

Marshall University

Marshall Digital Scholar

Marshall University News Releases

University Archives

1-1976

Marshall News Releases: Janurary, Feburary, March, April, May, early June, 1976

Marshall University

Follow this and additional works at: https://mds.marshall.edu/marshall_news_releases_archives

Part of the Higher Education Commons

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.VA.--James H. Houck, 27, has been named rehabilitation counselor at Marshall University by West Virginia Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Houck succeeds Jerry L. Meadows, 33, who was promoted to a supervisory position with the district Vocational Rehabilitation offices in Huntington.

Houck is the only full-time rehabilitation counselor operating a service office on a West Virginia college or university campus under a program started at Marshall in 1973. The program is a cooperative effort of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and the university.

Marshall was selected for the on-campus rehabilitation office in 1973 because of its concern for the handicapped, accessibility to students, excellent student personnel services and undergraduate program in rehabilitation education, according to state rehabilitation officials.

Houck said Marshall now has 170 handicapped students on campus and the number is steadily increasing. In addition to working with handicapped students, Houck will assist rehabilitation field counselors in their activities.

MORE

2-2-2

Houck, a native of Gallipolis, Ohio, received a bachelor of science degree from Rio Grande College and a masters degree in counseling and rehabilitation at Marshall. He taught English and history at Circleville Ohio High School prior to entering the masters degree program at Marshall.

He and his wife, Sharon, a registered nurse at Cabell-Huntington Hospital, reside in Huntington.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

Jan. 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A sophomore veteran and a freshman newcomer combined their talents in Ohio last weekend to give Marshall University a third place finish in a novice debate tournament.

Becky Skeen, Ripley sophomore, and Beth Bower, Princeton freshman, notched five wins in eight debates before being eliminated in the semi-final round at Wooster College. The wins gave the Marshall Thundering Word debaters a higher ranking in final standings than such academic powers as Ohio State, Penn State, Ohio University, Indiana University, Miami University, and Western Michigan.

Skeen and Bower defeated top-ranked Central Michigan in the quarter-final round of eliminations before falling to Marietta in the semi-final round. Victories over West Virginia Wesleyan, Ball State University, Ohio Wesleyan, and Hiram College boosted the Marshall debaters into the final elimination rounds.

The tournament was Beth Bower's first in intercollegiate debating. Tom Stafford, debate coach, was pleased with the weekend's effort.

"We did very well in a prestige novice tournament with a relatively inexperienced team," he said. "I'll take this kind of success anytime."

The debaters will be idle this weekend. Their next scheduled tournament is at Marietta (Ohio) College at the end of January.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Jan. 23, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's venerable "Old Main" building, wearied by its years, is going to start getting more rest each night.

Beginning Monday, Jan. 26, the building will be closed at 4:30 p.m. each day. Eighteen evening classes scheduled to be taught in the building are being transferred to other buildings, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said.

Actually, it's the cost of utilities, not necessarily Old Main's age, that brought about the change.

Like the other state schools, Marshall is operating under a tight current expenses budget, made tighter by rising utility costs. Because of its age and its lofty ceilings, Old Main is the most difficult and most expensive building on campus when it comes to heating. Thus Hayes decided to shift classes scheduled there to other buildings and shut off Old Main's heat after 4:30 p.m.

The building consists of five sections, the oldest dating to 1870 and the newest to 1907. Marshall has plans to renovate the 1907 section and demolish the other four sections within the next few years.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

Jan. 23, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Choral Union will begin spring semester rehearsals Monday evening, Jan. 26. Dr. Paul A. Balshaw, director, said rehearsals will be conducted each Monday from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Room 150 of Smith Music Hall.

Persons interested in singing with the group should report to the first rehearsal, Dr. Balshaw said. The Choral Union is open to talented townspeople as well as to Marshall students. No audition is required.

The major work in which the group will be involved is "The Chief Justice," a Bicentennial musical epic written by Dr. Paul Whear, Marshall's composer-in-residence. Three performances of the work are scheduled for this spring.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Jan. 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A trumpet virtuoso, his orchestra, and three other influential jazz performers will highlight the Marshall University Department of Music Jazz Festival Jan. 29-31.

Maynard Ferguson and Orchestra and jazz specialists Bob Morsch, Bunky Green and Dave Sporny will appear at the seventh annual festival sponsored by the Marshall music department.

Ferguson and his musicians will present a jazz clinic at 3 p.m. and a formal concert at 8 p.m. on Jan. 29. Both events will be at the Keith-Albee Theater.

The clinic is open only to festival participants and the concert is open to the public by Artist Series ticket. Marshall students will be admitted to both events by activity card.

Nineteen high school ensembles and four college groups, including Marshall's Jazz Ensemble directed by J. D. Folsom, assistant professor of music, will perform in Marshall's Smith Recital Hall during the festival. The musicians represent schools from West Virginia and southern Ohio.

All performances in Smith Hall during the festival are open to the public without charge.

Participating high school ensembles are those of Charleston, Scott of Madison, Parkersburg South, Shady Spring, Barboursville, Huntington, Mannington, Wayne, Logan, Point Pleasant, Cameron, Notre Dame of Clarksburg, Hurricane, Elkins and Man high schools in West Virginia and Portsmouth West, Wheelersburg, National Trail of New Paris and Jackson high schools in Ohio.

MORE

Morsch, Green and Sporny will adjudicate high school and college jazz ensembles performing Jan. 30 and 31 in Smith Recital Hall. They also will perform with the Marshall Jazz Ensemble Jan. 31 at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall.

Morsch is director of bands at Western Illinois University where he directs marching and concert bands and jazz ensemble programs. He is president of the Illinois chapter of the National Association of Jazz Educators and is chairman of the Jazz Committee for College Band Directors Association.

He formerly appeared with the Denver Symphony and the United States Army Field Band.

Green is head of jazz studies at Chicago State University and a former faculty member at Northwestern, Wilbur Wright and Triton universities.

Green has been a featured performer with jazz groups led by Sonny Stitt, Clark Terry, Freddie Hubbard and Eddie Harris.

Sporny earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Illinois where he won the Top Brass Performer Award and was featured trombonist in band and orchestra. He is established as a performer, composer, arranger and conductor. In addition to his own jazz groups he has appeared with Les and Larry Elgart and the Stan Kenton Clinics Staff Band.

The festival schedule follows:

Jan. 29--Noon, open rehearsal, Marshall Jazz Ensemble with guest artists, Smith Recital Hall; 3 p.m., Jazz Clinic, Maynard Ferguson and Orchestra, Keith-Albee; 6 p.m., open rehearsal, Marshall Jazz Ensemble, guest artists, Smith Recital Hall; 8 p.m., Maynard Ferguson and Orchestra, Keith-Albee.

Jan. 30--All events at Smith Recital Hall, 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5:30 p.m., jazz ensembles; from 7 to 9 p.m., guest college ensembles from Fairmont State College, West Virginia Wesleyan, and West Virginia University; at 9 p.m., the Marshall Jazz Ensemble.

MORE

3-3-3

Jan. 31--All events in Smith Recital Hall, 9 to 10:30 a.m., high school jazz ensembles; 10:30 a.m., open rehearsal, Marshall ensemble with guest artists; 1 p.m., jazz trombone clinic, Dave Sporny; 2:30 p.m., improvisation clinic, Bunky Green; 4 p.m., jazz rehearsal techniques, Robert Morsch with Huntington High School band; at 8 p.m., final festival concert, Marshall ensemble and guest artists.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Jan. 27, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Chief Justice is going to Washington.

The Marshall University-produced musical epic, "The Chief Justice: John Marshall," has been selected to represent West Virginia in the Bicentennial Parade of American Music series of "state days" in John F. Kennedy Concert Hall in Washington, D.C.

Announcement of the honor was made today by Dr. Wendell Kumlien, chairman of Marshall's Department of Music. The production will be presented in Kennedy Center on May 11.

Selection of the Marshall musical epic to represent West Virginia was made by the National Music Council and the National Federation of Music Clubs. The two organizations are sponsoring the Parade of American Music as part of the Bicentennial observance.

"The Chief Justice," written by Marshall's award-winning composer-in-residence, Dr. Paul W. Whear, had its world premiere last April 7 in the university's Smith Music Hall Auditorium. Reviewers were unanimous in their acclaim of the production.

Kumlien said about 160 performers will be making the trip to Washington, including students, faculty and townspeople. The epic requires two narrators, two soloists, choir and orchestra. The production tells the story of the life of John Marshall, the great Chief Justice of the Supreme Court for whom Marshall University was named, and the foundations of the law in a developing United States.

MORE

Whear traveled hundreds of miles, spent long hours studying historical documents, and countless days and nights writing and rewriting the epic. His efforts began with a commission from the Marshall Research Board to write the work. That was followed by a commission from the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council for him to do an orchestral version. Other supporters of the project included the National Endowment for the Arts, the West Virginia Bicentennial Commission and the Marshall Department of Music.

"The Chief Justice" is one of more than a dozen commissioned pieces done by Whear. He has won 10 consecutive cash awards from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) and nine prizes in national composition competition.

Kumlien said West Virginia's "state day" will be unique in that one musical work has been selected for the entire concert, since no other state is being represented in this fashion. West Virginia's appearance originally was scheduled for July 19, but the date was advanced to May 11 in order that the musical epic might be presented during the normal academic year when the performers are available.

"We're tremendously pleased about the honor bestowed upon Marshall and its Music Department," Kumlien said. "We're also looking forward to the opportunity of staging this major production in one of the finest concert facilities in the entire nation. It will be a real showcase for what we consider to be a magnificent musical work."

#/#

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 3, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's newest building today officially became Arvil E. Harris Hall. The name was selected in honor of the late dean of Marshall's Graduate School.

The West Virginia Board of Regents gave formal approval to the name, recommended by Marshall President Robert B. Hayes, during its monthly meeting today. The four-story building, opened last fall, previously was designated Academic Building A.

At the same time, the board approved Hayes' recommendation to change the name of West Hall, a women's dormitory completed in 1965, to Lillian H. Buskirk Hall in honor of the former Marshall dean of women.

Dr. Harris came to Marshall in the fall of 1936 as a political science instructor. He was appointed dean of the Graduate School in 1948 and served in that capacity until shortly before his death on Dec. 29, 1964.

A native of Braxton County, Dr. Harris was a rural school teacher for several years. He earned a diploma from the Academy Division of Glenville State Normal School, now Glenville State College, in 1923. He received his A.B. from Marshall, his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania and his Ph.D. from the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Harris also was active in church and community affairs and served as a member of City Council and mayor of Huntington.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Mrs. Buskirk served Marshall from 1937 until her retirement July 1, 1970. During most of that 33-year period she was dean of women.

A native of Hinton, she received her A.B. degree from Marshall and her M.A. degree from Columbia Teachers College.

Mrs. Buskirk still makes her home in Huntington.

"Both Dr. Harris and Mrs. Buskirk served Marshall University long and well," President Hayes said. "I am delighted that we have been given the opportunity to recognize their contributions to the university and its students in this manner."

Hayes said the names were selected on the basis of recommendations by the university's Physical Facilities and Planning Committee. He said plans for formal dedication ceremonies will be announced later.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 3, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Two key national issues--defense spending and the quality of health care--will be discussed by four nationally-prominent figures in a "National Issues Forum" series of addresses at Marshall University in February and March.

Speaking on the health care issue will be Max W. Fine, executive director of the Committee for National Health Insurance, and Dr. Charles A. Hoffman, past president of the American Medical Association.

Defense spending will be discussed by General William S. Westmoreland, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Ramsey A. Clark, former U.S. attorney general.

The addresses, scheduled Feb. 5, Feb. 10, March 4 and March 18, will be open to the public as well as to Marshall students. There will not be an admission charge.

The National Issues Forum series is being sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committees of the Marshall Student Activities Committee. Katina Cummings of Huntington and Deanna Billups of Charleston are the student coordinators of the series.

Fine, a former health insurance specialist with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will kick off the series this Thursday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center. He will discuss "National Health Insurance" under the issue topic, "Quality Health Care--A Right or a Privilege?"

(MORE)

Clark and Westmoreland will speak on the topic, "National Defense Spending: A Weapon or Butter Economy?" Clark will speak Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the Alumni Lounge, starting at 8 p.m. General Westmoreland will appear Thursday, March 18, in Memorial Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room.

Fine, the series' opening speaker, has been executive director of the Committee for National Health Insurance since 1968. He has served as a senior health care consultant with the United Auto Workers and worked with the U.S. Public Health Service in setting up Medicare programming.

Fine arrived in Washington in 1963 after serving as United Nations press officer for the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. A journalist by education and background, Fine earlier had covered the United Nations for International News Service before that organization's merger with United Press.

He also was a member of the staff of the Health Insurance Institute in New York and was responsible for development of health economics data for use by the commercial health insurance industry.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

Feb. 4, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A program to help meet the health needs of Lincoln County's senior citizens and school children and advance the training of Marshall University nursing students is under way in Hamlin.

Working with Lincoln County Health Department personnel, 16 Registered Nurses who are students in the Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing Program at Marshall are aiding in the treatment and care of patients at the Health Department, in schools and at the Lincoln County Primary Care Center.

Activity for this group of students began Jan. 29 and will continue through the end of the semester in May.

Mrs. Bonnie Douglas, nursing program director at Marshall, said the 15 women and one man also are assisting with the county's Senior Citizens Screening Project.

A Marshall nursing program faculty member is working with the students and staff members of the Lincoln health agencies. Participating students have graduated from associate degree or diploma nursing programs.

Mrs. Douglas said the Lincoln County program is designed to broaden the scope of knowledge of the Registered Nurses and to give them a better understanding of the prevention and treatment of diseases, and maintenance of health.

(MORE)

She said special emphasis will be placed on community diagnosis, neighborhood nursing programs, person-to-person community health action and the health needs and services of Lincoln County.

Mrs. Douglas said the Lincoln project is expected to present the Marshall students with invaluable clinical experience in working with people and their health problems. "We are hopeful the people of Lincoln County also will benefit," she said.

The Marshall students wear blue uniforms and are identified by green name tags.

They are: Mary Ellen Bergquist, Sheila Kyle, Linda Peake, Lynn Andrews, Patty Johnson, Ellen Wells, Judy Sortet, Patti Williamson, Jane Fotos and Phil Hall, all of Huntington; Rose Brafford, McConnell, W.Va.; Mary Nemeth, Whitman, W.Va.; Sherry Sole, New Haven, W.Va.; Colleen Holliday, Proctorville, Ohio; Pam Kincaid, Williamson, W.Va., and Jan Cyders, Chesapeake, Ohio.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 4, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

BY BOB ADAMS

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Huntington area youngster who had stuttering problems communicated one thought without difficulty when interviewed recently on his first day at the Marshall University Speech and Hearing Center.

"Could you make me sound like Walter Cronkite?" he asked the therapist.

Promises aren't part of the clinic program, but staff members say improvement and change are possible when a trained speech pathologist works with a determined patient to achieve a common goal.

Maybe there is another potential television commentator among the 2,564 young people and adults treated by Marshall student speech pathologists during the fall semester of 1975. Marshall specialists report a high rate of success whether the problem is stuttering or some other form of speech or hearing disability.

The 1975 figure is 232 persons more than the 1974 fall semester total, according to Dr. Robert D. Olson, clinic director. "We are seeing more people and aiding more people because the public now has greater awareness of speech and hearing problems," he said. "They know we are here and that we can be of great help to them."

(MORE)

Dr. Olson said efforts to help children with speech and hearing problems have been intensified state-wide and the Marshall clinic is receiving steadily increasing numbers of students on all levels.

In addition to diagnostic services and therapy provided at the clinic at Smith Hall on the campus, Dr. Olson and his staff worked last semester with patients from Geiger Easter Seal Society, Lansdowne Mental Health Center, Green Acres Regional Center, Veterans Administration Hospital, Fairfield School, Tri-State Cleft Palate Team, Tri-State Lost Chord Club and public and parochial schools.

To meet the growing need for services, Marshall now has 120 undergraduate and 26 graduate students in training to be speech pathology and audiology specialists. These young people will be awarded bachelor and masters degrees from the Speech Department.

Dr. Olson said placement of masters degree graduates is 100 per cent. The figure is about 90 per cent for bachelors degree graduates.

An earlier report from the American Boards of Examiners in Speech Pathology and Audiology indicates that graduates of Marshall Master's degree program are ranked well above the average in national examinations for certification in speech pathology.

The report was based on test grades made by 18 Marshall graduates in competition with 3,449 other college graduates across the nation.

One of the clinic's staff members, James R. Wilson, assistant professor of speech, is doing special studies and research into the problem of stuttering.

Wilson is working with patients ranging in age from four to 50. He said the clinic is achieving excellent results in its program which utilizes a "direct, personal interest in the patient."

(MORE)

Wilson said clinic personnel also work to relieve anxiety situations in the patient's home, job or school environment. "Many theories on causes of stuttering have been presented, but the maintaining factors and what we can do to change them is our main objective in therapy."

Clinic workers advise parents to bring their children to the speech and hearing clinic as soon as a problem is suspected. Too many parents wait in hopes the child may outgrow his speech and-or hearing problem, they say.

A nominal fee, set by the West Virginia Board of Regents, is charged.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 5, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Dorothy A. Fisher, professor of biological sciences at Marshall University, has retired following a 29-year career at Marshall, Dr. George J. Harbold, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, announced today.

A native of Hartford, Conn., Dr. Fisher joined the Marshall faculty in the fall of 1946. She had taught previously at Keuka College in New York, Moravian Seminary and College for Women in Pennsylvania, Asheville (N.C.) College and Biltmore College in Asheville.

Dr. Fisher earned her B.S. degree in Botany from Keuka College and her M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell University.

She taught at Meshed University in Iran in 1961-62 under a Fulbright Fellowship. She also received a National Science Foundation study grant to do additional graduate work at Stanford University's Pacific Grove Marine Station in California.

"Dr. Fisher has served Marshall well in her 29 years here," Dean Harbold said. "We are going to miss her as a dedicated teacher and an outstanding person."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 6, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A former U.S. attorney general who became an outspoken critic of the Viet Nam War will discuss defense spending in a National Issues Forum address Tuesday, Feb. 10, at Marshall University.

Ramsey A. Clark will speak in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center at 8 p.m. on the topic "National Defense Spending: A Weapon or Butter Economy?"

The program will be open to the public as well as to Marshall students. There will not be an admission charge.

Clark is one of four nationally-prominent figures to speak on defense spending and the quality of health care on the student-sponsored National Issues Forum.

Max W. Fine, executive director of the Committee for National Health Insurance, kicked off the series Thursday, Feb. 5, talking on "Quality Health Care--A Right or a Privilege?"

Dr. Charles A. Hoffman, past president of the American Medical Association, will speak on the same topic in March. General William S. Westmoreland, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will speak on defense spending, also in March.

(MORE)

The National Issues Forum series is being sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committees of the Marshall Student Activities Committee. Katina Cummings of Huntington and Deanna Billups of Charleston are student coordinators.

Clark was nominated attorney general by President Lyndon B. Johnson Feb. 28, 1967, and confirmed by the U.S. Senate March 2, 1967, and sworn in eight days later.

Clark was attorney general until March, 1969 when he returned to private law practice. He became a leading advocate of American disengagement in Viet Nam and was a frequent speaker on the subject in cities and on campuses across the nation until the war ended.

Clark was born Dec. 18, 1927, in Dallas, the son of retired U.S. Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark and Mary Ramsey Clark.

He earned pre-law and law degrees at the University of Texas and the University of Chicago. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the U.S. in 1956.

President John F. Kennedy nominated Clark as assistant attorney general in 1961 and he served in that capacity until nominated deputy attorney general by President Johnson in 1965 and attorney general in 1967.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Feb. 10, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Carlton Smith, administrator of the Huntington Veterans Administration Hospital, will serve as chairman of a 12-member search and screening committee to help select a dean for the Marshall University School of Medicine.

Names of the committee members were announced today by Marshall President Robert B. Hayes. The committee will solicit applications, invite qualified candidates to be interviewed, and make recommendations to President Hayes on filling the dual position of vice president for health science and dean of the medical school.

Smith also is vice chairman of Marshall's Advisory Board on Medical Education.

Others named to the committee were:

- Dr. Rowland Burns, chief of medicine at Cabell-Huntington Hospital and chairman of Marshall's Advisory Board of Medical Education.
- Kenneth Wood, administrator of Cabell-Huntington Hospital.
- Steve Soltis, executive director of St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington.
- Dr. Werner Laqueur of Beckley, clinical professor of pathology on the medical school faculty.
- Dr. Charles Turner of Huntington, a member of the Advisory Board on Medical Education.

(MORE)

2-2-2

--Dr. Thomas Holbrook of Huntington, also a member of the Advisory Board on Medical Education.

--Dr. Forrest Goodall, professor of biochemistry-cell biology on the medical School faculty.

--William C. Campbell of Huntington, vice chairman of the Marshall University Advisory Board.

--Dr. Guy Hollifield, associate dean for clinical affairs on the Beckley campus and professor of medicine.

--Dr. Robert Marshall of Morgantown, professor of medicine in the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

--Dr. Paul Stewart, dean of the Marshall Graduate School.

Working with the committee will be Paul H. Collins, executive assistant to the president for medical school affairs, who will serve as secretary of the committee; Dr. Robert W. Coon, vice chancellor for health education for the West Virginia Board of Regents who currently is functioning as dean of the medical school, and President Hayes.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

Feb. 10, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVED

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation has received a $25,000 gift earmarked for use by Marshall's James E. Morrow Library. Director of Libraries Kenneth T. Slack said it was believed to be the largest private gift in the library's history.

Receipt of the gift from Dr. Charles A. Hoffman of Huntington, former president of the American Medical Association, was announced today by Jack C. Phillips, Marshall director of development and executive director of the Marshall Foundation.

The contribution is part of a trust estate agreement between Dr. Hoffman and the Foundation. Income from the trust estate will be used to maintain the Dr. Charles A. Hoffman Room in the library and to acquire rare and unusual medical, health care and related books and treatises to be added to the Hoffman collection in the library.

The Hoffman Room was dedicated by the university last April 14 to recognize Dr. Hoffman's professional contributions. At that time Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said, "This room not only will provide recognition to a man who has served his nation, his profession, his state and his community, but more importantly, it will be a storehouse of knowledge."

Phillips said the $25,000 gift would serve as the nucleus of the trust estate and that he anticipates friends of Dr. Hoffman and the university will contribute additional funds in order to help build a distinguished special collection of medical books.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Feb. 11, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University Theatre's Bicentennial Theatre Season production of the five-act musical comedy "Fashion" will be presented Feb. 18-21 at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

Tickets will be on a reserved seat basis only, according to Dr. N. Bennett East, associate professor of speech and director of the play.

Admission price is $2 per person for the public. Students may reserve seats by activity card. Tickets may be reserved by calling 696-2306 or obtained at the door.

Dr. East said the play, featuring old tunes such as "She's Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage," is regarded by theater critics as one of the best American plays of the 19th Century.

The production, highlighted by lavish sets and costumes, depicts the efforts of socialite Mrs. Antony Tiffany to impose European modes of fashion upon New York society, and the resulting conflict between false fashion and "true" American ideals.

"Fashion" was written in 1845 by Anna Cora Mowatt Ritchie, the first professional woman playwright of America. Dr. East said the comic foibles in the snobbery of that day still are present and make the play timely.

Dorothy Jenkins, Huntington graduate student majoring in speech, is musical director, and Elizabeth Hay, Huntington junior, is choreographer.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A'Leshia Roberts, a graduate student who has appeared in television productions such as the Dean Martin Show and some movies, will play the role of the forceful Mrs. Tiffany.

Thomas Mann, Richwood senior, appears opposite Miss Roberts in the role of Antony Tiffany.

Other cast members include David Cook, Mark Lenning, Dwight McClure, Greg Leaming, Susan Morton, Nicki Belville, Elizabeth Hay and Richard Perdue, all of Huntington; Margaret Fadeley, Rio Grande, Ohio; Tina Winkler, South Charleston; Ed Corkran, Wheeling; Lee Stinnett, Fayetteville; Dennis King, Ness City, Kansas, and Debbie Howells, McLean, Va.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

February 12, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.-- In a break with tradition, Marshall University will have a Saturday Commencement this spring, President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

The 1976 Commencement program will be held Saturday, May 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Field House. It originally had been scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 16.

Marshall Commencement programs traditionally have been held on Sunday afternoon. Hayes said the new date, recommended by the Commencement and Honorary Degrees Committee, will be more convenient for all concerned--graduating students, families, faculty members and others participating in the graduation ceremonies.

The Sunday Commencement tradition dates to a period when travel was much more difficult for families of the students and when the graduation ceremonies were preceded by Baccalaureate (religious) services on Sunday morning. Because of a lack of attendance, Marshall and other schools dropped Baccalaureate services several years ago.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 16, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. William L. Hottinger, an authority on the development of physical skills in young children, will be a guest lecturer at Marshall University Thursday, Feb. 19. His 7 p.m. presentation in Room 2W22 of Memorial Student Center will be open to the public,

The topic of his informal presentation will be "Developing Physical and Sports Skills in Children," according to Dr. Robert L. Case, chairman of Marshall's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, which is sponsoring the program.

Hottinger is chairman of the Department of Physical Education at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, N.C., and is director of the motor (movement) behavior laboratory there. Among his findings are that a three-year-old can learn to dribble a standard basketball, a child as young as two can learn to climb a six-foot pole, and a three-year-old can learn to swim well. All of these things have happened in his laboratory.

Hottinger believes there is a best or "critical" time to learn any number of things--a time when the child can first and most easily learn skills. "It may not come at the same time for all children, but it is important for the child to have the opportunity to learn to do the things at that period when he is most capable of doing them," Hottinger said in a recent interview with the Winston-Salem Journal.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Among his published works is a textbook, "Motor Development from Conception to Age Five."

Case said Thursday's program will include time for a question-and-answer session. A reception will follow and refreshments will be served.

Case said elementary school teachers especially are being encouraged to attend. Interested parents also will be welcomed, he said.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Feb. 17, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A number of key positions in the Marshall University School of Medicine have been filled and others are expected to be filled within the next few weeks, Dr. Robert W. Coon reported today.

Dr. Coon, vice chancellor for health education for the West Virginia Board of Regents, is functioning as dean of the medical school until a permanent dean is appointed.

Earlier this week, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes announced the membership of a search and screening committee to assist in selection of the new dean. A March 15 deadline has been established to receive applications for the dual position of vice president for health sciences and dean of the medical school.

Dr. Coon said five of eight clinical departmental chairmanships have been filled and two of the six projected basic science departmental chairmen already are on the job in the medical school.

Named to clinical chairmanships were:

- Dr. Siegfried Werthammer, chairman of pathology.
- Dr. Charles H. McKown Jr., chairman of radiology.
- Dr. George J. Hill II, chairman of surgery. He also is serving as associate dean for clinical affairs.
- Dr. Ray M. Kessel, chairman of family practice.
- Dr. Ruth C. Harris, chairman of pediatrics.

(MORE)

The two basic science departmental chairmen are:

--Dr. James E. Moreland, chairman of anatomy.

--Dr. Dennis K. Mann, chairman of microbiology.

Dr. Werthammer, of Huntington, has been chief pathologist and director of laboratories at Cabell-Huntington Hospital since 1956 and held the same titles at St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington from 1942 to 1961. A native of Austria, he received his M.D. degree from the University of Vienna Faculty of Medicine.

Dr. McKown, also of Huntington, has been a partner in the firm of Radiology, Inc. In that capacity, he has served all hospitals in Huntington as a radiologist. A native of Huntington, he is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia.

Dr. Hill currently is professor of surgery at the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis. He received his M.D. degree from Harvard Medical School and also has held faculty appointments at Harvard and the University of Colorado School of Medicine.

Dr. Kessel, of Logan, W.Va., has been engaged in family practice there since 1956. A native of Charleston, he is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. He has been affiliated with Logan General Hospital for 20 years and has served as chief of staff there. He has held a teaching appointment with West Virginia University, instructing third and fourth year medical students.

Dr. Harris is associate professor of clinical pediatrics at Columbia University in New York, with which she has been affiliated since 1947. She also has been associate attending pediatrician at Babies Hospital and Vanderbilt Clinic since 1950. A native of Mount Vernon, N.Y., she earned her M.D. from Columbia.

(MORE)

Dr. Moreland came to Marshall from the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine where he was professor of anatomy. He holds a B.S. degree in biology from Northwestern State College of Louisiana, M.S. degree in zoology from Louisiana State University, and Ph.D. in anatomy from Louisiana State University School of Medicine.

Dr. Mann was associate professor of microbiology at Southern Illinois University prior to joining the Marshall medical school faculty. He holds two B.S. degrees, a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree, a Masters degree and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois, as well as a Master of Public Health degree from Tulane University.

Dr. Werthammer and Dr. McKown joined the Marshall medical school staff last November and Dr. Kessel assumed his duties Jan. 1 of this year. Dr. Moreland was appointed last June and Dr. Mann in July. Dr. Hill, currently serving part-time, will begin his duties on a full-time basis March 15. Dr. Harris will join the staff April 1.

Others who already have assumed faculty positions are Dr. Willard K. Bentz, professor of behavioral sciences; Dr. Robert L. Bradley, professor of anatomy; Dr. Patrick I. Brown, assistant professor of anatomy; Dr. Elizabeth Wolf Corman, professor of behavioral science; Dr. David L. Dawson, assistant professor of anatomy; Dr. Richard A. Gilmore, associate professor of biochemistry-cell biology; Dr. Forrest R. Goodall, professor of biochemistry-cell biology; Dr. Paul H. Guilfoil, associate dean for veterans affairs; Dr. Kenneth E. Guyer Jr., associate professor of biochemistry-cell biology; Guy F. Hollifield, professor of medicine and associate dean for clinical affairs on the Beckley campus, and Ronald C. Larson, associate professor and vivarium director.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 24, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Mrs. Judith Casto, currently City Hall reporter for the Huntington Herald-Dispatch, has been appointed assistant director of informational services at Marshall University, effective March 1.

Announcement of the appointment was made today by Informational Services Director C. T. Mitchell who said Mrs. Casto will succeed John C. McKinney in the position. McKinney was promoted to director of the Office of Publications last November.

Mrs. Casto is a graduate of Parkersburg High School and earned her A.B. degree in journalism and her M.A. degree in communication arts from Marshall.

She has been a member of the Huntington Publishing Co. staff for 12 years, from 1960 to 1964 and from 1967 to the present. From 1972 until her recent assignment to the City Hall beat, she specialized as an education writer for the Herald-Dispatch. Mrs. Casto served as departmental assistant in the Marshall Department of Journalism from 1964 to 1967 while working toward her Masters degree.

She is the wife of James E. Casto, editorial page editor of the Herald-Dispatch.

