambert Allara, M.A. educational administration; CHARLESTON--Mollie L. Annand, M.A. speech pathology and audiology; Charles Anderson Boggs III, M.S. safety; Joel Gardner Dotson, M.B.A.; David Victor Foglesong, M.A. communication arts; Karolyn Jean Hall, M.S. safety; Mary Carolyn Hornbeck, M.A. secondary education; Mary Jean Luzader, M.A. counseling; Stephen Rex Murray, M.A. elementary education; Charlotte Pritt Rich, M.A. English and Sue Woods Smith, M.S. vocational technical education.

WAYNE--Roberta J. Asbury, M.A. communication arts; Ralph Junior Marcum, M.A. secondary education and Jerry E. Workman, M.A. secondary education; HURRICANE--William David Bartley, M.A. elementary education and Kennie E. Hatfield Jr., M.S. safety; MONONGAH--C. Steven Batiste, M.A. psychology; FAIRMONT--Barbara Annette Brandimarte, M.S. vocational technical education; WEST UNION--Michael Browning, M.A. speech pathology and audiology; LAVALETTE--Mary Telford Brubeck, M.A. counseling; Gail Sue Brumfield, M.A. elementary education and Eugene P. Spencer II, M.A. counseling.

(MORE)

MIDKIFF--Regenia Ferguson Chapman, M.A. business education and Jay Michael Hoke, M.A. political science; BARBOURSVILLE--Sharon Gothard Clay, M.A. elementary education; James R. Hyatt, M.B.A.; Richard C. Jeffrey, M.S. safety and Elizabeth Sue Stewart, M.A. secondary education; DAVIN--Gary Edward Cline, M.A. educational administration; OCEANA--Gerry Elizabeth Davis, M.A. educational administration and Lonnie Ralph Tilley, M.A. history; CHATTAROY--Jack Davis, M.A. counseling; VICTOR--Deen Ann Dever, M.A. speech pathology and audiology; PAX--Jennifer K. Dickinson, M.A. elementary education.

NITRO--Rebecca L. Dodson, M.A. reading education and Connie Morrison Larck, M.A. counseling; MONTGOMERY--Charles Robert Dotson, M.S. safety and Rebecca McDaniel Thompson, M.A. music; LOGAN--Jay Anna Adkins Ellis, M.A. library science education and Vickie Lynn Ferrell, M.A. elementary education; IAEGER--Ernest William Facello Jr., M.A. educational administration; WHEELING--Mark Samuel Farmer, M.A. counseling and Lance Levitt, M.S. adult education; WILLIAMSON--Bridget Kay Fultz, M.A. secondary education and Anna Lee Smith, M.A. educational supervision; FARMINGTON--Theodore Alan Glance, M.A. psychology.

POINT PLEASANT--Mary Jane Getty, M.A. counseling and Elana Darst Murphy, M.A. home economics; MAN--Mary Ruth Letsinger Hale, M.S. vocational technical education; SALT ROCK--Nancy C. Haught, M.A. elementary education; KERMIT--Janice Sturgell Hoke, M.A. secondary education; Maurine Osborne Marchani, M.S. adult education and Ora Ellen Wheeler, M.A. elementary education; PRINCETON--Jack Ashley Holt, M.S. safety and Barbara H. Stump, M.S. vocational technical education; GALLIPOLIS FERRY--Stanley Edward Hopkins, M.S. vocational technical education; INSTITUTE--Betty Harris James, M.A. sociology.

BLUEFIELD--Rudolph Jennings, M.S. safety; Thomas G. Leedy, M.S. safety and William Augustus McCould Jr., M.S. safety; MILTON--Don Edward Johnson, M.A. educational administration; Virginia Rasnick Keefer, M.A. elementary education and Sandra L. Lunsford, M.A. secondary education; GLEN DALE--James R. Kee, M.S. adult education; ST. ALBANS--Arlene Batten Kuryla, M.S. physical science; WEIRTON--Debra Susan Kusma, M.A. psychology; CHESAPEAKE--Paul Ray Lacy, M.B.A.; ONA--Johanna Miller Lampert, M.A. counseling; PIPESTEM--Genevieve N. McNeer, M.S. safety; KENOVA--Patricia Baker Meddings, M.A. counseling.

ELKVIEW--Donald C. Melton, M.A. music; RAVENSWOOD--Catherine Paulette Nutter, M.A. elementary education; PETERSTOWN--R. David Martin, M.S. safety; MOUNDSVILLE--Frederick R. Oelschlager, M.S. vocational technical education; MORGANTOWN--Donald John Ornick, M.S. criminal justice; DUNLOW--Bessie Meddings Perry, M.A. elementary education; SWITZER--Alexis Ann Proklevich, M.A. elementary education; BECKLEY--Donald L. Rector, M.S. safety; Sharon Grant Scherer, M.A. reading education; Alfred Mack Skaggs, M.S. safety and Janet Lee William, M.A. counseling; COOL RIDGE--Cynthia Kay Smith, M.A. English; FORT GAY--Harold Keith Spears, M.A. communication arts; MOUNT HOPE--Marian E. Trail, M.A. elementary education; BALLARD--Ted A. Upton, M.B.A.; GLASGOW--Sherry Waugh, M.A. elementary education and WHARNCLIFFE--Alberta Bonita Wolford, M.A. elementary education.

Residents of other states and foreign countries completing degrees in December were: KENTUCKY--Mary Rose Chirico Adkins, M.A. music, Raceland; Robert R. Brown, M.B.A.; Janet E. Humphrey, M.A. elementary education and Pauletta Matovich Wilson, M.B.A., Louisa; Farrell Dean Courtney, M.A. elementary education, Catlettsburg; VIRGINIA--Larry Michael Vaden, M.A. history; OHIO--Patricia A. Bailey, M.A. home economics, South Point; Franceen Theresa Budzinski, M.A. counseling, Columbus and Jerome B. Stafford, M.S. safety, Ironton. NEW JERSEY--John R. Basile, M.B.A., Cinnaminson; NEW YORK--Hedy Renee Feldman, M.A. counseling, Brooklyn; KANSAS--Denis R. King, M.A. journalism, Ness City; TEXAS--Richard Joseph Seelen, M.S. geography, Corpus Christi; GEORGIA--Jo Ann Tatum, M.A. special education, Chamblee; MALAYSIA--Hanidi Bin Husain, M.B.A. and WEST AFRICA--Fode Badara Kande, M.A. journalism, Sierra Leone.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Huntington residents earning Bachelor of Arts degrees from the College of Education in December include: William Steven Arbaugh, Mildred Ruth Chenoweth, Brenda Gayle Clark, Terry Lynn Clay, Kathryn Kay Creamer, Louise Sheppard Crum, Stassa Cummings (Magna Cum Laude), Linda Kay Cutright, Ron Dale Dick, Dana Drew Edwards, Charles Peter English, Lillian Carol Evans (Magna Cum Laude), Connie Jean Fitzgerald, Joy Marie Garren, June Ann Nelson Gesner, Orbedella Graham, Sally Langdon Hager and Raymond L. Hensley Jr.

(MORE)

Velma Blake Hibbard (Cum Laude), Bonnita Marie Johnson, Sandra Marie King, Mike L. Kirk, Eleanor Ruth Kisor, Donald E. Lane II, Mark Romig Lenning, Karen Burgess McCoy, Kenneth P. McNeely Jr., Michael Thomas Maher, Merle Sloan Manns, William N. Marsh, Mark S. Meadows, Donna Kay Love Musa, Martha Ann Neale, Sheila Louise Regula (Magna Cum Laude), Brian Kent Riley, George Daniel Rooker II, Margietta Porter Singer, Sharon Ann Thompson, Nora Hamilton Trout, Ronald Jay Trout, Nancy Lee Turner (Magna Cum Laude), Andee Kitchen Walker, Pamela Brooke Walker, Robert William Wanner, Michael Douglas Watts, Pamela Blankenship Weaver, Deborah Anne Weider (Cum Laude), Michael Ray Winland and Ralph David Wyant.

Other West Virginia residents completing Bachelor of Arts degrees in December were: LUNDALE--Elizabeth Pearl Adkins (Magna Cum Laude); WHITMAN--Peggy Lynn Adkins; WASHINGTON--Cheryl Linn Barry (Magna Cum Laude) and Linda Kay Marion; POINT PLEASANT--Diana Lynn Barss (Cum Laude), Sandra Jennifer Batchelor, Janet Louise Garrison (Cum Laude), Barbara Robyn Wallace Taylor and Lorain Renee Rogers Taylor; DUNBAR--Cheryl Divita Blecher (Cum Laude) and Deena Lynn Good; PARKERSBURG--Linda Gail Belknap and Ann Stewart Kinchloe; ONA--Lois Jean Blake and Gary W. Rea and BAISDEN--Enos Blankenship.

ST. ALBANS--Jeffrey Alan Boggs and Joseph Robert Crowder; CHARLESTON--Joyce Elaine Boyle, Mary Angela Louden, Deborah Kaye Parton, Carol Lynn Richardson and Nancy Jane Sloan (Magna Cum Laude); BARBOURSVILLE--Dianna Lynn Carter and Jamie Dee Konya (Cum Laude); NITRO--Debra L. Casebolt and Gloria Kathryn Medford (Magna Cum Laude); CEREDO--Freda Adkins Chadwick (Cum Laude); KENOVA--William Richard Chaffin; MILTON--Deborah Ann Chapman; LEWISBURG--Susan G. Crickenberger; LOGAN--Ricky D. Damron, James Jay Guy, Debra Dillon Kimbler (Magna Cum Laude), Drema Gale Spriggs (Cum Laude) and Patricia Kay Winkler (Cum Laude) and OAK HILL--Carla Jean Davis, Theresa Fazio Fleshman and Mark Steven Rapp.

SHARPLES--Frances E. Davis; HARTS--Gwendolyn Dempsey; MCCONNELL--Thomasanna P. Epperhart; DUNLOW--Bonnie Asbury Evans; SOUTH CHARLESTON--Rhonda Kay Findley and Joyce Lynn Hall (Magna Cum Laude); HAMLIN--Deborah Gale Gibson (Cum Laude); HURRICANE--Jackie Runion Hayes and Kevin Grant Sergent; RIPLEY--Lelia Christine Hutchison; JUSTICE--Gary Ray Justice and CORA--Geraldine Johnson Kelly.

(MORE)

BECKLEY--Mary Jo Burdiss King (Cum Laude) and Dana Ann McMahon; ELKINS--Elizabeth Jane Knotts; COWEN--Larry S. Leslie; MACARTHUR--Janet Lynn Lilly; REEDY--Pamela Jett Miller (Magna Cum Laude); NEW MARTINSVILLE--Jacqueline Joan Morrow; ALLOY--Anita Carol Moschino; GILBERT--Carol Ann Mounts; KERMIT--Sandra Sturgell Pertee; IAEGER--Karen Teresa Phillips and Vickie L. Riffe; PRINCETON--Brenda Sue Powell; PINEVILLE--Rita Eileen Taliaferro; HENDERSON--James Paul Tarbett; MINERAL WELLS--Beverly Jean Ward; RUPERT--Deborah Ann Ward; VERNER--Paul D. Ward; DELBARTON--Victoria E. White and HILLSBORO--William T. Workman.

Residents of other states in the College of Education's December class include: OHIO--Romain Pack Ball, Proctorville; David James Bare and Melissa Comer Bibbey (Magna Cum Laude), Ironton; Rick Dean Mader, Coal Grove; Gregory Edward Michael, South Point; D. Kris Steinbrecher and Kenneth Wendell Wolfe, Chesapeake and Bruce Donald Wallace, Gallipolis. KENTUCKY--Paula Gaye Bradley, Drift and Diane Yvonne White, Russell; NEW YORK--Mary-Linda Orlando, Cornwell-on-Hudson and MICHIGAN--Pamela Jean Van Faussien, Mount Pleasant.

The College of Education also awarded Bachelor of Science degrees in recreation to nine students completing requirements in December. Earning these are: HUNTINGTON--Dana Monroe Myers and Barbara Joann Sepcic; CHARLESTON--Dennis Dean Eye; WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS--Teresa C. Wylie; SLANESVILLE--Robert Bruce O'Dell; IRONTON, Ohio--Kevin D. Bloomfield; BALTIMORE, Md.--Michael Lee Prout; MOUNT LEBANON, Pa.--Mariann Denise Saville, and WALDICK, N.J.--Stephen Parker Terwilleger.

6

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Residents of Huntington earning Bachelor of Arts degrees from the College of Arts and Sciences in December were: Alan Albarran, speech; Robert Ferguson, speech; Bruna Manissero, French and journalism; John Molino, sociology; Philip Morrison, art; Mark Mott, English; John Myers, English; Rocky Nolte, journalism; Robert Pearce, journalism; Michael Quesada, psychology and sociology; Eric Sargent, journalism; James Verbage, journalism; Robin Whitten, speech and Mark Young, speech.

