John Dundas, born at Alexandria, Virginia June 28, 1795.

He died _____

He married Ann Merritt.

She was born Jan. 23, 1805. Died March 2, 1863, at 58 yrs. 19 days.

They had eleven children:

1. Lucy Dundas

b. Aug. 12, 1840. Died Oct. 22, 1921, at 81

2 mos. 10 days, hence, born Aug. 12,

1840. Lucy Dundas was never married.

She was engaged to John Thomas Moore of Barboursville, W. Va., but he was murdered one night by a man named Stratton, a raftsmen from Logan, W. Va.

Mr. Moore was a young man. About 100 raftsmen, after bringing their rafts down Guyan, walked back to Barboursville visited the town saloons and got drunk.

Mr. Moore had rented a room in a new building he had just recently completed, to some negroes for a dance, and these raftsmen tried to break up the dance.

Mr. Moore was called on to protect them.

He told the raftsmen not to disturb them further. They then desisted, but one of them followed him to his hotel, on Main Street, just where the present M.E.

Church now stands, and as he entered the door, plunged a knife into him. He died in a few moments. Lucy mourned for him as long as she lived, and never again considered marriage. It was the one great tragedy in her life. She was one of the early school teachers there.

This man was indicted at Barboursville, but succeeded in getting a change of venue to Mason County, and I believe, by the aid of perjured testimony, came clear.

2. Agnes Dundas

born 1826

died Jan. 12, 1908, at 82.

3. Susan Dundas

born March 2, 1843

died Dec. 14, 1858, at 16 yrs, 8 mos.
19 days.

4. Sophia Dundas, daughter of John and Ann Dundas.

born Oct. 3, 1829.

died Sept. 7, 1840, at 11 yrs.

3
5. Agnes Dundas

Married Elijah Turley.

6. Eliza Ann Dundas

Married John Turley.

7. Mary Virginia Dundas

Married W<sup>m</sup> Dirton

8. Sarah Everett Dundas

Born

Died

Married Napoleon Bonaparte Johnston,
Nov. 9, 1865. He was a son of Samuel W.
and Rebecca Johnston.

9. Thomas Dundas

4

10. Margaret Dundas

Married John Merritt, son of George and Levina Merritt, and grandson of Capt. William and Lavina Merritt. John Merritt was a miller. An infant daughter of John and Margaret Merritt died Oct. 18, 1850, aged 3 mos. and 15 days.

11. Frances Dundas, after the death of her sister Margaret, on June 5, 1864, married John Merritt. Thus, he married two Dundas sisters. The marriage record shows that he was 36 years old, and he was 26.

The old Merritt cemetery shows that John Merritt died Jan. 16, 1856, aged 66 years, hence, born in 1789. It also shows that Margaret Merritt was born Oct. 27, 183___, and died in 1859. The stone was broken.

John and Ann Dundas lived at the old Green Harrison place, on the north side of Mud River, below Blue Sulphur Springs.

Frank L. Burdette says: "Another flour and grist mill was built, at an early date, over the Great Falls of Mud River.

John Dundas was the builder and first owner, but the property later passed into the hands of David Harshbarger by purchase".

Later Greenville Harrison owned and lived at this place. It was about a half mile below Blue Sulphur Springs

them how to better manage their incomes. In the 400 Indian villages with which her work will deal, the water supply is the village well or the Presbyterian church.

C. C. Hay Is One Day Younger Than State Of West Virginia

How would it feel to be one day younger than West Virginia? Just ask C. C. Hay of 1749 Buffington avenue, who was born at Greenbottom, near Huntington on the Ohio River Road, the day before West Virginia became a state.

Mr. Hay is 90 years old today and can recall "when Huntington wasn't even on the map." He has lived here since 1890 when the streets of Third avenue were "nothing but a dirt road with wooden slabs for sidewalks." In those days, he said, land stretched for miles and miles before a house appeared, and lumber was thick throughout this area. That's how C. C. Hay chose to make "his living in the good old days. He went into the lumber business and built homes for new families. In 1901 he built the house in which he is still living across the street from one of this city's first mayors.

Mr. Hay was 37 years old before he married and raised a family. He has five children living, four sons and one daughter, and three grandchildren. Long 114 years seem to run in his family. His father died at 93, and his wife was buried the day the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941.

He grew up with many of Huntington's most distinguished citizens and formed friendships which were to last over 50 years. In spite of his age and slight deafness, Mr. Hay is quite active. He walks down town every day for his lunch and has become a favorite of the working girls at Kresge's. Although he retired in 1927 just before the depression collapsed his quarter-of-a-million-dollar lumber business, he has never been lazy and is quite proud of being 90 years old today.

HUNTINGTON

The city fathers were confronted with all the problems of a city government namely police, streets, fire, health, and schools. Huntington was a city on paper that had made a beginning and the problem was to meet the present needs and at the same time to keep an eye on the future. How well they did their job must be measured by the results and this work will attempt to narrate in chronicle their efforts.