"I'm very pleased that Mrs. Casto has agreed to join the Informational Services staff," Mitchell said. "Her familiarity with higher education in West Virginia and with Marshall University in particular will be a tremendous asset, as will her years of experience as an education writer."

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Feb. 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Community College of Marshall University will begin a new Emergency Medical Technicians Program March 15 at St. Mary's Hospital.

The program, to be limited to 25 students, will augment other Community College EMT programs now under way in Cabell and Wayne counties, according to Larry T. Artrip, guidance services coordinator.

The 13-week program, to be conducted in the Cobalt Clinic section of the hospital, will offer five hours of Community College credit, Artrip said.

West Virginia Department of Health certification is awarded those successfully completing the program.

Those wishing to enroll may contact Artrip at Old Main 307 or by calling 696-3646. The cost of the course is $41.75.

Classes will be on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. Students must be at least 18.

Artrip said the program is especially beneficial to policemen, firemen, ambulance crewmen and other emergency personnel. It features life-saving techniques from mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to emergency room procedures. "The course is a vital service to those who need this type of training in the work they are doing or hope to be doing," Artrip said.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Feb. 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Robert A. Taft Institute of Government and the Marshall University Political Science Department will again co-sponsor a Seminar in Practical Politics at Marshall June 14-July 2, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

This will be the eighth annual practical politics seminar to be conducted for West Virginia secondary school teachers, librarians and school administrators.

Professor William R. Ross of the West Virginia University political science faculty will continue to serve as director of the seminar. Dr. Harold E. Neely, Marshall director of grants and associate professor of political science, will serve as seminar coordinator.

Thirty teachers will be selected to participate in the three-week program, which is open only to graduate students. Each participant will be awarded four hours of graduate credit and will have the option of earning an additional two hours of credit. Credits earned may be transferred to another institution.

The Robert A. Taft Institute of Government, headquartered in New York, will assume the major costs of the program, including full tuition, room and board, and assigned textbooks. The cost to each participating teacher for fees and related charges will be approximately $50, exclusive of transportation, Ross said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Selection of the Taft Fellows will be made in early April and the deadline for applications is March 31. Application forms and specific details may be obtained by writing Prof. Ross in care of the Political Science Department at West Virginia University, Morgantown 26506.

A total of 192 teachers have participated in the seven previous seminars, Ross said. The objective of the seminar is to develop among the participants a better understanding of the basic principles of the American political system and the role of political parties through a combined academic and practical approach to the study of politics. The Taft Fellows will have opportunities to have informal discussions with a number of practicing politicians.

The seminar will include 14 days of meetings with Ross conducting morning sessions. Afternoon speakers will include both appointed and elected government officials, spokesmen for both political parties, political writers and others. The seminar will be bi-partisan.

Announcement that Marshall had been selected as one of the 1976 Taft Institute Seminar sponsors was made by Marilyn Chelstrom, executive director of the institute. She indicated she plans to visit the campus during the seminar.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 25, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University students will present a Children's Theatre production Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27 and 28 in Old Main Auditorium. Performances are scheduled Friday at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The play, "Livin' de Life," is a fantasy adapted from writings of Joel Chandler Harris by playwright George Graczyk. It centers around the attempt by one of the characters to find a cure for the mopes--a mysterious malady caused mainly by excess worry.

The play is being produced by Tuffett productions, a Marshall student group. Maryellen Hannah, graduate student in speech from Winfield, is the director. Bill MacPhee, Huntington junior, is set designer.

The cast includes Debbie Howells, McLean, Va., graduate student; Danny Cooper, Steve Floyd, Pat Rowan and Noel Earl, all Huntington juniors; sophomores Drema Skaggs of Charleston and Michelle Killeen of Huntington; Marsha Holsopple, Hurricane freshman, and seniors Martha Shaffer of Huntington and Ken Steele of Ansted.

Admission for all performances will be 50 cents for children and $1 for adults. Marshall students also may attend for 50 cents. Reservations may be made by telephoning 696-2306 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and tickets also will be available at the door beginning one hour before each performance. Seats are on a first-come, first-served basis.

(MORE)

2-2-2

This marks a return of Children's Theatre to Marshall after a seven-year absence and the first production ever during the regular academic year. Previous productions were presented during the summer.

Cast members will be available for visits to school classrooms and will present a segment of the play or discuss it with students. A lesson plan, suitable for introducing students to the writings of Joel Chandler Harris (of "Uncle Remus" fame) or the play itself, is available to teachers on request. Interested teachers may telephone Maryellen Hannah in the Marshall Speech Department or telephone 696-6786 or 696-2306 any weekday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

#/#

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

Feb. 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Smith Hall on the Marshall University campus will be buzzing this weekend as the eighth annual John Marshall High School Tournament presents its two-day panorama of forensics activities.

Record attendance and participation is expected for this year's event which begins Friday afternoon, according to Catherine Cummings, tournament director.

"I'm pleased that we're growing. The record attendance and participation we anticipate is a sign of increased interest in forensics in the state high schools," Ms. Cummings said. "I hope it's a portent of increased speech activities in the high schools in future years."

More than 300 students and more than 30 directors of forensics will set new standards for total attendance, student attendance, attendance by directors, and total schools attending.

New levels of participation should be recorded in total entries and in six of the seven individual competition areas.

Welcoming remarks by Dr. Robert B. Hayes, president of Marshall University, and Dr. George Harbold, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will highlight the opening assembly at 5:30 p.m. Friday. The assembly follows a tournament registration session from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the lobby of Smith Hall.

(MORE)

The preliminary rounds for poetry interpretation, duet acting and oratory are scheduled for Friday at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and Saturday morning at 9:45. Preliminary rounds for prose interpretation, dramatic interpretation and extempore speaking will be at 7:15 Friday evening and 8:30 and 11 Saturday morning.

Finals in poetry, duet, and oratory will begin at 12:15 p.m. Saturday. Prose, dramatic interpretation, and extempore speaking finals are scheduled for 1:25 Saturday afternoon. Debate rounds will begin at 6 and 8:30 p.m. Friday, 9:45 a.m. Saturday, and 12:15 p.m. Saturday. There is no final round in debate and all teams will participate in all four rounds.

Twenty-six high schools will participate in the 1976 tournament. Attending will be students and directors from Ansted, Barboursville, Barrackville, Bramwell, Charleston, Dunbar, Duval, East Fairmont, Fairmont Senior, Glen Rogers, Guyan Valley, Huntington East, Huntington High, Magnolia at New Martinsville, Mannington, Parkersburg, Parkersburg South, Pennsboro, Point Pleasant, Princeton, Scott of Madison, St. Albans, Stonewall Jackson of Charleston, Triadelphia, Wheeling Central Catholic, and Woodrow Wilson of Beckley.

In addition, Hannan and Hinton have indicated that they would attend as observers.

The presentation of awards at 3 p.m. Saturday will conclude the weekend of activities. Dr. Dorothy Johnson, chairman of the Speech Department, will present trophies to the top three finishers in each contest area. Certificates of award will go to the other three finalists in each contest.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • NEWS BUREAU • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

Feb. 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Union Carbide Corporation has made a gift of $8,000 to assist Marshall University's Chemistry Department in the purchase of a major item of equipment, Marshall Director of Development Jack C. Phillips announced today.

The grant was awarded to the Marshall University Foundation to be applied toward purchase of a nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer.

The instrument is used universally for the study of the structure of molecules, the positions of various atoms within a molecule, and changes in structure which occur as a result of reactions. It can distinguish complex materials which differ only in the position of a single atom and has been used in the study of complex biochemical materials and plastics as well as in routine characterization of more common materials.

According to Dr. William Kuryla of South Charleston, manager of recruiting and university relations for Union Carbide, the grant was made in recognition of the high quality of the chemistry program at Marshall, where students participate in research and independent study as part of their regular program.

Many of these student projects lead to articles in professional journals, and Marshall students frequently have presented papers at state and national scientific meetings.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Feb. 27, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Charles A. Hoffman, past president of the American Medical Association, will discuss "The Practicing Physician of the Present and Future" in a National Issues Forum address Thursday, March 4, at Marshall University.

Dr. Hoffman, president of the United States Section of the International College of Surgeons, will speak in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center at 8 p.m. under the forum topic "Quality Health Care--A Right or a Privilege?"

The program will be open to the public as well as to Marshall students. There will not be an admission charge.

Dr. Hoffman, a Huntington urologist, is one of four nationally-prominent figures to speak on the quality of health care and on defense spending on the student-sponsored National Issues Forum.

Max W. Fine, executive director of the Committee for National Health Insurance, kicked off the series Feb. 5 with an address on the need for national health insurance.

Ramsey A. Clark, former U. S. Attorney General, spoke Feb. 10 on "National Defense Spending: A Weapon or Butter Economy?" General William S. Westmoreland, former U. S. Army chief of staff, also will speak on defense spending later in March.

(MORE)

The National Issues Forum series is being sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committees of the Marshall Student Activities Committee. Katina Cummings of Huntington and Deanna Billups of Charleston are student coordinators.

Dr. Hoffman, a Marshall instructor in pre-med studies from 1940 to 1944, was president of the American Medical Association in 1972-73.

He was born in Ironton, Ohio, and attended Marshall. He also attended Ohio State University where he received a degree in pharmacy. He received his medical degree from the University of Cincinnati.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

March 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The 1976 John Marshall High School Forensics Tournament, held on the Marshall University campus this past weekend, was the biggest and best in the event's eight-year history, according to Ms. Catherine Cummings, tournament director.

While 10 tournament records were broken, schools taking first place awards were Huntington High, Barboursville, Duval, Parkersburg, East Fairmont and Woodrow Wilson. Twenty-six West Virginia high schools attended as compared with 22 last year.

Total attendance and participation records were broken with 291 students attending and 268 participating in the events. Last year 231 students attended and 218 participated in the events.

Huntington East High School tied the 1974 record for students attending and participating from one school as set by Parkersburg High School. HEHS had 18 students attending, all of whom competed.

"Our success is due to the fine effort and cooperation that everyone gave me in preparing for and running the tournament," Ms. Cummings said.

Duval's debate team, composed of Keith Carper, Wanda Rice, Phillip Stowers, and Lura Burton, was selected as the best overall debate team. Stowers and Miss Burton took honors as best negative debate team, while Stowers was selected best speaker.

Parkersburg had the best affirmative team in Linda Hissam and Dale Johnson. PHS students Deena Swain and Karla Yoho took honors in poetry interpretation and prose interpretation, respectively.

Barboursville's Gary LaParl and Blaine Nelson finished first in duet acting. Jeff George of Huntington High placed first in oratory and Jeff Greaser of East Fairmont, took dramatic interpretation honors.

The extemporaneous speaking winner was Steve Keller of Woodrow Wilson.

Other Winners were:

Barboursville--Gary LaParl, third in prose;

Barrackville--Brad Fulayter, fourth in oratory;

Duval--Keith Carper and Wanda Rice, second place affirmative debate team;

East Fairmont--Vicki Rush, second in extemporaneous speaking; Jennie Vincent, fifth in extemporaneous speaking;

Fairmont Senior--Sylvia Parker, second in oratory;

Huntington East--Kelly Ransbottom, second in drama interpretation; Rusty Miller and Cindy Jo Boston, third in duet acting, and Alfred Bell, fourth in poetry;

Huntington High--Bruce McKean and Doug Bates, second negative debate team; Barb Tonnesan, second in poetry interpretation; Lee Williams, third in dramatic interpretation; Bill Raymond, fourth in extemporaneous speaking, and Lee Williams and Christie Adkins, fifth in duet acting;

Magnolia High of New Martinsville--P.J. Loehr, fifth in poetry interpretation;

Mannington--Julie Hayhurst, fifth in prose interpretation;

Parkersburg--Cheryl Evans, second debate speaker; Beth Monroe, third in extemporaneous speaking; Pam Paugh, fourth in dramatic interpretation; Pam Paugh and Steven Parsons, fourth in duet acting, and Barb Schleihauf, fifth in oratory.

Point Pleasant--Jill Thacker, fifth in dramatic interpretation;

Princeton--Karen Bailey and Paula Cottle, third affirmative debate team; E.C. Umberger and Sheri George, third negative debate team;

(MORE)

St. Albans--Ann Killy, third in oratory;

Stonewall Jackson--Richard Scharf, fourth in prose interpretation;

Tridelphia--Debbie Birch and Vanessa Shaffer, second in duet acting; Ann Pollock, third in poetry interpretation;

Woodrow Wilson--Dale Sparks, second in prose interpretation.

Other schools attending were Dunbar, Charleston, Guyan Valley, Parkersburg South, Wheeling Central Catholic, Pennsboro, Bramwell, Scott, Ansted and Hamman.

Among the schools breaking records was Magnolia of New Martinsville with 3 coaches. Other participation records were broken in several events with 27 teams entered in duet acting; 42 students in poetry interpretation; 41 in prose interpretation, and 32 in oratory.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

March 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's second semester enrollment is a record 10,367, a 17 per cent increase over the second semester last year.

The 1,527-student overall increase includes a 53 per cent rise in the number of part-time students, Registrar Robert H. Eddins said. The total includes 29 students who are auditing courses without credit.

The greatest percentage increase was shown by the Graduate School, up 624 students over the spring term of 1975 for a 36 per cent rise overall. Full-time graduate enrollment is up 11.4 per cent and part-time is up 43.5 per cent.

Freshman enrollment increased 18.7 per cent, sophomore 8.6 per cent and senior, 17 per cent. Junior class enrollment was down 6.6 per cent.

The College of Arts and Sciences has 3,435 students, the College of Education 2,108, the College of Business and Applied Science 1,802, and the Graduate School 2,348. The new Community College has an enrollment of 496 and the School of Medicine and Associated Health Professions lists 178. The medical school students are enrolled in nursing and other associated health professions programs administered by the School of Medicine. Doctor of Medicine degree students will not be admitted before the fall of 1977.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said he was not surprised by the dramatic increase in part-time students. "We have been aiming our student recruitment program in the direction of part-time students for some time," Hayes said. "Nationally, the population figures for the age group which traditionally provides full-time college students are starting to decline. For that reason, future growth at Marshall and other universities very likely will depend to a great extent upon the services we can provide the older student, who in most cases will be a part-time student."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS
OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES

March 3, 1976

EDITORS, NEWS DIRECTORS, EDUCATION WRITERS:

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

Because of incorrect information supplied to this office, ^{MAR 15 1976} an erroneous news release was mailed to you on March 2. ^{the release} said Marshall University's second semester enrollment of 10,367 represented a 17 per cent increase over the same semester last year. The correct percentage figure is 11 per cent.

ARCHIVES

Although all current-year figures in the release were correct, some comparative figures were in error.

Enclosed you will find a corrected release.

I regret very much this error occurred, and I apologize for it.

Sincerely,

C.T. Mitchell

C.T. Mitchell
Director
Informational Services

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

March 3, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

CORRECTED RELEASE ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's second semester enrollment is a record 10,367, an 11 per cent increase over the second semester last year.

The 1,042-student overall increase includes a 31.4 per cent rise in the number of part-time students, Registrar Robert H. Eddins said. The total includes 29 students who are auditing courses without credit.

Freshman enrollment increased 18.7 per cent, sophomore 8.6 per cent, senior 17 per cent, and graduate 8.2 per cent. Junior class enrollment was down 6.6 per cent.

The College of Arts and Sciences has 3,435 students, the College of Education 2,108, the College of Business and Applied Science 1,802, and the Graduate School 2,348. The new Community College has an enrollment of 496 and the School of Medicine and Associated Health Professions lists 178. The medical school students are enrolled in nursing and other associated health professions programs administered by the School of Medicine. Doctor of Medicine degree students will not be admitted before the fall of 1977.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

March 4, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University is preparing for a re-evaluation visit next month from the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, Dr. Robert B. Hayes, MU president, announced today.

Nine commission members will be on campus from April 5 through 7, Hayes said.

Marshall was last evaluated in 1973 at which time the commission removed the university from private probation and commended it on its progress in correcting areas of concern raised by the commission.

The April visit will be a re-evaluation of the entire institution in light of the addition of both a School of Medicine and Community College, according to Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, interim vice president for academic affairs.

The team includes six evaluators, headed by Dr. Kenneth E. Lindner, chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse, and three associate members.

Serving on the evaluating team with Lindner are: Dr. C. Nelson Grote, president of Schoolcraft College, Livonia, Mich.; Dr. Harry F. Hodge, dean of the College of Education at Arkansas State University; Dr. E. Russell Kuchel, provost for research and institutional development at Northern Arizona University; Carroll Larson, M.D., professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Iowa, and Dr. Barbara H. Mickey, associate vice president and dean of academic programs at the University of Northern Colorado.

(MORE)

The associate members include: Dr. Arthur C. MacKinney, Graduate School dean and professor of psychology and management at Wright State University; Dr. Georgia E. Lesh-Laurie, assistant dean at Western Reserve University, and associate professor of biology at Case Western Reserve University, and Dr. Lionel H. Newsom, president of Central State University, Wilberforce, Ohio.

Dr. Joseph A. Barney, assistant executive director with North Central, also will be on campus for part of the three-day visit, Tyson said.

The commission members will meet with the University president and other administrators as well as with faculty and student representatives while on campus. Also they will visit with Dr. Ben L. Morton, chancellor for the West Virginia Board of Regents and other board staff members.

Part of the team's time will be spent with members of the University's Self-Study Committee, which was chaired by Tyson.

The 14-member internal committee, which included administrative, faculty and student representatives, already has submitted the results of its study to North Central and now is preparing supplemental reports on the School of Medicine and Community College, Tyson said.

The North Central commission team is expected to report privately to Hayes within six weeks after its visit, but the final verdict or stamp of approval won't come until the North Central Association's summer meeting in mid-July.

At that meeting in Chicago, University officials will be allowed to answer questions or present the association any new supportive data.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

March 4, 1976
For Immediate Release

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Karl J. Egnatoff, currently director of operations at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey at Newark, has accepted an appointment as director of physical plant operations at Marshall University.

The appointment, announced today by Marshall University President Robert B. Hayes, is effective April 1.

Egnatoff succeeds Joseph S. Soto in the position. Soto plans to retire June 30. He will work with Egnatoff during the period from April 1 through June 30.

Soto has been with the university since 1962, when he was appointed vice president for business affairs. In 1971 he assumed his present position.

In his position at the New Jersey school, Egnatoff is responsible for facilities and space utilization, mechanical and custodial maintenance of school property. His role at Marshall will be similar, according to Soto, who served on the search committee for his successor.

A native of Fayette County, W.Va., Soto is a former Raleigh County elementary school teacher and principal. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Concord College, Athens, W.Va., and a Bachelor of Science degree cum laude from Morris Harvey College in Charleston. Soto also has a M.A. degree from Marshall.

(MORE)

A former state government official, Soto was with the West Virginia Tax Department from 1941 to 1957, serving in various capacities, including state tax commissioner.

He is married to the former Priscilla Hunter and they have two grown children.

A native of Chicago, Ill., Egnatoff earned a B.S. degree in commerce from the University of North Dakota and studied industrial engineering at the University of Illinois.

Egnatoff has been at the New Jersey school since 1968. Before that, he was general order manager for Intercontinental Trading Corp., Somerville, N.J., from 1967 to 1968 and was branch office services manager with Remington Rand Office Machines Division of Sperry Rand Corp. from 1955 to 1967.

He is married and the father of two children.

"Joe Soto is an extremely capable administrator and we regret that he is reaching retirement age," Hayes said. "He has been a tremendous asset to Marshall University. At the same time, I'm very pleased that the search committee was able to find a successor with the excellent background offered by Karl Egnatoff. This is an unheralded but key position at any institution and I believe we will be able to maintain a high level of performance in that area."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

March 5, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Nancy D. Raynes of Poca, W. Va., a former Kanawha County school teacher, has been named to a Marshall University Community College post, Glenn Smith, director of instructional services for the college, announced today.

As program coordinator for business and office programs, Mrs. Raynes will be responsible for developing secretarial and clerical programs to be offered through the Community College, both on campus and off, Smith said. Her appointment was effective Monday, March 1.

A graduate of Winfield High School, Mrs. Raynes received her B.S. degree in accounting from Morris Harvey College, Charleston, and her M.A. degree in business education from Marshall. She has taken 21 hours beyond her masters from Marshall and another nine hours from Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and LaVerne (Calif.) College.

While with the Kanawha school system from 1963 until July 1975, Mrs. Raynes taught math at Nitro Junior High, business courses at Sissonville High, and data processing at Benjamin Franklin Career Center. She also served as a part-time instructor in accounting principles at West Virginia State College.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Before joining the Kanawha school system, she was employed for 16 years at the Nitro, W.Va., plant of the American Viscose Corp., where she held several positions, including that of accounting clerk responsible for the hourly payroll for between 700 and 1,000 employees.

Mrs. Raynes is a member of the American Society of Women Accountants and the West Virginia Vocational Association of which she is a past president of the Business and Office Affiliate.

The wife of Willard P. Raynes, she and her husband have three children and one grandson.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 8, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Approximately 1,400 West Virginia high school juniors and seniors and their business teachers will be on Marshall University's campus Friday, March 12, attending the state convention of the Future Business Leaders of America.

The one-day session is sponsored by Marshall's College of Business and Applied Science and the West Virginia Department of Education through its Bureau of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education.

Dr. Sara Anderson, associate dean of the college, is in charge of campus arrangements and Mrs. Ruth Edwards, program specialist, business and office occupations, for the state department, is in charge of the program.

There will be 54 local chapters attending, representing nearly all the state's 55 counties, Dr. Anderson said.

"This large turnout makes this year's session the largest in the state organization's history," she said.

The first general session is set for 9 a.m. in the multi-purpose room of Memorial Student Center, headquarters for the convention, preceded by registration at 8:30 a.m. in the main lounge of the student center.

During the first general session greetings will be brought not only by the state FBLA president, Tom Jones of Mullens High School, but also by Tom Cole, the national president of Phi Beta Lambda, the collegiate equivalent to FBLA.

The high school business students will be welcomed to the campus by MU president Robert B. Hayes and Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry, dean of the College of Business and Applied Science.

(MORE)

During the morning a number of competitive events are scheduled including tests demonstrating the students' abilities in such areas as accounting and parliamentary procedure. The winners will represent the state at the national convention later this year.

Among those serving as contest judges will be Dr. LeVene A. Olson, MU associate professor of occupational, adult and safety education; Harry Browning of C.I. Whitten Transfer Co. of Huntington, and Carolyn Smith of the Huntington School of Business.

Also during the morning sessions, written tests will be given to students nominated by their local chapters for the title of Mr. FBLA and Miss FBLA. The five highest scorers in each category will be interviewed in the afternoon.

Interviewing the students will be: Dr. Robert P. Alexander, MU professor of management, Gladys Gentry of the Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., and Charles J. Kiser of Huntington Alloys, Inc., for Mr. FBLA; T.A. Welty of the state department of education, Charles H. Tucker of the Huntington Publishing Co., and Ann Waddell from the State Civil Service Office, for Miss FBLA.

For those students not entering contests, there will be several special interest sessions offered and tours of the campus will be arranged upon request.

At 1:30 p.m., the second general session will get under way in the multi-purpose room. Among the speakers will be Clarence Burdette, assistant state superintendent for vocational, technical and adult education. There will be a business session at which time new officers will be elected.

The current state officers in addition to Jones are: Anita Harris of the Mercer County Vocational-Technical Center, vice president; Pam Coleman of the Ben Franklin Career Center at Dunbar, secretary; Mary Mitchell of Union High School, treasurer, and Debbie Gray of Collins High School at Oak Hill, reporter.

The conference will close after the installation of officers and announcement of contest winners at 6:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 10, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Registration will continue through March 22 for a new Marshall University Community College Emergency Medical Technicians program to begin March 29 at St. Mary's Hospital.

Those wishing to enroll may contact Larry T. Artrip, Community College guidance services counselor, at Old Main 307 or by calling 696-3646. The cost of the course is $41.75 for West Virginia residents. Class enrollment will be limited to 25 students.

The 13-week program is to be conducted in the Cobalt Clinic section of the hospital Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m.

Five hours of Community College credit and West Virginia Department of Health certification will be awarded those successfully completing the program.

The program augments other Community College EMT programs now under way in Cabell and Wayne counties, Artrip said.

Life-saving techniques from mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to emergency room procedures will be taught. Students must be at least 18.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 14, 1976

MAR 15 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.VA.--An historian who has written many articles on Harry S. Truman will deliver two lectures on the 33rd President Friday, March 19, at Marshall University.

Dr. Richard S. Kirkendall, professor of history at Indiana University, who is currently writing a biography of Truman, will speak on "A Hero For Our Times: Truman's Popularity and the Leadership Crisis" at 11 a.m. in Smith Hall Room 154.

His second address, "The Lessons of History: Truman, Korea and the Imperial Presidency," will be given at the Department of History banquet at 6:30 p.m. in Memorial Student Center.

Both events are open to the public, according to Dr. Robert F. Maddox, associate professor of history. The Smith Hall lecture is free, but there is a $6 fee for the banquet, Maddox added. Reservations for the banquet, an annual project of Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, may be made by calling the History Department, 696-6780.

Kirkendall's campus appearance is part of the Twentieth Street Bank Lecture Series.

Following Kirkendall's banquet address, the winner of the Dr. Herschel Heath Memorial Scholarship will be named.

(MORE)

Dr. Kirkendall, 48, is the author of more than three dozen published books and articles, approximately a third of which relate directly to Truman. His works in progress on Truman include: "A Biography of Harry S. Truman," "A Piano Player in the White House" and "The Truman Years."

The historian's published articles on Truman include "Truman and the Pendergast Machine: A Comment," "Truman's Path to Power," "Harry S. Truman: A Great American President," and "Harry S. Truman: A Missouri Farmer in the Golden age."

A graduate of Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., Kirkendall earned his masters and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Wisconsin. He has taught at Indiana University since 1973 and is a former department chairman at the University of Missouri. He began his teaching career at Wesleyan University in 1955.

Kirkendall is executive secretary of the Organization of American Historians and is a member of most major national and regional historical organizations. He is a former editorial board member of the Journal of American History and was the 1973-74 president of the Agricultural Historical Society. He is now a member of the board of directors of the Truman Library Institute.

Kirkendall's Truman project, according to Maddox, is "one of the most important biographies, not only in American history but international history as well."

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 14, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 50 Marshall University alumni, students and friends have signed up to welcome the spring season with a seven-day cruise aboard a 25,000-ton ocean liner sailing the Western Caribbean.

There are only a few cabins remaining, so others who might want to join the cruise should make reservations as soon as possible, Dr. Everett Roush, director of the Office of Alumni Affairs, said.

The Marshall Spring Cruise will depart Port Everglades (Fort Lauderdale), Fla., at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 1, for two ports of call: Jamaica's Montego Bay and Cozumel Island, off the coast of the Yucatan, Mexico. The ship will return to Port Everglades at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 8.

"We've arranged a special optional shore tour for our Marshall party," Roush said. The tour includes air transportation from Cozumel Island to Merida, the capital of the Yucatan.

"The trip will allow for a more comprehensive tour of the ancient city of Merida and the lost Mayan empire surrounding nearby Chichen-Itza," Roush said.

Aboard ship, Eddie Fisher, the well-known recording star and night club performer, will headline the entertainment, Roush said.

The cruise fare ranges from $395 to $639 per person based on the location and size of cabin. Special-rate, round-trip air fares are available to Port Everglades for cruise participants.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Reservations and further information can be obtained by writing the Office of Alumni Affairs, Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., 25701, or calling (304) 696-3134.

The ship, the TSS Fairwind, features three swimming pools, two dining rooms with lavish cuisine, six pubs, three lounges with live entertainment, 24-hour room service, crew of 500 and cabins with carpeting, air-conditioning, private baths and four-channel music.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 15, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Eugene Aserinsky, currently professor of physiology at Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, has accepted a department chairmanship with the Marshall University School of Medicine, Dr. Robert W. Coon announced today.

Aserinsky will join the school's faculty April 15 as chairman of the Department of Physiology/Pharmacology, said Coon, who is functioning as medical school dean until a permanent dean is appointed. Coon is vice chancellor for health education for the West Virginia Board of Regents.

Aserinsky is the third basic sciences department chairman to be named for the medical school. The others are Dr. Dennis K. Mann, the Department of Microbiology, and Dr. James E. Moreland, the Department of Anatomy.

Aserinsky, a 54-year-old New York City native, earned his undergraduate degree in liberal arts from Brooklyn College and was a pre-med student at the University of Maryland. He majored in dentistry at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and earned his doctorate in physiology from the University of Chicago.

While working on his doctorate, Aserinsky served as laboratory instructor in physiology at the University of Chicago Medical School. He was a research associate in physiology at the University of Washington, Seattle, before joining the Jefferson Medical College faculty as an instructor in 1954.

(MORE)

Aserinsky has been a visiting professor at the New York School of Psychiatry and the Romon y Cajal Institute at Madrid, Spain.

He has published a number of articles in professional journals, including the Journal of Applied Physiology, the American Journal of Medical Sciences, and Science.

Research grants he has received include ones from the National Foundation (Poliomyelitis Foundation) and the National Institutes of Health.

He is a member of the American Astronautical Society, American Medical Writers Association, American Physiological Society, Association for the Psychophysiological Study of Sleep, the New York Academy of Sciences, Philadelphia Physiological Society and Sigma Xi.

He chaired the session on "Mental Activity and Psychophysiological Correlates" at the 1972 meeting of the American Psychophysiological Society.

Aserinsky is listed in several biographical volumes, including "Who's Who in Sciences," "Who's Who in the World" and "Leaders in American Science."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

MAR 15 1976

ARCHIVES

March 16, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. -- Former U.S. Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland will discuss defense spending in a National Issues Forum address Thursday, March 18, at Marshall University.

General Westmoreland, commander of the U.S. military forces in Vietnam from 1964 to 1968, will speak in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center at 8 p.m. under the forum topic "National Defense Spending: A Weapon or Butter Economy?"

The program will be open to the public as well as to Marshall students. There will not be an admission charge.

Westmoreland, a native of Spartanburg, S.C., is the last of four nationally-prominent figures to speak on the subjects of defense spending and the quality of health care on the student-sponsored National Issues Forum.

Max W. Fine, executive director of the Committee for National Health Insurance, kicked off the series Feb. 5 with an address on the need for national health insurance.

Dr. Charles A. Hoffman of Huntington, past president of the American Medical Association, spoke on "The Practicing Physician of the Present and Future" and former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey A. Clark spoke on defense spending.

The National Issues Forum series is being sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues committees of the Marshall Student Activities Committee under the coordination of Katina Cummings, Huntington senior, and Deanna Billups, Charleston senior.

Westmoreland graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1936 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army.

(MORE)

During World War II, he served with the 9th Infantry Division in the bitter campaigns of North Africa and Sicily. His unit was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation for outstanding combat action.