Residents of other West Virginia communities completing requirements for the Bachelor of Arts degree in December include: WAYNE--Jane Allen, English (Cum Laude) and Debra Stevens, sociology; MOUNDSVILLE--Ellen Bills, sociology; UNION--Gary Bostic, economics; CHARLESTON--Benjamin Calwell, speech; John Deakin, speech and Kathleen Duffield, psychology (Cum Laude); DUNBAR--Roger Corbin, political science and Gregory Ross, journalism; SCOTT DEPOT--Michael Cornell, psychology; LAVALETTE--Frederick Davis, political science and Lisa Smith, sociology; CULLODEN--Linda Harshbarger, sociology; NITRO--Donna Higgins, journalism and psychology; MILTON--Duane Hinkle, psychology (Cum Laude); ATHENS--Frank Jarrell, journalism; FOLLANSBEE--Joe Matterer, English; NEW MARTINSVILLE--Stafford Mills, political science; AMHERSTDALE--Edward Ramsey, political science; HURRICANE--Jerry Sumner, economics (Cum Laude); BARBOURSVILLE--Daniel Terango, speech and SPENCER--Gary Ward, sociology.

Also earning B.A. degrees in December were the following residents of other states: KENTUCKY--William Christy, economics, Catlettsburg and Daniel Gore, English, Ashland; OHIO--Thomas Lundy, journalism, Chesapeake and Rowena Mollett, history, New Boston, and NEW JERSEY--Robert DeYoung, political science, Little Falls.

The College of Arts and Sciences also awarded Bachelor of Science degrees to the following students from Huntington: Tim Coleman, biological science; Richard Delcheccolo, biological science; Lucinda Dempsey, geology; Margo Fotos, zoology; Thomas Jorgensen, botany; Allen Ladd, geography; Ann Long, zoology; Thomas Race, chemistry and Karen Shoub, corrections.

Residents of other West Virginia communities earned B.S. degrees as follows: RIPLEY--William Bryant, botany; ST. ALBANS--Sherri Crum, botany; Terri Crum, biological science (Cum Laude) and Sheryan Epperly, zoology (Cum Laude); BARBOURSVILLE--Randy Dial, zoology (Cum Laude); Melanie McCallister, dietetics (Cum Laude) and Charles Withrow, zoology; CHARLESTON--Stephen Gee, biological science; BRADLEY--David Hall, zoology; WEIRTON--Kathy Pelliccione, dietetics; VIENNA--Jeffrey Pollitt, biological science and SHOALS--Kevin Smith, zoology.

B.S. degrees earned by out-of-state residents include: OHIO--John Gallaher, zoology, Portsmouth; Tara Lanier, biological science, Gallipolis, and Larry Lundy, chemistry (Magna Cum Laude), Proctorville and FLORIDA--Thomas Sprenger, zoology, Bradenton.

Donald Gullickson of Huntington completed requirements for a B.S. in Chemistry degree from the College of Arts and Sciences with the December class.

Associate in Science degrees in criminal justice were earned by the following: Charles Dodrill and Donald Heck of Huntington; Jackie Rutherford of Wayne; William Dower (Honors) of Mount Hope; Thomas Johnson of Alderson; Rodger Murray of South Point, Ohio, and Thomas Wood of Chesapeake, Ohio.

The College of Arts and Sciences also awarded 19 Regents Bachelor of Arts degrees, an external degree offered by the state's four-year institutions under a program developed by the West Virginia Board of Regents.

Huntington residents earning this degree in December were: Glenn Gary Burgess, Walter George Davis, Mary McClain Frazier, Donald Bernard Hagley Jr., Edward Parrish Kittinger Jr., Robert S. Raynes, Nora Ann Richter, Anita Rae Staats, Leslie Harold Stewart and Donald Russell Thompson.

Others earning this degree were: Josephine Womack Auxier of Williamson; David Howard Green of Culloden; Charles Lee Roy of Charleston; Henry Earle Bransford of Lewisburg; Rick Stan Haye of Proctorville, Ohio; Rodger Dean Murray and Russell L. Napier of South Point, Ohio; Mary Lou Lester of Grove City, Ohio, and Julian Dale Hill of Woodbridge, Va.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND APPLIED SCIENCE

Huntington residents earning B.B.A. degrees from the College of Business and Applied Science in December were: James J. Boster, accounting; Michael Carrigan, management; Howard K. Conway, finance; Philip Crites, marketing; Stephen D. Diamond, accounting; Gregory L. Hardman, management; Steven Hood, marketing; Gary D. Hopkins, management, Carl L. Johnson, accounting; Oneita L. Kidd, accounting and Wilbur R. Kyle, accounting.

9-9-9

Gregory A. Lemons, accounting; Charles D. Lilly, marketing; Carl M. Linkous, marketing; Richard D. Miles, marketing (Cum Laude); M. Edward Patrick, marketing; O. Randall Powell, management; Carol L. Rose, accounting (Magna Cum Laude); William K. Salter, management; Ralph F. Saville, accounting; Corwin Slack, accounting (Magna Cum Laude); John H. Slusser, finance and accounting (Cum Laude) and Michael D. York, accounting.

Other West Virginia residents who completed requirements for the B.B.A. were: BARBOURSVILLE--Jan Louise Bollman, marketing; WHEELING--Barbara Brandfass, accounting (Cum Laude); PARKERSBURG--Richard E. Brown, accounting; POINT PLEASANT--Bradley J. Buxton, marketing; KENOVA--Gary D. Chadwick, accounting and Anthony F. Poceta, accounting; HURRICANE--John C. Chaney, management and Gregory A. Wright, management; ST. ALBANS--Deborah S. Cockheyt, accounting (Cum Laude) and Samra L. LaCorte, accounting (Cum Laude).

STOLLINGS--Frederick B. Duncan, finance; SCOTT DEPOT--Diana C. Flenner, accounting; MOUNT HOPE--Jane L. Jeter, accounting; PINEVILLE--Terry K. Mason, management (Cum Laude); REEDY--Keith A. Miller, accounting; ELKVIEW--Linda C. Moore, marketing; RIPLEY--Marci D. O'Connell, accounting (Magna Cum Laude); SWITZER--Jan M. Pitesa, management; CHARLESTON--Kim L. Roberson, management; CEREDO--David Turner, finance; LAVALETTE--Dale W. Ward, management; WILLIAMSON--William T. Ward, accounting (Cum Laude) and Robert E. Wright, accounting; HAMLIN--Charles L. Wilkerson, accounting (Cum Laude) and FRANKFORD--Thomas L. Wilson, marketing.

Residents of other states and foreign countries earning B.B.A. degrees in December include: KENTUCKY--Frederick D. Booker, management, Ashland; IRAN--Behzad Entezamvaziri, accounting, Tehran and NIGERIA--George C. Okpalaeze, management.

Earning a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering was John Shuler of Mason, W.Va.

The College of Business and Applied Science also awarded Associate in Science degrees to the following West Virginia residents: Dorothy E. Clark of Wheeling, secretarial science; Jaci J. Jarret of Nitro, secretarial science; Teresa K. McDermitt of Letart, secretarial science and Robin E. Urling of Wayne, accounting.

(MORE)

10-10-10

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE AND ASSOCIATED HEALTH PROFESSIONS

Completing requirements in December for Associate in Science in Nursing degrees from the School of Medicine and Associated Health Professions were Judith Carol Ward Bentle of Wayne and Carol Ann Flinn Edwards of Huntington.

Three Huntington residents earned Associate in Applied Science in Medical Technology degrees in December. They were Cynthia Simmons McComas, Pamela Priddy Stauss and Vicki Lacy Taylor.

Barbara Joyce Hoover McGinnis of Huntington received a Bachelor of Science in Medical Technology degree.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 4, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A review of Marshall University's teacher education program scheduled for Feb. 6-9 by the West Virginia Department of Education has been postponed, MU College of Education Dean Bernard Queen announced today.

The on-site review--conducted periodically by state education officials for certification purposes--has been rescheduled for April 3-6, Queen said.

"The review fell victim to the energy crisis," Queen said. "With classes suspended, the team would be unable to talk with faculty members and students in the programs or visit classes," he added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 5, 1977

JUL 2 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The U.S. Department of Army has appointed Major Joseph W. Corder Jr. as chairman of the Marshall University Military Science Department.

Corder, a Charleston native and Charleston High School graduate, succeeds Lt. Col. Marion F. White, who retired from the Army last month, as departmental chairman. The appointment became effective Jan. 29.

A Perryville, Ky., native, White was assigned to Marshall in 1973 and had been departmental chairman since 1974. White now is taking classes at Morehead (Ky.) State University to be certified to teach in Kentucky public schools.

Corder, who also received the faculty rank of full professor with his new appointment, joined the military science staff at Marshall in 1975.

A distinguished graduate of the Artillery Officer Candidate School, Fort Sill, Okla., Corder received a Master of Business Administration degree from Marshall in 1975. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Nebraska. He also did undergraduate work at Marshall and Virginia Polytechnic Institute prior to joining the Army in 1960.

Commissioned as a second lieutenant in 1962, he held various posts at Fort Sill before being assigned in 1964 to Germany as executive officer and battery commander of Battery B, 1st Battalion, 68th Artillery.

(MORE)

2-2-2

He returned to the United States in 1966 and served as a recruiting officer in Pennsylvania and later headed the Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station at Beckley.

Assigned to Vietnam twice, he commanded Battery D, 4th Battalion, 60th Artillery, from January, 1968, until being wounded in March, 1968.

Reassigned to Vietnam in 1970, Corder served successively as S-1, XXIV Corps Artillery, Da Nang, and battalion operations/executive officer, 2d Battalion, 94th Field Artillery in northern South Vietnam.

Corder was assigned to Fort Sill as a battalion executive officer upon his return to the United States. He also attended the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Major Corder and his wife, the former Marilyn Mills, reside in Barboursville and are the parents of two teenage children.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. COLE LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 8, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A team of Marshall University scientists has been granted $39,340 to study the possible environmental impact of a proposed hydroelectric generating facility near the Gallipolis Locks on the Ohio River.

The American Electric Power Service Corporation is financing the study to be directed by Dr. Donald C. Tarter, professor of biological sciences at Marshall.

It will involve a creel survey of fish taken by anglers, a spawning study of fish eggs and larvae, and an analysis of terrestrial plants and vegetation in the area, Dr. Tarter said.

The creel census will consist of interviews with fisherman and inspection of fish taken.

Spawning studies will involve sampling of fish eggs and larvae gathered with special equipment transecting the river at different locations and from specially-designed nets towed by boat at varying depths, as well as vertical samplings from the river bottom to the surface.

Oxygen and temperature readings will be recorded at each sampling point.

The study will analyze the present condition of the river and the health of its aquatic and surrounding plant life and forecast its probable condition if the hydroelectric project becomes reality.

(MORE)

If study results are favorable, power company planners intend to seek Federal Power Commission permission to install a twin-turbine generating unit on land on the Ohio side of the river near the locks.

The facility would be owned by Ohio Power Co., a subsidiary of AEPSC. All electrical power consumers in the region would benefit, according to company spokesmen. It would be similar to a unit approved for construction at the Racine Locks on the Ohio River.

AEPSC spokesmen said the unit would enable Ohio Power and other AEPSC subsidiary firms serving the region to offer more efficient service to both industrial and residential consumers.

The study is to begin immediately and is expected to take one year, Dr. Tarter said.

Study findings will be fed into the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources computer system in Charleston as part of that department's continuous recording of data on the biological health of the river, Dr. Tarter said.

Dr. Dan K. Evans, assistant professor of biological sciences at Marshall, will supervise the team's study of plant life. Michael L. Little, an instructor in biological sciences at Marshall, and Randy Carpenter, a chemistry instructor at Southern West Virginia Community College in Logan, will assist Tarter and Evans.

Marshall biological science student assistants involved include Sherry Epperly, St. Albans; Diana Ashley, Clendenin; and David Hall, Bill Cremeans, and Tom Rhone, all of Huntington.

The students will receive financial compensation and academic credit for their work.

The program has been approved by the West Virginia Board of Regents.

Gary Crawford, an AEP system biologist, will serve as liaison with the Marshall team.

(MORE)

Equipment purchased, including a small boat, motor, trailer and aquatic safety gear, will become the property of the university upon completion of the research, Dr. Tarter said.

Dr. Tarter is enthusiastic about the study's potential for producing important information on the vital waterway. "We have been hearing for some time how much cleaner the Ohio River is compared to what it used to be," he said. "In view of everyone's concern with ecology, this research will be a timely effort to determine if these claims are true."

Dr. Tarter, a native of Somerset, Ky., published in 1976 the first survey of insect life in West Virginia streams and rivers, a major research project jointly financed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers and the Marshall Faculty Research Program.

The work was regarded by other scientists as a vital basic reference book and aid to groups doing environmental impact studies of projects proposed on state waterways.

Dr. Tarter earned his B.S. degree in biology and chemistry from Georgetown (Ky.) College, and a M.A.T. and doctorate in zoology from the University of Louisville.

Prior to coming to Marshall in 1969, he taught at Kentucky Southern College at Louisville.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES H. MARSH LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 10, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University experienced a dramatic increase in its international student enrollment between spring and fall 1976, according to Sam Cardea, Marshall's program assistant for international students.

"We doubled our international student population," Cardea said. Marshall had 153 international students, representing 36 nations, enrolled last semester. "We expect continued growth in this area," he added.

The influx follows a national trend which shows an increasing number of students from other countries enrolling in universities and colleges around the United States. The majority are from developing nations, Cardea said. Among the nations represented at Marshall are Iran, Saudi Arabia, Nigeria and Thailand.

"They come to the United States because of limited opportunities for degree study in their home countries. There are too few institutions of higher education to meet the demand," Cardea added.

