12-3-2013

The Parthenon, December 3, 2013

Bishop Nash
Parthenon@marshall.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/262

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Parthenon by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu.
By Andrea Steele

President Stephen J. Kopp kicked off the holiday season by recognizing the eight Marshall University Art and Design students for their winning entries of the President’s Holiday Competition. Inside of Kopp’s office Monday, the students gathered to be acknowledged for their winning design entries.

Kopp said there were three different divisions — Arts and Media students could enter plate design, where an engraved or sketched plate with the winning design goes to the top 80 Marshall designs, a digital holiday card and a traditional holiday card that will be sent out around the office.

The winners of the President’s Holiday Competition were Bradley Leonard, Tiffany Yance, Kyle Mallins, John Fowler, Shane Craig, Jill Smallwood, Daniel Polt and John Dingess.

“The creativity of our students is phenomenal,” Kopp said.

Kopp said the process is to take the entries to the jury where feedback is provided among them until they have narrowed the submissions down.

“Do you talk about the message (behind it),” Kopp said.

Mary Grussell, program director for the arts department, coordinated the event.

Grussell said she was a consultant for the jury when the deciding process went on, but she stepped back and let President and his wife do the choosing.

“The first year we did this was in 2005,” Grussell said.

“This is a good opportunity for students not only with a minor price, but to get recognition for their work."

Grussell said it’s also an interesting experience because there are always adjustments being made on the work can be produced.

John Fowler, senior graphic design major and first-place holiday printed card winner, said it didn’t take long to design his idea but coming up with the idea was the hardest part.

“Even after I designed it, it still took a good 15 hours to get the final product,” Fowler said.

Jill Smallwood, senior printmaking major and third-place winner, said getting both the holiday printed card and the traditional printed cards correctly, was a minor issue when she entered the competition.

“There’s a tendency for mostly graphic design majors to enter (the competition),” Smallwood said.

She added, “I am a printmaking major and I entered in hopes of getting a more diverse group of art majors to enter as well.”

Smallwood was also the only female to place.

“I don’t think it has to do with girls being inferior,” Smallwood said. “Hopefully more girls will enter next year.”

According to Grussell there were close to 25 students who entered the competition this year.

“I think more people should participate,” Grussell said.

Grussell hopes to see a larger turn out in entries for next year’s competition.

Andrea Steele can be reached at steve@marshall.edu.

---

You already KNOW you look great in...
Paul Walker's sudden death leaves Hollywood scrambling, community mourning

Cyber Monday expected to break online sales records

New York train that derailed was going 82 mph around a 30 mph curve

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 2013 MARSHALLPARTHENON.COM

Career Services to offer advice, help graduates with resumes

By MAISON HAYNES

The Marshall University Recreation Center will host a Cyber Monday event Monday that will be open for online shoppers, who will be able to shop on the popular holiday shopping weekend with the help of Career Services.

By HEATHER SOMERVILLE

The National Retail Federation expects 133 million online shoppers to make purchases Monday — nearly matching the 141 million total shoppers who buy online on Black Friday.

By SHANNON STOWERS

The Marshall Recreation Center is hosting its inaugural Career Services event Monday, which will go on from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Rec East Center.

By STEVEN ZITCEK, AND KHAIRULLA and JAMES BARRAGAN

A passenger train that derailed in New York City was traveling 62 mph as it entered a curve where the speed limit is 30 mph, and the brakes were not fully applied until seconds before the train came to a stop at the tracks, federal investigators said Monday.

By TINA SHULMAN

A passenger train that derailed in New York City was traveling 62 mph as it entered a curve where the speed limit is 30 mph, and the brakes were not fully applied until seconds before the train came to a stop at the tracks, federal investigators said Monday.

By BY SHANNON STOWERS

The Marshall University Recreation Center will host its inaugural Cyber Monday event Monday that will be open for online shoppers, who will be able to shop on the popular holiday shopping weekend with the help of Career Services.

The Marshall Recreation Center is hosting its inaugural Career Services event Monday, which will go on from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Rec East Center.

The National Retail Federation expects 133 million online shoppers to make purchases Monday — nearly matching the 141 million total shoppers who buy online on Black Friday.

The Marshall Recreation Center is hosting its inaugural Career Services event Monday, which will go on from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Rec East Center.
Sophomore Johnson impresses on Senior Day

SPORTS
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 2013 | THE PARTHENON | MARSHALLPARTHENON.COM

Richard Crank | The PartHenon

Sophomore right end Devon Johnson breaks away for a 53-yard receiving touchdown in the third quarter of the Herd’s game against ECU Friday at Joan C. Edwards Stadium.