He crossed Utah Beach with the 9th Division which fought through France, Belgium and into Germany, finally meeting the Russian Army at the Elbe River.

Returning from Europe, Westmoreland served as a paratrooper with the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., and was on the faculties of the Command and General Staff College in Kansas and at the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

During the Korean Conflict, he commanded the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team. The team won the Distinguished Unit Citation for combat valor and Westmoreland was promoted to brigadier general at the age of 38.

Following the Korean Conflict, he served on the Army General Staff in Washington, attended Harvard University, commanded the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., and was superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

In January, 1964, he reported for duty in Saigon, South Vietnam. He was promoted to full general and appointed by President Johnson as commander of the U.S. armed forces in that country. He held the controversial job until he was sworn in as U.S. Army Chief of Staff July 3, 1968.

Westmoreland is now serving his native state as chairman of the Governor's Task Force for Economic Growth.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORTON
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 17, 1976

MAR 24 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--With the United States moving inch by 25.4 mm. toward adoption of the Metric System as its official standard of weights and measures, the Community College of Marshall University is taking a long step (90 cm.) to help area residents adapt to the change.

Mathematics 1130, "The Metric System," will be offered by the Community College starting Monday, March 22. The class will meet five Monday evenings from 6:30 to 9 o'clock in Smith Hall Room 532, with Wilma Whitley, Community College mathematics specialist, serving as instructor. It will offer one hour of Community College credit.

Mathematics 1130 is a study of metric measurements with emphasis on consumer, business, industrial, trade and manufacturing usage. Practice in measurement will be stressed and students will be helped to develop their estimation skills. All pre-requisite arithmetic will be reviewed.

Registration will be handled at the first class meeting. It is not necessary to apply in advance for admission to the Community College. Cost of the course will be $15.35, payable at the first class meeting. Students also will need to obtain two textbooks, available from the Marshall Bookstore at a total cost of about $6.

Persons wishing more detailed information may telephone Larry T. Artrip, coordinator of guidance services from the Community College, 696-3646, or visit the Community College office, Old Main 307.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAR 24 1976

March 17, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University "Thundering Word" debate team continued its record of success with a third place finish this past weekend at the Southern Appalachia Forensic Tournament, held at Lenoir-Rhyne College, Hickory, N.C.

Becky Skeen, Ripley sophomore, and Beth Bower, Princeton freshman, won five of seven debates, but were eliminated in the semi-final round by the Davidson College team who emerged as tournament champion.

Miss Skeen also was selected as the top individual speaker at the tournament, while Miss Bower finished sixth.

Marshall's team finished ahead of the University of North Carolina, William and Mary College and the Citadel in final team rankings. The university debaters, novices in terms of experience, were debating teams with up to three years of experience.

The Marshall debaters' next encounter will be at the National Novice Tournament, March 27-29, at Northwestern University.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

March 17, 1976

MAR 24 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Olen E. Jones, Jr., executive vice president of Marshall University, has been invited to participate in a three-day conference on testing and evaluation, sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education.

The Invitational Conference on Achievement Testing of Disadvantaged and Minority Students for Educational Program Evaluation will be held in Washington, D.C., May 27-29.

Dr. Jones, who has an extensive background in testing and evaluation, will be a member of a panel, critiquing two of several papers to be presented at the conference.

Prior to joining the president's staff at Marshall in January, 1975, Jones was assistant vice president for contract operations with the American College Testing Program in Iowa City, Iowa. He also served as ACT's director of The Medical College Admission Test.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAR 24 1976

ARCHIVES

March 18, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--W. Joseph Plymale, a Huntington graduate student at Marshall University, has been appointed to the search and screening committee to assist in the selection of a new dean of the Marshall School of Medicine.

Plymale, who completed his undergraduate work in pre-med studies, has been accepted into the Fall 1976 class at the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

The 13-member search and screening committee is headed by Carlton Smith, chief administrator at the Huntington Veterans Administration Hospital. The committee is charged with reviewing applicants and making recommendations to MU President Robert B. Hayes on filling the dual position of dean and vice president for health sciences.

The deadline for applications to be filed was Monday, March 15, and the selection of the new dean is expected to be completed by June 1, 1976.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. HODGSON
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

March 19, 1976

MAR 24 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A noted scientist and a popular comedian will be the 1976 recipients of Marshall University Distinguished Alumnus Awards, Donald D. Ferguson, MU Alumni Association president, announced today.

Dr. William Hatfield, author and research chemist at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Soupy Sales, entertainer and television personality, will be honored by the association at the Alumni Weekend banquet, Saturday, April 24, at 7 p.m. in Memorial Student Center.

The awards are made annually to alumni who have distinguished themselves in their fields, Ferguson said.

Hatfield received his B.S. degree in 1958 and his M.S. degree in 1959 from Marshall. He earned his doctorate in 1962 from the University of Arizona.

Sales, whose real name is Milton Supman, earned his A.B. degree with Certificate in Journalism in 1949.

At the University of Arizona, Hatfield was a teaching assistant, National Science Foundation Summer Fellow, Arizona-Wilson Fellow, a Koppers Company Fellow and a Continental Oil Fellow. He spent nearly two years as a post-doctoral research associate at the University of Illinois, studying with the late Professor T.S. Piper. In 1963, he was named assistant professor at the University of North Carolina. He became a full professor in 1972.

(MORE)

At the university, he is college advisor to all junior-senior natural science majors, teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in chemistry, has directed state and regional science fairs, and directs the summer undergraduate research program in chemistry, plus pursuing a vigorous research program of his own.

The author or co-author of nearly 150 articles in scientific journals, Hatfield has established an international reputation in inorganic and coordination chemistry. He has lectured at numerous colleges, universities and conferences, including the NATO Advanced Study Institute at Starnberg, Germany, and the XVI International Conference on Coordination Chemistry, Dublin, Ireland.

He is the senior author of two books and has two others under way.

Active in the American Chemical Society, Hatfield is chairman of the Inorganic Examination Subcommittee of the Examinations Committee and alternate councilor of the Division of Inorganic Chemistry.

A recipient of a Cahn Instruments Company Application Award, Hatfield is listed in "The Dictionary of International Biography," "American Men and Women of Science," "Men of Achievement" and the South and Southwest edition of "Who's Who in America."

For the past seven years, Sales not only has been a television show guest star, but has been a regular panelist on "What's My Line."

Born in Franklinton, N. C., Sales grew up in Huntington and after graduating from Marshall began a career locally in broadcasting.

In 1953 in Detroit, he became the motor city's top-rated personality for seven years, doing 11 hours of television time weekly, including a Saturday network show, "Lunch with Soupy Sales," carried by ABC-TV.

(MORE)

In 1960, Sales moved to the West Coast, where the Soupy Sales Show became Los Angeles' number one hit.

Known for his pie-in-the-face routine, Sales has been hit by more than 19,000 pies since he's been on TV.

In 1964, Sales moved his show to New York, where in 1966 it was seen throughout 50 U.S. cities, plus Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Sales' television credits include appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show, the Tonight Show, the Dean Martin Show, the Bob Hope Show, the Carol Burnett Show and the Dick Cavett Show. He's guest-starred on several panel and quiz shows and has appeared in several movies, including "Two Little Bears," "Critic's Choice," "Birds Do It" and "Don't Push, I'll Charge When I'm Ready."

He also has several summer stock appearances to his credit and five record albums, including one featuring "The Mouse," named for a dance he created which was popular in the New York area.

He also has a novel to be published soon.

Recipients of MU Distinguished Service and Alumni Community Service Awards will be announced later.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

NEWS RELEASE

MAR 24 1976

ARCHIVES

March 19, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will award 13 Board of Regents Bachelor of Arts degrees at its 139th Commencement, Saturday, May 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Field House, according to Paul H. Collins, MU campus coordinator for the statewide program.

"That's how many we know of at this time, but the number could grow as more students complete requirements this spring," Collins said.

Since the West Virginia Board of Regents initiated the degree program in February, 1975, Marshall has admitted 252 students into the program, of whom about 60 currently are taking classes, Collins said.

The 13 Regents BA degrees to be awarded this spring will bring the total number earned at Marshall to 46, he added.

For several of these graduates, the degree has been the needed passport into graduate school. For others, the degree itself has been sufficient reward.

One graduate of the program, an area businessman is "just tickled to death to be a Marshall alumnus," Collins said.

Another graduate, Steve Pyles of Huntington, an anesthesiologist and respiratory supervisor, hopes to enter medical school with his Regents degree.

Pyles earned an associate degree in nursing from Marshall and attended nurse-anesthesia school, but didn't have the four-year college degree.

After completing the necessary science courses required for medical school entry, Pyles has applied and is waiting word on his application.

(MORE)

"I think it's a good program, in the respect that you can obtain college hours for professional training," Pyles said of his experience in the degree program.

For one woman with a nursing education background and several hours earned at Marshall, but still without the degree, the Regents BA was a shortcut to her goal of graduate school work. She's currently working on her masters degree in biological science at Marshall.

"The B.S. degree wouldn't have benefited me any more than the Regents degree as far as my profession is concerned," she said. "Without the Regents BA it would have taken me a much longer time," she added. "I think it's a very good program."

The Regents BA program was created for persons who are over 25 and who have completed from one to three years of college study, but do not have the baccalaureate degree. The Regents BA is offered by the 10 four-year schools in the state system of higher education.

Under the new program, not only is previous college credit taken into consideration toward the necessary 128 hours for graduation, but students also are given college credit for life and work experience.

The evaluation of life and work experience carries a $50 price tag, no matter how many credit hours are earned through the process, Collins noted.

About six people have graduated under the program without taking any additional classes after their life credits were confirmed.

One woman, who was already enrolled for nine hours this semester, found she had sufficient hours to graduate with the Regents BA without those courses.

"She promptly went to the Registrar's Office and dropped her class load," Collins said.

Credits earned through evaluation of life and work experience will vary, but one man with nearly 20 years in the law enforcement field earned 50 credit hours this way.

(MORE)

Those students coming in with previous college credit usually have about 80 hours, leaving only 48 hours to be earned before the degree can be awarded, Collins said.

Statistics on the Regents BA program at Marshall show that the average participant is 37 years old, male, and a West Virginia resident.

Most of the applicants entering the program come from business, law enforcement agencies or from mass communications and about three-fourths of these are former Marshall students.

Under the program, any "F" grade more than one year old is disregarded, but the average MU entrant brings fewer than six hours of "F" into the program.

According to figures from the Board of Regents, the program has attracted nearly 2,000 students statewide and more than 4,000 inquiries. The total number of degrees awarded by the various institutions as of mid-February was 245.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 21, 1976

MAR 24 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's 64-member Symphonic Band will go on tour March 22-24, Kenneth W. Large, director of university bands, announced today.

The Symphonic Band is scheduled to appear at three high schools around the state and present a public concert in the greater Wheeling area, Large said.

The program will be varied with composers ranging from Dimitri Shostakovich to John Philip Sousa represented, he added.

On Monday, March 22, at 10 a.m., the band will perform for all Putnam County instrumental music students at Hurricane High School.

The next concert will be given at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, March 23, at Warwood High School in Wheeling. At 8 o'clock that evening, the Symphonic Band will give a free concert for Wheeling-Moundsville area residents at John Marshall High School at Glendale. The band includes nine students from the Wheeling area.

Instrumental students in the Ravenswood public schools will have an opportunity to hear the band when it performs at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, March 24, at Ravenswood High School.

The purpose of the tour, which is taken annually to different areas of the state, is "to provide statewide exposure for the Symphonic Band and to provide youngsters with a chance to hear and see a university musical group," Large said.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Comedian-activist Dick Gregory will speak at Marshall University Friday, March 26, as part of the activities scheduled for Black Awareness Week, according to Barry Rush, event coordinator.

"Black Awareness Week is a time set aside not only for black students, but for white students as well, to become aware of some of the cultural and scholarly contributions made by blacks," Rush said.

Gregory will speak at 8 p.m. Friday in Memorial Student Center. The event is open to the public without charge.

A native of St. Louis, Gregory started out as a professional comedian, but today has numerous labels, including that of recording artist, author, lecturer, actor, human rights activist, social satirist, critic, philosopher and political analyst.

During the civil rights movement of the 1960s, Gregory participated in every major (and most minor) demonstration for human rights in America. He devoted his time and talent to giving benefits for civil rights groups, peace groups and other clusters of people devoted to human liberation.

Described as "the world's foremost freelance humanitarian," Gregory uses the fasting method to focus attention on social problems.

Sponsored by the Black United Students, a campus organization, Black Awareness Week has been observed for "at least the past 10 years," Rush said.

(MORE)

The weeklong series of events begin today at 11 a.m. with a worship service in the center's Multi-Purpose Room. A reception is scheduled for 3 p.m., followed at 5 p.m. by a concert by the MU Black Mass Choir.

A lecture on human development by Na'im Akbar, assistant to the Supreme Minister of the Nation of Islam, is slated at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Multi-Purpose Room. At 9 p.m., the movie, "Wattstax, the Living Word," will be shown.

On Thursday, the George Faison Universal Dance Experience will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Keith-Albee Theatre as part of the Mount Series of the Marshall Artists Series.

Faison's 12-member troupe perform a program of dances described as "revealing the whole of American Black Heritage."

Bringing the activities to a close on Saturday is a dance, from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., in the Multi-Purpose Room, featuring "The Majors," a 10-piece group from Greensboro, N.C. There will be a $3 per person admission charge or $2.50 if tickets are purchased in advance, Rush said. Tickets are available at the Human Relations Center in the Memorial Student Center, Rush added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 24 1976

ARCHIVES

March 22, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will host the 3rd Annual High School Model United Nations Security Council Friday and Saturday, March 26-27, in Memorial Student Center.

Sponsored by the Council of International Relations and UN Affairs (CIRUNA), a student campus organization, the program is expected to attract approximately 100 students from Tri-State Area high schools, according to Dr. Clair Matz, CIRUNA advisor and assistant professor of political science.

During the two-day program, the students play the roles of representatives of the council's member nations in discussing agenda items of international consequence.

This year the agenda items are: the Angolan situation; international regulation of multi-national corporations; peace efforts in the Middle East; council membership for the Comoro Islands, and the Panama Canal issue.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Dolores W. Jacome, assistant professor of modern languages and a former resident of Panama. Closely associated with Panamanian governmental leaders while there, she will discuss the Panama Canal.

Marshall senior Jill A. Wells of Nitro will preside over the council, serving as secretary-general.

(MORE)

Nine high school delegations already have signed up, but places are available on the 15-member mock Security Council, Matz said.

Schools registering and their roles include: Wayne, Byelorussian SSR; Paul G. Blazer of Ashland, Ky., China and Mauritania; Portsmouth (Ohio) East, Costa Rica and the United States; Buffalo of Wayne, Japan; Barboursville, Sweden; Boyd County (Ky.), USSR, and Vinson of Huntington, United Kingdom.

The activities begin Friday with registration at 6 p.m., followed by the session's call to order at 7 p.m. After the keynote address, the council will begin work on the agenda, recessing about 10 p.m. until 8:30 a.m. on Saturday. Adjournment is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The mock council also stimulates competition among the participating schools, fostering student knowledge of world affairs, Matz noted.

Marshall students will observe the sessions and on Saturday, prior to adjournment, award certificates to the Best Delegation, the Best Individual Delegate and runners-up in both categories.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. HARRIS LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

March 23, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Stymied by Swedish immigration forms? Confused by directions printed in Japanese? Marshall University's "Language Bank" just might be the answer.

Established last spring by the Marshall Council for International Education (MCIE), the bank has been serving as interpreter-translator for the Tri-State Area, providing a wide variety of services, according to Dr. Corazon Almalel-Navarro, MU professor of modern languages.

Most recently, Language Bank volunteers translated correspondence for the Alleghney Fire Equipment Co., a Huntington firm, which resulted in the sale of a fire truck to the Dominican Republic.

Another time a Charleston area bowling alley called on the bank to translate the Japanese instructions accompanying some construction materials, while a steel company needed help on correspondence related to an order of steel rails wanted by a Chilean firm, Dr. Almalel-Navarro said, recounting some of the requests made of the bank.

The bank's volunteer translators, who number more than 100, not only have aided businesses, but individuals as well, including a couple who wanted to adopt a Mexican child.

Another volunteer served as an interpreter for a Huntington hospital patient who spoke only Vietnamese.

(MORE)

Faced with filling out immigration forms printed in Swedish, a Hagersville, Ky., woman called on the bank for help.

While many of the volunteers' activities may seem unusual, the bank also handles routine translations of correspondence for Marshall students, foreign would-be students, as well as for Huntington area residents.

About 40 foreign languages are represented among the volunteer translators. The languages include:

Arabic, Chinese, Czechoslovakian, Danish, Filipino, Finnish, French, German, Greek, Hindu, Hebrew, Hungarian, Indian, Indonesian, Iranian, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Norwegian, Polish, Russian, Sanskrit, Serbo-Croatian, Spanish, Swedish, Thai, Vietnamese, Laotian, Bohemian, Persian, and seven African languages.

Membership in the bank isn't limited to Marshall personnel, but includes area residents as well, Dr. Almalel-Navarro said. "We're updating our list of volunteers right now and we could use more recruits for the bank," she added.

Anyone interested in working with the bank as volunteers may contact either Dr. Almalel-Navarro, 696-6730; Dr. Clair Matz, assistant professor of political science, 696-6636, or Kamal Samar, assistant manager of the Memorial Student Center, 696-6472.

Dr. Almalel-Navarro and Matz organized the bank and Samar serves as coordinator.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 23, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Several nationally-known figures in the field will participate in the West Virginia Conference on Physical Education and Recreation for the Handicapped, scheduled Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27, at Huntington's Downtown Holiday Inn.

The conference is being sponsored by the West Virginia Department of Education, the Marshall University Department of Special Education and Marshall's Pioneer Chapter 234 of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Dr. Daryll Bauer, Marshall special education chairman, said about 200 educators and other interested persons are expected to attend the conference.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m. Friday and the first general session will begin at 1:45 p.m.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Sylvia O. Richardson, associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine who is widely known for her work with children with learning problems. She also serves as assistant director of the Program for Learning Disabilities at the university-affiliated Cincinnati Center for Developmental Disorders. Her topic will be "Motor Competency and the Exceptional Child."

(MORE)

Another nationally-prominent speaker on the program is Dr. Marianne Frostig of the Frostig Center for Educational Therapy in Los Angeles. A pioneer in the area of visual perception, Dr. Frostig will speak on "Movement Education for the Moderate and Severe Learning Disabled" in one of several mini-clinics running from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Other speakers in the mini-clinics will be Howard Remick of Cleveland State University, Barbara Symond of Central State University and David Auxter of Slippery Rock State College. They will cover physical education programming for those in institutions, trainable and educable mentally retarded in schools, and those with multiple handicaps.

The conference's second general session is scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Friday with Ernie Davis, specialist in physical education for the handicapped with the Sun City, Ariz., school system, as the principal speaker. Davis, who formerly was with the Crowley Special School in St. Paul, Minn., will discuss "Setting the Stage for a Comprehensive Physical Education Program for Handicapped Individuals."

Friday's activities will close with a social period and informal dance from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Davis also will be the principal speaker for Saturday's session, which will begin at 9 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. The discussions will consist of a comprehensive examination of physical education and recreation programs for the handicapped, from pre-school age through adulthood.

Dr. Bauer said the conference is open to any interested person and details may be obtained by telephoning the Department of Special Education at Marshall. The registration fee is $2.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 24, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Physical Facilities and Planning Committee is considering re-naming three campus buildings and is inviting suggestions from students, faculty, alumni and residents of the region.

Joseph M. Lichtenstein, chairman of the committee, said the three buildings under consideration are:

--South Hall, a large dormitory adjacent to Fifth Avenue.

--The Science Hall.

--The former University Dining Hall, currently being renovated as headquarters for Marshall's Community College.

Lichtenstein said June 15 has been established as the deadline for receiving suggestions, which must be submitted on a form designed for that purpose. Interested persons may obtain copies of the form by writing or calling the office of Joseph S. Soto, director of plant operations at Marshall, Old Main 116. The telephone number is 696-3122.

Following the June 15 deadline, the committee will review the names submitted and will make its recommendations to President Robert B. Hayes. In turn, he will seek concurrence of the Marshall Advisory Board and submit his recommendations to the West Virginia Board of Regents for final action.

(MORE)

Under the committee's guidelines, consideration is given to naming a building in honor of a person who has provided significant services to the university, or in honor of a donor who contributes a major amount of funds (50 per cent of cost or more) toward construction or renovation of a building. Consideration also can be given names which memorialize events of special significance in the life of the university.

The Board of Regents recently approved names submitted for two Marshall buildings. A new classroom building has been designated Avril Ernest Harris Hall in honor of the former dean of the Graduate School. West Hall, a women's dormitory, has been re-named Lillian Helms Buskirk Hall in honor of the former dean of women.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Maureen B. Milicia, assistant professor of speech at Marshall University, has been named the 1976 West Virginia recipient of the Edgar Dale Award.

She will receive the award, named for an outstanding educator and leader in the field of educational communication, during the National Conference of the Association for Educational Communications and Technology (AECT), to be held March 27-April 2 in Anaheim, Calif.

The Edgar Dale Award is presented annually to persons from AECT's Region V who have made significant contributions to the educational communication field at the local, regional and national levels.

One person from each of the five states included in the region will receive the award which honors Dr. Dale, professor emeritus of Ohio State University's Department of Education.

Region V is composed of West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan.

Miss Milicia is the second Marshall faculty member to receive the award. Dr. Walter C. Felty, chairman of the Department of Educational Media, received the award in 1973.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Coming to Marshall in 1967 as producer-director of Educational Radio and Television, Miss Milicia earned her bachelor degree in speech and English from Western Reserve University. She has two masters degrees, one in speech and one in communication arts, and has completed course work for a doctorate in developmental psychology and communications at Kent State University.

A Speech Department faculty member since 1968, Miss Milicia currently teaches classes in broadcasting and film. She also coaches Marshall's Individual Events team.

Co-editor of the Educational Media Yearbook, she has held executive office in the West Virginia Educational Media Association for the past six years and has served on several regional and national committees related to the communications field. She has been a media consultant for the West Virginia State Board of Education.

Miss Milicia received a Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation grant for an in-depth research project on instructional television. She has produced numerous slide-tape programs for presentation at professional meetings and authored a chapter in the Speech Fundamentals textbook currently in use at Marshall.

She is listed in the Dictionary of International Biography and has won several art awards for watercolors and book cover designs.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

March 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Six prime candidates for the dual position of dean of the Marshall University School of Medicine and vice president for health science have been identified by the 14-member search and screening committee, Carlton Smith, committee chairman, announced today.

The six will be invited to the area for a site visit and for interviews by committee members. While here, the candidates will meet with various members of the search committee, members of the medical school staff and representatives from the local medical community, said Smith, Huntington Veterans Administration Hospital administrator.

Not only will they visit the Marshall campus and local hospitals, but also the Beckley Veterans Administration Hospital.

Another 10 potential candidates were selected for further review of their credentials, Smith added.

The search and screening committee met last night to review the 40 applications received by Marshall for the position.

The applicants for the dean's position represent a wide geographic area, ranging from Massachusetts to California and from Oregon to Florida. Twenty-two states and the District of Columbia are represented.

The position drew applications from two women and minority groups, Smith noted.

(MORE)

States represented include: Pennsylvania, Maryland, Mississippi, Alabama, Ohio, Florida, Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, California, North Dakota, West Virginia, New Jersey, New Mexico, Missouri, Oregon, Kentucky, Illinois, Nevada, Washington, Texas and Michigan.

The positions represented among the applicants range from physicians in private practice to medical educators and administrators. The administrators applying for the deanship include one college president, about a half dozen medical school heads with titles ranging from dean to vice president to provost, and eight or so associate deans.

No date has been set for the next committee session, but Smith said he expected the group would meet next month.

Serving on the search committee, in addition to Smith, are:

Dr. Rowland Burns, chief of medicine at Cabell Huntington Hospital and chairman of Marshall's Advisory Board on Medical Education; Kenneth Wood, Cabell Huntington Hospital administrator; Steve Soltis, executive director of St. Mary's Hospital, Huntington; Dr. Werner Laqueur of Beckley, clinical professor of pathology for the Marshall School of Medicine;

Dr. Charles Turner of Huntington, member of the Advisory Board on Medical Education; Dr. Thomas Holbrook of Huntington, also an advisory board member; Dr. Forrest Goodall, professor of biochemistry-cell biology for the Marshall School of Medicine; William C. Campbell of Huntington, vice chairman of the Marshall University Advisory Board;

Dr. Guy Hollifield, associate dean for clinical affairs on the school's Beckley campus and professor of medicine; Dr. Robert Marshall of Morgantown, professor of medicine in the West Virginia University School of Medicine; Dr. Paul Stewart, dean of the Marshall Graduate School;

(MORE)

3-3-3

W. Joseph Plymale of Huntington, a Marshall graduate student, and Paul H. Collins, executive assistant to the president for medical school affairs, who serves as committee secretary.

Also serving in ex-officio capacities are Dr. Robert W. Coon, vice chancellor for health education to the West Virginia Board of Regents, currently serving as medical school dean, and MU President Robert B. Hayes.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

March 26, 1976

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAR 26 1976

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will conduct pre-registration for summer school next week (March 29-April 2), according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

Registration will be from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in Main 1B, located in the basement of Old Main. On Monday through Thursday, an evening registration period has been scheduled between 5:30 and 7 p.m.

Summer school course schedules are available in the Office of the Registrar, Old Main 105.

Only students currently enrolled at Marshall or former students who have not attended another institution since enrolling at Marshall are eligible to participate in the advanced registration.

An advisor approved schedule request form and an ID card will be required before a student may register.

Students may register for either the first term, second term, or both terms. No fees will be collected during this advance registration period, but students will be billed, Eddins said. The fees will be due and payable on May 25, the registrar added.

First summer term classes begin June 15 and end July 16. Second summer term runs from July 20 through Aug. 20.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Regular registration for the first summer term will be held on June 14 between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon, 1 to 3 p.m., and 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

At that time students may sign up for either or both terms. All fees must be paid at the time of registration.

Regular registration for the second term will be held July 19 from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. No evening registration is scheduled.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

Please release Sunday, March 28, 1976

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 450 high school journalists and their teachers from West Virginia, Southeastern Ohio and Eastern Kentucky are expected to visit Marshall University Friday and Saturday, April 2 and 3, for the 41st annual United High School Press Convention.

The conference, sponsored by Marshall's Department of Journalism, will open Friday with registration, school newspaper critique sessions and campus tours. Saturday's activities will include a coffee hour for high school teachers and MU journalism faculty and staff, a general assembly of delegates and advisers, seminars and workshops, business sessions and an awards banquet.

Activities will get under way Friday with registration from noon to 7 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 330. Marshall faculty and staff and representatives from the professional news media will conduct newspaper and year-book critiques hourly from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Marshall's student chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, will take students on campus tours from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Recreational facilities in Memorial Student Center will be open to delegates Friday until midnight.

Registration will resume Saturday at 8 a.m. in Science Hall Auditorium, while high school teachers join Marshall Journalism faculty and staff for coffee in Smith Hall 311.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A general assembly is scheduled from 9 to 9:20 a.m. in Science Hall Auditorium, after which delegates will participate in 11 newspaper, yearbook and broadcasting workshops until 11:50 a.m.

Planning of next year's regional and state-level activities will begin at noon in business sessions of United High School Press, United High School Yearbook, United High School Broadcast Journalism and the West Virginia Journalism Teacher's associations.

Activities will conclude with the awards banquet at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Student Center Multi-Purpose Room. Featured speaker will be Virginia Page "Ginny" Pitt, a general desk supervisor for the Associated Press in New York and graduate of Marshall's Journalism Department.

Eighty-one first, second and third place awards will be presented in categories including newspaper makeup, feature or special events page, sports page, editorial page, newswriting, student art work, yearbook theme, newspaper and yearbook advertisements and photography, broadcast journalism, and best all-around newspaper and yearbook.

The West Virginia Press Women's Association also will present awards to individual writers for best feature story and editorial. A $200 "Most Promising Student Journalist" scholarship will be awarded at the banquet.

George T. Arnold Jr., assistant professor of journalism and director of the convention, said the number of awards is almost double that of last year because the awards have been split into two classifications.

So that schools will be competing with other schools of similar enrollment, AAA schools will compete among themselves and AA and A schools will compete in a separate category, Arnold said.

The UHSP was founded in 1927 by W. Page Pitt, Department of Journalism chairman until his retirement in 1971.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 28, 1976

APR 12 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"The Chief Justice: John Marshall," a musical epic for chorus, soloists and orchestra, will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at Marshall University in Smith Recital Hall.

Open to the public, the event is free.

Written by Dr. Paul W. Whear, Marshall's composer-in-residence, the work had its world premiere in Huntington last spring, receiving excellent reviews and subsequent performances of the work by groups elsewhere have been acclaimed.

"The Chief Justice" has been selected to be presented with the original narrators and soloists, along with local supporting musicians, at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., on May 11 as West Virginia's offering in the center's "Bicentennial Parade of American Music" series.

Depicting the life and times of the famous Supreme Court justice, "The Chief Justice" blends quotations from John Marshall himself and the words of early American poets and literary figures.

The local performances of the work are considered highlights of Marshall's Bicentennial observance.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Saturday's performance here will feature the original narrators and soloists, who include a noted area jurist, a television newscaster and the current Miss Huntington. The performers number about 160, including the combined choirs of the university and a 60-member chamber orchestra.

Providing the narration will be Judge C. W. Ferguson III of the 24th Judicial Circuit in Wayne County, and William Griffin, a Marshall graduate and former WSAZ-TV newsman, now with WKYT-TV in Lexington, Ky.

Soloists will be Dr. Paul Balshaw, baritone, and Miss Vickie Totten, soprano. Director of the MU choirs, Balshaw is soloist with the West Virginia Opera Theater and other musical groups.

A voice major at Marshall, Miss Totten placed third in the recent West Virginia District Metropolitan Opera Auditions held at Marshall. This month she won the "Miss Huntington" title in the local pageant.

"The Chief Justice" was commissioned by Marshall and the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council two years ago. The work also has received support from the National Endowment for the Arts and the West Virginia Bicentennial Commission.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 29, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--More than 300 public school music teachers from all over the state will be on the Marshall University campus this weekend (April 1-3) as the university plays host to the 30th annual West Virginia Music Educators Association Conference.

Dr. Wendell Kumlien, MU Department of Music chairman, is general chairman of the conference which will be headquartered in Smith Music Hall.

The conference is designed to bring together choral, band and orchestra directors and music teachers at all public school levels for an exchange of ideas, business meetings, educational workshops and concerts.

Eight workshops or clinics will be offered during the three-day meet on a variety of subjects, ranging from "creativity in the classroom" to the use of specific instruments.