Marshall's typical international student is male, single and is in his mid-20s, according to a study by Cardea. He's a graduate student, probably in a business-related field, and, after having completed his first semester, has nearly a 3-point ("B") grade average. He is from a developing nation. He is in the United States on a student visa and lives in off-campus housing, according to the study.

(MORE)

"He probably enrolled at Marshall after hearing about the school from someone--perhaps somebody from his village who studied here," Cardea said.

"Word of mouth is our best advertisement and word has gotten around that Marshall offers many good programs, including a comprehensive program in graduate business studies," Cardea said.

"Many developing nations are in desperate need of mid- and upper-level management personnel. Several of our current students are in middle management positions and are on leaves of absence--perhaps even sponsored by their companies," he said.

"Of course, studying in the United States also improves their fluency and comprehension of the English language, giving them an edge in dealings with American corporations," he added.

Other factors drawing students to Marshall include a nonrestrictive admission policy and a relatively low cost, Cardea said.

"However, obtaining a degree at Marshall or anywhere else isn't a bed of roses for the international student," Cardea noted. "There are problems and pressures which are more acute for them than for American students."

One of these problems is the availability of money. "They come to the United States with limited resources and then are faced with spiraling living costs," Cardea said. "They can't get jobs since they are here on student visas," he added.

"Their education situation is inflexible and the options open to them are limited. The international student usually is on a tight schedule to complete his degree work. He can't disrupt that schedule to change majors or drop a class. The latter might make him less than a full-time student, making him subject to deportation," Cardea said.

(MORE)

3-3-3

"But what makes it worthwhile for the international student is that if he succeeds he'll have a greater reward in his homeland than our typical student has, so one finds the drop-out rate for international students is less than that for American students," he said.

Cardea's position at Marshall is new and represents an attempt to coordinate services for the rising number of international students. "Marshall has had services available previously, but now there is a need for a centralized office to coordinate and strengthen existing services while looking for new ways to help," he explained.

Cardea said he really considers himself the international students' advocate. "I'm someone to see that their needs are met.

"I have no secretary and my door is always open. I want the international student to feel free to walk in and talk with me about anything that may be troubling him," he added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

ARCHIVES

Feb. 11, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's College of Business and Applied Science will sponsor a seminar on "Women in Business" at Memorial Student Center from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 22, Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry Jr., dean of the college, announced today.

Registration is under way for the seminar which is open to all Tri-State Area women, Drewry said. "The seminar is not aimed solely at women already pursuing careers, but is also for those women considering entering the business world," he added.

The registration deadline is Feb. 18 and there will be a $5 registration charge for the noon luncheon.

The seminar, according to Carol Hartley, coordinator, is designed to create an awareness of women's abilities among both men and women and to assist women in furthering their careers.

The program will feature women who have achieved successful careers in business as speakers during the morning session and as resource people in an afternoon panel discussion, said Ms. Hartley, a Huntington graduate student in marketing at Marshall.

"Two of our program participants hold professional positions in fields traditionally dominated by males," she said.

(MORE)

The first speaker, following welcoming remarks by MU President Robert B. Hayes, will be Anne Haulsee, a women's career consultant with Jinx Melia Associates in Arlington, Va. Introduced by Drewry, she will discuss "The Man for the Job Is a Woman."

The luncheon speaker will be Trish Blevins of Rockville, Md., staff public relations supervisor with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. Her topic will be "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Crying." She will be introduced by the college's associate dean, Dr. Sara E. Anderson.

After the luncheon, there will be a panel discussion on women in business by eight area businesswomen, who will be introduced by Dr. Robert P. Alexander, chairman of the MU Management Department.

The panel participants will be:

--Elizabeth Carter, personnel administrator with Union Carbide Corp., South Charleston.

--Pat Howe, the first female registered stock broker in West Virginia, with Wheat First Securities, Inc., Charleston.

--Gwen Jackson, assistant fiscal officer with the Veterans Administration Hospital, Huntington.

--Catherine Landers, first woman hired in a professional capacity by a national accounting firm in West Virginia, now a partner in a Huntington accounting firm.

--Judy Nameth, personnel assistant with the Chessie System in its Huntington offices.

--Nancy Spurlock, editor of the Huntington Alloys News with the Communication Services division of Huntington Alloys, Inc.

--Jane Theiling, head of the Charleston Consumer Protection Agency.

Registration forms and additional information may be obtained by calling (304) 696-2314 or by writing: College of Business and Applied Science, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 11, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will resume classes at 8 a.m. Monday following a 13-day suspension brought about by natural gas curtailments.

The "energy crisis" has not ended, however, and students and staff are being asked to assist in conservation efforts, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said.

Two buildings, the Women's Physical Education Building and the Engineering Building, were closed before the university's forced shutdown Feb. 1. These buildings will remain closed at least until March 15 and perhaps later, depending on the weather, Hayes said. Classes have been reassigned to other buildings, water lines have been drained and the furnaces turned off.

All evening classes and some daytime classes in Northcott Hall also have been relocated in other buildings. This will permit the university to reduce temperatures to maintenance level in Northcott starting in the afternoon, saving additional natural gas. A similar program has been in effect in Old Main for the past two years.

Lists of the relocated classes have been placed on building doors and distributed throughout the campus to assist students and faculty members upon their return.

(MORE)

The university is implementing a total energy-saving program which includes electricity as well as natural gas, Hayes said. This means thermostats in all buildings will be set at reduced levels.

"As a result of the unusually severe weather this winter, our utility costs are running high," Hayes said. "Consequently, we have a money problem as well as an energy problem. We'll have to save in every way possible."

Ironically, energy conservation may result in some overheated classrooms, according to Plant Operations Director Karl J. Egnatoff. Heating systems in some of the newer buildings were designed to work in tandem with air conditioning throughout the year. Thus, if temperatures rose above the thermostat setting, the air conditioning would come on to bring temperatures down to the required setting.

As part of the energy and money conservation program, air conditioning in those types of mechanical systems has been disengaged. Although a classroom thermostat setting of 64 will turn off the heat when that temperature is attained, other factors can raise the temperature even higher, Egnatoff said.

Thus it is possible that a classroom full of students generating body heat, coupled with sunshine streaming through windows, can raise temperatures into the high 70s or 80s, even though the furnace is not operating. The air conditioning will not cut in to lower the temperature.

"We are not, in that case, wasting energy," Egnatoff said. "Instead, we are conserving the energy required to power the air conditioning equipment."

(MORE)

Because of the forced shutdown, Marshall has cancelled the Spring Vacation period scheduled for March 7-12 and two "study days" during final examinations week have been cancelled.

However, a new student holiday does appear in the revised university calendar, published today. Monday, April 11, will be a holiday for students and faculty. Added to the previously-scheduled Good Friday holiday, it will mean a four-day break from classes.

"Since we lost the Spring Vacation, we felt it would be a good idea to give the students a break of some sort during the semester," Hayes said, "so we decided to make the Monday after Easter a holiday. After these past few weeks we all need to have our spirits lifted a little. Perhaps this will help."

Non-teaching employees will work both Good Friday and the day after Easter, however, and university offices will be open both days.

Efforts to provide electrical heating as an alternate source for three gas-heated buildings--Memorial Student Center, Jenkins Hall and the Science Hall--are continuing. Egnatoff said the projects might be completed within the next three weeks.

"We're going to do everything we possibly can to avoid any further suspension of classes," Hayes said. "Right now, it appears we should be able to complete the semester as scheduled on May 14."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 13, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Live coverage of Israeli statesman Moshe Dayan's speech at Marshall University, Feb. 20, will be provided by West Virginia's three Public Broadcasting System (PBS) stations.

Dayan is scheduled to speak on "Middle East Perspective" at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

WMUL-TV (Channel 33) will originate the telecast which will be picked up by Beckley's WSWP-TV (Channel 9) and Morgantown's WWVU-TV (Channel 24) for simultaneous airing across the state, according to Charles W. Dinkins, closed circuit TV director at Marshall.

Contributions from Jewish organizations and individuals from around the state are helping to defray the cost of this statewide coverage, according to Mrs. Lynne Mayer, coordinator for Dayan's campus arrangements.

Dayan's visit here is sponsored by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., in cooperation with the Huntington Jewish community, said Mrs. Mayer, administrative assistant in the MU president's office.

His appearance will culminate the local observances of National Brotherhood Week, she said.

Dayan's speech will be open to the public without charge. Seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis. "While the Multi-Purpose Room will seat nearly 1,000 persons for this type of event, we have arranged to have television sets to provide viewing of his talk in the Alumni Lounge and lobby in the event of an overflow crowd," Mrs. Mayer said.

(MORE)

A former Minister of Defense and Armed Forces General Staff Chief for five years, the 61-year-old Dayan has been involved in the military policies and political growth of Israel since his early teens when he was a member of the Haganah, the underground Jewish defense force.

Often described by journalists and others as unconventional, daring and outspoken, Dayan currently is a member of the Israeli Parliament.

This is Dayan's fourth speaking tour of the United States. He has visited more than 60 universities and colleges in the past two years. On his previous tours, the closest Dayan has come to our region was in 1975 when he spoke at the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 15, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Twenty-nine Marshall University students have been selected for inclusion in the 1977 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," Jane Bilewicz, MU associate dean of students, announced today.

"Who's Who" recognizes students for scholarship and leadership achievements, not only on campus but in their communities, said Ms. Bilewicz, who headed the campus selection committee.

Huntington residents selected were Mrs. Lexie E. Bailey, sophomore; Terry L. Butler, graduate; Katina Cummings, senior; Stassa Cummings, graduate; Catherine Jo DelCheccolo, senior; Melanie Griffis, senior; Mrs. Penelope Louise Howell, freshman; Sally Lambert, senior; Ruth Maynard, senior; Michael H. Pearman, senior; Susan Kay Powers, senior; Mrs. Judith Pinson Sortet, senior, and Nicole A. Urian, senior.

Other students chosen were: Malana Sue Henderson, Kenova graduate; Melody Nichols, Barboursville senior; John Curtis Burris, New Haven senior; Melanie Ague, Beaver, Pa., senior; Kimberly Diane Cook, Wheeling junior; Sandra E. Fites, Killbuck, Ohio, graduate; Ann Carol Holzschuher, New Martinsville senior; Timothy Edward Huffman, Charleston senior and Barbara Keefer, St. Albans senior.

(MORE)

Carla Jean Pepperdine, Wheeling senior; Sandra Lilly, Daniels graduate; Diane K. Van Hoven, Pompton Lakes, N.J., senior; Jan Ellen Wade, New Martinsville senior; Rebecca Ann Nicely, Parkersburg senior, and Kristen Whitney and Denise Yearego, both Parkersburg juniors.

The students will receive Certificates of Recognition and brief biographical articles on each will appear in the volume.

A list of outstanding students was compiled at Marshall from recommendations by faculty, staff and students and submitted to the national office of "Who's Who" in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The local selections were based on a point system, said Ms. Bilewicz.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

Feb. 15, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The first annual Conference on Institutional Research and Planning sponsored by Marshall University and West Virginia University, will be held Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 21-22, in Marshall's Memorial Student Center.

The conference is expected to draw about 40 participants from the planning and research offices of West Virginia's public and private colleges and universities, according to Dr. Jim Nichols, MU director of institutional planning and research.

Nichols and Dr. Ed Smith, WVU associate provost for planning and institutional research director, are co-chairmen of the conference.

The conference is designed to provide participants with an opportunity to exchange information related to planning techniques used within the state; to learn about practices in other states which might be adapted to West Virginia, and to establish closer working relationships between the state's institutional researchers and planners.

The main theme for the 1977 conference will be enrollment projections and planning, Nichols said. Next year, the conference will be held in Morgantown. The conference site will alternate each year between the two sponsoring schools.

(MORE)

Schools sending representatives include: Fairmont State College, Potomac State College, Parkersburg Community College, Glenville State College, West Virginia Institute of Technology, Concord College, West Virginia State College, Bluefield State College, West Virginia College of Graduate Studies, Alderson-Broadus College and Davis and Elkins College.

Among the guest speakers will be Dr. Joseph Sutton, vice president for institutional research at the University of Alabama, who will open the two-day meeting. He will speak at a noon luncheon Monday, Feb. 21.

Also speaking to the group will be Mary Cleveland of the Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City, Mo.; Dr. Robert Reiman, planning director at Appalachian State University, Boone, N.C., and Dr. M. Douglas Call, planning and management systems director, West Virginia Board of Regents.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 17, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES H. HARRIS LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

Marshall University will present two performances of the highly acclaimed musical epic, "The Chief Justice: John Marshall," on Sunday, Feb. 20, at the West Virginia Science and Culture Center in Charleston.

Performances are scheduled at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tickets are free and may be obtained from the Center.

State residents may reserve tickets by calling the Center's toll free number: 1-800-642-8249. Tickets may be picked up until 30 minutes prior to the performance time. Those not claimed by then will be distributed to the public on a first-come, first served basis.

"The Chief Justice" is a blending of chorus, soloists and orchestra in a tribute to the famous Supreme Court justice for whom the university was named. Written by Dr. Paul W. Whear, Marshall's composer-in-residence, the work had its world premiere in Huntington two years ago, receiving excellent reviews. Subsequent performances of the work by groups elsewhere also have been acclaimed.

The original cast presented the epic last May in the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Washington, D.C., as the state's offering for West Virginia Day in the Bicentennial Parade of American Music Series. More than 1,400 persons attended the performance.