Canty named C-US freshman of the week

By Will Hancock

SPORTS EDITOR

The Most Championship Series will end a four-game span against the Thundering Herd... The BC Selections, which combine both human and computer rankings, gave Rice (9-5, 7-1) the edge over Marshall (9-5, 7-1) by 245, giving the Owls the tenuous No. 1 ranking in the nation. The Herd greatly from the number one spot in the East, with memories of last season’s double-overtime failure on the forefront.

The Herd has averaged 25,023 in six home games this season (and had an attendance of 14,244 against the Herd in 2012). The Herd has averaged 22,513 in six home games, a difference of 0.58.

The weekly awards are chosen by a media panel representing the 13-member school. This week’s honoree was a four-year starter at receiver and his effort to ETSU (Nov. 30).

DeAndre Kane, who did so for the week of Feb. 7, 2011. Over the two-game week, Canty averaged 17.0 points and 4.5 assists in 30 minutes. Against WKU, Canty ranked second on the team in scoring with 10 points before averaging 19 and recording six assists in losing efforts at ETSU (Nov. 30). Ranking sixth in the nation in assists per game (7.2) and ninth in the country in total assists (215), Canty has helped the Herd greatly from the point position.

Delaware Kane, who did so for the week of Feb. 7, 2011. Over the two-game week, Canty averaged 17.0 points and 4.5 assists in 30 minutes. Against WKU, Canty ranked second on the team in scoring with 10 points before averaging 19 and recording six assists in losing efforts at ETSU (Nov. 30). Ranking sixth in the nation in assists per game (7.2) and ninth in the country in total assists (215), Canty has helped the Herd greatly from the point position.

Marshall will continue its four-game span away from the Cam Henderson Center at Vanderbilt, Thursday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m.

Canty named C-US freshman of the week

BY KARLYN TIMKO

SPORTS EDITOR

The Most Championship Series will end a four-game span against the Thundering Herd... The BC Selections, which combine both human and computer rankings, gave Rice (9-5, 7-1) the edge over Marshall (9-5, 7-1) by 245, giving the Owls the tenuous No. 1 ranking in the nation. The Herd greatly from the number one spot in the East, with memories of last season’s double-overtime failure on the forefront.

The Herd has averaged 25,023 in six home games this season (and had an attendance of 14,244 against the Herd in 2012). The Herd has averaged 22,513 in six home games, a difference of 0.58.

The weekly awards are chosen by a media panel representing the 13-member school. This week’s honoree was a four-year starter at receiver and his effort to ETSU (Nov. 30).

DeAndre Kane, who did so for the week of Feb. 7, 2011. Over the two-game week, Canty averaged 17.0 points and 4.5 assists in 30 minutes. Against WKU, Canty ranked second on the team in scoring with 10 points before averaging 19 and recording six assists in losing efforts at ETSU (Nov. 30). Ranking sixth in the nation in assists per game (7.2) and ninth in the country in total assists (215), Canty has helped the Herd greatly from the point position.

Marshall will continue its four-game span away from the Cam Henderson Center at Vanderbilt, Thursday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m.

Canty named C-US freshman of the week

BY KARLYN TIMKO

SPORTS EDITOR

The Most Championship Series will end a four-game span against the Thundering Herd... The BC Selections, which combine both human and computer rankings, gave Rice (9-5, 7-1) the edge over Marshall (9-5, 7-1) by 245, giving the Owls the tenuous No. 1 ranking in the nation. The Herd greatly from the number one spot in the East, with memories of last season’s double-overtime failure on the forefront.

The Herd has averaged 25,023 in six home games this season (and had an attendance of 14,244 against the Herd in 2012). The Herd has averaged 22,513 in six home games, a difference of 0.58.

The weekly awards are chosen by a media panel representing the 13-member school. This week’s honoree was a four-year starter at receiver and his effort to ETSU (Nov. 30).

DeAndre Kane, who did so for the week of Feb. 7, 2011. Over the two-game week, Canty averaged 17.0 points and 4.5 assists in 30 minutes. Against WKU, Canty ranked second on the team in scoring with 10 points before averaging 19 and recording six assists in losing efforts at ETSU (Nov. 30). Ranking sixth in the nation in assists per game (7.2) and ninth in the country in total assists (215), Canty has helped the Herd greatly from the point position.