Asa Duncan, Dade County, Fla., music supervisor, is one of several guest clinicians from southeastern United States and West Virginia, who will be participating in the sessions.

Several concerts are scheduled during the conference, including performances by 10 secondary school and college groups, selected from taped auditions as the best student groups in the state.

(MORE)

2-2-2

High school groups performing include bands from John Marshall at Glen Dale, Parkersburg South and Wahama. Choral groups from Parkersburg South, St. Albans, Cameron, Cammack Junior High of Huntington, and Jackson Junior High of Vienna will present concerts. Marshall University's Jazz Ensemble and Brass Quintet will also perform.

On Thursday, April 1, at 8:30 p.m., the United States Navy Band will present a concert of jazz and show tunes at Huntington East High School. The event is open to the public and a $1 admission fee will be charged.

The music teachers will be treated to a private performance of "The Chief Justice: John Marshall," on Friday evening in Smith Recital Hall. The work is the composition of MU composer-in-residence, Paul W. Whear.

Culminating the activities on Saturday will be concerts by the West Virginia All-State High School Chorus, Band and Orchestra, scheduled for 3 p.m. in Memorial Field House.

Open to the public without admission charge, the All-State concerts will be conducted by three guest musicians.

Leading the All-State Orchestra will be Adrian Gnam, musical director and conductor of Ohio University's symphony and chamber orchestras. Lee Kjelson, choral ensemble coordinator and conductor of the University of Miami (Coral Gables, Fla.) chamber singers and university-civic choral, will conduct the All-State Choir. Directing the All-State Band will be Mark Kelly, bands director and professor of music education at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 29, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will conduct pre-registration for its Fall 1976-77 term on the Logan and Williamson campuses of Southern West Virginia Community College next month, James W. Harless, MU admissions director, announced today.

"Only bona fide transfer students from the Community College to Marshall will be eligible to participate in the advance registration program," Harless said.

University personnel will be on the Williamson campus Monday, April 12, from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 4:30 to 7 p.m. They will conduct advance registration during the same hours on the Logan campus on Tuesday, April 13.

Tuition and fees will not be collected during pre-registration, but students will be billed. Tuition and fees will be due and payable by Aug. 2.

University officials will be on hand to explain the pre-registration process, discuss course credit transfers, and to provide any other services necessary to provide transferring students a smooth transition from Southern to Marshall.

"Taking registration to the community college campuses is one of several new approaches to the admissions and registration processes that Marshall is planning to aid the student," Harless said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Williamson-Logan area students may obtain additional information about pre-registration by contacting either Glen Prichard, dean of student services at Southern, or Connie Williamson, counselor, at 235-2800 in Williamson or John Russell, counselor, at 752-5900 in Logan.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

March 29, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"International Weekend" will be observed at Marshall University Saturday and Sunday, April 3-4. The event is being sponsored by Marshall's International Club.

Nearly 100 students from other countries currently are enrolled at Marshall, according to Jan Harrison, assistant for international programs in the university's Human Relations Center.

"International Weekend" will open Saturday at 6 p.m. with an exhibition prepared by international students in the Alumni Lounge of Memorial Student Center. The exhibition, free and open to the public, will consist of clothing, crafts and other items prepared by students from Vietnam, Sierra Leone, Saudi Arabia, Iran, Thailand, The Philippines and Nigeria. Students will perform dances of their native lands and refreshments will be served. The exhibition will remain open until 9 p.m.

Sunday's highlight will be an international buffet dinner in the Campus Christian Center from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., featuring dishes prepared by the international students from Iran, Saudi Arabia, Thailand, Africa and The Philippines.

The dinner also is open to the public. Tickets may be obtained by visiting the Human Relations Center in Memorial Student Center or telephoning the center, 696-6705. The deadline for reservations is Thursday, April 1, Ms. Harrison said. The cost is $3 per person, $5 for couples and $1 for children under 10 years of age.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Thawatchai "Charlie" Jitima of Thailand is president of the International Club, which is open to all interested persons. Shirine Tabatabai of Iran is vice president.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

March 29, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Subramaniam Swami, a prominent economist and political figure in India, will speak at Marshall University Friday, April 2, Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry Jr., dean of the College of Business and Applied Science, announced today. His address, "Recent Economic and Political Development in India," is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Harris Hall Room 134.

Dr. Swami's appearance is being sponsored by the College of Business and Applied Science under a Distinguished Lectureship Series grant from the Marshall University Foundation, Inc. The free lecture will be open to the public.

Elected to the Indian Senate in 1974, Dr. Swami has been a political opponent of the present government in that country. As a result of the "national emergency" declared by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in June, 1975, a warrant of arrest has been issued against him and his residence in Delhi has been confiscated.

He has served on a variety of committees in Parliament, including the Committee on External Affairs and the Consultative Committee on the Atomic Energy Commission.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Dr. Swami holds a Ph.D. in economics from Harvard University, where he conducted his research work under Nobel Laureate Simon Kuznets. He also taught at Harvard from 1963 to 1969 and is the author of "Economic Growth in China and India, 1952-70" and other comparative studies of Asian economic growth.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

March 31, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAR 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Louis Rukeyser, host of public television's Wall Street Week, will appear at Marshall University Tuesday, April 6, speaking at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154.

Rukeyser's campus appearance is part of the College of Business Lecture Series, underwritten by the First Huntington National Bank.

Rukeyser has hosted Wall Street Week, seen locally each Friday at 8:30 p.m. over WMUL-TV, since the program began in 1970.

The series has become highly popular as a result of the host's ability to explain our complex economic system in a manner appealing not only to professional stock brokers, but also the small investor.

Rukeyser brings to his role as television's top financial expert more than two decades of globe-ranging experience as a television, radio and newspaper correspondent. His career has straddled three news areas -- political analysis, foreign reporting and economic interpretation.

After 11 years with the Baltimore Sun papers, he joined ABC News in 1965, serving as a correspondent in Paris and later as bureau chief in London. In 1968, Rukeyser returned to New York for a five-year stint at television's first network economic editor.

Wall Street Week was well established nationally when he left ABC News in 1973. Rukeyser now has branched out as an independent broadcaster, lecturer and writer. He is the editor of "How to Make Money in Wall Street."

(MORE)

2-2-2

Through the College of Business-FHNB Lecture Series, a number of guest speakers are brought to the campus annually to discuss current business and economic subjects.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Vincent DiSalvo, associate professor of speech-communication at the University of Nebraska, will be at Marshall University Monday to give a public lecture and meet with students and faculty.

A specialist in organizational communication and small groups, DiSalvo will discuss "The Organizational Communicator" at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154. The talk is open to the public without charge.

DiSalvo is the senior author of a book dealing with communication in organizations, written with Craig Monroe, MU assistant professor of speech. The book will be published in August.

Selected as the 1974 Outstanding Young Teacher of the Year by the Central States Speech Association, DiSalvo has written more than 30 convention papers, five articles for speech and psychology journals, and two books on business and industrial communication.

He has a bachelor degree in speech from the University of Wisconsin, a masters in speech from Kansas State University, and a doctorate in speech and industrial psychology from Bowling Green State University in Ohio.

DiSalvo's appearance is being sponsored by the Department of Speech under a Distinguished Lectureship Series grant from the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

April 2, 1976

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Virginia Page "Ginny" Pitt, a general desk supervisor for The Associated Press in New York, will be the featured speaker at Saturday's awards banquet of the 41st annual United High School Press Association Convention at Marshall University.

Sponsored by Marshall's Department of Journalism, the two-day convention opens today for more than 450 high school journalists and their advisors.

A graduate of Marshall, Ms. Pitt has worked at her current job since 1974. As a general desk supervisor, she determines what stories will be transmitted over the AP wire, as well as their length and form.

She joined the AP in 1972 as a general assignment reporter, then worked as night supervisor at AP's Boston Bureau.

Her first job after graduating from Marshall in 1970 was as a general assignment reporter and magazine writer for the Cincinnati Post. She later served as editor of the newspaper's magazine.

Convention activities begin today with registration from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thirty-two newspaper and yearbook critique sessions and campus tours are scheduled this afternoon and evening.

Saturday's events include 11 newspaper, yearbook and broadcasting workshops, business sessions and the awards banquet.

(MORE)

Workshop topics include photography, sports writing, journalism law, design, financing, broadcasting and yearbook. Marshall faculty and staff, broadcasting advisors at Huntington East High School and representatives of Henington Publishing Company will conduct the workshops.

Next year's regional and state level activities will be planned during business sessions of United High School Press, United High School Yearbook, United High School Broadcast Journalism and the West Virginia Journalism Teachers associations.

Convention activities will culminate Saturday with the awards banquet at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room. More than 80 first, second and third place awards will be presented for excellence in broadcasting, newspapers and yearbooks. The $200 "Most Promising Student Journalist" scholarship to study journalism at Marshall also will be awarded.

In addition the West Virginia Press Women's Association will present awards to individual writers for best feature story and best editorial.

The UHSP was founded in 1927 by W. Page Pitt, Department of Journalism chairman until his retirement in 1971.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

April 5, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A banker and a Marshall sports supporter will be the 1976 recipients of the Marshall University Alumni Community Achievement and Distinguished Service Awards, respectively, Donald D. Ferguson, MU Alumni Association president, announced today.

William Edward Blevins of Grosse Pointe, Mich., senior vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, and John L. "Patsy" Jefferson Jr. of Lesage, developer-operator of the Riveria Golf Course, will be honored by the association at the Alumni Weekend banquet, Saturday, April 24, at 7 p.m. in Memorial Student Center.

Blevins and Jefferson will share honors with two other Marshall alumni, Dr. William Hatfield, a noted scientist, and Soupy Sales, entertainer and television personality, who will receive MU Distinguished Alumnus Awards.

The Community Achievement Award is given annually to Marshall alumni for outstanding achievements in their fields and for personal contributions to their communities, Ferguson said.

The annual Distinguished Service Award is given for "loyal and unselfish service" to Marshall, Ferguson added.

Graduating in 1951 with an A.B. in political science, Blevins earned his masters degree from the Baruch School of Business of the City University of New York in 1960. For the past 10 years, he has been associated with the National Bank of Detroit, the 16th largest bank in the United States.

(MORE)

He began his career there as assistant vice president and director of management development and in 1974 was named to his present position in which he directs the bank's 70-member personnel staff, responsible for some 6,000 employees.

Prior to joining the bank's executive ranks, Blevins held various personnel and management positions with the Equitable Life Assurance Society in New York.

Active in civic and service-oriented groups, he is trustee of the Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe, director of the Michigan Diabetes Association and director-treasurer of the Employers Association of Detroit.

He has served as chairman of the Occupational Mental Health Committee, chairman of the Grosse Pointe Boy Scout Troop and was a board of deacons member of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

As a member of the American Bankers Association, he has held numerous positions, including board of directors membership. Blevins is also a regent of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Institute of Banking.

He is married to the former Mary Hester Jenkins, a 1950 Marshall graduate, and they have three children.

A strong supporter of the MU athletic program for many years, Jefferson is a native of Cabell County. "He's made so many contributions that it is nearly impossible to recall all he has done for Marshall," Ferguson said.

He has provided a practice course at Riveria in Lesage for Marshall's golf team and the Riveria course also has served as the site of Marshall's Cross Country team meets.

(MORE)

Before AstroTurf came to Fairfield Stadium, Jefferson would take his grounds crew out each spring, summer and fall to fertilize and seed the field. Prior to home games, he'd even have his crew tint the grass to make the playing field look more presentable.

Jefferson graduated from Barboursville High School, where he played football, basketball and baseball. He entered Marshall, but had his education interrupted by World War II.

Returning to Marshall after the war, he graduated in 1957 with an A.B. degree in physical education. While at MU he played baseball and was a member of the school's early golf teams.

After graduating, he developed and operated the Knob Hill Golf Course in Barboursville from 1951 until 1957 when he opened the Riveria course.

He is married to the former Thelma Tyree, who also attended Marshall.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 6, 1976

APR 9 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Carolyn Karr, associate professor of social studies at Marshall University, has been named a Danforth Associate by the National Council of the Danforth Foundation.

Her appointment, effective June, 1976, is for a six-year period.

The Danforth Foundation is a national educational and philanthropic organization dedicated to advancing teaching and scholarship at institutions of higher learning.

A member of Marshall's faculty since 1966, Dr. Karr earned her bachelor and masters degrees there. She received her doctorate from Ohio State University.

She also has taught at Purdue University and in the Cabell County school system. She is a member of several professional organizations.

Nominees for the Danforth Associate are recommended to the National Council by former Danforth Associates at the resident institution.

The council looks for Associates who are talented teacher-scholars, who blend a strong concern for students with a concern for values and an awareness of contemporary education issues.

Currently Marshall has four other Danforth Associates: Dr. Mahlon C. Brown, professor of social studies; Dr. Paul D. Stewart, dean of the Graduate School; Dr. E.S. Hanrahan, Department of Chemistry chairman and professor of chemistry, and Dr. Harold L. Willey, professor of education.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

April 7, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 7 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Five West Virginia high school students have received $300 scholarships from United High School Press Association (UHSP) to study journalism at Marshall University.

The scholarships were among more than 80 awards presented at the close of the 41st annual UHSP convention Friday and Saturday at Marshall.

More than 450 students and teachers from West Virginia and southeastern Ohio attended the convention. Twenty-seven schools claimed first, second and third place awards for superior achievements in newspaper, yearbook and broadcast production, according to George T. Arnold, Jr., UHSP director.

Scholarship recipients are Betsy Barger, Parkersburg High School; Jody Jividen, Dunbar High School; Philip McClure, Kanawha County Experience-Based Career Education Program; Denise McMillan, Huntington East High School, and Ken Smith of Beckley Woodrow Wilson High School.

##

(Editors: Enclosed is a list of schools winning awards in order that you might select those of interest to your readers.)

BEST NEWSPAPER MAKEUP:

Division I - (1) Chesapeake, Ohio, (2) Mullens, (3) Wayne

Division II - (1) Parkersburg South, (2) Morgantown, (3) Herbert Hoover

BEST NEWSPAPER FEATURE OR SPECIAL EVENTS PAGE:

Division I - (1) Wayne, (2) Northfork, (3) Mullens

Division II - (1) Parkersburg South, (2) Ravenswood,
(3) Tie: Huntington High, Triadelphia, Beckley Woodrow Wilson

BEST NEWSPAPER SPORTS PAGE:

Division I - (1) Northfork, (2) Wayne, (3) Chesapeake, Ohio

Division II - (1) Parkersburg South, (2) Fairmont Senior
(3) Tie: Huntington High, Morgantown

BEST NEWSPAPER PHOTOGRAPHY:

Division I - (1) Northfork, (2) Wayne, (3) None awarded

Division II - (1) Parkersburg South, (2) Huntington East
(3) Herbert Hoover

BEST YEARBOOK PHOTOGRAPHY:

Division I - (1) Gauley Bridge, (2) Williamson, (3) Chesapeake, Ohio

Division II - (1) East Fairmont, (2) Charleston, (3) Triadelphia

BEST NEWSPAPER EDITORIAL PAGE:

Division I - (1) Spencer, (2) Wayne, (3) Chesapeake, Ohio

Division II - (1) Morgantown, (2) Triadelphia, (3) Parkersburg South

BEST NEWSPAPER WRITING:

Division I - (1) Ceredo-Kenova, (2) Chesapeake, Ohio
(3) Tie: Greenbrier West, Spencer

Division II - (1) Beckley Woodrow Wilson, (2) Clarksburg Washington Irving, (3) Tie: Logan, Huntington East

(MORE)

2-2-2

BEST THEME FOR CLASS OF 1976 YEARBOOK:

Division I - (1) Buffalo (Putnam County), (2) Gauley Bridge,
(3) Williamson

Division II - (1) Parkersburg High, (2) Greenbrier East, (3) Morgantown

BEST STUDENT NEWSPAPER ART:

Division I - (1) Wayne, (2) Mullens, (3) Northfork

Division II - (1) Triadelphia, (2) Parkersburg South,
(3) Clarksburg Washington Irving

BEST BROADCAST JOURNALISM PROGRAM:

Divisions Combined - (1) Huntington East, (2) Fairmont Senior,
(3) East Fairmont

BEST ALL-AROUND STUDENT NEWSPAPER:

Division I - (1) Northfork, (2) Oceana, (3) Chesapeake, Ohio

Division II - (1) Parkersburg South, (2) Parkersburg High,
(3) Huntington East

BEST ALL-AROUND STUDENT YEARBOOK:

Division I - (1) Chesapeake, Ohio, (2) Williamson, (3) Guyan Valley

Division II - (1) Huntington East, (2) Tie: East Fairmont
Parkersburg South

SPECIAL AWARDS:

Design-The-Program-Cover Contest: Winner--Florida Daniels,
Wayne High School, $25 Prize

West Virginia Press Women's Best Feature Writing Contest:
Carol Boyd, Triadelphia High, $25 Prize

West Virginia Press Women's Best Editorial Writing Contest: (Named in honor of the late H.R. Pinckard, long-time editor at the Huntington Publishing Co.)
Candy Sheppard, Parkersburg South, $50 Prize

(MORE)

Most Promising Student Journalist Scholarship ($300 each to attend Marshall University and study journalism. List is alphabetical, not order of selection):

Betsy Barger, Parkersburg High
Jody Jividen, Dunbar High
Philip McClure, Kanawha Co. Experienced-Based Education Program
Denise McMillan, Huntington East
Ken Smith, Beckley Woodrow Wilson

1976-77 Officers: United High School Newspaper Association (UHSNA)

President: Craig Hinkle, Greenbrier East
Vice President: Dave Stanton, Huntington East
Secretary: Teresa Lockhart, Herbert Hoover
Treasurer: Sandy Conrad, Parkersburg South

1976-77 Officers: United High School Yearbook Association (UHSYA)

President: Marcia Cooper, Hurricane High
Vice President: Jim Kessell, Ravenswood
Secretary: Kim Smith, Ceredo-Kenova
Parliamentarian: Kathy Mays, Ceredo-Kenova

1976-77 Officers: United High School Broadcast Journalism Association (UHSBJA)

President: Pat Taylor, East Fairmont
Vice President: Shannon Lehere, Fairmont Senior Corresponding Secretary: Sharon Glazer, Fairmont Senior Recording Secretary: Julie Schulte, Huntington High

West Virginia Journalism Teachers' Association (WVJTA)

Officers remain unchanged as they were elected last year for 2-year terms.

President: Caroline Penland (Ms.), Huntington East
Vice President: Tom Murdock, Chesapeake, Ohio
Secretary: Elaine Kerr (Mrs.), Herbert Hoover High

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

April 7, 1976

APR 9 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Office of Student Activities will host a two-day Jacques Cousteau festival Monday and Tuesday, April 12-13.

Sponsored by the Lecture Series and Contemporary Issues Committees, the festival will feature four films and a 90-minute lecture highlighting the career of the world famous undersea explorer.

The events, open to the public free of charge, will be held in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center, according to Nancy P. Hindsley, coordinator of Student Activities.

Two films, "The Tragedy of the Red Salmon" and "Lagoon of Lost Ships," will be shown at 8 p.m. Monday. At 3 p.m. on Tuesday, the films, "The Unsinkable Sea Otter" and "The Smile of the Walrus," will be shown.

At 8 p.m. Tuesday, Bill Macdonald, a Cousteau Society staff member and diver, will present the two-part lecture and film, "The Cousteau Story."

The lecture recounts Cousteau's career in deep diving from his development in 1943 of the Aqua-Lung through the 1963 Conshelf II and III projects which utilized manned submersibles and on through the current activities of the Cousteau Society as documented in the television specials, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau." Film clips of the Society's work with NASA in monitoring the seas from space also will be shown.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Macdonald joined his first Cousteau expedition during the filming of sea birds, off Isla Isabela, Mexico. Before joining the society, he worked for U.S. Divers Company in west coast sales and public relations.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

APR 9 1976

April 8, 1976

ARCHIVES

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Symphonic Choir will present its annual spring concert at 8 p.m., Monday, April 12, in Smith Recital Hall, under the direction of Dr. Paul Balshaw, professor of music and director of university choirs.

In keeping with the religious season, the program will feature sacred music with the "Requiem Mass" by Gabriele Faure as the highlight.

Soloists for the Requiem will be Susan Sanders, soprano and Nitro sophomore, and Jeffrey Summer, baritone and Barboursville graduate student.

Playing the organ solo sections in the piece will be Chris Unger, a Coplay, Pa., graduate student.

The program includes three selections representing the church music of the late Renaissance period: "Psallite" by Praetorius; "Lord in Thy Resurrection" by Gallus, and "Sanctus and Hosanna" by Gabrielli.

"How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," from Brahms' German Requiem also will be sung.

Representing contemporary religious music will be Peterson's "Sweet Earth," based on a Gerard Manly Hopkins' poem, and "Three Canticles for Chorus" by Davidson. The latter work was dedicated to the Eastman School of Music Polyphonic Choir, of which Dr. Balshaw was a member and associate conductor for three years.

The accompanist for the concert will be Nancy Asbury, Huntington sophomore.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 9, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Phyllis Mechanic of Kenova, W.Va., a freshman at Marshall University, has been awarded first prize in the John W. Teel essay competition. The $350 prize will be awarded during an informal program Tuesday, April 13, at 3:30 p.m. in the Hoffman Room of Marshall's James E. Morrow Library.

The presentation will be made by William J. Maier Jr., president of the Sarah and Pauline Maier Scholarship Foundation, Inc., of Charleston. This will be the fourth year the prizes have been awarded for outstanding papers written in English composition courses.

Winners in the competition were announced by John W. Teel, assistant professor of English at Marshall. The prizes were established in his honor by the Maier Foundation on the basis of his article, "Freshman English in the Age of Revolution," published in 1972 by The National Review.

Miss Mechanic's prize-winning composition is entitled "The Factory, A Temporary Monument."

Second prize of $100 will be presented to Louise Ketz of Beckley, W.Va., for her essay, "Blessed Art Thou Amongst Women." Third prize of $50 will go to Brent S. Mattox of Point Pleasant for "The Plant Succession of A Forest."

Also to be recognized at the Tuesday program, which is open to the public, will be four students whose work was selected for honorable mention: Judith L. Vick and Delon Lee Conger, both of Huntington; Ruth Ellen Napier of Prichard, W.Va., and Monica Jayne Wilton of Charleston.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORRIS LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 9 1976

NEWS RELEASE

ARCHIVES

April 9, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Office of Student Activities at Marshall University will sponsor an appearance of Doug Henning, 28-year-old illusionist and star-creator of the Broadway production, "The Magic Show," at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, at the Keith-Albee Theatre.

The Student Activities Office is offering a special ticket price for students, including all elementary, junior and senior high students, according to Nancy P. Hindsley, coordinator of Student Activities.

General admission tickets will be $4, but student tickets will be available for $2.

With his latest production, "Illusion and Reality," Henning attempts to show the psychology of magic, the potential of higher consciousness, and the realm of reality versus illusion through the performance of magic feats.

A graduate of McMaster University in Toronto with an honors degree in physiological psychology, Henning supported his studies there with his magic act. Seeing a magician levitate a woman on the "Ed Sullivan Show" sparked Henning's interest in magic when he was a boy, growing up in Winnipeg, Canada.

Since Henning's successful Broadway production, his television special and his appearances on various television shows, magic has enjoyed a booming revival, gaining popularity unequaled since the golden days of Vaudeville.

(MORE)

In 1975, he received the Outstanding Achievement Award from the Academy of Magical Arts and Sciences. That same year, he also received a Tony nomination for his role in "The Magic Show." He also was honored by the International Brotherhood of Magicians for "Outstanding Contribution to Magic."

General admission tickets are available here at the Keith-Albee box office, Stationers and Audio Tapes and Records. In Charleston they can be purchased at Pepperland and Budget Tapes and Records. Tickets also are available in Madison at the Golden Eagle Music Store.

Student tickets will be available at the ticket booth on the first floor of Memorial Student Center or through the Office of Student Activities in Room 2W40 of the Student Center.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 9 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

BY BOB ADAMS

ARCHIVES

Marshall University News Service

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Marshall University zoologist's research is playing a vital part in a developing nationwide effort to save the bat.

W. Gene Frum's hours in field surveys, collections of specimens, laboratory studies, and analysis and recording of data are proving "totally valuable" as protective action toward the flying mammals, as a dwindling wildlife resource, gains force, said Dr. Wayne H. Davis, co-author of "Bats of America" and professor of zoology at the University of Kentucky.

Frum, assistant professor of zoology at Marshall since 1959, began his work when few were interested in the insect-eating bat other than as a prop in a late-night television horror movie.

Now, as Dr. Davis, Dr. Roger H. Barbour of the University of Kentucky zoology department and other scientists push for public and official awareness of the bat's importance in nature, the Frum research is paying off.

Frum's information on the anatomy, physiology, habitat, feeding habits, and overall lifestyle of the 12 species of the order of chiroptera in West Virginia is an invaluable "groundwork" tool to graduate students and mammalogists and, according to Dr. Davis, is an integral segment of the total knowledge of the mysterious creatures that flit across the region's warm evening skies.

And knowledge is a major effective force when the men of science meet with state legislators, federal and state conservation officials and nature lovers to work to protect the declining bat populations.

(MORE)

In his West Virginia studies, Frum was one of the first to link the dwindling bat population to the use of pesticides and to the hibernation-disturbing antics of cave explorers.

"An insect is sprayed with pesticide and the bat eats the insect," Frum said. "Everyone can understand that, but in the case of the spelunker it's not always so simple. The guy is having an outing and may come across a colony of hibernating bats in a cave. The man means no harm, but the bats become disturbed, become active, burn up their stored fat and die when they return to hibernation."

Frum supports Dr. Davis, Dr. Barbour and others who are pushing for conservation measures in which important bat colonies in caverns such as Bat Cave at Carter Caves in Kentucky would be protected from undue human disturbance.

"If we could get caves with known bat colonies closed to spelunkers during the winter hibernation season we could chalk up a strong plus-mark in the effort to save the bat," Frum said.

Other things they would like to see:

- Continuance of the trend away from the use of dangerous residual pesticides.
- Scientists and others who work with bats to collect specimens, whenever feasible, from buildings where they constitute a nuisance.
- And that people should become aware of the bat's key role in nature and become concerned about protection of the species.

In his research, Frum found that, contrary to the beliefs of street-corner bat experts, the creatures do not like to fly down and become entangled in some housewife's hair.

"This has happened of course," Frum said. "A bat is found in a home and as he is being evicted he gets excited and flits about. He is just as unhappy about it as the homeowner."

(MORE)

The Marshall faculty member said bats found in homes should be captured in some sort of container and released outside the dwelling. He said any bat that appears to be ill should be avoided, like any other ailing animal, because of the possibility of rabies.

Frum, who earned his Master's Degree in zoology at West Virginia University and studied under noted mammalogist Dr. E.R. Hall at the University of Kansas, said the possibility of rabies in bats is no greater than in any other wild animal.

He said bats don't carry bedbugs, but do carry an occasional flea. He said they are intelligent and clean.

Relying on their echolocation senses, they are attracted to light only if a swarm of insects happen to be flying in that light, he said.

Bats found in West Virginia and the Tri-State are insect eaters and are not harmful to people. Fruit-eating bats exist in other sections of the continent and Central America has a vampire bat that likes the blood of cattle, horses or humans.

The Marshall scientist said in his years of study in this region he knows of no attack of a bat upon a human. "If you grab a bat, you may get bit," he said, "but that is only nature's self-defense mechanism at work as it exists in all creatures."

Most of the bats found in the Tri-State are brown bats that measure about $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches from nose to tail and have a wingspan of perhaps eight inches.

The largest bat the Huntington resident has encountered in the Mountain State is the Hoary Bat, a creature with dark fur fringed in silver, that has a wing span of 17 inches. "They are very rare in West Virginia," Frum said.

Bats who like the Tri-State and West Virginia are, for the most part, cave dwellers, Frum said. "They love our limestone caves," he said.

Why protect the bat?

"They are of benefit to man," Frum said. "They are an endangered species and as part of the balance of nature, they must survive."

(MORE)

4-4-4

Dr. Davis, who with Dr. Barbour dedicated their 1974 book "Mammals of Kentucky" to Frum, said the Marshall University scientist is recognized as one of the most competent in the field. "His work is especially valuable now," Davis added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

April 11, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A seminar for alumni with Dr. Charles H. Moffat, chairman of Marshall University's Department of History, will be one of the highlights of Marshall's Alumni Weekend, April 23-25.

A noted scholar and historian, Dr. Moffat will speak on "What Manner of Men Were Our Presidents?" at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 24, in Room 2W22, Memorial Student Center.

Tickets to the seminar can be obtained free of charge by calling the Office of Alumni Affairs, (304) 696-3134.

A member of Marshall's faculty since 1946, Moffat has served as departmental chairman since 1968. Much sought after nationally as a speaker, he averages about 30 addresses annually.

Dr. Moffat, a native of Mississippi, earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Mississippi and his doctorate from Vanderbilt.

Listed in "Who's Who in the East" and in the 1971 and 1973 editions of "Outstanding American Educators," Dr. Moffat has had numerous articles published in professional journals.

Dr. Moffat is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary; Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary; Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary; the Organization of American Historians; the American Historical Association and the West Virginia Historical Association.

He and his wife, the former Mary Wright, have one daughter, Mrs. Mary Moffat Jones of Huntington and two granddaughters.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 12, 1976

MAY 11 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A professor at the University of Illinois College of Medicine and staff member of Chicago's West Side Veterans Administration Hospital has accepted a departmental chairmanship with the Marshall University School of Medicine.

The appointment of Dr. Maurice A. Mufson as chairman of the Department of Medicine is effective June 1, Dr. Robert W. Coon, vice chancellor for health education of the West Virginia Board of Regents, announced today.

However, Mufson will be available to the medical school for consultation and planning purposes during the interim period, said Coon, who is functioning as the Marshall medical school dean until a permanent dean is appointed.

Mufson, 43 years old, is chief of staff research and education at the Chicago VA Hospital. He serves the University of Illinois College of Medicine as professor of medicine, preventive medicine and community health and is professor of epidemiology in the college's School of Public Health.

Mufson is married and the father of three children.

He is the sixth departmental chairman in the clinical sciences to be named by the MU School of Medicine, leaving only two additional departmental heads to be appointed in this area, Coon said.

(MORE)

"As chairman of the Department of Medicine, Dr. Mufson will play one of the key roles in the Medical School's development," the vice chancellor said.

Mufson, a New York City native, earned a baccalaureate degree in chemistry from Bucknell University and his medical doctorate from New York University College of Medicine.

After a medical internship at New York's Bellevue Hospital, he served as assistant resident physician there and then was chief resident physician at Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

Mufson served on the clinical medicine faculty at George Washington University's School of Medicine from 1962 through 1965 and worked with the Laboratory of Infectious Diseases of the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., from 1961 through 1965.