(MORE)

Paul Hume, music critic for the Washington Post, in his review of the event, wrote that West Virginia could not have chosen "more aptly" in selecting the epic to represent the state. He termed the performance "excellent."

The Charleston performance will feature more than 130 musicians from the university and the Tri-State Area, many of them from the original production. Because of the size of the production, talented residents from the region join the students and faculty as performers.

Providing the narrative which interweaves quotations from John Marshall himself and words of early American poets and other literary figures, will be Judge C.W. Ferguson III of the 24th Judicial Circuit in Wayne County, and William Griffin, a Marshall journalism graduate and former WSAZ-TV newsman, now assistant news director of WKJG-TV in Fort Wayne, Ind. Both appeared in the original and Washington performances.

Soloists will be Dr. Paul Balshaw, baritone, and Judith Smith, soprano. Dr. Balshaw, professor of music, is the director of the Marshall choirs and serves as soloist with the West Virginia Opera Theater and other musical groups. A Marshall music graduate, Mrs. Smith of Huntington is also active in area music circles.

Whear will conduct the performance, made possible by a grant from the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council which originally commissioned the work in cooperation with the university.

A nationally-known composer, Whear has received the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) award for 11 consecutive years. He is the first West Virginian to receive the National Band Association's Citation of Excellence.

(MORE)

3-3-3

"The Chief Justice" is one of more than a dozen commissioned works by Whear, who joined Marshall's faculty in 1969. Whear received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Music degrees from De Pauw University and his Ph.D. from Western Reserve University.

In addition to his work at Marshall, Whear serves as founder-conductor of the Huntington Chamber Orchestra and is a consultant for the Interlochen (Mich.) Arts Academy.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 18, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

2-18-77
NEWS RELEASE
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Moshe Dayan, Israel's former Minister of Defense and Armed Forces General Staff Chief, will speak at Marshall University Sunday, Feb. 20, at 8 p.m. in Memorial Student Center.

Entry to the Student Center for this event will be from the north or campus entrance.

Now a member of the Israeli Parliament, Dayan will discuss "Middle East Perspective." Following his speech, Dayan will answer questions from the audience.

Live coverage of his talk will be provided by West Virginia's Public Broadcasting System stations, WMUL-TV, WSWP-TV and WWVU-TV.

The event, sponsored by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., in cooperation with the Huntington Jewish community, will be open to the public without charge. Seats will be available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Dayan's appearance will culminate the local observances of National Brotherhood Week, according to Lynne Mayer, event coordinator and administrative assistant in the MU president's office.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 18, 1977

RELEASE AT WILL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Allen Whear, cellist, will be featured in a guest recital, sponsored by the Marshall University Music Department, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 24, in Smith Recital Hall.

Whear, the son of Dr. Paul W. Whear, Marshall's composer-in-residence, is a sophomore at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

A student of Laurence Lesser, he will play selections by Beethoven, Shostakovich and Vaughan Williams. He will be accompanied by Douglas J. Whipple.

The recital is free and open to the public.

While a student in the Cabell County school system, Whear won the young artists concerto competition of the Marshall Community Orchestra and performed with the orchestra in the spring of 1972.

He graduated from the Interlochen Academy of Arts, Interlochen, Mich., and received the highest award for music students, the Young Artists Certificate.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 18, 1977

RELEASE AT WILL

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Michael E. Cerveris, ARCHIVES associate professor of music at Marshall University, will present a piano recital at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 25, in Smith Recital Hall.

Cerveris will play selections by Cesar Franck, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Litz, Poulenc, Rachmaninoff and Copland.

The recital is free and open to the public.

A native of Pittsburgh, Cerveris has been at Marshall since 1969. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in music from the Julliard School of Music, where he won the Harold Gray Prize; a Master's degree from Catholic University, and a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from West Virginia University.

Cerveris is active in many area musical groups.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
OFFICE OF DOCUMENT LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 21, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Wallin S. McCardell, assistant professor of journalism at Marshall University, has received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa, Dr. A.M. Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs, announced today.

Dr. McCardell completed the degree requirements in December. His dissertation is entitled "Socialization Factors in 'El Diario-La Prensa,' the Spanish-Language Newspaper with the Largest Daily Circulation in the United States."

A native of Washington, McCardell joined the Marshall faculty in 1971. He earned his baccalaureate degree from Central Washington State College and a master's degree from Brigham Young University, where he was a graduate assistant. He held the John F. Murrery Scholarship at the University of Iowa.

McCardell is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi and Kappa Tau Alpha.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 22, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's James E. Morrow Library currently has an exhibit to appeal to bibliophiles whose appreciation of books extends to binding and typographical details.

On display through March 8 on the library's second floor are the 26 winners of the 24th annual Southern Books Competition, according to Dr. Kenneth T. Slack, MU libraries director.

The exhibit includes one volume published by a West Virginia firm, "Folk Songs from the West Virginia Hills," by Patrick W. Gainer, from Seneca Books, Inc., Grantsville.

"Each year the Southeastern Library Association sponsors this competition to promote excellence in book making and to recognize designers, publishers, manufacturers, printers and binders for their contribution to high standards in the book arts," Slack said.

"The books on display were selected from more than 100 books published during 1975 and submitted into competition by publishers from 14 southern states," Slack said.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

Feb. 22, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Career Planning and Placement Office will sponsor its second annual Nursing Placement Program Monday, Feb. 28, from 1 to 6 p.m. at Memorial Student Center.

Representatives from 18 hospitals, health agencies and the armed forces branches will be available to discuss employment opportunities with nursing graduates from Marshall's degree programs and with diploma students from St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing.

The program has drawn potential employers from three states, in addition to those from West Virginia, according to Terry L. Myers, assistant coordinator for MU's Career Planning and Placement Office. "We have health field representatives coming from Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee," he said.

Program participants include:

Cabell Huntington Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital, the Huntington Veterans Administration Hospital, Charleston Area Medical Center, Thomas Memorial Hospital (South Charleston), West Virginia University Hospital; Ohio State University Hospital, Children's Hospital (Columbus, Ohio), Riverside Methodist Hospital (Columbus), St. Joseph Hospital (Lexington, Ky.), East Tennessee Baptist Hospital (Knoxville), Holzer Medical Center (Gallipolis, Ohio);

West Virginia Department of Mental Health, West Virginia Civil Service System, Appalachian Regional Hospital (Beckley), Huntington Hospital, U.S. Navy and U.S. Air Force.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Representatives from Marshall and St. Mary's nursing education programs will participate. MU School of Medicine Dean Robert W. Coon and Paul Collins, associate dean for administration and student services, also will be available to talk with students and prospective employers, Myers said.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 22, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A scholarship in memory of Jeri Stoner, a nursing education student at Marshall University who was killed in a December automobile accident, has been established at Marshall, according to Mrs. Bonnie Douglas, MU director of the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree program.

A graduate of the university's two-year associate degree program and employed in the nursery of Cabell Huntington Hospital, Miss Stoner was working toward her B.S.N. degree at the time of her death. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Stoner of Huntington.

"Jeri had a pleasant personality, worked hard to achieve her goals and was an inspiration to the other students in her class," Mrs. Douglas said. "The students and faculty of this department believe that a scholarship for nursing students would be an appropriate memorial," she added.

Contributions may be made to the fund by earmarking checks payable to the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., for the Jeri Stoner Scholarship.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 22, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Marvin D. Mills, professor of occupational, adult and safety education at Marshall University, has been named chairman of the National Safety Council's College and University Section for 1976-77.

Mills, a Mount Hope native, also serves on the council's executive committee of the School and College Conference. Immediate past president of the American Academy of Safety Education, Mills is active in numerous national safety education organizations. He is co-author of the textbook, "Driver and Traffic Safety Education."

Mills joined the Marshall faculty in 1968. He received his B.S. degree from West Virginia State College and his M.Ed. and Ed.D. degrees from New York University.

He and his family reside in St. Albans.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Approximately 180 students and teachers from 17 West Virginia high schools are expected to attend the 1977 John Marshall High School Forensics Tournament this weekend (Feb. 25-26) at Marshall University.

Events for the ninth annual tournament, sponsored by the MU Speech Department, will be held in Smith Hall, according to Henry J. Sullivan, tournament director and Marshall speech instructor.

Schools indicating that they will participate include: Huntington High, Huntington East, Milton, Barrackville, Bluefield, Charleston Catholic, Stonewall Jackson, Dunbar, Duval, Fairmont Senior, Fayetteville, Parkersburg, Pennsboro, Princeton, Scott, St. Marys and Wheeling Park.

The tournament will offer competition in prose interpretation, poetry interpretation, duet acting, original oratory, after dinner speaking, extempore speaking, pantomime and debate.

Registration will begin at 2 p.m. Friday in Smith Hall lobby. A general assembly is scheduled at 4:15 p.m. in the Smith Hall auditorium with welcoming remarks to be given by MU President Robert B. Hayes, Dr. George J. Harbold, College of Arts and Sciences dean, and Dr. Dorothy Johnson, Speech Department head.

(MORE)

Preliminary rounds in poetry interpretation, duet acting, original oratory and debate will be held at 5 and 7 p.m. Friday and at 9 a.m. Saturday. Preliminary rounds for prose interpretation, pantomime, extempore and after dinner speaking are set for 6 p.m. Friday and at 8 and 10 a.m. Saturday.

On Saturday, final competition in poetry interpretation, duet acting, oratory and debate will be held at 11:30 a.m.

The finals in prose interpretation, after dinner and extempore speaking are scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The presentation of awards Saturday at 2 p.m. in Smith Hall auditorium will end the tournament activities, Sullivan said. The awards will be presented by Dr. Johnson and directors of the various activity areas.

Connie Day, a Chesapeake, Ohio, junior, is serving as assistant director of the tournament. Others helping to coordinate events are: Laura D. Harrison, Huntington junior, prose; Margaret E. Fadeley, Gallipolis, Ohio, graduate, pantomime; Laura Lee Hills, Point Pleasant senior, poetry; Judy Ditlow, Harrisville graduate, after dinner speaking; Vicki Murray, Barboursville senior, duet acting; Angela Cheek, Harts junior, extempore speaking; Jane Billups, Huntington senior, oratory; Dr. John Bliese, MU assistant professor of speech, debate, and Edwin C. McCarnes, MU assistant professor of speech, publicity.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 60 area industry, business and government employers will participate in the annual Marshall University Career and Job Fair Wednesday, March 2, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Memorial Student Center.

The Job Fair is sponsored by Marshall's Career Planning and Placement Office, Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity, the Marketing Club and the Huntington Rotary Club.

The program accomplishes several objectives for both employers and students, according to Reginald A. Spencer, coordinator of the Office of Career Planning and Placement.

The program provides graduating seniors an opportunity to discuss employment chances with prospective employers. Undergraduates may find valuable career information and leads to part-time or summer jobs, Spencer said.

The setting also offers participating companies an opportunity to examine first hand the people who comprise tomorrow's labor pool, he added.

Among the organizations expected to send representatives are: West Virginia State Police; Flournoy and Clark, Public Accountants; I.B.M. Corporation; General Credit Corporation; Smart and McGinnis, Certified Public Accounts; Armour-Dial Corporation; Union Carbide Corporation; Kentucky Power Company; West Virginia Department of Welfare; Veterans Administration;

(MORE)

Keebler Company; West Virginia Civil Service System; Somerville and Company, Certified Public Accountants; U.S. Army Corps of Engineers; Calgon Consumer Products Company, Inc.; Cabell Huntington Hospital; C&P Telephone Company of West Virginia; U.S. Marine Corps; Ashland Oil, Inc.; U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty; Huntington Alloys, Inc.; U.S. Army;

WOWK-TV; Corco, Inc.; Owens-Illinois, Inc.; Hill's Department Stores; TSJ Associates; Connor Steel Company; West Virginia Employment Security; U.S. Civil Service Commission; J.H. Fletcher and Company; Xerox Corporation; West Virginia Department of Natural Resources; Burroughs Corporation; Chemetron Corporation; Lever Brothers Corporation; ACF Industries, Inc.;

Shoney's Inc.-Captain D's; General Motors Acceptance Corporation; General Mills, Inc.; The Bunch Company-Realtors; Armstrong Products Company; Appalachian Power Company; Huntington Publishing Company; St. Mary's Hospital; J.W. Hereford Boys Club; City of Huntington; U.S. Secret Service; Adel Fasteners Division; U.S. Small Business Administration; National Mine Service; U.S. Navy Officer Programs; United Parcel Service; Rite Aid Corporation; Columbia Gas Transmissions; U.S. Air Force and Underwriters Adjusting Company.

Other businesses interested in participating may call the Placement Office at 696-2370 to make arrangements, Spencer said.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Robert P. Raus, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation at Marshall University, has been appointed to the West Virginia State Advisory Committee on Community Education.

Raus' appointment is for a two-year term, according to West Virginia Schools Supt. Daniel B. Taylor.

Raus heads the recreation division of the Department Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Marshall. A member of Marshall's faculty since 1975, he previously taught at the University of Oregon and Indiana University.

He holds a bachelor degree from Baylor University, a Master of Religious Education from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and a Master of Science degree and doctorate from Indiana University, where he was named the 1964 Outstanding Graduate Student.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 23, 1977

RELEASE AT WILL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--The Marshall Community Orchestra will present two Young People's Concerts Thursday and Friday, March 3 and 4, in Smith Recital Hall at 10 a.m.