Marshall will continue its four-game span away from the Cam Henderson Center at Vanderbilt, Thursday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m.
Deer season should be extended

Tommy D. G. Ferrell

My recurring theme on this page each week is education. I cannot stress the importance of education in any society, and as the president of the Higher Education Defense Group, I regularly go on-again, off-again crusade for improvements of our educational system. These efforts are not for the faint of heart. When I have been youthful, the educational process has been a brutal one, and the phrase “education is not for the faint of heart” has been true.

I am not referring to the physical demands of education. I am referring to the mental and emotional challenges that come with the process of learning. The mental and emotional challenges are the real challenges. The physical challenges are just a small part of the process.

The physical challenges are easy to overcome. The mental and emotional challenges are not. The mental and emotional challenges are the real challenges.

I am not referring to the physical demands of education. I am referring to the mental and emotional challenges that come with the process of learning. The mental and emotional challenges are the real challenges. The physical challenges are just a small part of the process.

The physical challenges are easy to overcome. The mental and emotional challenges are not. The mental and emotional challenges are the real challenges.
BICE

Continued from Page 1

Despite achieving solo chart success with his single "Real Thing" and "Inside Your Heart," Bice said he is not sure whether his upcoming album will be as big. "It's not something I'm going to sleep and wake up to be honest with you, I kind of think if the record would be more a hit. I kind of think people come out, they see Blood, Sweat & Tears for what Blood, Sweat & Tears is," Bice said. "Right now I'm more focused on making sure that we can make Blood, Sweat & Tears a hit together."

Walker’s sudden death also raises questions about the series’ future. "The real question to me is whether the show’s success has turned the storyline into a failure and will be so successful that it can make the show, in fact, the real story of the show, and that it’s now more a hit than a hit," Walker said. "And as a hit, we’ll have to promise that the show will continue to continue, to continue, to continue to continue to continue to continue, to continue."

The Fast and the Furious: Tokyo Drift, the series’ least successful installment, was also nominated for an Emmy for its"
TV Land Gives the Green Light on New Original Series, ‘Kirstie’

By Evan Fowler
FOR THE PARTHENON

In a world flooded with reality television shows, TV Land expects to find new success by relying on old tactics. The network brings on a new comedy taking old school rules of one-liners and on-screen chemistry to bring what may be America’s most favorite comedy to its screens.

Kirstie Alley plays Broadway star Madison Banks in TV Land’s upcoming sitcom ‘Kirstie,’ and she is also credited as the executive producer for the series. The show does right into the plot from the first scene. “Madie” Banks is a Broadway diva who is reluctantly reunited with her long lost son Arlo (Eric Peterson). Madie, who was on the verge of becoming a star gave up Arlo at birth for adoption. With the help of her quick-witted assistant and best friend Thomas (Khoa Phamet), Madie tries to embrace her maternal side by bringing Arlo into her show business driven world.

Alley has emerged as a great actress in her generation, proving time and again she is capable of great depth and range, as well as possessing a comedic timing second to none. While Alley is credited as the main star, the real diamonds in the rough are the ones who bring the show to its full comedic potential. For supporting cast includes Michael Richards who plays driver Frank and Prattman who plays Madie’s personal assistant. The chemistry between the cast members is seamlessly natural and their ability to play off of one another may be the key for success in the upcoming series.

This show strips away from current television culture of reality-based shows and those with intense and processed plots requiring constant coherence. “Kirstie” is a light-hearted comedy that is enjoyable for adults of all ages. It’s the type of show that doesn’t require a lot of thought on behalf of the viewer but still manages to provide a series of laughs throughout the 22-minute episodes. While the rating success is still to be determined after the premiere, the show is worth a view in two and provides a quick escape from the dull and boring routines of everyday life.

Although the show borders on the line of almost being “cheesy,” to be put simply, it works. Sometimes a little bit of “cheese” is the perfect side to your glass of wine.

The show premieres on TV Land at 10 p.m. Wednesday. Evan Fowler can be contacted at evanf54@marshall.edu.

Michael Richards (left), Khoa Phamet, Kirstie Alley and Eric Peterson

GET IT BEFORE IT’S GONE!
MOUNTAIN OF YOUTH Season Pass
Ages 29 and under • Winter 2013-2014 • No blackouts

Snowshoe Mountain was voted an overall favorite for terrain, scenery, nightlife, grooming and terrain parks by skiers and riders throughout the East. Book your trip at SnowshoeMIN.com and experience enchantment like never before. Call today 877.441.4286

©2013 Intrawest

You belong up here.

snowshoemin.com