Since 1965, he has been on the faculty of UI's College of Medicine. An attending physician at Chicago's Cook County Hospital since 1967, he has held the same position at the UI Hospital since 1969.

A participant in several national and international symposiums, he received a World Health Organization Exchange of Research Worker grant in 1967. A National Board of Medical Examiners diplomate, he served on the Chicago Medical Society's committee on postgraduate education, division of internal medicine. West Side Hospital's 1972 "Outstanding Professional Employee," Mufson has been a member of the VA's Central Office Council for Academic Affairs since 1973.

A member of numerous professional organizations, Mufson also has had more than 70 articles and nearly two dozen abstracts published in professional journals. He serves on the editorial board of the Journal of Clinical Microbiology and on the publications committee of the Tissue Culture Association.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

April 12, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--John Marshall needs 340,000 nickels to pay for a trip to Washington. Huntington Alloys, Inc., the local subsidiary of International Nickel (Inco), is providing the equivalent of 100,000 of them.

The Huntington firm, which manufactures nickel alloys, has contributed $5,000 toward the $17,000 cost of sending the Marshall University musical production "The Chief Justice: John Marshall" to the nation's capital for a May 11 Bicentennial performance.

Inco's gift was made through R.W. Simmons, president of Huntington Alloys, Jack C. Phillips, Marshall's director of development, announced today. It is the largest of a number of gifts, most from individuals, which have helped the Development Office reach the half-way point in a $17,000 fund-raising effort to finance a national display of Marshall talent, Phillips said.

The musical epic, written by Marshall Composer-in-Residence Paul W. Whear, has been selected to represent West Virginia in the Bicentennial Parade of American Music "state days" series in John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts on May 11. The Marshall performance will be unique in that no other state is being wholly represented by one musical work, Phillips said.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The production involves 160 performers. It has been staged in Huntington four times, including its premiere performance last spring.

"This is a tremendous production and provides a fine showcase for some of the outstanding talent available at Marshall University," Phillips said. "We believe it is important that this talent and the university receive the national exposure offered by the Kennedy Center invitation. The Huntington Alloys gift is a tremendous boost in helping us take advantage of that opportunity."

Others wishing to assist in the project may call the Development Office, 696-6440, or write Phillips in care of the university.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

April 12, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Speech and Music Departments will present the musical, "West Side Story," at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday, April 21-25, in Old Main Auditorium.

More than 70 Marshall students, faculty and area residents are involved in the production which starred Carol Lawrence, Larry Kert and Chita Rivera when it opened in New York in 1957.

Prior to the Sunday performance, a buffet dinner featuring steamship round of beef will be served at 6 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room, Memorial Student Center. The dinner tickets are $5 and show tickets are additional. Tickets may be purchased by mail or at Marshall in Old Main Room 118. Dinner and show reservations may be made up to noon April 23 by calling (304) 696-2306.

Reserved seat tickets will be sold to the general public for $3, while students may purchase theirs for $2. Tickets for the show and dinner will be sold from noon to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in Old Main 118.

Mail orders with checks payable to "West Side Story" should be sent to "West Side Story," Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va., 25701.

Tickets will also be sold at the door for one hour before each performance.

(MORE)

Two Huntington students, Vickie Totten, senior, and Robert Jackson, sophomore, will play Maria and Tony, the star-crossed lovers.

Other cast members and their roles include: Cheryl Mott, Huntington freshman, Anita; Scott Riedel, Ironton, Ohio, junior, Riff; John Amedro, Moundsville sophomore, Bernardo; Ed Corkran, Wheeling freshman, Action; Terry McNeer, St. Albans freshman, Anybodys; C. Robert Shank, Huntington special student, Doc; Rick Woods, Huntington freshman, Krupke; Peter Nichols, Huntington graduate student, Schrank, and Arlen Zornes, Chesapeake, Ohio, sophomore, Glad Hand.

Members of the Jets gang will be played by Pat Sinozich, South Point, Ohio, freshman; Mark Boshell, Kopperstown junior; Dale Staley, Wayne sophomore; Larry Lynd, South Point freshman; Ross Hudson, South Charleston sophomore; and sophomores Greg Leaming and Michael Cupp, and graduate Gene Ellis, all of Huntington.

Cast as members of the rival gang, Sharks, are Scott Wade Stewart, Ceredo freshman; Larry Scantland, Parkersburg freshman; Gary Carter, Milton freshman; and sophomore Rick Perdue; senior Mark Lenning; sophomore Jeff McComas; freshman John McGhee; sophomore Salahuddin Akkad and freshman Mohammed Salih Al-Tuwayan, all of Huntington.

Playing the girlfriends of the Jets will be Tami Bartee, Chesapeake, Ohio, freshman; Missy Watts, Beckley freshman; and junior Karin McCreery; sophomores Sue Grizzell and Vickey Riley; freshmen Manena Fayos and Brooke Adkins, all of Huntington.

Cast as the Sharks' girls are Susan Spears, Point Pleasant freshman; Susan Sanders, Nitro sophomore; and seniors Che Franklin and Deborah Morgan and junior Martha N. Shaffer, all of Huntington.

(MORE)

The orchestra includes the following area residents: Alfred P. Lanneger, MU associate professor of music, David Becker, Katherine Becker, Kamine Becker, Anita Albright, all of Huntington; Christi Folsom, Chesapeake, and Peggy Johnston, Proctorville, Ohio.

Student members include graduate Samuel Bauserman, senior David Waybright, and juniors William Wassum and Vernon Varnum, all of Huntington; juniors David King and Allan Jones, sophomores Gregory Wassum and Susan Bunsey, freshmen Danny King and Clifford Riley, all of Barboursville; Chris Unger, Coplay, Pa., graduate; Judy May, Woodbridge, Va., senior; Susan Carter, Parkersburg freshman; Dianna Harris, Wahama junior; Rob Mesite, Manassas, Va., sophomore; James Prunty, Manassas junior, and Robert Leete, Buffalo junior.

The production staff includes the producers, Dr. Dorothy Johnson and Dr. Wendell Kumlien, speech and music departmental chairmen; Dr. Elaine A. Novak, general director; J.D. Folsom, musical director, and Bruce Greenwood, scenic designer and technical director.

Students involved in the production end of the musical are Elizabeth Hay, Huntington junior, choreographer; Jan Santee, Huntington senior, tickets; Malana Henderson, Kenova junior, rehearsal pianist; Karen Hardway, Huntington junior, costumes, and Susan Quick, Iaeger senior, stage manager.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 9 1976

NEWS RELEASE

ARCHIVES

April 12, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Marshall University will host an open house for high school and community college counselors from West Virginia, southern Ohio and eastern Kentucky on Wednesday, April 21, in Room 2W22 of Memorial Student Center.

Nearly 100 counselors are expected to attend the half-day session, sponsored by Marshall's Office of Admissions and Department of Military Science, according to James W. Harless, admissions director.

"The program is designed to provide the counselors up-to-date information on the university to assist them in informing the students they counsel," Harless said.

Several of the new programs and services at Marshall will be discussed, including the School of Medicine, MU Community College, financial aid, the ROTC program, housing and student services, Harless said.

Also, new procedures in the school's admissions policy which would allow students to be admitted on the basis of their ACT scores will be outlined, he added.

Following coffee and pastries at 9 a.m., the counselors will be greeted by Dr. Olen E. Jones Jr., executive vice president of the university.

On hand to answer questions later that morning will be the deans of the undergraduate colleges. After a luncheon, campus tours and interviews with departmental chairmen will be arranged for those counselors who wish them.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

April 13, 1976

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

APR 12 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Dr. James G. Harlow, president of West Virginia University, will be the speaker at Marshall University's 139th annual Commencement, scheduled Saturday, May 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Field House. He also will be awarded an honorary degree from Marshall.

"We're pleased that Dr. Harlow has accepted our invitation to be the Commencement speaker," Marshall President Robert B. Hayes said.

"In his nine years as president of West Virginia University Dr. Harlow has provided outstanding educational leadership not only on his campus but throughout the state. His cooperation with Marshall University has been excellent and his assistance has been particularly helpful in our efforts to establish a medical school at Marshall," Dr. Hayes added.

"We're delighted to have the opportunity to recognize his contributions."

Dr. Harlow became the 16th president of West Virginia University in 1967. A native of Oklahoma City, Okla., he earned degrees in physics from the University of Oklahoma and received his doctorate in education from the University of Chicago.

He served as assistant professor of physics, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, professor of education and dean of the College of Education at the University of Oklahoma. He held the latter position at the time he accepted the WVU presidency. He also was an associate professor of education at the University of Chicago from 1953 to 1958.

(MORE)

Long concerned with problems of community and industrial development, Dr. Harlow has worked with Chambers of Commerce in Norman and Oklahoma City in Oklahoma and in Morgantown in West Virginia. In Oklahoma City he served 10 years as executive vice president of a Chamber-based educational development program, the Frontiers of Science Foundation, which received national attention and a formal commendation from the President of the United States.

His activity in professional associations has included service on national commissions, boards and advisory councils of the American Association of School Administrators, University Council on Educational Administration, National Science Teacher Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, National Science Foundation, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He is serving on the Southern Regional Education Board, the Education Commission of the States, and the board of the Public Broadcasting Service.

Dr. Harlow is chairman of the board and president of Harlow Publishing Corp. of Norman, Okla., a school book company founded by his father in 1911. He also serves as chairman of the board of directors of the Baltimore Branch, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., as a director of the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation of Pittsburgh, and as a director of Consolidated Natural Gas Co. Early this year the Charleston Sunday Gazette Mail named him "West Virginian of the Year for 1975" in recognition of his services to WVU and the state.

Dr. Harlow served as a naval officer in World War II. He is married to the former Adalene Agnes Rae and they are the parents of three children: James G. Jr., Mary Adalene and Dan Rae.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

APR 28 1976

April 13, 1976

ARCHIVES

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Clair W. Matz Jr., assistant professor of political science at Marshall University, has been named a Danforth Associate by the National Council of the Danforth Foundation.

His appointment, effective June, 1976, is for a six-year period.

The Danforth Foundation is a national educational and philanthropic organization dedicated to advancing teaching and scholarship at institutions of higher learning.

A member of Marshall's faculty since 1970, Matz earned his B.A. degree from Albright College in Reading, Pa., and a M.S.T. from United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio. He received a master's degree in international affairs from Lehigh University and a doctorate in foreign affairs from the University of Virginia.

He is a member of several professional organizations, including the American Political Science Association and the Regional Association of Latin American Scholars.

Nominated by former Danforth Associates at the resident school, Associates selected are those teacher-scholars who blend a strong concern for students with a concern for values and an awareness of contemporary education issues.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Marshall currently has five other Danforth Associates: Dr. Carolyn Karr, associate professor of social studies; Dr. Mahlon C. Brown, professor of social studies; Dr. Paul D. Stewart, dean of the Graduate School; Dr. E. S. Hanrahan, Department of Chemistry chairman and Dr. Harold L. Willey, professor of education.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. HOLLOWAY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

APR 28 1976

ARCHIVES

April 13, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Manfred O. Meitzen of West Virginia University has been elected president of the newly-organized West Virginia Association for the Humanities. He is chairman of the Program for the Humanities and professor of Religious Studies at West Virginia University.

Dr. Joan F. Adkins, associate professor of English at Marshall University, was named president-elect and Dr. Henry B. Sendaydiego, professor of philosophy at Wheeling College, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The group's organizational meeting was held last weekend at Camp Virgil Tate in Kanawha County, Dr. Adkins said. Its goals are to provide information and resources to promote study of the humanities.

"While the direction of education becomes progressively complex and vague, and the funding increasingly trimmed in the face of rising costs, educators across the nation are sounding the alarm of erosion of standards," Dr. Adkins said. "The West Virginia Association of the Humanities represents an effort to reinstate at all educational levels the traditional concepts of humane learning."

Membership in the organization is open to private citizens as well as teachers and administrators in the educational system, Dr. Adkins said. Interested persons may contact Dr. Sendaydiego at Wheeling College.

The next meeting has been scheduled tentatively for September at Marshall University.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

April 13, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Katina Cummings of Huntington, a Marshall University junior, won first place in the Central Region of the Bicentennial Youth Debates competition held Saturday in Williamsburg, Va.

Speaking on "Can America Afford a Foreign Policy Based on Moral Principle?", she competed against representatives from six other states in the persuasive speaking division of the intercollegiate contest.

As one of eight regional winners, Miss Cummings will compete in the national contest scheduled June 1-4 in Washington, D.C. Her win Saturday also netted her $1,000 in prize money.

A graduate of Huntington High School, Miss Cummings is majoring in political science and history at Marshall.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
THE MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

APR 20 1976

ARCHIVES

April 14, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. James O. Nichols of Athens, W.Va., has accepted an offer to become director of institutional research and planning at Marshall University, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

The appointment of Nichols, currently coordinator of institutional studies for Concord College and Bluefield State College, will be effective May 15, Hayes said.

The position combines two existing part-time offices in the Marshall organization--director of planning, currently vacant, and director of institutional research. Dr. Homer Arhelger, the institutional research director, had requested some months ago that he be relieved of the part-time administrative position in order to devote full time to his teaching duties as professor of education.

Nichols will be responsible for collecting and organizing institutional data for planning purposes as well as for reports to the West Virginia Board of Regents and other agencies. He also will work with faculty committees, students and members of the administration to develop both short- and long-range plans for the future growth and direction of the university, Hayes said.

(MORE)

Nichols, 35, is a native of Corpus Christi, Texas. He majored in social science at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas, and earned his Master of Arts in Teaching degree from Alaska Methodist University in Anchorage. He was awarded the Ph.D. degree in higher education by the University of Toledo.

Before assuming the joint position at the two West Virginia colleges in 1973, he served two years as director of institutional research at Concord. He also served administrative internships in the Community and Technical College and in the Division of Adult and Continuing Education at the University of Toledo. He is the author of a number of professional papers and research articles.

Nichols and his wife, Karen, are the parents of four children. He is active in the Protestant Episcopal Church and is a member of the Athens Lions Club. He also is a major in the U.S. Army Reserve and is director of the Non-Commissioned Officer Academy, 2093rd U.S. Army Reserve School in South Charleston.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 18, 1976

MAY 5 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Parties, sports events, a musical play, an awards banquet and a picnic are just some of the activities awaiting Marshall University alumni when they return to campus next weekend.

The theme for MU's Alumni Weekend, scheduled Friday through Saturday, April 23-25, is "A Time to Return to Campus" and a wide array of events is planned, according to Donald D. Ferguson, MU Alumni Association president.

Kicking off the weekend at 9 p.m. Friday is a "Roaring Twenties" party at the UpTowner Inn, featuring the Lucky Jazz Band. Tickets, which cost $4, can be obtained from the Alumni Affairs Office, Room 2W20, Memorial Student Center or by telephoning the office, 696-3134.

All of the events are open to the public, including the Alumni Banquet to be held at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center. Reservations for the $6 prime rib dinner should be made by Thursday with the alumni office.

Four Marshall alumni will be honored at the banquet which will be preceded by the association's annual business meeting. Receiving Distinguished Alumnus Awards will be Dr. William E. Hatfield, noted author and research chemist at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Soupy Sales, entertainer and television personality.

(MORE)

William Edward Blevins, vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, will be presented the Alumnus Community Achievement Award, while John L. "Patsy" Jefferson Jr., operator of the Riveria Golf Club near Huntington, will receive the association's Distinguished Service Award.

Among the sports events scheduled is the annual intra-squad "Green and White" football game with ticket proceeds going into the Big Green Scholarship Fund. The game will be played at 1 p.m. Saturday at Fairfield Stadium. Beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday is the MU Invitational Track and Field Meet and the alumni golf outing is set for 8 a.m. Sunday at the Riveria Golf Club.

Throughout the weekend, the Music and Speech Departments will be presenting the musical, "West Side Story," at 8 p.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

Also on Saturday, Dr. Charles H. Moffat, chairman of MU's Department of History and noted scholar, will present a seminar at 11 a.m. in Room 2W22 of the Student Center. Tickets for his address, "What Manner of Men Were Our Presidents?", can be obtained without charge from the alumni office.

A schedule of alumni events follows:

FRIDAY

--"West Side Story," Old Main Auditorium, 8 p.m., nightly through Sunday, tickets at $3, reservations by calling 696-2306 between noon and 4:30 p.m.

--"Roaring Twenties" Party honoring Classes of 1926, 1951, 1966 and Distinguished Alumni Award recipients, 9 p.m., UpTowner Inn.

(MORE)

SATURDAY

--"Eye-Opener" coffee and doughnuts, escorted campus tours, Alumni Lounge, Memorial Student Center, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

--Alumni Seminar with speaker Dr. Charles H. Moffat, 11 a.m. in Room 2W22, Memorial Student Center.

--Marshall University Invitation Track and Field Meet, MU track, 19th Street and 5th Avenue, preliminaries 11 a.m., finals at 2 p.m., adult tickets $1, student tickets 50 cents.

--Green and White football game, Fairfield Stadium at 1 p.m., tickets $2 and student tickets $1.

--Annual alumni meeting, election of alumni board officers and board business proposals, 6 p.m., Alumni Lounge, Memorial Student Center.

--Alumni Banquet, 7 p.m., Multi-Purpose Room, Memorial Student Center.

SUNDAY

--Alumni Golf Outing, 8 a.m. at Riveria Golf Club with flight prizes and trophies, $5.50, with reservations by Thursday.

--"Rally Round the Herd" picnic, 2 p.m., Huntington Fraternal Order of Police Farm, U.S. 52 near Wayne.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Robert D. Olson, professor of speech at Marshall University, will be a member of the faculty of the Patient Care Audit workshop to be conducted in conjunction with the New York Speech and Hearing Association convention at Grossinger, N.Y., April 23-25.

Olson, who is director of Marshall's Speech and Hearing Center, is a continuing member of the faculty sponsored by the American Speech and Hearing Association which conducts similar patient care workshops across the country. He also will teach in the next workshop at a national conference for directors of speech and hearing clinics which is to be held at Lake Tahoe, Calif., June 18-20.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
MURROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

April 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. A. Mervin Tyson has agreed to postpone his retirement and serve another year as vice president for academic affairs at Marshall University, President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

Hayes said the university had not been able to find a suitable person for the vice presidential position although about 100 applicants have been considered.

Tyson had been scheduled to retire Aug. 31 of this year.

"The vice president for academic affairs holds one of the most sensitive and important positions on any campus," Hayes said. "We want to be sure we have a truly outstanding person in that job. When it became apparent that we were going to have difficulty in finding a permanent appointee with the necessary qualifications, I decided to ask Dr. Tyson to change his plans and remain another year while we continue to search for a successor. I am delighted that he has agreed to do so."

Tyson assumed the vice presidency Oct. 27, 1975, succeeding Dr. William K. Easley who resigned because of poor health. At that time, Tyson was professor of English and director of writing, as well as coordinator of the university's institutional self-study project. He previously had served as vice president for academic affairs, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and chairman of the Department of English.

(MORE)

2-2-2

A native of Pennsylvania, Tyson has been at Marshall since 1959. He earned degrees from Gettysburg College, the University of Michigan and the University of Pennsylvania and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Before coming to Marshall he taught at Rider College in New Jersey and at Kutztown (Pa.) State College. He is active in the First United Methodist Church and is past president of the Huntington Kiwanis Club.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Two Marshall University seniors, Donald Cregut of Huntington and John Parr of St. Albans, have been selected to attend the Bicentennial Symposium on American Institutions in Arlington, Va., April 23-25. They will be accompanied by Dr. Harold E. Neely, associate professor of political science, who will be an observer.

The event is sponsored by the Center for the Study of the Presidency, Neely said, and is the seventh annual national student symposium.

The delegates are scheduled to visit the White House Friday afternoon, April 23, at which time they will hear President Gerald Ford. They also will be addressed by U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey that evening.

They will participate in discussions with a number of national figures during the three-day affair, covering such topics as "Selection of the President," "National Security Policy," Economic and Social Policy" and "National Leadership."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

April 22, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. David W. Champagne, associate professor of education at the University of Pittsburgh, will lead seminars at Marshall University this weekend, according to Dr. Neil Gibbins, Educational Administration and Supervision Department chairman.

The two-day conference for the department's administrative interns and supervisors begins Friday, April 23, at 4 p.m. in Memorial Student Center's Alumni Lounge. Champagne will discuss "Organization and Models of Clinical Supervision" at the opening session.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday and again at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, he will lecture on "Clinical Supervision."

Champagne's visit to Marshall is being underwritten by a Distinguished Lectureship grant from the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

Serving on the University of Pittsburgh's Program of Curriculum and Supervision faculty, Champagne has degrees in science and education from the State University of New York and Harvard University. He received his doctorate in curriculum and supervision from the University of Pittsburgh.

He has had several articles published in national publications and has worked as an educational consultant in the field of supervision and classroom instruction.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

April 22, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. Joseph LaPalombara, chairman of the Yale University Department of Political Science, will be at Marshall University on Wednesday, April 28.

An internationally known political scientist, Dr. LaPalombara will deliver two lectures on Western European politics. He will discuss "The Overseas Behavior of U.S. Multi-National Corporations" at 2 p.m. in Smith Hall Auditorium. At 8 p.m. in the UpTowner Inn, he will talk on "Political Inequality and Its Consequences." Both lectures are open to the public without charge.

Preceding the evening lecture, Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, will sponsor a dinner at 6 p.m. at the UpTowner. Reservations for the dinner, which will cost $6.75, may be made with David Castle, an assistant in the James E. Morrow Library, by calling 696-2320.

A Guggenheim Fellow, Fulbright Scholar and Ford Foundation Fellow, LaPalombara specializes in Italian and French politics. Awarded the Italian Republic's Order of Merit in 1964, a decade later he served as Knight Commander of the Order.

A member of several professional organizations, he has published numerous books and articles on European political parties, interest groups and political elites.

(MORE)

2-2-2

LaPalombara earned his bachelor degree with high honors from the University of Illinois, and his master's and doctorate from Princeton University. He also studied at the University of Rome.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he is the Arnold Wolfers Professor of Political Science at Yale. He also has taught at Michigan State University, Princeton, Oregon State University and several European universities.

Expressing his pleasure at being able to have a scholar of LaPalombara's stature on campus, Dr. Clair Matz, assistant professor of political science, said: "Our department considers visiting lectures a way to expose Marshall students to some of the most outstanding people in the field."

LaPalombara's appearance at Marshall has been made possible by a Distinguished Lectureship Grant from the MU Foundation, Inc.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 23, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 1 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--An English Institute on linguistics and the teaching of writing will be held at Marshall University Tuesday, April 27, Dr. M.O. Mitchell, chairman of Marshall's English Department, announced today.

Drs. Ruth and Lewis Barnes, faculty members of Morehead (Ky.) State University's Division of Language and Literature, will conduct the Institute for members of the MU English faculty.

Starting at 9:30 a.m., the two linguistic specialists will discuss various topics including new classroom approaches to the teaching of writing, effective ways to evaluate compositions and the relation between psycholinguistics and writing.

Language arts teachers from Cabell and Wayne public schools have been invited to attend the final session at 4 p.m. to hear Dr. Lewis Barnes lecture on the "Relation of Linguistics to the Teaching of Writing," according to Dr. Bruce Ardinger, assistant professor of English, who is chairman of the committee coordinating the Institute.

Dr. Barnes and his wife have been teaching at Morehead State University since 1963.

Dr. Ruth Barnes earned a bachelor degree with honors in English, a master's and doctorate in English literature, all from London University. She also holds a Doctor of Letters in English language.

(MORE)

She has taught at several British universities, the University of Buffalo and Xavier University.

Dr. Lewis Barnes received baccalaureate and master's degrees in mathematics and chemistry from Louisiana State University and Birmingham-Southern College, respectively. He earned a law degree from John Marshall University in Atlanta, Ga., and holds several degrees from Canadian universities, including a doctorate in English literature from the University of Ottawa. He also has a Doctor of Letters in English language from London University.

He has taught at several New York universities, the University of Southern California, Tulane and London University.

The Institute is being underwritten by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., through its Instructional Enhancement Fund.

Assisting Ardinger in arrangements for the Institute are the following members of the English Department: Dr. Peter Fei, associate professor; Walter Sawaniewski, associate professor; Elinore Taylor, instructor; Carol Valentine, assistant professor, and Jane Wells, assistant professor.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 24, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Thanks to the efforts of a group of Marshall University students and their faculty advisor, the Law School Admission Test will be offered at Marshall this summer.

Members of the John Marshall Prelaw Association and their advisor, Dr. Soo Bock Choi, petitioned the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., to designate Marshall as a center for administering the Law School Admission Test, which is required for students who hope to attend a law school. Charleston previously was the closest testing center.

Their petition was endorsed by Dr. A.M. Tyson, Marshall vice president for academic affairs, and the Educational Testing Service agreed to establish a test center at Marshall through his office.

The test will be administered Saturday, July 24. It will be open to prelaw students from schools throughout the region, Tyson said. Those wishing to take the test at Marshall may obtain application forms and detailed information by writing Professor Choi in care of the university. Application should be made through the university no later than June 1.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--"The Lost Counties," a Marshall University Reader's Theater production, will be presented by the MU Department of Speech at 8 p.m., Wednesday, May 5, in Smith Hall Room 154.

The event is open to the public without charge.

The program theme, in keeping with the Bicentennial, is the growth of West Virginia colleges and universities throughout the years.

Materials from various sources including institutional histories, "The West Virginia Review" and 19th Century issues of "The Parthenon," Marshall's student newspaper were assembled for the presentation by the director, Dr. William G. Kearns, associate professor of speech.

Five Marshall speech students from Huntington will appear in the production: Steve Floyd and Elizabeth Ensign, seniors, and Noel Earl, Ann Moore and Elizabeth Hay, juniors.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

April 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. FARROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Department of Music will present the University Singers in a concert, "Spectacular '76," at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 1, in Old Main Auditorium. The concert will be open to the public.

Tickets will go on sale Monday, April 26, and can be obtained in advance by calling the Music Department at 696-3113 or 696-3117. They also will be on sale at the door for one hour preceding the concert. Tickets will be $2. Marshall students with activity cards may purchase tickets for $1.

The University Singers, directed by Dr. William Kumlien, departmental chairman and professor of music, will present a program consisting of popular, rock and jazz selections.

During the year the Singers have performed at The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs and Washington, D.C. as well as throughout the state.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. SMITH LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Gloria Steinem, perhaps the best known figure in the women's movement, will dedicate Marshall University's Women's Center at 3 p.m. Friday, April 30, according to Jane Bilewicz, assistant dean of students.

Two other nationally recognized women's movement leaders, Flo Kennedy, founder of the Black Feminist Party, and Jan Peterson, a New York City psycho-therapist, will take part in the two days of activities surrounding the formal opening of the Women's Center, located in the basement of Old Main in Room B-16.

Ms. Steinem, an editor for Ms. Magazine, also will deliver the keynote address for the celebration at 8 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

The Center is a place where women can meet to discuss common problems and acquire information about courses, workshops and other programs affecting them available not only on campus but within the Huntington community as well. The Center also provides referral services in academic advising and counseling areas.

Friday's activities include a reception for Ms. Steinem at 4 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge, Memorial Student Center; a $1.50 dinner with Ms. Steinem at 5 p.m. in the student center cafeteria, and the premiere of a documentary film on Appalachian women at 6:30 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Saturday's sessions open with coffee and doughnuts at 8 a.m. in the Alumni Lounge, followed at 8:30 by an address by Ms. Peterson in the Multi-Purpose Room. Her topic is "The Therapy of Feminism or Being a Woman is Good For What Ails Ya!"

Several workshops are scheduled during the morning and afternoon on Saturday. Slated from 9:30 to 11 a.m. are sessions on "Assertiveness Training," conducted by Nancy Matthews and Barbara Matz of the Community Mental Health Center; "Women and Aging," conducted by representatives from the West Virginia Commission on Aging, and "Women and Consumerism," conducted by Dr. Carole Vickers, Marshall associate professor of home economics.

After a coffee break, three other workshops will begin at 11:30 a.m. and run until lunch at 1 p.m. These include "Women and Politics" with Phyllis Given, a member of the West Virginia House of Delegates; "Women and Welfare" with Helen Powell, coordinator of benefit services, Mountaineer Family Health Planning Clinic, Beckley, and "Impact of Women on Public Policy Formation in West Virginia" with Susan Kelly, Citizens Action Group of Charleston.

Ms. Kennedy, attorney and delegate to the Black Political Caucus, will speak at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Student Center. A reception in her honor will follow in the Alumni Lounge.

All activities are open to the public and with the exception of the dinner Friday and Saturday's lunch which cost $1 are free. Volunteer babysitters will be available at the Center during Saturday's events.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES

April 25, 1976

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

Dear News Media Representative,

In addition to the speeches and workshops detailed in the attached release, arrangements have been made for press conferences with Gloria Steinem on Friday, April 30, and with Flo Kennedy and Jan Peterson on Saturday, May 1.

The three women's movement activists will be on Marshall University's campus in connection with the dedication of the MU Women's Center.

Ms. Steinem, an editor for Ms. Magazine, will be available for questions at 2 p.m. Friday in the Presidents Dining Room of Memorial Student Center.

On Saturday at 1:15 p.m., Flo Kennedy, founder of the Black Feminist Party, and Ms. Peterson, a New York City feminist psycho-therapist, will meet with newsmen in Memorial Student Center's Alumni Lounge.

If you have any questions about the program or the news conferences, please call our office at 696-6453 and we will be glad to help you.

Sincerely,

Judith Casto

(Mrs.) Judith Casto
Assistant Director
Office of Informational Services

JC/lm

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A "synergetic sandbox" came to Marshall University last week, permitting members of the Geography Department faculty and students to "take off our intellectual shoes and build sand castles in two or three dimensions."

The "sandbox" is an analog field plotter. It was accompanied by its inventor, Dr. Robert E. Nunley, holder of two degrees from Marshall and one-time Spanish instructor at the university.

Nunley, now a professor of geography at the University of Kansas, came back to Marshall last weekend to give lecture-demonstrations on his field plotter to Geography Department students and faculty.

"Synergetic sandbox" is his terminology for the analog field plotter. It is a box-like object with protruding knobs and dials which regulate electronic beeps used for plotting fields, traced with an electronic pencil.

The field plotter works on the assumption that people behave like electrons, according to Nunley, a native of Red Jacket in Mingo County, W.Va. "It uses that analogy to let you move electrons about as one might move people," Nunley said.

"The field plotter lets people look at cities and how their population is distributed; it lets you measure city trade area boundaries and helps you look at different land uses within the boundaries," Nunley explained.

"You can study glacial ice flows, stream flow and a host of geographical problems," he added. "It's a valuable tool for understanding energy and space," he said.

