11-15-2013

The Parthenon, November 15, 2013

Bishop Nash
Parthenon@marshall.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/287
Time stands still Thursday as Marshall observes the 43rd anniversary of the 1970 disaster. >Page 2

Inside this edition:

Marshall withstands Golden Hurricane >Full story online

Black Sheep plays host to comedy night >Page 4

‘Movember’ grows a Herd following >Page 5

“'If you are willing to lean on one another and work together, you can overcome anything.'

- John Proctor

Friday
HIGH 70° LOW 50°

Saturday
HIGH 64° LOW 50°

Sunday
HIGH 55° LOW 34°

GLENNS SPORTING GOODS
The ceremony concluded with a feature musical piece, “From the Ashes,” performed by the Marshall University Symphony, the laying of the wreath by members of the Marshall football team, and the annual performance by the university choir and wind ensemble. The ceremony concluded with a feature musical piece, “From the Ashes,” performed by the Marshall University Symphony, the laying of the wreath by members of the Marshall football team, and the annual performance by the university choir and wind ensemble. The ceremony concluded with a feature musical piece, “From the Ashes,” performed by the Marshall University Symphony, the laying of the wreath by members of the Marshall football team, and the annual performance by the university choir and wind ensemble. The ceremony concluded with a feature musical piece, “From the Ashes,” performed by the Marshall University Symphony, the laying of the wreath by members of the Marshall football team, and the annual performance by the university choir and wind ensemble.

I was raised by a community. I was raised by Huntington, W.Va., and by Marshall University.

— John Proctor, Huntington attorney and son of victims of the 1970 plane crash

Morgan Wright can be contacted at wrght265@marshall.edu.
Senior took winding road to Herd

By MONTY GREEN
THE PARTHENON

"My biggest goal this season was to do better than I did last year at regionals," senior Jack Whitney said. "As a team our goal is to do better than we did last year at regionals." Whitney has been a mainstay for the Herd in recent years, and he is looking to continue his strong performances in the final home race of the season.

The Herd is part of the Conference USA cross-country championships, and the races will be held at the Cam Henderson Center on Friday at 1:15 p.m.

For the seniors on the squad, this could be the last meet of their career at Marshall.

"I want to do my best," senior Laura Der said. "It's pretty classy." Byous said.

To raise your hitting percentage 100 points in comparison to others she was behind ball career was off to an amazing start, one of her friends and now more than 10

Although Byous-McConnell’s volleyball career was off to an amazing start, in comparison to others she was behind ball career was off to an amazing start, one of her friends and now more than 10

Although Byous-McConnell needed to learn quickly, she did just that. As she progressed through high school she continued to sac.

"She's done a lot of improvement," said Mitch Jacobs, head coach of the volleyball.

"She's a very good student. When that weight is off your shoulders it's easier to focus on what you're doing on the court," Byous said.

Mitch Jacobs, head coach of the volleyball. "She works hard in practice, doesn't waste energy, doesn't waste time. Sacha is always on task, she makes sure the younger players are doing what they're supposed to be doing and acting the way they're supposed to be acting." Byous-McConnell has also made great strides in her academics while at Marshall.

"I want to do my best," senior Laura Der said. "It's pretty classy." Byous said.

To raise your hitting percentage 100 points in comparison to others she was behind ball career was off to an amazing start, one of her friends and now more than 10

Although Byous-McConnell needed to learn quickly, she did just that. As she progressed through high school she continued to sac.

"She's done a lot of improvement," said Mitch Jacobs, head coach of the volleyball.

"She's a very good student. When that weight is off your shoulders it's easier to focus on what you're doing on the court," Byous said.

Mitch Jacobs, head coach of the volleyball. "She works hard in practice, doesn't waste energy, doesn't waste time. Sacha is always on task, she makes sure the younger players are doing what they're supposed to be doing and acting the way they're supposed to be acting." Byous-McConnell has also made great strides in her academics while at Marshall.

"Got a lot better scholastically," Jacobs said. "She's gone from an average to a very good student. When that weight is off your shoulders it's easier to focus on what you're doing on the court."
By Geoffrey Foster

THE PARTHENON — In a city where Mexican restaurants are fairly prevalent, Black Sheep Burrito and Brews is surprisingly diverse for a place that offers a menu largely made up of burritos and tacos.

Like many others, Black Sheep is the odd man out. The restaurant is just one of a number of offshoots of the Mexican food industry that have opened in Huntington in recent years.

“Taco shops seem to be everywhere,” said Black Sheep co-owner Pat Guthrie, who had a unique concept in mind when he decided to open a restaurant.

“I felt there was a void for more unique connections with other people and I learned that this was something that was happening in other countries,” Guthrie said. “I thought, ‘This could be a perfect opportunity to start a new restaurant.’”

Guthrie said he thought about opening a similar establishment in South Carolina, but he approached a contact in Huntington and dickered a deal with him.

“I knew the area really well for film festival and kind of know the audience,” Jones said. “I watch the trailers,” Jones said. “I know the audience really well.”

Jones said although there are occasionally issues with a distribution company when they’re looking to screen a foreign film, and they sometimes have to order additional copies, they screen the films as soon as the current season ends.

“[We screen] the most current films as soon as the current season ends,” said The Marshall Artists Series’ show coordinator Augusto Pinochet. “What a lot of times, students will come to the film week and say ‘I just can’t believe it. I figured you guys were picking the films already because you’re screening them in this month. I’ve never seen it in time.’”

Like most film festivals around the country, The Marshall Artists Series also focuses on students, holding annual student film festivals at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center.

The festival begins Friday at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center. Students will have a chance to see a wide variety of films from around the world, and they’ll also be able to attend a seminar with an expert in the field.