The concerts are sponsored by the Marshall University Music Department and the Woman's Club of Huntington in cooperation with the Cabell County Board of Education.

Sixth grade students from 19 Cabell County schools will be excused from classes and transported to the campus by bus, according to Miss Elinor Copenhaver, county music supervisor.

There will be a limited number of seats available to the public.

The orchestra, conducted by Dr. Paul W. Whear, MU composer-in-residence, will perform the finale of Saint-Saens' Third Symphony, two selections from the L'Arlesienne Suites by Bizet and Viotti's Violin Concerto.

Soloist for the Viotti concerto will be Sibyl Johnston, a senior at Fairland High School, Proctorville, Ohio. Miss Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Peggy Johnston of Proctorville, won the Young People's Concert auditions, held at Marshall in January. A former student of Patricia Green, MU associate professor of music, she currently studies violin with Howard Beebe of the Ohio University music faculty and is a member of the Marshall Community Orchestra.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Mrs. Harriet Tucker, MU music instructor and organist for the Beverly Hills United Methodist Church, will be featured on the organ in the Saint-Saens' work, which is often called the "Organ Symphony" because it was the first symphonic work to use the organ as part of the ensemble.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY, HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 24, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE
JUL 24 1977
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Ray A. Nissen of Macomb, Ill., has been appointed director of personnel at Marshall University, President Robert B. Hayes announced today. He succeeds Richard D. Randolph, who resigned last fall.

Before assuming the Marshall position this month, Nissen had been director of personnel at Western Illinois University since 1965.

At Marshall he will be responsible for further development and administration of the personnel system for non-faculty employees.

A native of Clinton, Iowa, he earned B.S. and M.S. degrees in industrial education from Bradley University and has done additional graduate work at Western Illinois.

From 1951 to 1964 he operated a 600-acre farm and registered Hereford cattle business at Toulon, Ill. He also served a year as training director for Butler Manufacturing Co. in Galesburg, Ill., before joining the Western Illinois University staff.

Nissen has been active in community work, serving in various leadership positions with the Boy Scouts of America over a 15-year period. He is a past master of the Masonic Lodge in Macomb, former secretary of the Macomb Rotary Club, and is a lay speaker in the United Methodist Church. He also has served on the boards of directors of the United Fund, Wesley Day Care Center and the Central Illinois Collegiate League, a summer college baseball program.

He is married to the former Viola R. McCormick and they are the parents of four children.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 25, 1977

JUL 22 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Harry E. Long of Doylestown, Pa., has been appointed manager of administrative services in the Marshall University Plant Operations Department. Announcement of the appointment was made today by Plant Operations Director Karl J. Egnatoff.

The new position replaces the former position of superintendent of buildings and grounds, abolished in a reorganization of the Plant Operations Department, Egnatoff said.

Plant Operations is responsible for maintaining the university's buildings and grounds and for operation of the motor pool, the telephone system and other support services.

Prior to accepting the Marshall position this month, Long had served as national manager of administration for Sperry Rand Corporation in Doylestown. He had been with the firm in various capacities since 1949.

A native of Lackawanna, Pa., he graduated from Buffalo (N.Y.) Technical High School and attended the University of Buffalo. He served with the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II.

Long is married to the former Irene V. Kochiss and they are the parents of three children.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 26, 1977

JUL 2 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Wednesday, March 2, is the registration deadline for the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) to be given at Marshall University on April 16, according to Dr. Soo Bock Choi, MU professor of political science and test center coordinator.

Students expecting to be candidates for law school admission in the fall of 1978 are advised to register for the April test, Choi said. The next scheduled date for the LSAT to be given at Marshall is July 23.

Registration forms are available in Smith Hall Room 741. The test will be given Saturday, April 16, at 8:30 a.m. in Harris Hall Room 134.

Marshall has been notified by the Educational Testing Service (ETS) of Princeton, N.J., that the school has qualified as a permanent test center and as such will be included in future testing schedules published by the ETS, Choi said.

Marshall served as a LSAT Center three times during 1976 on a trial basis and drew more than 100 registrants, he added.

The LSAT is required of candidates for admission by most American law schools. It is administered under the direction of the Law School Admission Council, an organization composed of about 160 law schools accredited by either the American Bar Association or the Association of American Law Schools.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 1, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

11 2 1977
NEWS RELEASE
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Duval High School of Griffithsville took top honors with five first-places at the ninth annual John Marshall High School Forensics Tournament, held last weekend (Feb. 25-26), at Marshall University.

The event, sponsored by the MU Speech Department, drew about 180 West Virginia high school students from 16 schools.

Duval's first-place wins were earned by Jo Matthews, extempore speaking; Jill Pauley, oratory; Cindy Rymer and Kim Snodgrass, affirmative debate team; Miss Snodgrass, affirmative debater, and Lura Burton, negative debater.

Parkersburg High School students won three first places. Renee Kaufman ranked first in after dinner speaking. The PHS debate team of Susan Darnell, Dale Johnson, Bryan Fleenor and Ron Henson was judged best overall debate team, while Miss Darnell and Johnson were selected at the top negative debate team.

Firsts for Huntington High School were won by Dee Dee Cooper in prose interpretation and Lynn Edwards in poetry interpretation.

Huntington East High School's team of Donna Perry and Mark Miranda took first in duo acting. Melanie Rowand earned a first place in pantomime for Fairmont Senior High School.

(MORE)

Second and third place wins, by schools, include:

BLUEFIELD--Scott Pickus, second in extempore speaking; Matt Hughes, third in extempore speaking; Michael Conrad and Becky Burton, third negative debate team and Miss Burton, Conrad, David Smith and Terese Ercoline, third, overall debate.

DUVAL--Miss Rymer, second affirmative debater; Phil Stowers, second negative debater; Miss Burton and Stowers, second negative debate team; Miss Rymer, Miss Snodgrass, Miss Burton and Stowers, second overall debate, and Tucker Hager, third in pantomime.

FAIRMONT SENIOR--Kendra Stingo and Kemper Lengel, third, duo acting.

HUNTINGTON EAST--Janeel Slack, third, oratory, and Greg Molter and Stephanie Lusher, third affirmative debate team.

HUNTINGTON HIGH--Mike Godby, second, pantomime.

PARKERSBURG--Cindy Miller, second, oratory; Jim McIntosh, second, after dinner speaking; Fleenor and Henson, second, affirmative debate team; Miss Darnell, third, negative debater; Fleenor, third, affirmative debater, and Linda Bays, third, prose interpretation.

WHEELING PARK--Debbie Birch and Nanette Fondas, second, duo acting; Naomi Bence, second, prose interpretation; Nancy Sauder, second, poetry interpretation; Sue Nelson, third, poetry interpretation, and Leif Greene, third, after dinner speaking.

"Overall it was a successful tournament," said Henry J. Sullivan, MU speech instructor and event director. "Everything went smoothly. The contest presented was good and the competition was of a high calibre," Sullivan added.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 1, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
LESLIE E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Lim Chong Yah, a Fulbright Visiting Professor at Ohio University, will give a free public lecture at Marshall University Thursday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Harris Hall Room 134.

Lim, a professor of economics at the University of Singapore, will discuss "The Economic Cooperation of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and Southeast Asian Economic Development." ASEAN is similar to the European Common Market, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of MU's College of Business and Applied Science.

Lim's appearance at Marshall is part of the College's lecture series, funded by a grant from the First Huntington National Bank.

Lim received his doctorate from Oxford University, England. He has had several articles published in research journals and has written books on international economics and development.

He has worked with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations, the World Bank Commission and the UN Economics Commission for Asia and the Far East.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 2, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. HUNNOR LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. William Watson Purkey, an educational psychologist and a School of Education professor at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, will speak at Marshall University March 16-17.

On Wednesday, March 16, Purkey will meet with Marshall's College of Education faculty as part of a faculty enrichment program funded by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., the Distinguished Lectureship Series. He will discuss "Humanistic Education and Its Relationship to Preparation of Teachers."

Purkey's visit here is co-sponsored by the Cabell County Teacher Education Center. On Thursday he will meet with supervising teachers from Cabell and Wayne counties during the morning and with student teachers in the afternoon. His theme for these sessions will be the humanistic approach to education.

Purkey joined the faculty at the University of North Carolina last year. Prior to that time, he had been at the University of Florida, Gainesville, where he was a professor in the College of Education, director of the Center for Humanistic Education and section head of the college's Psychological Foundations of Education.

The Virginia native earned his B.S., M.Ed. and Ed.D. degrees from the University of Virginia where he taught and served as a psychologist with the McGuffey Reading Clinic, while working on his doctorate.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A member of several professional and scientific organizations, Purkey is on the editorial board of two educational publications and serves as an ad hoc consultant to the "Journal of Educational Psychology."

He has had 39 articles printed in a variety of educational and psychological journals. Purkey is the author of four textbooks, one of which has been translated into German.

While teaching at the University of Florida, Purkey received the "Student Award for Instructor Excellence." He also received the Standard Oil Foundation's "Good Teaching Award" given for excellence in undergraduate teaching.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 2, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

JAMES HENNINGER LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University College of Education and the West Virginia Association of Teacher Educators will sponsor a one-day conference on "Teacher Legal Rights and Due Process" on Wednesday, March 3, at the Gateway Inn.

More than 130 supervising teachers and other educators from Cabell and Kanawha counties are expected to attend the meeting, which opens at 9 a.m.

The conference is designed to inform supervising teachers of their responsibilities in educating future teachers about matters related to due process and the rights and responsibilities of students and teachers, according to Dr. David Koontz, MU associate professor of education and conference coordinator.

"Anyone interested in teacher legal rights may attend the meetings," Koontz said. There will be a $5 registration fee and the cost of the luncheon will be $4.

Speakers for the program include: William Toussaint, administrative assistant to the West Virginia superintendent of schools; Dr. Neil Gibbins, chairman of the MU Department of Educational Administration; Judge Thomas McHugh, Kanawha Circuit Court; Dr. Jack McClanahan, Dunbar High School principal; Charles Moses, West Virginia Education Association president; Tom Smedley, coordinator of the equal educational opportunities office of the West Virginia Department of Education, and Sandra Barkey, Kanawha County schools exceptional children specialist.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

March 2, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University has been notified that its Associate in Science in Nursing degree program has passed its annual evaluation by the West Virginia Board of Examiners for Registered Nurses.

The board approved the program at its January meeting, according to Mrs. Giovanna B. Morton, director of the two-year program.

The approval was granted after the board reviewed an annual report submitted by the program in October, Mrs. Morton said. "We were notified of the board's action last month," she said.

"Each year we file this report which encompasses all aspects of the program, including curricula, administrative and student affairs areas," Mrs. Morton said. The program must pass the annual review by the examining board in order to continue, she added.

In a letter signed by Freda Engle, examining board executive secretary, the department was commended for the progress in its student selection process and for its "comprehensive report."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

March 4, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University President Robert B. Hayes has named an eight-member committee to search for a successor to Jack C. Phillips, MU director of development, who resigned to accept a national post.

Dr. Olen E. Jones Jr., MU executive vice president, will head the search committee. Serving with him will be Joseph C. Peters, MU vice president for business affairs; Dr. William F. Ashford, chairman of the MU Marketing Department; Judith Casto, assistant director of informational services; Enrique Thurman, a Wheaton, Md., sophomore; Donald D. Ferguson, MU Alumni Association president, and Harry Wolfe and Burt Anderson of the MU Foundation board of directors.

Phillips, who became Marshall's development director in early 1975, was appointed president of the National Methodist Foundation, headquartered in Nashville, Tenn.

The development director heads the university's fund raising activities, serves as executive director for the MU Foundation, and works with faculty and administration in developing funding proposals to take to foundations, corporations and individuals.

Persons interested in the position should submit a letter of application, along with credentials and current references, to Dr. Jones, selection committee chairman, by March 15.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Preference will be given to a person with successful experience in fund-raising efforts, according to Jones. Other requirements include graduation from an accredited college or university and ability to work harmoniously with university personnel and the university's constituencies.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

March 7, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--C. Bosworth Johnson, associate professor of journalism at Marshall University and former WSAZ-TV news director, will host four public broadcasting programs on the West Virginia legislative process.

Entitled "The People's Government: How Government Really Works in West Virginia," the series is designed to explain the state's lawmaking process and is partially funded by the West Virginia Committee for the Humanities and Public Policy.

Produced by WSWP-TV and WVPB-FM radio, the series will be aired by the state's public radio and television stations. The programs will originate live from the West Virginia Science and Culture Center in Charleston on Friday evenings at 9 p.m., beginning March 11 and continuing through April 1.

Topics to be explored include:

- March 11, "The People and Their Government."
- March 18, "The Executive and the Legislative."
- March 25, "Lobby and Citizens' Action Groups."
- April 1, "How Bills Become Law."

(MORE)

2-2-2

The program format will include an initial discussion of the topic by a panel of four humanists, followed by questions from the studio and broadcast audiences. After the question session, a "reaction" panel of two people with first-hand knowledge of the legislative process will discuss the evening's topic with the original panel.