(MORE)

Nunley began work on his analog field plotter in 1963 and in 1969 Interpretation Systems, Inc., of Lawrence, Kans., began marketing the "toy" for scholars.

Nunley also has invented a more complex version of the plotter--a hybrid spatial distribution computer system which has been approved by the National Science Foundation.

"It's merely a bigger synergetic sandbox," Nunley noted. Both devices are aids to "solving spatial problems," he said.

A graduate of Logan High School, Nunley earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Marshall University and his doctorate in geography from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, with a minor in economics.

While working on his master's at Marshall, he served as an instructor in the Spanish Department. Nunley has done a lot of research and field studies in Costa Rica, Puerto Rico and Mexico. He speaks and reads Spanish as readily as he does English.

Joining the University of Kansas faculty in 1962 as associate professor of geography, he served as associate director of the school's Center for Latin American Studies from 1962 to 1964. The 45-year-old geographer also taught at Wayne State University in Detroit.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has written numerous articles for both U.S. and Latin American publications.

Nunley and his wife, Ann, have four children. His hobbies include photography, ballads, guitar and farming.

Nunley's visit to Marshall was underwritten by an Instructional Enhancement grant from the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

Nunley said he planned to put the grant money into a savings account to be supplemented with interest and other funds. He plans to use the fund for two or three follow-up trips to see how Marshall geographers are utilizing his field plotter.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Jane B. Shepherd and Leo V. Imperi, members of Marshall University's Department of Music, will present a joint faculty recital at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 29, in Smith Recital Hall.

The program will feature French, German, Italian and English art songs, oratorio excerpts, operatic arias and show tunes from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Mrs. Shepherd, a mezzo-soprano, and Imperi, bass, will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Shep Mann, former Marshall faculty member and long-time Huntington music teacher.

The event is open to the public without charge.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

April 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A suite of six plays, entitled "If Our Ancestors Could See Us Now," will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, in Smith Hall Room 154, under the auspices of Marshall University's Human Relations Center.

The plays, written and directed by Dwight L. Wilson, associate dean of students, trace the Afro-American experience from 1619 to 1976.

The 10 members of the Bi-Ways Players, a group sponsored by the center, will perform the 30 roles involved in the Bicentennial suite of plays, according to Wilson.

The event is open to the public without charge.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON

NEWS RELEASE

April 26, 1976

MAY 5 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Putnam County Pickers will present a workshop and concert at Marshall University on Thursday, April 29.

The appearance of the group from the Hurricane, W.Va., area is being sponsored by MU's Office of Student Activities with the assistance of the West Virginia Arts and Humanities Council.

At 4 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154, the Pickers will conduct a two-hour workshop in the form of a folk musicology presentation, demonstrating such musical styles as bluegrass, folk, jazz and ragtime.

A dulcimer demonstration and lecture on Irish ballads will be included.

At 9 p.m., the group will give an outdoor concert on the plaza of Memorial Student Center.

The events are open to the public without charge.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 27, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--West Virginia Board of Regents Chancellor Ben L. Morton will be the principal speaker at Marshall University's Faculty Research Awards Dinner Thursday evening, April 29.

Several Marshall faculty members will be honored for their research and creative arts activities, Graduate School Dean Paul D. Stewart said. The dinner, to be held in the Special Dining Room of Memorial Student Center, will begin at 6:30 p.m. Attendance is by invitation only.

A grand award of $1,500 and five divisional awards of $250 each are to be presented for outstanding research and creative arts efforts under a new program announced in February. The selections were made by committees appointed by the Marshall Research Board, of which Dr. Stewart is chairman.

The prizes are being funded by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., to recognize research work by faculty members and to stimulate additional research and creative arts activities, Stewart said.

Names of the winners will be announced at the dinner, Stewart said.

About 100 people have been invited to attend the dinner, including the award winners and their spouses, recipients of summer research grants, several major administrators and representatives of the Marshall Foundation.

"The Faculty Research Awards represent another step in the continuing program to maintain a high level of academic quality at Marshall University," Stewart said. "We are indebted to the Marshall Foundation for making these awards possible."

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES HARLOW PRESLEY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

PLEASE HOLD FOR RELEASE

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28

MAY 5 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A major industrial leader and an outstanding research scientist have been selected to receive honorary degrees during Marshall University's 1976 Commencement program, Marshall President Robert B. Hayes announced today.

L. Edward Grubb, chairman and chief officer of the International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd., will receive the Doctor of Laws degree. A Doctor of Science degree will be awarded to Joseph J. Smith, director of research and development for Union Carbide Corporation's Chemicals and Plastics Operations Division.

The Commencement ceremonies are scheduled for Saturday, May 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Field House. As announced earlier, Dr. James G. Harlow, president of West Virginia University, will be the Commencement speaker. He also will be awarded an honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters.

In announcing the selection of Smith and Grubb as honorary degree recipients, President Hayes noted, "Both men have achieved outstanding records in their respective fields. In addition to their professional accomplishments, however, they have provided significant support for higher education both as individuals and in their corporate positions."

Grubb, a former Huntington resident, now makes his home in Toronto, Canada. Smith's headquarters are located in South Charleston and he resides in Charleston.

(MORE)

A native of Passaic, N.J., Grubb graduated with a B.A. degree from Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn. He joined the International Nickel organization in 1934 and was assigned to Huntington Alloy Products Division (now Huntington Alloys, Inc.) where he remained as a member of the Accounting Department until 1937. After serving as general superintendent of the company's Bayonne Works in New Jersey, he returned to Huntington in 1953 as general superintendent here.

Grubb moved to New York City in 1957 as assistant vice president of The International Nickel Co., Inc., and in 1961 was elected vice president with responsibility for primary nickel commercial activities in the United States.

He held a number of other major positions with the parent firm and its subsidiaries, becoming president and chief officer of the parent company in 1972. In 1974 he was selected to head the company as chairman of the board of directors and of the executive committee, as well as chief officer. He also serves as chairman of the firm's two major United States subsidiaries.

Grubb holds memberships in a number of professional organizations in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom. He also is a member of The Pilgrims of the United States and is a governor of the Olympic Trust of Canada.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Smith was a track star, winning high school and collegiate championships in the 880-yard run. He earned his B.S. degree with honors from Fordham College in New York, majoring in chemistry and philosophy with a minor in mathematics. He also studied organic chemistry, metallic corrosion and metallurgy at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N.J.

(MORE)

Smith joined Union Carbide in Bloomfield, N.J., in 1943 as a chemist and rose to assistant director and technology manager at the laboratories in Bound Brook, N.J.

He was transferred to the Union Carbide Technical Center at South Charleston, W.Va., in 1965 and the following year was appointed director of research and development.

He has done extensive research work in many areas and was one of the pioneers in the use of infrared spectrophotometry for the elucidation of synthetic polymer molecular structure. He supervises research and development programs budgeted at millions of dollars annually and is considered an expert in the design of balanced research and development programs to attain specified industrial goals.

The author of more than a dozen articles published in professional journals, Smith is the holder of two U.S. patents. He is a past member of the executive board of the Kanawha Valley Section of the American Chemical Society and served three years as chairman of the American Chemical Society-American Institute of Chemical Engineers Scholarship Committee. He is listed in "Who's Who in the East."

Smith has been active in organizing swimming programs for children and coached the Charleston Catholic High School swim team from 1967 to 1974, winning the state championship seven out of the eight years.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 29, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Two Marshall University students from Huntington will be honored by the Marshall Department of Chemistry at an awards program May 12 at 8 p.m. in Science Hall Auditorium

Julia George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred George of 415 12th Avenue, has been selected by the chemistry faculty to receive the "Outstanding Senior" award, according to Dr. E. S. Hanrahan, departmental chairman.

The award, sponsored by the Central Ohio Valley Section, American Chemical Society, consists of an 18-month paid membership in the society and the winner's name engraved on a plaque in Science Hall.

Ray Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chasey Wilson of 2976 Winters Road, was selected as the outstanding student in Chemistry 211-212. Wilson, a freshman, will receive a copy of the latest edition of the Chemical Rubber Handbook.

Guest speaker for the program will be Dr. Richard Gerkin, research scientist with Union Carbide Corp. at South Charleston. The awards will be presented by Dr. Howard Price, MU assistant professor of chemistry.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

April 30, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University's Department of Music will close its 1975-76 concert season with four programs next week, ranging from an opera workshop to a flute and piccolo recital.

All four events will be held in Smith Recital Hall and are open to the public. The programs include:

Monday, May 3, at 3:30 p.m., an Opera Workshop Production of Mozart's "Don Giovanni," directed by Dr. Paul Balshaw, professor of music. Eight music students will appear in the concert version (without sets or costumes). The title role will be sung by John Eddy, Huntington junior. Eddy was fourth-place winner in the Metropolitan Opera Auditions earlier this year. Appearing with Eddy will be Douglas Sutton, Ravenswood unclassified student; Ross Hudson, South Charleston sophomore; Allen Whitesides, Barboursville freshman; Rick Woods, Huntington freshman; Rosemary McCormick, Charleston senior; Rosemary Varnum, Huntington senior, and Donna Finch, Ellicott City, Md., sophomore.

Monday, May 3, at 8 p.m., a program of chamber and choral music featuring the Collegium Musicum, directed by Dr. Bradford DeVos, associate professor, and the A Cappella Choir, directed by Dr. Balshaw. The Collegium Musicum, a group of 12 to 14 musicians, specializes in folk and art songs of the 16th and 17th centuries, accompanied by such period instruments as the recorder, lute and harpsichord.

(MORE)

2-2-2

The choir, composed of about 60 students, will sing contemporary folk songs, a selection by French composer Jean Berger and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

Tuesday, May 4, at 8 p.m., the University Percussion Ensemble, under the direction of James Warwick, instructor. The ensemble will present a variety of contemporary arrangements and original compositions.

Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p.m., a recital of flute and piccolo chamber music featuring Tana Roquemore, flute instructor, and four students. Dr. James Taggart, associate professor of music will assist at the piano. The program will feature selections by George Telemann, representing the Baroque Era, and contemporary works of Ingolf Dahl, Roger Reynolds and Aaron Copland. The students performing will be Judy May, Woodbridge, Va., senior; Rebecca Butler, Huntington sophomore; Deborah Matthews, Huntington junior, and Susan Carder, Parkersburg freshman.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

April 30, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--"The Good Doctor," six one-act plays by Neil Simon, will be presented by Marshall University advanced acting students at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, in Old Main Auditorium.

The production will be directed by Dr. Elaine A. Novak, professor of speech and class instructor, and Margaret Fadeley, Gallipolis, Ohio, senior.

Kenny Steele, Ansted senior, will be the narrator, tying the short plays together. The comedies were adapted by Simon from stories by Anton Chekhov.

The plays and their casts include:

--"Surgery" with Lee Stinnett, a Fayette County sophomore, and Barry McOwen, Huntington junior.

--"The Governess" with Cathy Neilson and Elizabeth Hay, Huntington juniors.

--"The Seduction" with R. Arlen Zornes, Chesapeake, Ohio, sophomore; Larry Scantland, Parkersburg sophomore, and Kathi Schultz, Proctorville, Ohio, junior.

--"The Audition" with Sue Grizzell, Huntington sophomore and Steele.

--"A Defenseless Creature" with Salahuddin Akkad, Huntington sophomore; Mark Boshell, Kopperston junior, and Debra Paulsen, Chester junior.

--"The Arrangement" with Marcus Chapman, Barboursville sophomore; Robert Jackson, Huntington sophomore, and Patsy Pendleton, Huntington senior.

The performance is open to the public without charge.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

April 30, 1976

MAY 11 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Six Marshall University faculty members were honored for past achievements in research and creative arts activities last night (April 29) at a Faculty Research Awards Dinner, according to Dr. Paul D. Stewart, Graduate School dean and Research Board chairman.

Two grand awards of $1,000 each were awarded to honorees selected from the six division winners. These were presented to Dr. Paul W. Whear, professor of music, Creative Arts Division, and Dr. John Plott, associate professor of philosophy, Humanities Division.

Whear was honored for his work in using 20th Century techniques in composing music for non-professionals and the enhancement of non-musical concepts. Whear is the composer of the musical epic "The Chief Justice: John Marshall."

Interested primarily in global or world history of philosophy, Plott relates philosophies-philosophers to global contemporaries on a period by period basis, rather than the traditional western and non-western view of philosophy.

Awards of $250 each were made to the following:

Dr. Phillip Balsmeier, associate professor of management, Business Division, for research in mergers and acquisitions specifically related to railroads and industry.

(MORE)

Dr. David Woodward, professor of history, Social Sciences Division, for work concentrated in the area of British military and diplomatic history during World War I.

Dr. Joe Khatena, professor of education, Education Division, for research in creative potential, ranging from pre-school to college level adults and involving advantaged and disadvantaged children, the hearing impaired and talented and gifted.

Dr. James E. Douglass, professor of chemistry, Natural Science and Mathematics Division, for research dealing with organic heterocyclic compounds (rings of atoms, usually five- or six-membered) in which one or more atoms are of elements other than carbon. Heterocycles, particularly those of nitrogen, are found widely in nature.

Faculty members considered for the awards were nominated by their colleagues and then asked to present documentation of their published research work, Dr. Stewart said.

Selection of the winners was made by committees composed of Research Board members and other faculty not entered in the competition.

The awards were funded by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., to recognize faculty research work and to stimulate additional activity.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

May 1, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation has received a $6,500 gift from the Westmoreland Coal Company, according to Jack C. Phillips, Marshall's director of development.

The funds are earmarked for the Marshall Department of Geology.

Westmoreland has mines in four southern West Virginia counties--Boone, Nicholas, Raleigh and Wyoming. Its corporate headquarters are in Philadelphia.

In earmarking the funds, the company designated $3,000 be set aside for graduate student research on coal, Dr. Wiley Rogers, chairman of the Geology Department, said.

The remaining $3,500 will be used to provide geology students with a coal furnace for "more finite coal analysis," Rogers added.

"It is support such as this gift which aids the university in reaching its goal of excellence in higher education," said Phillips, who also serves as executive director of the Marshall Foundation.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

MAY 11 1976
ARCHIVES

May 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--Approximately 4 tons of newspaper clippings recently given to Marshall University's James E. Morrow Library are "virtually worth their weight in gold," according to Dr. Kenneth Slack, libraries director.

John T. Walton of Huntington, a retired Chessie System employee and former MU student, presented the university library with national and local newspaper clippings that he has been filing since the late 1940s.

Systematically filed under subject headings, the clippings need little work to prepare them for student use, according to Slack. "They will be an invaluable aid to students," he said.

Walton regularly clipped the Huntington Advertiser, Huntington Herald-Dispatch, New York Times, Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal, and the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

Rotating his purchases, he periodically clipped the Christian Science Monitor, Washington Post, Phoenix (Ariz.) Globe, Detroit Free Press, Tombstone (Ariz.) Epitaph and the Times-Picayune from New Orleans, to mention just a few.

"When anything of national interest happened somewhere, I'd try to get copies of the local paper," said Walton, who for 43 years was a crew caller at 16th Street and the C&O depot.

(MORE)

Walton, who will be 72 in July, and his wife are preparing to leave their home of 21 years, located at 5830 Pea Ridge Road, for a condominium apartment in Florida.

With boxes of clippings stored in a remodeled garage, his attic, basement and even at his sister-in-law's, Walton wanted to find a home for his files before leaving.

He talked with Mrs. J.W. St. Clair, a member of the Cabell-Wayne Historical Society, who put him in touch with Lisle Brown, Marshall's special collections curator.

"I wanted a good home for the collection and now I know it will be taken care of and be used," Walton said. "I can't think of a better place for it," he added.

Walton said he wasn't really sure how he started clipping and filing, but an article would catch his eye and "I guess, one thing just led to another."

His file system is headed by two subjects: File 1 is "Religion," and File A1A is "The Flag." "A lot of awful things have happened to that flag in recent years," Walton noted.

Articles related to police work interest him most, he said. "I have a great respect for law and order," he added.

His files on national parks, timber and the space program may be among the most voluminous available in one spot, Walton suggested.

His other hobbies include "cultivating people who like to cultivate," photography, fishing and golf. "I dabble in a variety of things. I don't believe in going overboard for anything," he said.

Walton, who had hoped to become a doctor, attended Marshall in the late 1920s while working seven days a week. He had to give up his structured pursuit of knowledge because of the Great Depression--a decision, he said, he has regretted ever since.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Six Marshall University faculty members with a total of 141 years of service to the university are retiring this spring.

They are Dr. Jack R. Brown, professor of English; Dr. Phyllis H. Cyrus, associate professor of finance and business law; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Czompo, assistant professor of mathematics; Dr. Ben W. Hope, professor of speech; Alfred P. Lanegger, associate professor of music, and Layton O. Thompson, associate professor of mathematics.

The retiring faculty members, along with several other retiring Marshall employees, will be honored at a dinner Saturday, May 8, in Memorial Student Center.

Dr. Brown came to Marshall in 1948 and from 1967 to 1973 served as chairman of the English Department. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he earned his doctorate from Northwestern University.

Mrs. Cyrus, who joined the Marshall faculty in 1960 is a former Cabell County public school teacher. She earned a law degree from West Virginia University and serves on the Huntington City Council.

Mrs. Czompo has been at Marshall since 1958 and also taught at the University of Oklahoma at Norman. She earned a master's degree from the University of Kentucky.

(MORE)

Dr. Hope, who until 1974 directed the university's debate program, has been at Marshall for 29 years. He holds a Ph.D. degree from Ohio State University.

Professor Lanegger joined Marshall's music department faculty in 1947 and holds a master's degree from Syracuse University. Skilled in restoring and making violins, he also serves as director of the Marshall Community Orchestra.

Professor Thompson has been at Marshall since 1955. He also taught at the University of Detroit. He earned his master's from West Virginia University.

Also to be honored at the dinner will be Joseph S. Soto, director of physical plant operations, and Dr. Dorothy A. Fisher, professor of biological sciences, whose retirements were announced earlier; Nevada Mills, secretary; J. Dolin Phipps, carpenter, and Elsie Duckworth and Evelyn Moore, custodians.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

May 2, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A noted communication authority, Dr. Walter Wolfram, will discuss the language and speech of West Virginians at Marshall University on Monday, May 3.

Wolfram, professor of communication sciences at Federal City College, Washington, D.C., will speak on "Appalachian Dialects" at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Hall Room 154.

His lecture, which is free and open to the public, is being sponsored by the Marshall Speech and Hearing Center as part of the Speech Department's 50th anniversary observance, according to Dr. Robert D. Olson, center director and professor of speech.

Wolfram will preview the forthcoming book, "Mountain Speech," which he co-authored with Donna Christian. Speech samples providing information for the book were gathered in West Virginia's Mercer and Monroe counties as a research project, sponsored by the National Institute for Education and published by the Center for Applied Linguistics in a monograph, "Sociolinguistic Variables in Appalachian Dialects."

Wolfram earned both his M.A. and Ph.D. in linguistics from the Hartford Seminary Foundation. His doctoral dissertation became the basis for the book, "A Sociolinguistic Description of Detroit Negro Speech."

(MORE)

2-2-2

He has written several books and articles on social dialects with an emphasis on urban language and Black English.

Dr. Wolfram also will lecture speech pathology and audiology students while on campus, discussing language attitudes of children and social dialects in contrast with speech and language disorders.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES F. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE

May 3, 1976

MAY 11 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

ARCHIVES

"West Virginia Day" will provide a special touch to the Bicentennial Parade of American Music Series at John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

The May 11 program, beginning at 5:30 p.m., is unusual for the series in that it will feature a single, original musical work.

Marshall University, selected to represent West Virginia in the Bicentennial series, will present the "epic" production "The Chief Justice: John Marshall" in recognition of the great jurist who established the Supreme Court as a co-equal to the executive and legislative branches of the United States government.

Written by Dr. Paul W. Whear, composer-in-residence at the university named in honor of the Supreme Court's outstanding early figure, the musical work requires a cast of 160, including instrumentalists, singers and narrators. Marshall University was established as Marshall Academy in 1837, two years after John Marshall's death, and was given his name by one of the founders, John Laidley, who had been a friend of the Chief Justice. Marshall served on the Supreme Court from 1801 to 1835.

U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, on behalf of the University, has invited the members of the Supreme Court to attend the May 11 performance. Mrs. Warren E. Burger, wife of the current Chief Justice, is serving as an Honorary Committeewoman for the concert arrangements.

(MORE)

The production recounts in words and music the service of Marshall as Revolutionary soldier, diplomat, statesman and jurist and emphasizes his vast influence on the development of the Supreme Court.

Whear, the composer, will conduct the Kennedy Center performance. He is a nationally-known composer and has received the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) Award for 10 consecutive years. He also serves as professor of music on the Marshall faculty.

"The Chief Justice" has been performed four times during the last two years in Huntington, W.Va., where Marshall University is located, and has received excellent reviews. Because of the size of the production, talented members of the community join students as performers.

Several hundred Marshall University alumni live and work in the Washington area and they are being invited to attend the performance. A reception will follow the concert in the Antrium Room on the sixth floor of the Kennedy Center.

Selection of Whear's epic to represent the state was made by the National Music Council and the National Federation of Music Clubs, co-sponsors of the "state days." There is no admission charge.

Costs of transporting and feeding the large cast are being under-written by the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAM
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 3, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Thirty-eight Marshall University faculty members have been named recipients of 1976 Summer Research Support Awards, Dr. Paul D. Stewart, Graduate School dean and Marshall Research Board chairman, announced today.

Applications for the awards were solicited from faculty members last fall and the selection was made earlier this spring by faculty committees established by the board, Dr. Stewart said.

Selected as award winners were: Dr. Joan F. Adkins, associate professor of English; Dr. R. G. Akkihal, associate professor of economics; Dr. Thomas R. Allen, associate professor of occupational, adult and safety education; Dr. Alan Bailey, assistant professor of geology; Dr. Elaine Baker, assistant professor of psychology; Dr. Phillip Balsmeier, associate professor of management; Dr. Frank L. Binder, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. Richard B. Bonnett, associate professor of geology.

Dr. Barbara Brown, assistant professor of English; James B. Bruce, political science instructor; Dr. M.R. Chakrabarty, professor of chemistry; Dr. William N. Denman, assistant professor of speech; Dr. Leonard J. Deutsch, assistant professor of English; Dr. James E. Douglass, professor of chemistry; Dr. James Joy, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. Bowie Kahle, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. Joseph Khatena, professor of education; Dr. David Koontz, associate professor of education; Joseph Lichtenstein, professor of education.

(MORE)

Dr. Clayton McNearney, assistant professor of bible and religion; Dr. Robert Maddox, associate professor of history; Dr. John H. Mead, assistant professor of music; Dr. Steven P. Mewaldt, assistant professor of psychology; Thomas S. O'Connell, associate professor of music; Dr. Charles V. Peele, assistant professor of mathematics; Dr. Phillip Pittman, associate professor of English; Dr. John C. Plott, associate professor of philosophy; Dr. Howard C. Price, assistant professor of chemistry; Dr. Donald W. Ray, psychology instructor.

Dr. Dewey Sanderson, assistant professor of geology; Dr. Michael Seidel, assistant professor of biological sciences; Dr. O. Norman Simpkins, professor of sociology and anthropology; Dr. Ram Singh, associate professor of sociology and anthropology; Dr. William Sullivan, professor of English; Dr. Paul W. Whear, professor of music; Luther G. White, assistant professor of management; Dr. Warren W. Wooden, associate professor of English, and Dr. Charles M. Woodford, associate professor of speech.

Funds are budgeted annually by the university to support the summer research awards program, Dr. Stewart said. The average award this year is for $1,200, he added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. MORGAN LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 4, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A noted communications expert and a former chairman of Marshall University's Speech Department will have roles in the observance of the department's 50th anniversary on Thursday, May 6.

Dr. James Golden, chairman of Ohio State University's Communications Department, and A. Otis Ranson, retired speech professor who chaired the Marshall department for more than 25 years, will speak at an awards program, following a dinner at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center, according to Dr. Dorothy Johnson, departmental chairman.

Golden, whose area of specialization is rhetoric, will discuss "The Challenge of Change and the Field of Speech." He also will meet with students and interested persons after the program in MSC Room 2E10 to discuss trends and employment opportunities in the speech field.

Ranson, who retired in 1972 after 41 years of teaching at Marshall, will discuss briefly the department's history.

Outstanding achievements of students in the areas of broadcasting, speech pathology and audiology, public address and theater will be recognized during the program. Awards will be presented by members of the Speech Department faculty.

The program, which is to begin at 8:30 p.m., is open to the public without charge.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORRISON PRESIDENT
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

May 5, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Community College and District 1 of West Virginia, Little League Baseball, will co-sponsor an umpire clinic here May 14-16.

Don Manno of Williamsport, Pa., a former player with the Boston Braves and New York Yankees--now director of umpires for Little League Baseball, will conduct the three sessions, according to Ed Miller, umpire consultant and assistant district administrator for District 1.

The clinic is open to all Little League umpires, managers, coaches and players without charge, Miller said.

The clinic will be "an ideal opportunity" for league members to become familiar with rules as interpreted by Little League Headquarters, Miller added.

The first session will be held Friday, May 14, at 8 p.m. in Marshall's Old Main Auditorium. The second session is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 15, at the same place, while an on-field clinic has been set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday, May 16, at the Barboursville Little League Field, 741 Central Avenue, Barboursville.

At one point in his career, Manno managed and played for the Welch team in the Mountain State League where he hit 39 home runs.

He made all-star teams in almost every league he played in and his name dots the Eastern League records book as well as the 750-page book, "The Story of Minor League Baseball."

(MORE)

2-2-2

Additional information about the clinic may be obtained by calling Larry Artrip, MU Community College coordinator of guidance services, at 696-3646.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 1 1 1976

May 6, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Stephen P. Williams of Parkersburg, who will be a sophomore at Marshall University next fall, has been selected as editor of the university's student newspaper, The Parthenon, for the fall term.

Stephen S. Mullins, Logan senior, will be managing editor; Mark A. Paxton, Huntington sophomore, and John R. Mullens, Summersville sophomore, will be assistant managing editors; Sallye J. Runyon, Huntington sophomore, will serve as feature editor; Rocky J. Stanley, Huntington sophomore, has been named sports editor, and Linda K. Hartley, Bridgeport junior, will be wire editor.

Serving as news editors on the newspaper, published four days a week, will be Nicole A. Urian, Huntington junior; Jim J. McDonald and Sheree L. Flowers, both Logan juniors, and Nancy L. Nelson, Charleston sophomore.

Other staff members include Juanita M. Steele, Belle freshman, assistant news editor; Robert J. Runyon, Huntington sophomore, and Douglas T. Fuller, Huntington senior, assistant sports editors; Becky A. Yoho, Ripley sophomore, feature writer, and Denis King, Ness City, Kan., graduate student, entertainment writer.

###

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. ...
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

May 6, 1976

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

Dear News Media Representative:

Marshall University will hold its 139th commencement program on Saturday, May 15, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Field House.

A general release on commencement will be mailed to you shortly.

As in years past, admission to the field house will be by ticket only and this means that news media representatives will need press credentials which will be provided through this office.

If you plan to cover the program, please contact C.T. Mitchell or myself so that we can issue whatever number of credentials you'll need for your people.

Call us at 696-6453 and we'll get them to you or stop by Old Main 115 and have a cup of coffee with us, picking them up in person.

Enclosed is the field house floor plan for commencement showing the location of the press table. Photographers may move about freely. Also shown are the areas designated for television lights. We request that camera lights, tape recorders and microphones be set up no later than 10:45 a.m. that day. The field house will be open by 9:30 a.m. The program will start promptly at 11 a.m.

Once the lights are set up, we ask that you leave them in place until the conclusion of the program. Also once you turn them on, please let them burn throughout the program. This will help to preserve the dignity of the university's most formal event and your assistance will be appreciated

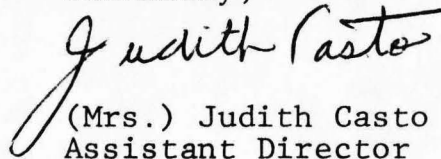

(MORE)

2-2-2

The commencement speaker is Dr. James G. Harlow, president of West Virginia University, who also will receive an honorary degree. Other honorary degree recipients are L. Edward Grubb, chairman and chief officer of Inco Limited (formerly International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.), and Joseph J. Smith, director of research and development for Union Carbide Corporation's Chemicals and Plastics Operations Division.

C.T. and I will be on hand Saturday to assist you in any way that we can, so please feel free to call on us then--and now if we can help.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Judith Casto". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned above the typed name and title.

(Mrs.) Judith Casto
Assistant Director
Informational Services

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 11 1976

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

ARCHIVES
NEWS RELEASE

May 6, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Chess Club will host a high school chess tournament Saturday, May 8, at Memorial Student Center.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and an entry fee of $2 will be charged, according to Dr. Neil Gibbins, club advisor and chairman of Marshall's Educational Administration Department.

Advance entries have been received from more than 50 students representing the following schools: Ansted, Barboursville, Meadow Bridge, Montgomery, Matewan, Nitro, Huntington Vinson and Russell, Ky.

Four trophies will be awarded tournament winners.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 11 1976

May 7, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University and the West Virginia Library Commission will co-sponsor the third annual Library Skills Workshop on Marshall's campus, beginning May 17, according to Dr. Walter C. Felty, chairman of MU's Educational Media Department.

The two-week workshop is expected to draw 125 public librarians from all over West Virginia, Felty said. Fees and other cost of those participating are underwritten by the Library Commission.

Library personnel attending may enroll for three to four credit hours, either undergraduate or graduate, selected from a variety of courses including an orientation in library management, graphics production, reference, cataloging and seminars.

Small group seminars are scheduled in children's programs, book selection, vertical file, intellectual freedom, educational media and other special topics.

Participants completing the course work will receive certificates.

The program is an outgrowth of the Library Commission's "instant libraries" which have been set up throughout the rural areas of the state, Felty said.

The workshop program was designed by Frederic J. Glazer, commission director, with Marshall's cooperation, Felty said. "In the past we have had a number of observers from other states attending," Felty added.

(MORE)

2-2-2

"Basically, we are trying to provide public library staffs with the same training offered to school librarians. For that matter, Marshall is the only school in the state offering a two-year degree program in library media technology," he said.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

May 7, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A Marshall University teacher has been awarded a Fellowship in Residence for College Teachers by the National Endowment for the Humanities, according to Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs.

The selection of Dr. Clayton L. McNearney, assistant professor of bible and religion, for a 1976-77 fellowship was announced by Dr. Ronald S. Berman, chairman of the Humanities Endowment, which is headquartered in Washington, D.C.

Dr. McNearney was one of 149 university and college teachers selected from nearly 800 applicants for the fellowships which carry awards of up to $14,500 for nine months of full-time research and study.