Jones said the event is a way to introduce students to the idea of foreign films, and to give them an opportunity to see films they may not have seen before.

“Mostly it’s just about getting students interested in foreign films,” said Jones. “We never show films that are too long or too specialized.”

Jones said the films are chosen based on the audience’s needs, and they always choose a film that they like.

“I think it’s important just to realize these films are not just for foreign languages students,” Jones said. “I think it’s important just to realize these films are available to students who would like to build a relationship with and we invite all of our students to come see them.”

Jones said the goal is to see other students come back because they enjoyed it.

Black Sheep offers Mexican-inspired food, with a menu that includes burritos and tacos stuffed with flavorful ingredients. The restaurant also offers a full bar featuring 14 imported and domestic beers on tap.

“The Intouchables” is a French comedy about a physically disabled aristocrat who finds an unusual friend in a Muslim ex-convict. “Reality” is an Italian dark comedy about a fish monger who becomes obsessed with becoming a reality television star. “The Silence” is an Italian film about a young woman who finds herself drawn to an attractive woman named Augusto Pinochet.

“The Angel’s Share” is a British film about a man who works in a wine shop and his passion for wine.

By ZACH RARD 10/15/13

The Marshall Artists Series Fall International Film Festival begins Friday at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center.

The festival begins Friday at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center. Students will have a chance to see a wide variety of films from around the world, and they’ll also be able to attend a seminar with an expert in the field.

“I think it’s important just to realize these films are not just for foreign languages students,” Jones said. “I think it’s important just to realize these films are available to students who would like to build a relationship with and we invite all of our students to come see them.”

Jones said the goal is to see other students come back because they enjoyed it.

By ANDREA STEELE | THE PARTHENON

MUSOM ‘Stache Dash’ to raise money for children, charity

Black Sheep offers Mexican-inspired food, with a menu that includes burritos and tacos stuffed with flavorful ingredients. The restaurant also offers a full bar featuring 14 imported and domestic beers on tap.

“The Intouchables” is a French comedy about a physically disabled aristocrat who finds an unusual friend in a Muslim ex-convict. “Reality” is an Italian dark comedy about a fish monger who becomes obsessed with becoming a reality television star. “The Silence” is an Italian film about a young woman who finds herself drawn to an attractive woman named Augusto Pinochet.

“The Angel’s Share” is a British film about a man who works in a wine shop and his passion for wine.

By ZACH RARD 10/15/13

The Marshall Artists Series Fall International Film Festival begins Friday at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center.

The festival begins Friday at the Keith-Albee Performing Arts Center. Students will have a chance to see a wide variety of films from around the world, and they’ll also be able to attend a seminar with an expert in the field.

“I think it’s important just to realize these films are not just for foreign languages students,” Jones said. “I think it’s important just to realize these films are available to students who would like to build a relationship with and we invite all of our students to come see them.”

Jones said the goal is to see other students come back because they enjoyed it.
Movenber sweeps across campus

By COLTON JEFFREYS (SPORTS EDITOR)

November can be a symbol for many things. Since its inception in 2004, Movember has attracted a number of celebrities to support its cause. Movember has the potential to make a difference, but is unlikely to fundamentally destabilize the markets,” Gruber wrote. “It will probably result in higher prices in 2015, but not too much higher.”

“Movenber has a long list of accolades. It is named one of the top 100 non-government organizations in the world,” the executive director and founder of the Movember Foundation, Geoff愛lies, said.

Gruber also pointed out that the Affordable Care Act, will keep them from offsetting the additional coverage costs of older people who are more likely to enroll in a plan through Obamacare. In 2016, people will have to pay new insurance premiums, but if large numbers do so, it could destabilize the insurance market and result in higher premiums. Insurance commissioners across the country are now weighing this sudden change to the Affordable Care Act.

Jim Donelon, president of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and the Louisiana state insurance commissioner, questioned how the president’s changes would translate into actual policy.

“In many states, cancellation notices have already gone out to polyclinicians and plans have already been ap

By TOBY POH

MCALCUTTY WASHINGTON BUREAU (MC)

President Barack Obama’s administrat

People who currently have individual is to keep these typically healthy people— who are cheaper to insure — another year to move into marketplace coverage

By JACOB SMITH

NUTS

Q: What is your biggest fear?

A: I've always wanted to play with Justin Timberlake. One of the coolest things in the world is going to be having his birthday on the same day.

Q: If you could make one change in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could play a round of golf with anyone in all of history, who would it be?

A: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.

Q: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could play a round of golf with anyone in all of history, who would it be?

A: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.

A: I've always wanted to play with Justin Timberlake. One of the coolest things in the world is going to be having his birthday on the same day.

Q: What is one thing you can't live with and brunch.

A: Black Sheep. They have great burritos.

Q: Where is your favorite place to eat in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could make one change in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could play a round of golf with anyone in all of history, who would it be?

A: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.

A: I've always wanted to play with Justin Timberlake. One of the coolest things in the world is going to be having his birthday on the same day.

Q: What is your biggest fear?

A: I've always wanted to play with Justin Timberlake. One of the coolest things in the world is going to be having his birthday on the same day.

Q: If you could make one change in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could play a round of golf with anyone in all of history, who would it be?

A: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.

A: I've always wanted to play with Justin Timberlake. One of the coolest things in the world is going to be having his birthday on the same day.

Q: What is one thing you can't live with and brunch.

A: Black Sheep. They have great burritos.

Q: Where is your favorite place to eat in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could make one change in the world, what would it be?

A: I would want to feed everyone. I would make sure everyone in the world has enough to eat.

Q: If you could play a round of golf with anyone in all of history, who would it be?

A: My family. They sent me over here from Scotland. I think my family would be the best people to play golf with.