The series will be carried by WSWP-TV (Channel 9), Beckley; WVPB, 91.7 FM, Beckley; WVPW, 88.9 FM, Buckhannon; WMUL-TV (Channel 33), Huntington, and WWVU-TV (Channel 24), Morgantown.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 7, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"Joyful-Jubilate," a work by Dr. Paul W. Whear, Marshall University's composer-in-residence, will be the featured piece for the Marshall Symphonic Choir's spring concert Friday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Whear's composition utilizes both a mixed chorus and a percussion ensemble. The choir, under the direction of Dr. Paul Balshaw, MU professor of music, also will perform several sacred and secular selections.

Samuel Munoff, a Chesapeake, Ohio, graduate student, will serve as assistant director. Kathy Metz, a Huntington graduate student, will be the accompanist.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

March 8, 1977

JUL 22 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Noel J. Richards, dean of Arts and Sciences at Rhode Island College, has been named vice president for academic affairs at Marshall University, Dr. Robert B. Hayes, MU president, announced today.

Dr. Richards' appointment, effective July 1, ends a year-long search for a successor to the current vice president for academic affairs, Dr. A.M. Tyson, who plans to retire in June.

The search committee, headed by Tyson, was composed of four faculty members, representing various segments of the campus, and two students.

"We are delighted to have someone with Dr. Richards' qualifications join the Marshall community," Dr. Hayes said. "He has had experience in many of the administrative areas that fall under the responsibility of the MU Office of Academic Affairs," Hayes added.

An historian specializing in the 19th Century British period, Richards earned his B.A. degree from Gettysburg College, his M.A. degree from Duke University and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Rhode Island College is a metropolitan school, located in Providence with a student enrollment of about 8,500. As dean, Richards was involved in academic planning and program development, budget and personnel areas. His office was responsible for the college's Tutorial Center, Writing Center, Cooperative Education and Ethnic Studies programs.

(MORE)

Since his appointment as dean in 1974, he has served on and chaired several administrative committees. Most recently, he chaired Rhode Island College's presidential search committee. He also taught a four-credit senior seminar during second semester 1975-76.

From 1964 to 1974, Richards was at the Whitewater Campus of the University of Wisconsin System, where he served in various teaching and administrative positions.

He held the rank of associate professor of history and from 1971-74 was associate vice chancellor for academic and student affairs.

As associate vice chancellor, he worked with campus academic support areas, including the library, placement service and instructional media service; served as chairman of the University Curriculum Committee responsible for coordinating a 10-year plan for the school to be submitted to the University of Wisconsin System office, and served on several committees and task force study groups.

While at the Whitewater Campus, he also was assistant dean of the College of Letters and Sciences, director of the Upward Bound Project and served as assistant registrar and admissions counselors.

A 39-year-old native of Philadelphia, Pa., Richards is a member of Phi Alpha Theta history honorary and the New England Historical Association. He has had articles published in various history journals. Richards has received several research grants, including one from the National Defense Education Act for research in England.

Richards and his wife, Barbara, are the parents of four children.

(MORE)

3-3-3

"While we welcome Dr. Richards to our campus, we regret to see Dr. Tyson leave," Dr. Hayes said. "Not only a capable teacher and effective administrator, he has been a loyal friend of this institution. He even postponed his retirement a year to give us additional time to find a qualified successor."

A native of Pennsylvania, Tyson has been at Marshall since 1959. He earned his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Before coming to Marshall, he taught at Rider College in New Jersey and Kutztown (Pa.) State College. He is active in the First United Methodist Church and the Huntington Kiwanis Club.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 9, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The West Virginia Association for the Humanities will hold its spring meeting in Charleston Friday and Saturday, March 18-19, beginning at noon Friday with registration in the Conference Center of the Capitol Complex.

The meeting, co-sponsored by the West Virginia Science and Culture Center, is expected to draw more than 100 educators, students and private citizens interested in promoting the traditional concepts of humane learning, according to Dr. Joan F. Adkins, president-elect of the association and professor of English at Marshall University.

"The meetings are open to all persons who share our concerns," Dr. Adkins said. "The program will include talks and a panel discussion on the humanities and their role today. We hope these sessions will be the first of many such dialogues among humanists, scientists and technologists," she added.

Association President Manfred O. Meitzen of West Virginia University will speak at 3:30 p.m. Friday at the Conference Center, officially opening the two-day meeting.

Preceding his remarks will be tours of the Science and Culture Center, led by Norman Fagan, center director. An 8 p.m. concert by the West Virginia Symphonette at the center will conclude the first day's event.

(MORE)

2-2-2

On Saturday, the association will move its activities to the Sheraton Motor Inn, beginning at 9 a.m. with a speech by Sister Rita Papin of Mount de Chantal Visitation Academy. After an introduction by Dr. Meitzen, she will discuss "Sharing Perspectives on the Humanities in Secondary and Higher Education."

"The Role of the Humanities in a Technological Age" is the topic for a panel discussion, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Meitzen, a member of the WVU religious studies faculty, will be moderator. Panel participants will be: Douglas Bess, assistant director, environmental protection division, Union Carbide Corporation; Robert S. Gerke, MU professor of English; Robert G. Newman, chairman of the Religious Studies Department at Morris Harvey College; Arthur S. Pavlovic, WVU professor of physics, and Robert E. Swartout, WVU professor of electrical engineering.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE
JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

March 9, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Thomas W. Dunfee, a Marshall University graduate now on the faculty of The Wharton School of Finance, will return to the Marshall campus to speak Tuesday, March 15.

Dunfee, associate professor of business law at the Philadelphia-based school, a component of the University of Pennsylvania, will discuss "Corporate Social Responsibility" in a free public lecture at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Hall auditorium.

Dunfee's visit here is sponsored by the Department of Finance and Business through funding from the Marshall University Foundation Distinguished Lectureship Series, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the MU College of Business and Applied Science.

Throughout the day Dunfee will be meeting informally with students and faculty from the college, Drewry said.

A native of Huntington, Dunfee received his baccalaureate degree cum laude from Marshall and with special honors in economics. He earned the Doctor of Jurisprudence and Master of Laws degrees from New York University where he was a Root-Tilden Scholar of Law.

Prior to joining the Wharton School faculty, he taught business law at Ohio State University, Indiana University, Illinois State University and New York Institute of Technology.

(MORE)

Dunfee has co-authored several books related to business law and also served as academic editor for an eight-book series on law, published by Grid Publishing Co. A member of the American Business Law Association (ABLA), he is editor-in-chief of the association's journal.

He has written numerous articles for business and educational publications. Through the University of Pennsylvania's editorial service Dunfee has contributed editorial commentaries to such papers as the Philadelphia Inquirer and the San Francisco Examiner.

A former consultant to General Foods Corp. and the U.S. Postal Service, Dunfee has presented programs at several national meetings of the ABLA and other business organizations.

In 1974, he was selected as an "Outstanding Teacher" by the undergraduate student government of the College of Administrative Science of Ohio State University.

He has been a lecturer for a variety of continuing education programs, including the Philadelphia National Bank Executives Program, Colorado Graduate School of Banking and the Real Estate Institute.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Community College

March 9, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A course in "Home Vegetable Gardening" will be offered by the Community College of Marshall University in cooperation with the West Virginia University Extension Service beginning March 31. The course will consist of six sessions, meeting from 7 to 8:30 p.m. each Thursday in Room 136, Community College building, 18th St.

John L. Lewis, Cabell County extension agent, will teach the classes. Topics to be covered include preparation of the garden for planting, diseases of home gardens, insects of home gardens, pesticide safety and certification, and home canning and freezing.

The class is limited to 30 people. Registration will be conducted at the first class meeting. A fee of $2 will be collected to cover expenses. Further information can be obtained by calling the Community College, 696-3646, or the instructor at 522-8301.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

March 10, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Jennie Parker makes the world's best apple-peanut butter cupcakes. She decided to go into business and received a loan from the Small Business Administration to market her cupcakes.

She's had some problems getting the business to run smoothly and needs help. Where can she turn for some business expertise without encountering more expenses?

She could contact the SBA and ask for help from a Small Business Institute such as the one at Marshall University's College of Business and Applied Science.

The Small Business Institute is a program linking business schools with small businesses and the SBA, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the MU College of Business and Applied Science. "We're delighted to be part of this program which benefits students, businesses and the community itself," Drewry said.

Under the SBI program, Marshall business students in their junior and senior years give free management counseling to entrepreneurs with SBA loans, said Dr. Robert P. Alexander, chairman of Marshall's Management Department.

Marshall's College of Business will receive a $250 fee from the SBA for each client it assists. These funds will be used to cover expenses in the case study, Alexander said.

(MORE)

Marshall joined the SBI program for the first time this semester and hopes to broaden its participation, Alexander said. The business college will be working closely with the SBA office in Clarksburg.

The program started nationally in 1972 with 32 schools participating and today there are about 400 schools involved. During 1976, some 8,000 businesses availed themselves of SBI services.

Marshall is working with three clients at present, but their identities are confidential, according to Richard D. Cupelli, MU management instructor and SBI director.

Cupelli has 15 students enrolled in his Management of Small Business course. They are working with the three businesses.

"Basically, our students serve as management counselors. They study the business and provide ideas on how to operate more efficiently," Cupelli explained.

"The first year of life is the most critical period for a small business. That's when 50 per cent of them go under," Alexander said.

SBA records show that small businesses fail, not because of a lack of working capital, but because of unsound business practices.

"Most people who set up small business have no knowledge of accounting procedures, business law or inventory control. They enter the small business world through a hobby," Cupelli said.

Marshall's participation in the SBI program will benefit students, the small business clients and the general community, Cupelli said.

"As businesses are strengthened, they improve the overall economic climate. Through the SBI we also hope to foster a strong relationship between the business community and the university," he added.

(MORE)

The program offers students a practical training ground, allowing them to supplement academic theory with live problems in a real business environment.

"Too often schools identify with big business. The geographic area we serve, however, means that many of our students will be involved with small businesses," Alexander said. "The SBI experience will help MU students identify with small businesses which are the backbone of our nation's economy, in addition to learning about corporate entities. It makes good sense to be involved with all business groups," he added.

#/#

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MONROE LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 10, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--David Toma, known to millions as "The Compassionate Cop," will speak at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Monday, March 14, in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Toma, whose exploits as a 17-year veteran of the Newark, N.J., police force were the basis for an ABC-TV series, will discuss "Alcohol and Drug Abuse."

His campus appearance is sponsored by the Contemporary Issues and Lecture Series committees of Marshall's Office of Student Activities. The event is open to the public without charge.

While at Marshall, Toma will meet informally with students in criminal justice and counseling classes.

Called by his boss, "the best cop in the country," Toma brought to his work acting talent, ingenuity and a deep concern for his fellow man.

Toma knows the dangers of drug addiction personally. After the death of his four-year-old son, he became addicted to tranquilizers. Realizing he was hooked, he stopped taking them and now refuses even an aspirin.

He prefers not to use force and has never been known to fire his gun at anyone. Working through a number of disguises, ranging from an ice cream vendor to a drug addict, Toma compiled a record of more than 7,000 arrests and a 99 per cent conviction record. But his concern doesn't end with a conviction.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"I can't just lock some one up in jail and then just walk away and forget him. That's when he needs help the most," Toma was quoted as saying in a Reader's Digest article.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

March 11, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Jim Nichols, Marshall University institutional research and planning director, has been asked to serve on the faculty of the 1977 Mid-West Summer Workshop of the Association for Institutional Research.

The theme for the workshop, to be held July 18-22 at the University of Toledo, is "Institutional Research: Application to Real Problems." The Center for the Study of Higher Education of the University of Toledo and the University of Michigan are co-sponsoring the workshop.

Nichols, who holds a Ph.D. degree in higher education from the University of Toledo, will lead sessions designed for university-level institutional research personnel. During the four-day workshop, participants will have an opportunity to work on real life problems facing the types of institutions they represent.

A Texas native, Nichols came to Marshall in May, 1976. Prior to then, he was coordinator of institutional studies for Concord and Bluefield State Colleges.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 12, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Art Department will be visited Wednesday and Thursday, March 16-17, by a guest artist, Douglas Pickering of Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Pickering, who teaches sculpture, drawing and design, will have a slide presentation Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 621, which will be open to the public, according to Mrs. June Kilgore, chairman of Marshall's Art Department.

On Thursday he will meet informally with students in various art classes. His appearance on campus is part of the Distinguished Lecture-ship Series, funded by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

Prior to joining the Carnegie-Mellon faculty in 1960 Pickering taught at Allegheny College. He earned his B.A. degree from Carnegie-Mellon and his Masters in Art Education from Pennsylvania State University.

A former Ford Foundation Fellow, he has held exhibits of his work since 1951 and has received several awards. In 1967 he was invited to exhibit in the Carnegie International.

Pickering also has given several one-man shows. He has been commissioned to create art works for such firms as Blue Cross-Blue Shield, the National Steel Co., and Westinghouse.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 16, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES H. HARRIS LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE
JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University chemistry students will be presenting four of 46 student research papers at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society in New Orleans, March 21-25, according to Dr. E.S. Hanrahan, MU chemistry department chairman.

Marshall students whose papers were selected by the American Chemical Society for presentation are:

Cathy Romine, Joseph Roberts and Donald Gullickson, Huntington seniors, and William Sims, Huntington sophomore.

The four are members of the student affiliate of the American Chemical Society. Each student will have 20 minutes to present his paper. This will be followed by a five minute question and answer session.

"To have four of the student presentations by Marshall students not only honors our chemistry department--the program and faculty--but is a great distinction for the university as a whole," Hanrahan said. "About 10,000 chemists from all over the United States will be attending this meeting," he added.