A native of Minneapolis, Minn., Dr. McNearney has been on Marshall's faculty since 1972. Before then, he taught for four years at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass. He earned his A.B. degree from the University of Minnesota and his doctorate from the University of Iowa. Dr. McNearney has served as director of Marshall's Honors Program for the past two years.

The West Virginia Board of Regents has granted Dr. McNearney a leave of absence for the 1976-77 academic year, so that he may avail himself of this opportunity to improve his knowledge and understanding of his own discipline, Dr. Tyson said.

(MORE)

The purpose of the fellowship program is to allow outstanding teachers of undergraduates to spend a year away from teaching responsibilities, devoting full-time to scholarly research, Berman said.

Each of the fellows also will have an opportunity to attend one of 15 seminars, directed by leading scholars in various humanities field.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES M. GROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701
NEWS RELEASE

MAY 11 1976

ARCHIVES

May 11, 1976

For Immediate Release

HOME TOWN NEWS

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Forty-two Marshall University nursing students will receive achievement pins during the traditional pinning ceremony Friday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Smith Recital Hall.

The pin, awarded to students successfully completing the two-year nursing program, is considered the "visible sign" of their achievement, according to Giovanna Bisato Morton, director of Marshall's Associate of Science in Nursing degree program.

Three special awards also will be presented: "Spirit of Nursing," "Best Bedside Nurse" and "Highest Scholastic Achievement in Nursing." The students were selected for these honors by their classmates and the nursing faculty, Mrs. Morton said. Honor students will be recognized during the program.

Dr. Robert W. Coon, vice chancellor for health education of the West Virginia Board of Regents and interim dean of the Marshall School of Medicine, will address the nursing class. Linda Brison of South Charleston will be the class speaker.

Also participating in the program will be the Rev. Jim Franklin of Highlawn Baptist Church; Dr. Robert B. Hayes, Marshall president; Dr. Robert Bradley, acting associate dean of associated health professions for the Marshall Medical School, and Mrs. Jane Shepherd, professor of music, accompanied by Kay Wildman.

(MORE)

Nursing Achievement Pin candidates include: Susan Michele Barker of Stollings; Diana Kay Barnett and Carol Leigh Thompson of Charleston; Linda Carol Brison and Sherill Lowe of South Charleston; Debra Louise Carey of Delbarton; Judith Lynn Conner, Cathy Louise Keeler and Molly Bea Miller of St. Albans; Esther Lynn Conwell of Ripley; Bonnie Gail Gilkerson of Prichard.

Tawney Lisa Gobel and Catherine Lynn Jarrett of Scott Depot; Mary Carol Grogan of Hinton; Carla Sue Haggerty and Barbara Janiece Legg of Milton; Patricia Jean Hensley Harris and Janet Mills of Wayne; Nancy Susan Toler Lynch of Oceana; Kaye Frances Margocee of Davin; Pamela Sue Weaver Moyer of Arbovale; Judith Kay Wickline of Princeton.

Sherry Renee Ramey Pelfrey of Ceredo; Rhonda Adkins Black, Robin Lea Browning, Brenda Gay Colliflower, Sharon Gail Cotton, Joy Lynn Eves, Sylvia Ashley Fields, Mary Kathleen Greathouse, Carla Mae Gunnoe, Gregory Earl Kyle, Glenna Toler Maynard, Wanda Beach Nolte, Carter Payne, Barbara Anita Smith, Larry Ernest Smith, Clara Anne Spurlock, Linda Ann Wilson Sullivan, Kimberly Gail Winton and Denise Ann Young, all of Huntington, and Lisa Ann Isaac of Ironton, Ohio.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 12, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 2 1976
ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A five-member team from Marshall University placed 23rd among 127 schools competing in the 1976 National Forensics Association Tournament, held recently at California State University, Los Angeles.

This ranking means Marshall was in the top 20 per cent of the schools competing in the tournament, according to Maureen Milicia, team coordinator and assistant professor of speech.

In individual ratings, Connie Day, a Chesapeake, Ohio, junior, finished ninth among 215 contestants in prose interpretation and was one of 24 students advancing to the quarter finals in poetry interpretation.

Miss Day paired with Anne Moore, Huntington junior, in the duo interpretation division to advance to the quarter finals before being eliminated.

Also competing in prose interpretation quarter finals was Ken Steele, Ansted senior.

Students or groups participating in event quarter finals of the national tournament are considered to rank among the top 24 in each division nationally, Miss Milicia said.

Other members of the Marshall team were sophomore Danny Cooper and junior Steve Floyd, both of Huntington.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 14, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

MAY 26 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Approximately 1,400 people--Marshall University alumni, friends and several descendants of John Marshall--gathered last Tuesday (May 11) in Washington, D.C. at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The occasion was "West Virginia Day" in the Bicentennial Parade of American Music Series, featuring 160 Marshall music students and Huntington area musicians in a performance of "The Chief Justice: John Marshall."

"The Chief Justice," a musical epic blending narration, orchestra and singers in a tribute to the life of John Marshall, the great jurist for whom the university is named, was written by MU's composer-in-residence Dr. Paul W. Whear.

U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, speaking to the audience before the performance, said, "It is appropriate that today's performance pays tribute to John Marshall, whose goals and convictions are so similar to the traditions of the citizens of West Virginia."

The audience, which nearly filled the main floor of the Concert Hall, rose to its feet at the close of the performance calling back the performers for three curtain calls.

Following the performance words of praise flowed not only from Marshall alumni and West Virginia natives now living in the nation's capital, but also from Paul Hume, music critic for the Washington Post.

(MORE)

Hume wrote that the state could not have chosen "more aptly" in selecting the epic to represent the state. Recounting the achievements of Chief Justice Marshall, Hume said:

"If Whear cannot match these momentous events in words and music of matching power and grandeur, few could."

He concluded his review, which appeared in the May 12 Washington Post, with these words: "The music serves competently and the performance was excellent."

Members of the John Marshall family, who attended the performance and the reception afterward, also praised the work using such adjectives as "excellent," "wonderful" and "beautiful."

Marshall's great-great-great-great-grandson, Richard Coke Marshall III of Alexandria, Va., said the excerpts from Marshall's writings were "well chosen." He attended the performance with his wife, his father and grandfather, the great-great-great-grandson and great-great-grandson of the Chief Justice.

Mrs. Courtney Marshall Cochran, 93 years old, of Alexandria, the oldest living descendant of John Marshall, also attended. She is Marshall's great-granddaughter.

West Virginia Treasurer Ronald Pearson, the official state representative, said the excellence of the performance was "attested to by the standing ovation" it received.

"In light of the significance of John Marshall's contributions, it is much to the credit of the university and state that it was West Virginia which paid this tribute today," Pearson said.

(MORE)

"A great public relations coup for the state," echoed John Dietz who has a public relations firm in Charleston. "The tone of the production was one that John Marshall himself would have been proud of."

"The finest performance of any of the Bicentennial Series" was the comment of John Nicholas, president of the West Virginia Society. A native of Clarksburg, Nicholas is with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington.

Mrs. John E. MacKenzie of Beckley, state coordinator of the music series for the National Federation of Music Clubs, selected the Marshall production to represent the state.

"It had all the ingredients that go to make a great performance," she said after hearing the epic for the first time live on Tuesday. She made her selection after listening to tapes and after talking to people who had heard performances of the work. "Knowing the image our state has had in other areas, this production was the best thing to represent the true West Virginia to outsiders," she added.

"I was proud to be a part of Marshall upon hearing this performance," commented Marvin Stone, Marshall alumnus and editor of U.S. News and World Report.

The appearance of the performers was made possible by a grant from the Marshall University Foundation, Inc.

Among the university officials present were Dr. Robert B. Hayes, MU president; Dr. A. Mervin Tyson, vice president for academic affairs; Jack Phillips, development director; Dr. Everett Roush, alumni affairs director, and Dr. Wendell Kumlien, chairman of the music department.

Mrs. Walker Long of Huntington, who represents West Virginia on the National Council of the Friends of the Kennedy Center, also attended.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

May 20, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Dr. N. Paul Bromley, chairman of the Department of Finance and Business Law in Marshall University's College of Business and Applied Science, has resigned that position in order to serve on the West Virginia Public Service Commission.

Dr. Bromley had been on leave of absence from Marshall since last June when he was appointed to the PSC by Governor Arch A. Moore Jr. The appointment was confirmed by the State Senate during the 1976 session of the West Virginia Legislature.

Dr. Robert L. Brown, professor of finance, has been appointed acting chairman of the department, according to Dr. L. Aubrey Drewry Jr., dean of the College of Business and Applied Science. The department's faculty will serve as a search committee to recommend a candidate for the permanent chairmanship. Associate Professor Ernest W. Cole is serving as chairman of the search committee.

Dr. Bromley had been a member of the Marshall faculty since 1969 when he was named to succeed Elizabeth Hallanan on the Public Service Commission last June.

Prior to joining Marshall in 1974, Dr. Brown had taught at Richmond University and Appalachian State University. A native of Reedsville, W.Va., he earned his A.B. and M.B.A. degrees from West Virginia University and his Ph.D. from the University of Florida.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 20, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation has received a $10,000 gift from the Armco Foundation, Marshall Director of Development Jack C. Phillips announced today.

The gift, representing the 1976 installment of a $30,000 pledge, was arranged by the Ashland (Ky.) Works of the Armco Steel Corporation.

"We are indebted to Armco for the excellent support it has given Marshall University," Phillips said. "Such corporate support is of tremendous assistance in maintaining Marshall's academic excellence and in our efforts to raise it to an even higher level."

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

May 21, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Nursing Education Department has been notified that five of its December graduates received the highest scores on the February state board exams for registered nurses.

The students were high scorers in all five areas of nursing, according to Giovanna Bisato Morton, director of the Associate of Science in Nursing degree program.

Betty Lucente of Huntington was top scorer in both nursing of children and psychiatric nursing areas. Bonnie L. Toney of Huntington had the highest score in obstetrical nursing and Theresa G. Miller of Barboursville took top exam honors in surgical nursing.

Debra L. Bisbay and Daniel A. DelCheccolo, both of Huntington, shared the highest score honors in medical nursing.

"We in the department are very proud of these students. It isn't too often that one school achieves the highest scores in all areas, Mrs. Morton said.

Graduates of two-year, three-year and four-year nursing programs at 15 schools around the state took the examination, she explained.

"Marshall University should be very proud to get all five. You're lucky if you get one of the high scores," Mrs. Morton added.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 21, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. --W. Richard Lemke, band director at Edinboro (Pa.) State College has been named director of bands at Marshall University, Dr. Wendell Kumlien, chairman of Marshall's Music Department, announced today.

The appointment of the 36-year-old Indiana native is effective July 1, Kumlien said. Lemke succeeds Kenneth Large, who resigned effective at the end of second semester.

Lemke earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in music education from Indiana State University and has completed course work toward a doctorate in music education at the University of Iowa.

He has worked with several Indiana high school bands and was a teaching assistant in bands at the University of Iowa from 1970 to 1972. He also was a teaching assistant in music theory at Indiana State University in 1961-62.

A member of the Edinboro State College Faculty Brass Quintet, Lemke has played French horn with the Terre Haute (Ind.) Symphony, the Southern Indiana Symphony, and the Indiana Intercollegiate Band. He was French horn soloist with the Indiana State University Symphonic Band.

(MORE)

Lemke is a member of several music and education honoraries. He received a music scholarship for his undergraduate work and also a graduate scholarship to the University of Iowa. At Indiana State he received the Harold Bright Distinguished Service Medal.

Bands under his leadership have performed at several National Football League games, at the Indianapolis 500 Festival Parade and Race, the Kentucky Derby Festival and consistently have received Division I ratings in marching and concert band contests.

"Based on my knowledge of his previous experience, indications are that Marshall is in for a very interesting and entertaining period in the development of its marching band," said Dr. Bernard Queen, dean of the College of Education which administers the Music Department.

"Already, under Ken Large, we have seen great strides made in improving the band's quality and membership and I have no doubt that this will continue under Dick Lemke," Queen added.

Lemke is a member of the College Band Directors National Association, Pennsylvania Collegiate Bandmaster's Association, Pennsylvania Music Educators Association and the Music Educators National Association.

He has judged solo and ensemble contests, concert band contests and marching band contests in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 25, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall University Foundation, Inc., has received a $5,000 gift from C.I. Thornburg, a Huntington businessman, Jack C. Phillips, executive director of the Foundation, announced today.

Thornburg is president of Citco Water and Sewerage Co. and the former owner of the C.I. Thornburg Co., Inc.

The money will be added to the C.I. and Marie A. Thornburg Endowed Fund, established earlier by Thornburg and his wife to aid the university, said Phillips, who also serves as Marshall's development director.

The gift brings the fund's total to $10,000, Phillips noted. The money may be used by Marshall "to attain educational excellence in areas of need as determined by the university president and his staff," he added.

Thornburg was a Marshall student in 1916 and prior to then attended the Marshall laboratory school.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

NEWS RELEASE

MAY 26 1976

May 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Charles Jack Maynard, assistant professor of curriculum and foundations at Marshall University, has received the Doctor of Education degree from West Virginia University, according to Dr. A.M. Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs.

The degree was conferred May 16 at commencement exercises in Morgantown, Dr. Tyson said.

A native of Williamson, Dr. Maynard joined Marshall's faculty in January, 1972. He has served as coordinator of pre-student teaching activities and as administrative assistant to the dean of the College of Education.

His dissertation was entitled, "An Investigation of Attitudes and Perceptions of Faculty and Administrators at Marshall University Regarding Institutional Goals."

Dr. Maynard earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Marshall University. Before joining the faculty, he taught mathematics and coached baseball at Barboursville High School.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi, education honoraries.

Dr. Maynard is married to the former Geta Thompson. He and his wife are the parents of two daughters, Deborah Lynn and Beth Ann.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

Community College

May 25, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Several summertime art and hobby courses have been scheduled by the Community College of Marshall University, Director of Instructional Services Glenn Smith announced today. Seven of the eight courses will be taught at Huntington Galleries. The other course will be on the Marshall campus.

For the convenience of students, registration can be handled by calling the Community College, (304) 696-3646 and mailing fees prior to the beginning of classes. For those unable to call, registration will be held at Huntington Galleries June 5 from noon to 6:30 p.m.

Scheduled for June 8 to July 1 is a class in Beginning Black and White Photography taught by David Tipton on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. An Advanced Black and White Photography class will run Aug. 2 to Aug. 25 on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. All photography classes have a cost of $34.

"Miniaturizing as a Hobby" will be taught June 23 to July 28 on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 to 11 a.m. by Beulah Virgalito on the Marshall campus, Harris Hall Room 140. The cost will be $12.

Carl Samons will teach Landscape Painting, July 12 to Aug. 4 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays. Cost of the class will be $25.

(MORE)

2-2-2

From July 12 to Aug. 16 Floral Design and Indoor Gardening will be taught by Pattie Pleasants on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. Each student will pay a fee of $12 and must have access to annual and perennial plants.

Fred Gros will teach two classes July 13 to Aug. 5. Painting will be Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. and Drawing from 1 to 4 p.m. The cost for each class is $25.

Ceramics will be taught by Bill Meadows on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m., June 8 to July 22. Tuition and fees will total $40.

Further information about the classes can be obtained from the Community College office.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 26, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 24 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Lounging with a novel...frantically searching columns of figures for the right cost amount...scanning a recipe for tonight's entree...catching up on events in today's newspaper...browsing through a magazine in a doctor's waiting room...

People involved in those activities share a common act -- reading. And many feel a need to be able to do it more rapidly and effectively.

"Speed Reading," a course designed to teach individuals to apply appropriate speed reading strategies, will be offered this summer by the Community College of Marshall University.

Two sessions will be conducted on Marshall campus, June 15 through July 16, and July 20 through Aug. 20. Classes will run from noon to 1 p.m. each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

In Point Pleasant the course will be offered June 15 through July 13 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. Each class is limited to 20 students.

Mrs. Carolyn Hunter, coordinator of reading at the Community College, said the program will be valuable for business and professional people, college students, other residents of the community or anyone desiring to improve reading speed and comprehension.

(MORE)

2-2-2

Registration for the Marshall campus classes will be June 14 from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. and July 19 from 5:30 to 7 p.m., both sessions in Memorial Student Center Room 2W22. Point Pleasant area students will register at the Mason County Vocational-Technical Center, June 11 from 1 to 8 p.m. Completion of the class will give the student one hour of Community College credit.

Additional details can be obtained by writing Speed Reading, Community College, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701 or by telephoning 696-3646.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 27, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--One of the oldest, most successful town-and-gown cultural programs in the region has been placed in jeopardy by faltering community support.

It is the Baxter Series of the Marshall Artists Series. In an effort to "save" the series, the Board of Trustees of the Marshall Artists Series has extended the membership drive for next season's program through the month of June.

Marshall University President Robert B. Hayes, who also is president of the Artists Series Board of Trustees, said sale of memberships is running far behind last year's sales and that many more memberships must be sold or the Baxter Series must be canceled.

The Baxter Series formerly was known as the Community Artists Series and provides performing arts programs aimed at the total community. Another facet of the Artists Series program, the Mount Series, is designed primarily for students and is not affected by the current problem.

Regarding the Baxter Series, Hayes said, "The community must support this town-and-gown venture. Otherwise, the university will have to withdraw its support. We are projecting the cost of the Baxter Series at more than $40,000 and we have sold less than $12,000 in season memberships. The university cannot subsidize this program, which was formed and is managed on a cooperative basis."

(MORE)

The extension of the drive means that season memberships for general seating on the main floor and loge areas of the Keith-Albee Theater will continue to be sold for $24 each. In addition, season memberships are now being offered in the balcony area for $18 each, and children through the age of 18 may obtain memberships at one-half the adult price.

The original membership drive was conducted in March and prices were to have increased beginning in April.

Four programs are scheduled for the 1976-77 Baxter Series: Lazar Berman, pianist, Oct. 19; Robert Merrill, baritone and Louise Russell, soprano, Nov. 9; the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Feb. 1; and the Leningrad Symphony Orchestra, Feb. 21.

The Board is asking for the support of previous ticket holders and for new memberships. It believes the Artists Series is important to the community and that it must be maintained.

Memberships for the Baxter Series may be obtained from Mrs. E. Norval Carter, 533 - 13th Ave., Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or the Marshall Artists Series, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701. Checks should be made payable to the Marshall Artists Series.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE
MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 27, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Enrollments are being accepted for the Marshall University Summer Kindergarten Program to be conducted June 21 through July 14, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

The program, under the supervision of Dr. Kathryn Wright, assistant professor of education, will be held in the MU Nursery School building at 18th Street and College Avenue.

To participate in the program, children must have been eligible for public kindergarten during the 1975-76 school term or be eligible to attend this fall.

Persons interested in enrolling a child may do so by calling 696-2368.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 28, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Marshall Alumni Travel Club will present a preview of the Marshall University Alumni Association sponsored fall cruise to Bermuda at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

A film about Bermuda and the Holland American Line cruise ship, the s.s. Statendam, will be shown in the Terrace Room of Memorial Student Center.

The preview is open to Travel Club members, their friends, and anyone interested in participating in the seven-day cruise, scheduled for Oct. 2, according to Dr. Everett N. Roush, MU Alumni Affairs director.

Access to the center will be through the campus entrance and campus parking will be available.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

May 29, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Charles O. Lloyd, instructor in classical studies at Marshall University, has received the Doctor of Philosophy degree in classical studies from Indiana University, according to Dr. A.M. Tyson, MU vice president for academic affairs.

The degree was conferred during commencement exercises at the school on May 9, Dr. Tyson said. Dr. Lloyd's dissertation was entitled, "Sophistication and Refinement in Greek Literature from Homer to Aristophanes."

A native of Huntington, Dr. Lloyd joined the Marshall faculty in July, 1972. A graduate of Huntington High School, he earned his bachelor's degree from Marshall and his master's from Indiana University where he held a NDEA Title IV scholarship.

Dr. Lloyd also was an associate instructor at Indiana University from 1969 until coming to Marshall.

He is a member of the American Philological Association and the Classical Association of the Midwest and South.

Dr. Lloyd is married to the former Faye Crews. He and his wife are the parents of a daughter, Cynthia.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

May 31, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

JUN 3 1976

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.--A $3,800 gift, earmarked for scholarship awards to undergraduate chemistry majors, has been given to the Marshall University Foundation, Inc., by Union Carbide Corporation, Jack C. Phillips, Foundation executive director, announced today.

Union Carbide's Chemicals and Plastics Operations Division is located in South Charleston.

The money will provide approximately eight scholarships for students involved in research projects, according to Dr. E.S. Hanrahan, chairman of the Marshall Chemistry Department.

Three scholarships have been awarded to students in their junior year who will be doing research this summer. They are Ted Toler of Charleston, Donald Gullickson and Joseph Roberts, both of Huntington.

The other scholarships will be awarded this fall, Dr. Hanrahan said.

"This is the second installment of a two-year grant from the corporation," Hanrahan said. "The gift represents an expression of confidence on Union Carbide's part in the quality of the chemistry program here at Marshall," he added.

###

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Community College

June 3, 1976

JUN 3 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Conversational Japanese, a course designed for English-speaking students, business people and other prospective tourists, will be offered this summer by the Community College of Marshall University, according to Glenn Smith, director of instructional services.

Mrs. Chin Choi will teach the class with a major emphasis on conversational and reading skills of the Japanese language. Because modern Japanese writing uses Chinese characters, the students will be expected to learn some of them. The course also will deal with some aspects of Japanese social institutions and customs.

Dialogue and taped pronunciation exercises will be used extensively in the class, supplemented by lectures. Other audio-visual aids will be used to help the student to learn not just from the printed word, but through active participation and practices.

A conversational Japanese class was offered during the spring semester, according to Smith, and students in that class requested an advanced course which will be offered on Tuesdays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., June 15 through Aug. 3. A beginning course, for those with no background in Japanese, will be offered on Thursdays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., June 17 through Aug. 5. Both classes will be held on Marshall campus, Harris Hall Room 140.

Fee for the non-credit class is $20. Students may register at the first class meeting or before that time by calling the Community College, (304) 696-3646.

The class is offered through the college's Community Service program and is open to any area resident regardless of age or educational background. Each class will be limited to 15 students.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

June 3, 1976

JUN 3 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--National Teacher Examinations (NTE) will be given at Marshall University on July 17, according to Dr. Bernard Queen, dean of the College of Education.

Scores from the examinations are used by several states for teacher certification; by many school systems for selection, tenure status and identification of leadership qualities, and by some colleges as part of their graduation requirements.

Informational bulletins describing the registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from the dean's office, College of Education, 211 Jenkins Hall, Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va. 25701, or directly from NTE, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

June 4, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

JUN 3 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--Marshall University will register students for summer school on Monday, June 14, according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

Registration will be conducted between the hours of 8 a.m. and noon, 1 and 3 p.m., and from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of Memorial Student Center.

Students may register for either or both summer terms, but all fees must be paid at the time of registration, Registrar Eddins said.

Summer school course schedules and registration permits may be picked up in the Registrar's Office, Old Main 105, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday, June 7, through Friday, June 11, or beginning at 8 a.m. on registration day.

Students must present their ID cards to obtain registration permits and to proceed through registration.

First Summer Term classes begin Tuesday, June 15, and continue through July 16.

Registration for Second Summer Term will be held from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. on July 19. There will be no evening registration hours for students enrolling at this time.

Second Summer Term classes begin July 20 and close Aug. 20.

Students enrolling in the university for the first time will need to be admitted through the Admissions Office, located in Old Main 123.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

NEWS RELEASE

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
JAMES E. MORROW LIBRARY
HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701

Community College

June 4, 1976

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SEP 10 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--The Community College of Marshall University will offer courses during the university's regular summer terms, June 15-July 16 and July 20-Aug. 20. In addition, a special eight-week Community College session will run from June 15 to Aug. 6, Director of Instructional Services Glenn E. Smith announced.

The special eight week session includes:

--Communications Skills I, Business Communications I, Technical Communications I, and Hazardous Materials, all providing three hours' credit. All will be taught Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

--Fundamentals of Data Processing, three hours' credit, taught Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

--Introduction to Business, two credit hours, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 8:20 p.m.

--Meeting Monday through Friday will be Typewriting I, 1 to 2:45 p.m.; Shorthand II, 1 to 2:45 p.m.; Typewriting II, 3 to 4:45 p.m., and Secretarial Machines, 10 to 11:45 a.m. All offer three credit hours. Shorthand I, meeting daily from 3 to 4:45 p.m., will offer four credit hours.

Classes for Community College or university credit (three hours), meeting daily during the regular first summer term from June 15 to July 16, include:

(MORE)

Principles of Accounting (ACC 215 and 216), 8-9:45 a.m.; Introduction to Law Enforcement (CJ 211), 10-11:45 a.m.; Introduction to Corrections (CJ 231), 10-11:45 a.m.; Principles of Economics (ECN 241), 10-11:45 a.m., and ECN 242, 12-1:45 p.m.; Library Organization and Administration (EDM 310), hours to be arranged; Reference and Bibliography (EDM 315), 10-11:45 a.m.; Book Selection for Children (EDM 404), 8-9:45 a.m.; Utilization of Educational Media (EDM 465), 12-1:45 p.m.; Business Mathematics with Machines, 8-9:45 a.m.; General Psychology (PSY 201L), 8-9:45 a.m., and Reading Improvement, 10-11:45 a.m.

Giving two credit hours and meeting Mondays and Thursdays will be Outdoor Recreation (REC 303), hours to be arranged, and Organization of Recreational Activities (REC 335), 12-1:45 p.m. Field Work and Agency Analysis are two additional Recreational Leadership courses which can be arranged with the instructor for time and credit hours.

Speed Reading will meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from noon to 1 p.m. during both summer sessions and give one Community College credit.

Courses to be offered daily second summer term, July 20 to Aug. 20, and giving three credit hours include: Principles of Accounting, (ACC 215), 8-9:45; Introduction to Law Enforcement, (CJ 211), 10-11:45; Criminal Justice Administration, (CJ 321), 8-9:45; Criminal Law, (CJ 322), 12-1:45; Principles of Economics (ECN 241), 10-11:45 and ECN 242, 2-3:45; Library Organization and Administration, (EDM 310), to be arranged; Book Selection for Adolescents, (EDM 405), 8-9:45; Production of Audiovisual Aids, (EDM 466), 12-1:45; General Psychology, (PSY 201), 8-9:45 and 10-11:45.

A College Skills Program, designed to help students sharpen study and test-taking skills, will be offered Monday through Thursday, 10-11:30 and give two Community College credits.

Special Topics (EDM 482) and Field Experience in Recreation are additional classes that can be arranged with the instructors.

(MORE)

3-3-3

Community College classes are open to all adults regardless of age or educational background. Students can enroll in programs leading to Associate Degrees or Certificates of Proficiency, or take classes at random without working toward a particular program.

New students enrolling in degree courses are required to complete admission forms available from the Director of Admissions at Marshall University in Old Main 123, and take Community College placement tests which will be used for counseling and course selection purposes only. Testing will be conducted June 24 at 6:30 p.m. and can be arranged at the time of registration.

Registration for summer classes will be June 14 from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in Room 2W22, Memorial Student Center.

Information about the summer program can be obtained by calling the Community College (304) 696-3646.

##

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INFORMATIONAL SERVICES • MARSHALL UNIVERSITY • HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA 25701

TELEPHONE (304) 696-6453

June 5, 1976

RELEASE AT WILL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY
NEWS RELEASE

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. 25701 *

JUN 9 1976

ARCHIVES

HUNTINGTON, W.Va.--A record number of Master's degrees--563 of them--were awarded by the Graduate School during Marshall University's 139th annual Commencement on May 15.

The total number of degrees awarded during the ceremonies, 1,850, also set a new record for the university, according to Registrar Robert H. Eddins.

The candidates for Master's degrees were presented by Graduate School Dean Paul D. Stewart to MU President Robert B. Hayes who conferred the degrees.

The degrees were awarded not only to May graduates, but also to students who completed their requirements in July, August and December of 1975.

The following Huntington residents completed requirements in May:

Roberta Kilver Ackerman, M.A. in elementary education; Judith Ann Bailes, M.A. in counseling; Kathryn Ann Burdette Baker, M.A. in elementary education; Cheryl Yeater Wells Beadles, M.A. in special education; Alison Dunbar Bias, M.A. in counseling; Paul E. Blood, M.B.A.; Patty Suzanne Bloss, M.A. in counseling; Jean Green Borkowski, M.A. in communication arts; James Walter Bowers, M.A. in geography; Dale A. Brown, M.A. in educational administration; Janis R. Brown, M.A. in special education;

Clarence Earl Brumfield, M.A. in counseling; Judith Dee Campbell, M.A. in elementary education; Frank J. Campigotto, M.B.A.; David S. Castle, M.A. in political science; Harry F. Chappelle Jr., M.B.A.; Bernard Lee Clyde, M.B.A.; Joanne Chapman Cummings, M.A. in speech; Dennis C. Dallison, M.A. in English; Mary E. DeMoss, M.A. in counseling; Dale K. Finley, M.B.A.; Phyllis Frye, M.A. in counseling; Ylonne Polley Fullen, M.A. in educational administration; James R. Grate, M.A. in counseling;

(MORE)

Linda Grimes Graves, M.A. in elementary education; Glen David Hager, M.A. in counseling; Loretta R. Hagler, M.A. in counseling; Julia Rolston Hampton, M.A. in elementary education; Jean Harper, M.A. in home economics; David N. Harris, M.A. in history; Donna S. Harrison, M.A. in mathematics; Jane Honaker Hastings, M.A. in counseling; Stephen Duane Hensley, M.B.A.; Veronica Arthur Hogshead, M.S. in health and physical education; Mary Elizabeth Honaker, M.A. in communication arts;

Scott Dean Hopkin, M.S. in biological sciences; James Oscar Irwin, M.B.A.; Jerome J. Janicki, M.S. in biological sciences; Judith Madeline Jordan, M.A. in elementary education; Claudia L. Knapp, M.A. in special education; Dana Charlene Kosto, M.S. in vocational technical education; Carol Whitaker Lahn, M.A. in library science education; G. Robert Lahn, M.A. in journalism; Larry D. LaPelle, M.A. in counseling; David Eugene Lyon, M.A. in counseling; Thomas McAninch, M.S. in criminal justice;

Paul Henry Malec, M.B.A.; Eric Michael Maniskas, M.S. in vocational technical education; Sandra Poole Maxey, M.A. in counseling; Arnold Ray Miller, M.S. in biological sciences; John Franklin Morton, M.A. in educational administration; Gayle Hardie Murray, M.A. in counseling; Veronica Miller Navy, M.A. in counseling; Timothy Alan Olson, M.A. in history; Robert Wylie Plymale, M.S. in physical science; Debra Lynn Poling, M.A. in English; David Wayne Pollack, M.A. in mathematics; George A. Rank, M.B.A.;

Joseph Thomas Ray, M.A. in speech; Ralph Dale Rood, M.A. in educational administration; Deborah June Simms, M.A. in early childhood education; Robert Lee Slone, M.A. in elementary education; Elizabeth Ann Smarr, M.A. in history; Reginald A. Spencer, M.A. in counseling; Charles C. Spissu Jr., M.A. in English; Donna Marlene Stark, M.A. in counseling; Jeffrey Wayne Sumner, M.A. in music; Rita Ashworth VanReenen, M.A. in elementary education; Cherry Skinner Vinson, M.A. in special education; Laura Jane Ward, M.A. in early childhood education; Willa May Weekley, M.A. in elementary education; Stephen E. Willis, M.A. in counseling, and Margaret G. Wotring, M.A. in special education.

(MORE)

Other West Virginia residents in the May class were:

LESAGE--Judith Pamela Dial Adkins, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, and Michael L. Mount, M.A. in educational administration; ROCK--Herbert A. Akers, M.S. in vocational technical education; BARBOURSVILLE--Sandra Nutter Aliff, M.A. in special education; Howard McDonald Cloke III, M.B.A.; George Robert Danford, M.A. in special education; Richard Kimm Desmond II, M.A. in educational administration; Janet Keith Foss, M.A. in reading education; David Lynn Hamilton, M.A. in mathematics, and Richard Lee Hensley, M.A. in English.

WAYNE--Janet Lynn Asbury, M.A. in early childhood education, and Sharon Lenne Berry, M.A. in early childhood education; PRINCETON--Debra Sue Bailes, M.A. in music; VERDUNVILLE--Jerry Dale Baisden, M.A. in special education; HAMLIN--Yancey Edward Burns, M.A. in educational administration, and Margaret Ann McClure, M.A. in counseling; LAKE--Donna Lou Herald Craddock, M.A. in elementary education; CHARLESTON--George H. Dailey II, M.B.A.; Ernest James Devol, M.S. in safety; Sheri Ann O'Dell, M.A. in communication arts; Marianne Kilburn Rastle, M.A. in business education; Linda McCallister Roberts, M.A. in home economics, and Karen Jean Winter, M.A. in psychology.

LENORE--Merle Dempsey, M.A. in educational administration, and Sherri L. Mayberry, M.A. in counseling; POINT PLEASANT--Penelope Johanna Derenge, M.A. in elementary education; SOUTH CHARLESTON--Clifton Charles Detamore, M.A. in vocational technical education, and Vicki Lynn Hess, M.S. in vocational technical education; PARKERSBURG--Margaret Chapman Donovan, M.S. in vocational technical education; GLEN FORK--Lacy Conrad Dillon III, M.S. in vocational technical education; HINTON--Cheryl Ratliff Dingess, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; KENOVA--Michael C. Donohoo, M.B.A., and Linda Sue Hatten, M.A. in communication arts; MILTON--William G. Durham Jr., M.B.A., and Don E. Perry, M.S. in safety; CHAPMANVILLE--David Harrison Eskins, M.S. in physical science; DELBARTON--Dalphine Estep, M.A. in elementary education, and Wellington Lee Walters, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology.

(MORE)

MAN--Nina Susan Farmer, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; LOGAN--Barbara Jean Fraley, M.A. in early childhood education; Paul Richard Martin, M.A. in adult education, and Rosella Wagner, M.A. in counseling; PEACH CREEK--Diana Fortner Gibson, M.A. in reading education, and William R. Gibson Jr., M.A. in educational administration; WILLIAMSON--Bonnie Sue Goble, M.A. in elementary education, and Ruth Roland Murphy, M.A. in educational administration; WILLIAMSTOWN--Mary Beckler Hammett, M.S. in vocational technical education, and Thomas Alan Nichols, M.S. in vocational technical education; WHEELING--Robert E. Harris, M.A. in counseling; HURRICANE--Karen Bird Hill, M.S. in criminal justice, and Georgette Burns Stout, M.A. in home economics.

VIENNA--Jo Ann Reilly Hodges, M.A. in counseling; BRADSHAW--Carolyn Sue Horne, M.A. in communication arts; BELLE--Jerry Wayne Jessie, M.B.A.; LAVALETTE--Amanda Susan Johnson, M.A. in secondary education; BECKLEY--James Conley Justice II, M.B.A.; FAYETTEVILLE--William Ramsey Laird IV, M.A. in political science; DUNBAR--Mohamed Lehar, M.S. in biological sciences, and Raymond King Spaniol, M.S. in vocational technical education; NITRO--Chester Kent Lilly, M.S. in biological sciences; STOLLINGS--Theresa T. McDonald, M.A. in elementary education; HOLDEN--William P. Marino, M.A. in elementary education; ST. ALBANS--Lynn Randall Noble, M.S. in safety; MCCONNELL--Charlotte Ann Perry, M.A. in elementary education; KERMIT--Jacqueline Jo Runyon, M.A. in elementary education; RIPLEY--Jo Ruth Skeen, M.S. in adult education, and FAIRMONT--John L. Stevens II, M.A. in psychology.

May graduates from Ohio include:

SOUTH POINT--Penny Nickel Camp, M.A. in special education; CHESAPEAKE--Davey L. Cimildora, M.A. in political science; Betty Knight Fuller, M.A. in special education; Anthony F. Tomlinson, M.B.A., and William Eugene Korstanje, M.B.A.; IRONTON--Samuel Coleman DeLong, M.A. in counseling; PROCTORVILLE--Carol Susan Spangler, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology.

(MORE)

BIDWELL--Lawrence Jennings McGraw, M.S. in vocational technical education; KITTS HILL--Sandra Paulene Humphrey, M.A. in special education; WHEELERSBURG--Carol Jane Gleim, M.A. in elementary education, and Janet T. Williams, M.A. in elementary education; SOUTH WEBSTER--Larry M. Estep, M.A. in elementary education; PORTSMOUTH--William F. Essman, M.B.A.; Jack Wayne Haffner, M.A. in counseling; Karolyn Sue Kuhns, M.A. in educational administration; Malissa I. Scherer, M.A. in journalism, and Arthur T. Tomlin, M.A. in counseling, and COLUMBUS--Harold Otis Morris III, M.A. in mathematics.

Other states and foreign countries represented in the May class include:

PENNSYLVANIA--Garret G. Breakiron, M.S. in health and physical education, Uniontown; David James Morgan, M.A. in music, Connellsville, and Steven A. Macura, M.A. in counseling, Braddock; KENTUCKY--Charles Michael Reed, M.B.A., Ashland; NEW JERSEY--John J. DeFazio, M. A. in elementary education, Long Branch; NEW YORK--Michael Gordon, M.A. in counseling, and Maria Gorrasi, M.A. in counseling, Plainview; DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA--Udo Jacob Ekanem, M.B.A.; DELAWARE--Donna Gail Gregg, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, Wilmington; VIRGINIA--Deborah Lee Howells, M.A. in speech, McLean; MARYLAND--Teresa Anne Naylor, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, Oakland; ARKANSAS--Dennis Lee Snider, M.A. in English, Smackover, and INDIA--Deepak C. Joshi, M.B.A.

Huntington residents completing requirements in December include:

Frances Charlene Barnett, M.A. in sociology; Louise Rasnick Bays, M.A. in elementary education; Norwood Bentley III, M.A. in political science; Verlion R. Black, M.B.A.; David Edward Buie, M.S. in biological sciences; Kathleen Marie Cook, M.A. in educational administration; Linda Ballinger Craig, M.A. in counseling; Ross Preston Daniel III, M.B.A.; Carl John Dascoli, M.B.A.; Francis Cecil Davis, M.B.A.; Charles Robert Dawson, M.A. in counseling; John Marshall Dingess, M.S. in biological sciences; Donald D. Ferguson, M.B.A.; Michael David Gheen, M.B.A.; Cathy Ann Hart, M.A. in journalism; Frances Kay Hissom, M.S. in biological sciences; Eugene R. Houck, M.A. in counseling and James Noel Houghton, M.B.A.

(MORE)

Sandra Sue Huff, M.A. in counseling; Debra L. Humphreys, M.A. in communication arts; Dorothy L. Hunter, M.S. in adult education; Peggy Jean Hutchison, M.A. in elementary education; John J. Kendall Jr., M.B.A.; Dorothy B. Lambert, M.A. in art; John Newton Law, M.B.A.; Philip Edward Leist, M.A. in library science education; Melvin L. Lyons, M.A. in counseling; Donna Jean Miller, M.A. in library science education; Madonna Sue Morgan, M.A. in elementary education; Lowell Bernard Morrison, M.B.A.; Allen Dale Mumper, M.A. in counseling; Tanya Campbell Nixon, M.A. in elementary education; Brenda S. Noe, M.A. in elementary education; Ali Nowroozi, M.B.A.; Roger W. Nutter, M.A. in counseling; Linda Workman Omohundro, M.A. in psychology and Nancy D. Pemberton, M.A. in English.

Sally M. Piepenbrink, M.A. in counseling; Richard Lee Powers, M.B.A.; Thomas J. Preston, M.A. in counseling; Timothy L. Roberts, M.A. in secondary education; Phyllis Jean Robertson, M.S. in vocational technical education; Susan Lynn Ross, M.A. in special education; Timothy Lee Scarberry, M.A. in geography; Richard G. Shinham, M.B.A.; Susan McAllister Sprouse, M.A. in special education; Samuel Allen Thompson, M.A. in elementary education; Raymond F. Warren, M.A. in speech and Deborah Jean Wells, M.A. in art.

Also finishing their Master's degrees in December were the following West Virginia residents:

GLENVILLE--James William Beeghley, M.B.A.; PRINCETON--Garnetta Graham Belcher, M.S. in vocational technical education; Elizabeth Perdue Bowling, M.S. in vocational technical education; Sandra Spradlin Farley, M.A. in counseling, and Brenda Kay Pennington Lohr, M.S. in vocational technical education; WAYNE--Sandra Kay Bing, M.A. in counseling, and Jonnie Claire Johnson, M.A. in library science education; ELBERT--Mary Katherine Blaha, M.A. in psychology; ELKVIEW--Jane Moulton Buckner, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; MAN--Danny Lee Cain, M.A. in music education, and Janet Mae Cain, M.A. in reading education; DELBARTON--Larry Donald Carter, M.A. in elementary education and CHATTAROY--Ralph Carl Caudill Jr., M.A. in journalism.

(MORE)

MCCONNELL--Patricia Kay Church, M.A. in special education; BAISDEN--Shirley Cline, M.A. in elementary education; IAEGER--Marlene Frances Dotson, M.A. in early childhood education; ONA--Barbara Meadows Ellis, M.A. in counseling; POINT PLEASANT--Bernita K. Epling, M.A. in counseling; Marilyn Howard, M.A. in psychology, and George Edgar Miller, M.A. in elementary education; MATEWAN--Everett Norville Estep, M.A. in educational administration; RAVENSWOOD--Steve W. Frame, M.A. in educational administration, and Martha Diane Ray, M.A. in history; HURRICANE--William A. Gill, M.S. in chemistry, and Paula Jean Hammat, M.A. in counseling; BELLE--Emery Dale Grimmett, M.S. in vocational technical education and LEON--Joseph F. Gwinn Jr., M.A. in counseling.

KENOVA--Jimmy Douglas Hale, M.S. in vocational technical education; Dana P. Maynard, M.B.A.; and Willa Dean Wallace, M.S. in vocational technical education; BARBOURSVILLE--Lelia Dickinson Hall, M.A. in elementary education; Sundra Gail Hammers, M.A. in art; John Bernard Koch, M.A. in psychology; Justine Elizabeth Bowen Koch, M.A. in counseling, and Sally Mae Vest Meehling, M.A. in counseling; WILLIAMSON--Sallie Jenkins Hall, M.A. in early childhood education, and John Joseph Hatfield, M.A. in educational administration; WELCH--Theodric T. Harris, M.S. in vocational technical education; GLENWOOD--Lloyd Legg, M.A. in educational administration; FERRELLSBURG--David L. Lucas, M.S. in physical science; BLUEFIELD--Edward Joseph McQuail III, M.A. in library science education and CHARLESTON--David Hulings Martin, M.A. in art; Donald Lee Michael, M.S. in vocational technical education, and Patricia Ann Young, M.A. in business education.

WILSONDALE--Gary Scott Maynard, M.S. in vocational technical education; DINGESS--Joy Grubb Mullins, M.A. in elementary education; MORGANTOWN--Robert Raymond Roberts, M.A. in art; CLAY--Evalena W. Schoonover, M.S. in vocational technical education; CHAPMANVILLE--Earl Ray Tomblin, M.B.A.; BECKLEY--Melva Jean Thompson Walker, M.S. in vocational technical education and SANDYVILLE--Beverly R. Waskey, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology.

(MORE)

Ohio residents in the December class were:

BELPRE--C. Edward Beary, M.S. in vocational technical education; NEW PHILADELPHIA--Michael Allen Booth, M.A. in music; SCOTTOWN--Larry Higgins, M.B.A.; PORTSMOUTH--Margaret Ann Burns McKenzie, M.A. in elementary education; CHESAPEAKE--Jane Woodard Morse, M.A. in history; LUCASVILLE--Harold T. Pack, M.A. in educational administration; PROCTORVILLE--Gary Salyers, M.S. in health and physical education and PEDRO--Harold Shafer Jr., M.A. in educational administration.

Other states and foreign countries represented in the December class include:

KENTUCKY--Kathryn Hope McKenzie Crigger, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, Catlettsburg; David M. Gladwell, M.B.A.; Kingston James Harney, M.B.A.; William R. Sawran, M.B.A., and Chelneca Kegley Templeton, M.A. in early childhood education, all of Ashland. PENNSYLVANIA--Patricia L. Hradesky, M.A. in counseling, Pittsburgh, and Edwin James Windle, M.B.A., Coatesville; NEW MEXICO--Margaret M. Seidel, M.A. in business education, Albuquerque; MICHIGAN--Arthur Samuel Tabachneck, M.A. in psychology, East Lansing; THAILAND--Phayonta Iam-Ngarm, M.A. in political science, Chainat, and PUERTO RICO--Sandra I. Lopez, M.A. in counseling, Hato Rey.

The August class included the following Huntington students:

Leonard Joseph Bianchi, M.A. in psychology; Deborah Susan Blankenship, M.A. in secondary education; Beverly Ann Hurley Brown, M.A. in counseling; Barbara Ann Groves Clary, M.A. in elementary education; Brenda Lee Midkiff Clay, M.A. in educational administration; Nora B. Copeland, M.A. in counseling; Donnalee Damous, M.A. in counseling; Anne M. Dragovich, M.A. in special education; Alice Beirne Dugan, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; Susan Freeman Duncan, M.S. in vocational technical education; Carolyn Pugh Faulkner, M.A. in early childhood education; Ralph Alan Fisher, M.S. in adult education; Daniel Thomas Fox, M.A. in psychology; Nina Jean Freeze, M.A. in English; Camelia Rushden Hale, M.A. in communication arts and Doris Irene Blersch Hammond, M.A. in counseling.

(MORE)

Brenda Hughes Harshbarger, M.B.A.; Carole Berkley Hartman, M.A. in early childhood education; Lee Anne Hayes, M.A. in counseling; William Patrick Holbrook, M.S. in biological sciences; Garry Sanford Holliday, M.A. in counseling; Robert H. Houston, M.A. in counseling; Christine Cole James, M.A. in counseling; Sondra Lewis Jarrell, M.A. in elementary education; Pamela K. Miller Jenkins, M.A. in special education; Diana Johnson, M.A. in elementary education; Patricia Flynn Lawson, M.S. in vocational technical education; Susan Ann Leitner, M.A. in special education; Talma Lee McKee, M.A. in secondary education; Margaret Lynn H. Martin, M.A. in elementary education; William J. Morrison, M.S. in vocational technical education and Lairmore Pearson, M.S. in vocational technical education.

Lowell L. Plybon, M.A. in secondary education; Philip Dale Plybon, M.A. in educational administration; James Gerald Priest, M.S. in health and physical education; Vickie Louise Hinzman Pullins, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; Casandra Hoffman Race, M.A. in reading education; Sherry Bayless Reynolds, M.A. in elementary education; Beverly Lou Schott, M.A. in special education; Linda O'Daniel Schrade, M.A. in special education; Imogene Clarke Skiles, M.A. in reading education; Edward Lee Smith, M.B.A.; Patricia Black Smith, M. A. in educational administration; Patricia Colosi Tackett, M.A. in biological science; Lillie Karen Talbert, M.A. in secondary education; Sharon Lynn Trimboli, M.A. in special education; Ellenda M. Ward, M.S. in vocational technical education; Jerry Hayner Williams, M.S. in biological sciences; Geneva Williamson, M.A. in elementary education; Donna Jo Wright, M.A. in special education and Rebecca Batten Zimmerman, M.A. in early childhood education.

Other West Virginia residents completing Master's degree requirements in August were:

WAYNE--Eliza Adkins, M.A. in special education; RAVENSWOOD--Jana S. Adkins, M.A. in mathematics, and Belinda Chambers Ambro, M.A. in special education; MATEWAN--Robert Keith Allara, M.A. in educational administration; DEHUE--Nina Kaye Anderson, M.A. in elementary education, and COALWOOD--Freddie Kavanaugh Bailey, M.A. in educational administration.

(MORE)

10-10-10

VIENNA--Phillip L. Atkinson, M.A. in educational administration, and Roy Elwood White, M.S. in physical science; MONTGOMERY--Bill Bainbridge, M.A. in music; HEWETT--Wanda L. Ball, M.A. in early childhood education; CHATTAROY--Brenda Kay Belcher, M.A. in library science education; LOGAN--Barbara Todd Porter Bell, M.A. in counseling; Jack Randolph Bell, M.A. in art; Virginia Lee C. Chaffin, M.A. in elementary education and Mary Herald Williamson, M.A. in early childhood education; WEST LOGAN--Helen Gresha Collins, M.A. in reading education; LEWISBURG--David Lee Bell, M.A. in counseling and Maurice R. Cooley, M.A. in counseling; DANIELS--John Blankenship, M.A. in journalism; BRADLEY--Rupert Leo Blankenship, M.S. in physical science and Eddie A. Chesley, M.A. in English and STOLLINGS--Patricia Statzer Bodo, M.A. in communication arts.

SOUTH CHARLESTON--Cynthia Swails Boland, M.A. in special education; Mary Frances Burnette, M.A. in music; Sharon Ann Byrd, M.A. in elementary education; Katrina Sheets Cooper, M.A. in special education; Dorrance Lee Hymes, M.S. in biological sciences; George Frank Kahle III, M.A. in history, and Larry Frank Levak, M.A. in counseling; BARBOURSVILLE--Jean Ann Brezden, M.A. in reading education; Rebecca Leslie Duff, M.A. in elementary education; William Rodney Ellis, M.A. in counseling; Deborah Kay Evans, M.A. in counseling; Larry Steven Jefferson, M.A. in elementary education; Leo Gerald Lake, M.S. in vocational technical education; James Jackson Sharp Jr., M.A. in educational administration; Roger Neel Thompson, M.A. in special education, and Elaine Mae Waybright, M.A. in elementary education.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS--Patricia S. Braden, M.A. in communication arts; ST. MARYS--Diane Braun, M.A. in counseling; MADISON--Roger D. Burdette, M.A. in English; ST. ALBANS--Darrell Edward Carr, M.A. in economics; Judith Ann Miller, M.A. in elementary education, and Beverly Ann Wolfe, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology; WHEELING--Patrick A. Clutter, M.A. in speech; Susan Jennifer Park Fisher, M.A. in special education; Richard G. Herndon Jr., M.S. in biological sciences; Mary Elizabeth Stewart, M.A. in counseling, and Michael William Young, M.S. in vocational technical education.

(MORE)

11-11-11

MILTON--Karen Powers Corey, M.A. in counseling and Paula Arlene Beverage Durham, M.A. in reading education; HARTS--Sammy Dale Dalton, M.A. in educational administration; GLEN FORK--Gloria Jean Dillon, M.A. in counseling; HAMLIN--Sue Ellen Doniff, M.A. in library science education, and Stephen Burns Priestly, M.A. in educational administration; NEW MARTINSVILLE--Thomas Ernest Dulaney, M.S. in adult education; BRANCHLAND--Margaret Monday Ellis, M.A. in elementary education; PRINCETON--Patrick Neal Farley, M.A. in counseling; CLAY--Marthenia Ellen Garrett Gaines, M.A. in business education; WEIRTON--Tina Marie Fazi, M.A. in counseling; Patricia Ann LaMantia, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, and Joseph David Rocchio, M.A. in psychology; ONA--Phillip R. Flesher, M.A. in special education; Annabelle Knott Mathis, M.A. in English, and Patricia Ann Stroupe Ratliff, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology.

POINT PLEASANT--David G. Graham, M.A. in educational administration; Jack B. Park, M.A. in art, and Opal Marie Vaughan, M.A. in special education; WINFIELD--Frances Thomas Harry, M.A. in sociology; MAN--Linda Wendell Heatherman, M.A. in early childhood education; ACCOVILLE--Peggy Standifur Heatherman, M.A. in educational administration; PRATT--Ronald L. Hughes, M.A. in music; CHARLESTON--Patricia Diane Jones, M.A. in English; Shirley Anne Layne, M.A. in elementary education; John Layne Oblinger, M.A. in social studies; Kathi Anne Reed, M.A. in reading education, and Marjorie Taylor Reed, M.A. in special education; NEW HAVEN--Marcia Ann Lidel, M.A. in special education; BECKLEY--Monica Craghead Long, M.S. in vocational technical education and GLENVILLE--William H. Lucht, M.A. in counseling.

MATHENY--Donna Rae Harold Lusk, M.A. in business education and Jerry Randolph Woolwine, M.A. in special education; NITRO--Linda B. McCallister, M.A. in music; DELBARTON--Laidley Eli McCoy, M.S. in biological sciences and William Carter Totten, M.A. in educational administration; GARY--Carolyn Louise Mabry, M.A. in elementary education and DINGESS--Lossie F. Mahone, M.A. in educational administration.

(MORE)

12-12-12

GILBERT--Jimmy Lee May, M.A. in educational administration and James Herbert White, M.A. in counseling; PARKERSBURG--David Lee Starcher, M.A. in counseling; Charles Lee Summers, M.S. in physical science and Kim Wesley Wilson, M.A. in counseling; CLARKSBURG--Susan Kay Meadows, M.S. in health and physical education and Lola M. Sestrap, M.A. in counseling; COAL MOUNTAIN--Camellia Irene Miller, M.S. in biological sciences; DANVILLE--Donald Douglas Miller, M.A. in educational administration; WILLOW BEND--Alfred F. Moore, M.A. in art; BRENTON--Martha Irene Morgan, M.A. in counseling; WHITMAN--Deborah Layne Mullins, M.A. in reading education; MOUNT HOPE--Conrad W. Neely III, M.S. in geography; MULLENS--John Edward Nolley, M.A. in counseling and MASON--Dorothy J. Oliver, M.A. in English.

WILLIAMSON--Rose Theresa Pasquale, M.A. in speech and Brenda Starr, M.A. in elementary education; CRUM--Robert R. Perdue, Jr., M.S. in vocational technical education and Connie Williamson, M.A. in counseling; CHAPMANVILLE--Dianna Turner Smith, M.A. in counseling; KENOVA--Philip M. Spears, M.A. in counseling; BALLARD--William L. Spencer, M.S. in health and physical education; KEYSER--Dorothy Lynn Stephen, M.A. in music; WELCH--Ernestine Evon Stigger, M.A. in special education; IAEGER--Linda Sue Tanner, M.A. in elementary education; HENDERSON--Resor W.D. Tarbett, M.A. in art; BAISDEN--Jerry Roger Thompson, M.A. in elementary education; PAYNESVILLE--Charlie N. Vance Jr., M.A. in educational administration; WAR--Karen West, M.A. in early childhood education; SKYGUSTY--Maggie Marie Woolridge, M.A. in counseling, and GASSAWAY--Belinda Louise Yerkey, M.A. in counseling.

Residents from other states completing requirements in August include:

OHIO--Gary Jacob Applegate, M.A. in special education; Janet Lee Blanton, M.A. in elementary education, and Clara Shaffer Fuller, M.A. in English, Portsmouth; Bill W. Dingus, M.B.A.; Karen Elaine Tyo, M.A. in elementary education, and James Allen Ward, Jr., M.S. in vocational technical education, South Point.

(MORE)

John T. Easton, M.A. in educational administration, Jackson; Bobby L. Harris, M.A. in educational administration, Chesapeake; George Jack Humphrey, M.S. in biological sciences and Effie Mae McFann, M.A. in early childhood education, Ironton; Sandra Kay Wiseman Kolano, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, Ashtabula, and Fay Pickens Sauer, M.A. in English, Middleport.

KENTUCKY--Kathy Warden Carter, M.A. in reading education, Lexington; Daniel Wade Jackson, M.A. in speech, Ashland, and Elaine Marie Justice, M.A. in psychology, Independence.

PENNSYLVANIA--Richard Domenick Cupelli, M.B.A., Uniontown; Matthew C. Dodd, M.A. in special education, Enola; William Herbert Nelson, M.A. in speech pathology and audiology, Boston; Geriann Charlene Panetti, M.A. in counseling, Winder and James William Fry, M.S. in health and physical education, Altoona.

NEW JERSEY--James Orban Hesson, M.A. in educational administration, Vincentown and Peter Molinaro Jr., M.S. in biological sciences, Old Bridge; NORTH CAROLINA--Angelia Rose McElrath, M.B.A., Morganton.

Huntington residents in the July graduating class were:

Sally Kirk Adkins, M.A. in early childhood education; Jeanette Sue Bowen, M.A. in English; Charles Stephen Buell, M.A. in educational administration; Craig Newland Capen, M.A. in political science; Joan Workman Chambers, M.A. in educational administration; David A. Eakle, M.A. in counseling; David Aldon Hamilton, M.S. in biological sciences; Daniel L. Hufford, M.B.A.; Gary Allen Jarrett, M.A. in sociology; Shirley McCalmont Jones, M.A. in communication arts; Phyllis L. Justice, M.A. in mathematics; Sharon Diane Kontos, M.A. in speech; Nancy Jean Klim, M.A. in elementary education; Linda Carol Shelton, M.A. in early childhood education; Betty Joe Blair Slack, M.B.A.; Maura Louise Williams, M.A. in secondary education, and Donna L. Wilson, M.A. in early childhood education.

Other West Virginia residents in the July class were:

(MORE)

RAINELLE--William R. Allen, M.A. in music; LOONEYVILLE--Tambra Lea Hensley Asbury, M.S. in vocational technical education; MILTON--Theon Farris Ashworth, M.S. in vocational technical education, and Jane Finley, M.S. in physical science; MARLINTON--Donna Pratt Barksdale, M.A. in reading education, and Steven Donaldson Barksdale, M.A. in social studies; STOLLINGS--John Joseph Bodo, M.A. in journalism; MONTGOMERY--Woodville Nelson Browning, M.A. in counseling; WAYNE--William Givens Brubeck, M.A. in secondary education; BARBOURSVILLE--Faye Holley Clay, M.S. in vocational technical education; David Allen Hunt, M.S. in chemistry; Sonja Ann Wagner, M.A. in early childhood education, and Susan Kathleen Wheeler, M.A. in secondary education; ST. ALBANS--Pamela Sue Cunningham, M.A. in early childhood education, and Mark Edward Maruish, M.A. in psychology and ACCOVILLE--Karen Susan Duba, M.S. in geography.

MCCONNELL--Elnora Virginia Doll Elkins, M.S. in biological sciences; CHARLESTON--Judith Warman Fogle, M.A. in psychology, and Linda Gail Walton, M.A. in psychology; SOUTH CHARLESTON--Carol P. Folden, M.A. in secondary education; HURRICANE--Rebecca Covington Hammar, M.A. in reading education; PARKERSBURG--Linda Haught Harless, M.A. in home economics, and Terry Anne Rogers, M.S. in health and physical education; WILLIAMSON--Talmadge O. Harper, M.A. in educational administration; Larry Allen Scott, M.S. in physical science, and Patricia Irene Varney Tingler, M.A. in library science education; WEST LOGAN--Patricia Ullom Hunter, M.A. in early childhood education; BRANCHLAND--Larry Cameron Kearns, M.S. in vocational technical education, and MULLENS--Loretta O'Quin Lafferty, M.A. in library science education.

JUSTICE--Pamela Anne Lambert, M.A. in secondary education; BECKLEY--Alice Ann Lawlor, M.A. in special education; CRUM--Shirley R. McCoy, M.A. in elementary education; PRINCETON--James Allen McGraw, M.A. in mathematics; NITRO--Lyle David Milam, M.S. in vocational technical education; WEST HAMLIN--Jo Ann Miller, M.A. in educational administration.

(MORE)

15-15-15

OAK HILL--John P. Morgan, M.A. in elementary education; David G. Perry, M.S. in vocational technical education, and Mildred Vivian Farley Plymale, M.A. in special education; PINEVILLE--Sarah Friel Mulkey, M.A. in elementary education; HARTFORD--Mitzi Clara Hicks Oldaker, M.A. in elementary education; ALLEN JUNCTION--Walter Patterson, M.S. in biological sciences; IAEGER--Mattie H. Perdieu, M.A. in special education; RIPLEY--John Blake Ray, M.S. in vocational technical education; RAVENSWOOD--Linda Ruth Royse, M.A. in elementary education; WAR--Loretta June Spivey, M.A. in home economics; SUMMERS-VILLE--Lynda L. Taylor, M.A. in business education; ONA--Jean Ann Smith Waddell, M.A. in special education; COAL MOUNTAIN--Timmy L. Walls, M.A. in educational administration, and LESAGE--Aileen Fern Dillon Waugh, M.A. in early childhood education.

Other states with students completing degree requirements in July include:

OHIO--Danna Meadows Deaton, M.A. in library science education, and Fred S. Wood Jr., M.A. in educational administration, Chesapeake; Margaret Sharrad Eriksen, M.A. in art, and Nancy Kay Shuff, M.A. in educational administration, South Point; Susan Laura Harlacher Jeter, M.A. in reading education, and Larry David Stanley, M.A. in educational administration, Ironton; Jerry Loudermelt, M.A. in music, Jackson; William B. Nestor, M.A. in social studies, Proctorville; Daniel Douglas Weddington, M.B.A., Portsmouth, and Mary H. Withee, M.A. in reading education, Rio Grande.

NEW JERSEY--Jay Michael Ansell, M.S. in chemistry, Paterson; NEW YORK--Angelo DiBenedetto, M.A. in special education, Staten Island; PENNSYLVANIA--Thomas John Herman, M.S. in health and physical education, Ellwood City; DELAWARE--Tim A. Holsclaw, M.A. in educational administration, Newark, and VIRGINIA--Richard Warden King, M.S. in biological sciences, Arlington.

##