###

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

March 20, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Pulitzer Prize winning journalist, John D. (Jack) Maurice, will be the 1977 recipient of the Marshall University Distinguished Alumnus Award, Donald D. Ferguson, MU Alumni Association president, announced today.

Maurice, a 1935 graduate of Marshall, is editor-in-chief of the Charleston Daily Mail. He won a 1975 Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing related to the Kanawha County textbook controversy. He is believed to be the first West Virginia newspaperman to win a Pulitzer.

Maurice, along with recipients of the association's Distinguished Service and Community Service Awards, will be honored at the Alumni Weekend banquet at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 23, in Memorial Student Center. The names of the other award winners will be announced later, Ferguson said.

The Distinguished Alumnus Award is presented annually to graduates distinguishing themselves in their field, Ferguson said. "Having received the highest honor in his field, Maurice unquestionably has distinguished not only himself, but Marshall University as well," he added.

The Pulitzer Prize carries with it a $1,000 cash award which Maurice contributed to MU's Page Pitt Scholarship Fund for deserving journalists. The fund is named for the founder of Marshall's Journalism Department and long-time chairman under whom Maurice studied.

(MORE)

2-2-2

This will not be the first time Marshall has honored Maurice. He was presented an honorary Doctor of Letters degree during the 1963 Commencement.

A native of McDowell County, Maurice worked for the Huntington Herald-Dispatch for three years before going to the Daily Mail in 1938. Three years later he was writing the newspaper's editorials. After Navy service during World War II he returned to the Daily Mail editorial page and was named editor in 1950. He became editor-in-chief in 1969.

In 1958 Maurice was honored by his colleagues when he received Sigma Delta Chi's national award for distinguished service in journalism for his successful fight with Charleston city officials who tried to force removal of certain books, including Peyton Place, from the city's stores.

Several other activities are planned for Alumni Weekend, April 22-24, and details will be forthcoming, according to the association president.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 20, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Robert M. Artz, a nationally-known expert in public recreation, will speak at Marshall University at 7 p.m. Wednesday (March 23) in Room 2W22 of Memorial Student Center.

Artz, director of the Division of Research, Publications and Development for the National Parks and Recreation Association, will discuss "Local Governmental Recreational Services: A Social and Economic Imperative."

His talk is open to the public without charge. Artz's campus appearance is sponsored by Marshall's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department through funding by the MU Foundation's Distinguished Lecture-ship Series. A reception in the Alumni Lounge will follow Artz's lecture.

Artz has been on the NPRA staff for a decade, serving in various positions. His previous professional work includes a three-year period as the first director of the Oxford, Ohio, Parks and Recreation Department and a seven-year stint as superintendent/secretary of the Willamalane Park and Recreation District in Oregon. He also taught administration, supervision and field work service courses at the University of Oregon.

During his two-day visit to the Huntington area, Artz not only will discuss public recreation with Marshall students and faculty members, but also will meet with city-county officials and representatives from such groups as the Chamber of Commerce, YMCA and Boys Club to discuss trends related to local, state and national recreational planning.

(MORE)

On Thursday, Artz will meet with state park and recreation professionals at Coonskin Park in Charleston.

A Montana native, Artz earned his B.A. degree from the University of Montana and his M.S. from Indiana University. He has had additional graduate work at Indiana, Miami University of Ohio and Oregon University.

He is active in several national recreation organizations. In 1966 he was given the first Distinguished Service Award presented by the Oregon Park and Recreation Society. In 1974 he received the seventh Indiana University Outstanding Park and Recreation Alumni Award for outstanding leadership and service in his field.

He has had articles published in several professional periodicals and was a contributor to a college textbook, Administration of Public Recreation.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTSVILLE, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 20, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

By BETSY BARGER

Marshall University Student Journalist

Approximately 500 high school journalists and teachers will meet on the Marshall University campus Friday and Saturday, March 25-26, for the 50th anniversary of the United High School Press Convention (UHSP).

The two-day meeting will be highlighted by an awards banquet Saturday afternoon. Featured speaker will be Marvin L. Stone, editor of U.S. News and World Report.

Professor Emeritus W. Page Pitt, founder of Marshall's Department of Journalism and the UHSP, and his wife Virginia will return as honored guests.

Friday's activities include registration at noon, newspaper and yearbook critiques by faculty members, campus tours, discussion sessions and a variety concert.

Informal discussion sessions, beginning at 7 p.m., will cover photography, yearbooks, graphics and broadcast journalism.

A variety concert for UHSP delegates, advisers and the public will begin at approximately 8:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center. Local groups will perform a variety of music from blue grass to rock. The concert is sponsored by the MU student chapter of Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi.

more

Saturday will begin with a general assembly followed by workshops, business sessions and the awards banquet.

Workshops will be conducted by MU faculty members, Parthenon staff members and American Yearbook Co. representatives. Eleven workshops covering writing, design, photography, advertising, broadcasting and yearbook production will be conducted.

Workshop titles and instructors include: "Sports Writers Talk To Sports Writers," Parthenon staff members Rocky Stanley, Ted Fuller and Ken Smith; "Call Off Firing Squad Photography," instructor Rebecca Johnson; "Legally Speaking," Dr. Jerry Huang; "Be Kind To Your Photographers," Parthenon adviser William C. Rogers; "Writing Doesn't Have To Be 'Pedestrian,'" department chairman Dr. Deryl R. Leaming.

"Features With Flair," Dr. Wallin S. McCardell; "What's Happening, Broadcasters?" Prof. C. Bosworth Johnson; "Yearbook Advice From Professionals," representatives of Josten's/American Yearbook Co.; "Responsibilities--The 'Flip Side' of Rights," Prof. Henry H. Schulte; "$$ Organizing And Conducting An Advertising Campaign$$," Parthenon advertising manager Tom R. Drummond; and "Distinctive Design," Prof. Ralph J. Turner.

Regional and state level activities for next year will be planned during business sessions of UHSP, United High School Yearbook, United High School Broadcast Journalism and the West Virginia Journalism Teacher's associations.

The awards banquet will begin at 1:15 p.m. in Memorial Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room.

According to George Arnold, Jr., associate professor and UHSP director, more than 85 awards for first, second and third places will be presented to outstanding high school newspapers, yearbooks and broadcast programs.

3-3-3

Entries were judged in two divisions; schools classified A and AA; and schools classified AAA.

Categories of competition include newspaper makeup, feature or special events page, sports page, editorial page, news writing, student art work, yearbook theme, newspaper and yearbook advertisements and photography, broadcast journalism and best all-around newspaper and yearbook.

A $200 scholarship will be presented to the Most Promising Student Journalist.

In addition, the West Virginia Press Women's association will present cash awards from its contest for best feature and best editorial.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY.

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

March 21, 1977

JUL 2 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Rosemary McCormick of Charleston, a senior majoring in music at Marshall University, will present a voice recital at 8 p.m. Friday, March 25, in Smith Recital Hall.

The event is open to the public without charge.

Miss McCormick, a soprano, is a student of Jane B. Shepherd, Marshall professor of music, who will be her accompanist.

Also assisting with the program will be Greg Adkins, a Huntington graduate student, on guitar, Mrs. Nancy Whear, a part-time MU music instructor, on violin and Patricia Prunty, a freshman who will sing a duet with Miss McCormick.

The program will include selections by Bach, Vivaldi, Puccini and Barber as well as several 16th Century Elizabethan love songs.

At Marshall Miss McCormick has been a member and frequent soloist with Symphonic Choir, Choral Union and the Opera Workshop. She placed fourth in the Tri-State Area District Metropolitan Opera Auditions in February. For the past four summers she has been the soprano soloist in the outdoor theater productions of "Honey in the Rock" and "Hatfields and McCoys."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 21, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Wind Symphony will make its annual spring tour March 23-25 with visits scheduled to four West Virginia schools and one in Ohio, according to Richard Lemke, MU assistant professor of music and Wind Symphony director.

In addition to presenting concerts on tour, the Wind symphony will perform on campus at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 27, in Smith Recital Hall.

While on tour, the symphony will present five concerts for high school students and two public concerts. The group's schedule follows:

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23

- 10:30 a.m., Point Pleasant High School
- 2:30 p.m., Wahama High School, Mason
- 8 p.m., Belpre High School, public concert

THURSDAY, MARCH 24

- 9:20 a.m., Belpre High School
- 1:30 p.m., Parkersburg High School
- 8 p.m., Bridgeport High School, public concert

FRIDAY, MARCH 25

- 9 a.m., Bridgeport High School

The Wind Symphony is composed of 47 Marshall students--most of whom are music majors--who were selected by audition, Lemke said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

One highlight of the program will be Hill's "Trumpet Concerto" with J.D. Folsom, Marshall assistant professor of music, as soloist. Among the other works to be performed will be selections by Morton Gould, John Philip Sousa, Charles Ives and Karl L. King.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 22, 1977

RELEASE AT WILL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Robert F. Godfrey, associate professor of accounting at Marshall University, has earned the Ph.D. degree from Ohio State University, according to Dr. A.M. Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs.

Dr. Godfrey completed requirements for the degree earlier this month, Tyson said. His dissertation is entitled "The Effect of Mode of Problem Solving on Student Achievement in Principles of Accounting I."

A native of Martins Ferry, Ohio, Godfrey earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration magna cum laude and a Bachelor of Science degree in education cum laude from Bowling Green State University. He received his M.B.A. degree from Ohio University.

Prior to joining the Marshall faculty in 1976, Godfrey taught at West Liberty State College and Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio.

Godfrey is a member of several professional organizations including the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the American Association of University Professors.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's "Thundering Word" Individual Events (IE) team won its third tournament this year, taking top honors in the West Virginia IE Championship Tournament held at Parkersburg Community College last weekend (March 19-20).

The Marshall team won 25 individual awards to put it in first place over its nearest competitor, Parkersburg Community College, Maureen Milicia, MU assistant professor of speech and team coach, said.

The tournament also may mark the first time that Marshall has placed students in the final rounds of all the contest areas, according to the team statistician E.C. McCarnes, MU assistant professor of speech.

Individual winners and their events are listed below.

--Extempore speaking: Janet Graber, Canton, Ohio, freshman, second; Michael Hawk, Charleston junior, third; Stewart Glass, Parkersburg freshman, fifth, and Rita Sowards, Huntington sophomore, sixth.

--After dinner speaking: Connie Day, Chesapeake, Ohio, junior, first; Jennie Sexton, Huntington sophomore, second; Mark Hickman, Lewisburg junior, third, and Glass, fifth.

--Prose: Hickman, first; Miss Sexton, second; Miss Day, fourth, and Libby Hay, Huntington senior, sixth.

--Duo acting: Gary LaParl, Barboursville freshman, and Patricia Brown, Lavalette senior, first; Miss Hay and Miss Day, second; LaParl and Glass, fourth.

(MORE)

2-2-2

--Poetry: Miss Hay, first; Carol Proctor, Sylvester sophomore, fifth and Miss Brown, sixth.

--Informative speaking: Miss Graber, second; Miss Proctor, fifth, and Hickman, sixth.

--Persuasion: Miss Day, third; Miss Brown, fourth, and Miss Sexton, fifth.

--Impromptu speaking: Stewart Ebeling, Wheeling junior, sixth.

Other schools competing in the state tournament were West Virginia University, West Liberty State College, Alderson-Broadus College, Fairmont State College and West Virginia Wesleyan.

"It's nice to win a tournament anywhere, but it's something extra special to be the champion in your home state," Miss Milicia said. "We're pleased to have been judged the top school by our colleagues across the state," she added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 23, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUL 24 1977

By BETSY BARGER

Marshall University Student Journalist

ARCHIVES

From journalism student to foreign correspondent to magazine editor, Marvin L. Stone will return to Marshall University, his college alma mater. But this time, Stone is more than a student.

Stone, the editor of U.S. News and World Report, will speak Saturday, March 26, at the 50th anniversary convention of the United High School Press Association (UHSP).

Also returning to Marshall as honored guests for the convention will be Professor Emeritus W. Page Pitt and his wife Virginia. Pitt founded the Department of Journalism, began the UHSP in 1927 and taught at Marshall for 44 years.

Stone, 53, has been a journalist for three decades. He is a journalism graduate of Marshall and of the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism. His attendance at Marshall was interrupted by three years of service in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Stone began his professional career with the Huntington Herald-Dispatch, working there from 1942-43 and 1946-48. While working for the International News Service from 1949-1958, Stone served in Vienna, Paris, London and Tokyo.

more

2-2-2

Stone then spent a year at Columbia University as one of its first Sloan Foundation Fellows and another year as a special consultant at the Pentagon. In 1960, Stone came to U.S. News and World Report. He served as executive editor before being named editor in April 1976.

Among the honors Stone has received are the Holmes Award for coverage of the Indo-China War, a Doctor of Letters from Marshall and inclusion in the Columbia Journalism School's 50th Anniversary Honors List.

A resident of Falls Church, Va., Stone is married and has three children.

Stone will speak Saturday during the awards dinner of the UHSP convention. High school journalists and teachers from West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky and Southeastern Ohio and area media personnel and university officials will take part in the convention Friday and Saturday at Marshall.

Convention activities will include 11 newspaper, broadcast and yearbook workshops, publication critiques, discussion sessions, and business meetings for each of the four UHSP divisions.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 25, 1977
Release at will

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Syndicated Washington columnist Jack Anderson will speak at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 31, in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Anderson, one of America's top investigative reporters, will discuss "The News Behind the Headlines." His campus appearance is sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committees of Marshall's Student Activities Office.

Tickets for Anderson's lecture will be available to the public for $1 each. They may be purchased at the door or in advance in Room 2W40 of Memorial Student Center between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Marshall students and staff will be admitted free upon presentation of ID cards.

Anderson calls himself a "watchdog of government." He has been credited with uncovering some of the biggest scandals in Washington and governmental circles.

The 54-year-old Mormon also describes himself as a "muckraker," but insists his object is not sensationalism, but reform. He won a Pulitzer Prize in 1972 for obtaining and publishing documents that showed a strong anti-Indian bias in Washington's handling of the India-Pakistan war.

(more)

2-2-2

Many contend Anderson's publication of grand jury testimony in the Watergate affair led to a presidential about-face on the issue which ultimately brought the resignation of numerous Nixon Administration officials.

Anderson has said that he considers exposing corruption and crusading for reforms to be the special calling of the press.

After many years as assistant to the late Drew Pearson, Anderson took over Pearson's column, "The Washington Merry-Go-Round," when Pearson died in 1969. The column now appears in more than 940 newspapers.

In addition to his syndicated column, Anderson is Washington editor of Parade Magazine, has a daily radio show aired by the Mutual Network and has a syndicated television news commentary program.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 28, 1977
For Immediate Release

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 2 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Eleven Tri-State Area schools will participate in the 4th annual High School Model United Nations Security Council at Marshall University April 1-2.

The Model UN, sponsored by Marshall's Political Science Department, provides students the opportunity to "role play" the actual positions and policies of the 15 nations comprising the council, according to Dr. Clair W. Matz Jr., MU assistant professor of political science.

The keynote speaker for the two-day event will be Dr. Maurice A. East, associate director of the University of Kentucky's Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce.

A specialist in African political systems, Dr. East will discuss "Southern Africa, the UN and World Peace" at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Participating high schools and their assigned roles include: Huntington High, Benin (formerly Dahomey); Paul G. Blazer (Ashland, Ky.), China and Panama; Huntington East, France; Portsmouth (Ohio) East, Guyana; Buffalo of Wayne, Italy; South Point (Ohio), Japan and Pakistan.

Ironton (Ohio), Libyan Arab Republic; Barboursville, Sweden and the United Kingdom; Vinson, Rumania and the United Republic of Tanzania; Russell (Ky.), Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and Southwestern (Patriot, Ohio), the United States.

(more)

2-2-2

Assisting the students with their role playing will be members of Marshall's Model UN Club. The university model group competes in collegiate level model competition throughout the year, said Matz, the club advisor.

The high school students research the policies of the countries they represent prior to the event and during the model session try to reflect those positions, Matz said. Awards are presented to those delegations which most accurately represent their countries' policies, he added.

East, the keynote speaker, has been with the Patterson School since 1974. A Woodrow Wilson Fellow, Fulbright Scholar and member of Phi Beta Kappa, he received his Ph.D. from Princeton University, where he was a teaching assistant. He also has taught at the University of Oslo, the Graduate School of International Studies at the University of Denver and Makerere University in Kampala, Uganda, as a visiting lecturer.

He served from 1970 to 1973 as a member of the U.S. State Department's special advisory committee on public opinion and has been active in the International Studies Association. He is a past president of the International Peace Society's Southern Branch.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 29, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 24 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Richard G. Mund, vice president for student affairs at Marshall University, has submitted his resignation, effective Aug. 1.

Mund, who has held the vice presidency since July, 1971, noted in his letter of resignation that "I have accomplished my initial objectives of developing a strong and effective organization that can meet the needs of students and there is little more that I can now do or offer Marshall. I believe it is a time in my life when I need to give careful thought to my career and it is for this reason I feel it imperative that I seek new challenges."

The student affairs area was cited for its strengths during visits by evaluation teams from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools both in 1973 and in 1976.

Mund said he has several career opportunities under consideration but has not yet made a final decision as to his future course.

"Dr. Mund and Mrs. Mund have made a significant contribution not only to Marshall University, but to the community as well," President Robert B. Hayes said. "They are fine people and we will miss them."

A native of Baltimore, Mund earned his A.B. degree from Illinois Wesleyan University and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Denver. He taught sociology at Arapahoe Junior College before coming to Marshall in 1970 as assistant director of admissions.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Both he and Mrs. Mund have been active in the work of the Huntington Galleries and he currently is vice president of the Galleries Board of Directors. They are the parents of three children.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

March 30, 1977

JUL 24 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Tickets for the lecture by Washington columnist Jack Anderson, scheduled for Thursday at Marshall University, are available now, according to Mrs. Nancy Hindsley, MU Student Activities Office coordinator.

Tickets are being sold to the public for $1 each from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the ticket booth in Memorial Student Center. Tickets remaining from the advance sale will be available at the door on a first-come, first-served basis, Mrs. Hindsley said.

Anderson will discuss "The News Behind the Headlines, at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Student Center. His campus visit is sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues Committees of the Student Activities Office.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 31, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

NEWS RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," will be presented by Theatre West Virginia at Marshall University at 8 p.m. Monday, April 4, in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Theatre West Virginia, the state's only professional touring repertory company, also will conduct a workshop, "Improvisation, a Tool of the Actor," at 4 p.m. Monday in the Multi-Purpose Room. Both events are free and open to the public.

The campus appearance of the repertory company is sponsored by the Cultural Arts Committee of MU's Student Activities Office and has been made possible in part by a grant from the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council.

The musical, based on Charles Schulz's comic strip "Peanuts," depicts an average day in the life of Charlie Brown and his friends, Snoopy, Lucy, Linus, Schroeder and Peppermint Patty. In the original New York production, the title role was played by Gary Burghoff, who currently is seen as Radar in the television series "M*A*S*H."

Additional information on either the workshop or production may be obtained by calling the Student Activities Office, 696-6770.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 31, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Frank E. Poirier, professor of anthropology at Ohio State University, will speak at Marshall University at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 5, in Smith Hall Room 154.

He will discuss lessons derived from human fossils of earlier geological ages, specifically from the Olduvai Gorge and other parts of East Africa. The slide-illustrated lecture, which is free and open to the public, is entitled "Pliocene and Pleistocene Hominids: Some Lessons for Human Evolution."

Poirier's campus visit is sponsored by the American Anthropological Association's Visiting Lecture Program and the Marshall Foundation's Distinguished Lectureship Series.

While here he will meet informally with students and faculty from the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Poirier, well known in anthropological circles, has been at Ohio State since 1968. He previously taught in the Department of Psychiatry/Anthropology at the University of Florida at Gainesville, where he also was an associate of the Neurobiological Center. In 1974-75 he served as a consultant to the University of Illinois and Illinois State Pediatric Institute.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Poirier earned his B.A. degree in social sciences and biology from Paterson State College, Wayne, N.J., and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in physical anthropology from the University of Oregon at Eugene.

A member of several professional organizations, Poirier also has had many articles and books published. His text books include "Fossil Evidence: The Human Evolutionary Journey" and "In Search of Ourselves: An Introduction to Physical Anthropology."

Poirier has held numerous research grants and done field research in various regions, including a two-month expedition in 1975 to East Africa for which he was co-leader.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 31, 1977

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
AMERICAN MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

JUL 22 1977

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Choral Union will present Bach's oratorio, "The Passion According to St. John," at 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, April 4-5, in Smith Recital Hall.

The work, written to be performed as the Good Friday devotion service, will feature a 120-voice choir, nine soloists and orchestral accompaniment. The concerts are free and open to the public.

"This monumental composition dramatically depicts the events of the betrayal, trial and crucifixion of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel according to St. John," said Dr. Paul Balshaw, MU professor of music and director of choirs. Balshaw will conduct the Choral Union's Easter season presentations.

Singing the role of Jesus will be Leo Imperi, MU associate professor of music. Imperi, a bass-baritone, has appeared in several operatic roles with the West Virginia Opera Theater, in musical comedies produced by Marshall, and in various oratorios and other religious music programs in the area.

"Interspersed between the various solos and choruses are chorales, the 'hymns' of Bach's time, which were sung by the congregation to focus people's attention on the story," Balshaw noted. "In order to add this dimension to our performance, the chorales will be printed in the program and the audience will be invited to sing them with us," he said.

(MORE)

"The 'St. John Passion' is considered to be one of the most profound and spiritual examples of religious art. Musically, it is one of the pinnacles of choral composition," Balshaw said. "Spiritually, it is a moving stimulus in one's personal journey in faith," he added.

Appearing in soprano solo roles will be Peggy Hoffman, Huntington Valley, Pa., junior, and Kathy Moyer, Ashland, Ky., junior. Tenor soloists will be Samuel Munoff, Fort Edward, N.Y., graduate student, and Allen Whitesides, Huntington sophomore.

Baritone solos will be presented by Ross Hudson, South Charleston junior, and Rick Woods, Huntington sophomore. Edward Harkless, Charleston graduate student, will be the bass soloist.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 31, 1977
TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JUL 22 1977

NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Professional journalists, journalism educators and student journalists from five states will be in Huntington Friday and Saturday (April 1-2) to discuss "Ethics in the Profession."

The meeting at the Holiday Inn Downtown, is one of 12 regional conventions of The Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi (SPJ,SDX). The Region 4 convention in Huntington is sponsored by the Marshall University student chapter and the professional Ohio Valley-Kanawha chapter of SPJ,SDX.

Expected to attend are representatives from eastern Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

"The purpose of the regional is to bring professional and student journalists together to revitalize the spirit of SDX, in terms of what it stands for," Dr. Deryl R. Leaming, chairman of the MU Department of Journalism and president of the professional chapter, said.

In addition to a panel discussion on ethics, author Tom Wolfe and former UN ambassador John Scali will speak at the convention. Wolfe is the author of "The Kandy-Kolored Tangerine-Flake Streamline Baby," "The Pump House Gang," "The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test," "Radical Chic & Mau-Mauing The Flak Catchers," "The Painted Word" and "Mauve Gloves & Madmen, Clutter & Vine." He was a reporter for the Washington Post and the New York Herald Tribune and has written for Esquire and New York Magazine.

Scali served for 10 years as diplomatic correspondent for ABC News before entering government service in 1971. He was appointed by Richard Nixon as UN ambassador in 1973, and served for two years. In 1975, he returned to ABC News and is now ABC's senior correspondent in Washington.

(MORE)

Scali has received "The Distinguished Achievement Award of the Year" from the University of Southern California and the "Distinguished Public Service Award" from Boston University.

Also, Bruce David, executive managing editor of "Hustler" magazine and Robert McCord, immediate past president of SPJ,SDX, and executive editor of the Arkansas Democrat, will address the convention. David will discuss the recent conviction of "Hustler" editor Larry Flynt and conduct a question and answer session. On Friday, McCord will present the Society's First Amendment Award to James Haught of The Charleston Gazette.

Panelists for the ethics discussion will be Dick Bieser, news director of WHIO-TV in Dayton, Ohio; Don Marsh, editor of The Charleston Gazette; Burl Osborne, AP assistant bureau chief in Washington, D.C.; and Ernie Schultz, of the Radio Television News Directors Association (RTNDA).

Registration will be noon to 6 p.m. Friday, followed by a cocktail hour from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Wolfe will speak at the 7:30 p.m. dinner and the presentation of the Mark of Excellence awards will precede his talk. A hospitality get-together will start at 10 p.m. and go until 1 a.m.

Saturday, David will speak from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. The panel discussion will be 10:15 to 11:30 a.m. At 11:30 there will be a get-together for campus chapter presidents and a meeting for students and professionals to discuss job opportunities. Scali and McCord will speak at the luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Non-members of SDX may attend the Friday dinner and the Saturday luncheon. Price will be $8.50 for students and $10 for professionals for each meal. People wishing to attend the dinner just to hear Wolfe's talk must pay a $2 admission fee. There will be no admission charge to hear David or Scali speak.

All registration materials may be obtained from Wallin McCardell, Department of Journalism, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or by telephoning 696-2360.

NOTE--Editors and news directors. The Region 4 SPJ,SDX Convention schedule at the Huntington Holiday Inn Downtown:

FRIDAY, April 1

Noon to 6 p.m. -- Registration in the upstairs lobby of the Holiday Inn.

6:30 to 7:30 p.m. -- Reception.

7:30 p.m. -- Dinner. Journalist Tom Wolfe will address the convention. SPJ,SDX "Mark of Excellence" awards for Region 4 will be presented. SPJ,SDX award to The Charleston Gazette.

10 p.m. -- Hospitality get-together of journalists, journalism students and journalism educators,

SATURDAY, April 2

8:15 to 9 a.m. -- Continental breakfast.

9 to 10 a.m. -- Bruce David, executive managing editor of Hustler magazine, will speak and answer questions.

10:15 a.m. -- Panel discussion on ethics. Panelists Bieser, Marsh, Osborne and Schultz.

11:30 a.m. -- Journalism students will meet with professional journalists to discuss job possibilities.

12:30 p.m. -- Luncheon. John Scali will speak as will Robert McCord, immediate past president of SPJ,SDX and executive editor of the Arkansas Democrat in Little Rock.

Convention adjourns after the luncheon.

Scott Aiken, business writer for the Cincinnati Enquirer, is Region 4 director.