Abstract: Ms. Sally Cyrus is a local (Huntington, WV) resident whose family owned a landmark hardware store in Old Central City. Following in the footsteps of her mother, Margaret (Peggy) Cyrus, she was instrumental in the establishment and continuation of several community economic projects and social clubs. Her collection includes her personal scrapbooks and memorabilia from her years as a Camp Fire girl, her mother's membership in the Huntington Azalea Garden Club, her personal collection of material from the Jewel Doll Club, and records of her active participation in the renovation of Old Central City. The collection, which was contributed to Marshall University in 2007, also includes yearbooks from Marshall High School and Huntington High School, genealogy documentation, Rhododendron Girl's State Program memorabilia, and various Marshall University photographs, and newspaper clippings.

Biographical Summary

Margaret (Peggy) Boone was born in 1909 and married Evan Cyrus in 1931. Sally O. Cyrus, her daughter, was born in 1932. Her second child, Judith Evan Cyrus was born in 1938. Peggy graduated from Huntington High in 1927. Sally graduated from Marshall High in 1949. Judy graduated from Marshall High School in 1956. Marshall High School became Marshall Laboratory School.

One of the most important organizations for Sally Cyrus during her early years was the Camp Fire Girls which she joined in 1946. She remained an active member for a quarter of a century. One of the items within the collection is an article by Sally Cyrus called "My Twenty Five Years as a Campfire Girl." The collection includes materials on Camp Dekanawida and the organization's presence in the Huntington Community.

The Huntington Azalea Garden Club was founded in 1940 with Peggy Cyrus elected as its first president. The Huntington Azalea Garden Club was registered under the West Virginia Garden Club and hosted shows for floral arrangements, Christmas decorating, garden landscaping, and the Club held an annual Narcissus Show. The collection has documentation from the club's inception to its dissolution.

Sally Cyrus was the treasurer and former President of the Jewel Doll Club and financial records of the organization are maintained as part of the collection. An enthusiast for the collection of dolls, she kept careful records of the organization's expenditures. The Jewel Doll Club organization attends the annual West Virginia Doll convention which is currently headed by Sue Sager. The Jewel Doll Club is a local Huntington branch of the United Federation of Doll Clubs based out of Kansas City, Missouri. The United Federation of Doll Clubs was incorporated in 1949 with fourteen member clubs. The website of the United Federation of Doll Clubs, <http://www.ufdc.org/>, maintains that its goals are as follows: "The objectives of the non-profit corporation are to create, stimulate and maintain a national interest in all matters pertaining to doll collecting; to promote and assist in the preservation of historical documents pertaining to dolls; to serve as a clearing house for ideas pertaining to dolls; to promote and stimulate interest in the establishment and maintenance of museum doll collections and other permanent and temporary exhibits for display in public places; to assist the educational process through the sponsorship of and participation in lectures, seminars, conferences, and symposia; to publish a magazine to encourage the above enumerated charitable, scientific and educational activities." Today there are more than seven hundred member clubs in seventeen countries with a total membership in excess of fifteen thousand people. The Jewel Doll Club organization publishes its own quarterly newsletter.

Sally Cyrus was a member of the Old Central City Merchant's Association due to the presence of the Cyrus Family Hardware store located in Old Central City. The hardware store belonged to her maternal great-uncles before the annexation of Central City into the greater Huntington area in 1909. Sally's father, Evan Cyrus, acquired the store in 1928. The Merchant's Association (commonly referred to as the Old Central City Association) was instrumental in revitalization of Old Central City.

The Old Central City Association is a private historical organization devoted to its namesake section of the city of Huntington, WV. The Old Central City Association attempts to preserve antiques and buildings in the region. The Association also works for the revitalization of the area as an active tourist site in the State of West Virginia. The Old Central City Association maintains its own website <http://www.oldcentralcity.com/> in which it advertises the portion of Central City currently under preservation. It frequently holds fund-raisers, sponsors a veteran's march, a Christmas parade, and prints its own newsletter to promote awareness of Old Central City's current events. The Old Central City Association is a local organization and maintains no ties outside of the Huntington area.

The collection also includes personal memorabilia including: documentation from the Rhododendron Girl's State Program from 1958-1960, genealogy records of the Boone family (Sally's maternal family), and her membership and participation with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Scope and Content Note

The Sally Cyrus Collection is the donated papers of Sally Cyrus, Peggy Cyrus, and Judy Cyrus. This collection chronicles their material contributions to several prominent Huntington organizations.

This collection provides an in-depth look at the lives of one of Huntington's upper-class families beginning in the 1920s and extending through the 1960s, a period in which Huntington experienced an economic boom and a population increase. The women whose lives are showcased in this collection were educated, socially elite, and financially secure. It is an insight to the gender role of the educated woman in high society and the activities she chose for her daughters. Organizing and actively participating in several civic organizations, utilizing skills normally seen in captains of industry, the Cyrus women left behind a comprehensive record of life for a woman in the early twentieth century in a railroad boom town.

The collection is arranged in five series, arranged alphabetically. It contains correspondence, memorabilia, convention programs, notes, awards, pamphlets, newspaper articles, photos, reports, and printed materials. These records document some of the activities of the Cyrus Family from the early 1900s to the mid-1990s. The collection also serves to illustrate some of the activities of the organizations to which they were members.

Arrangement Note

The collection is arranged in series. All materials were placed in archival class boxes and folders. The collection has been labeled and cataloged for future use by students, faculty, and researchers.

Series 1: Contains material relating to the Camp Fire Girls. Included are newspaper article clippings, photograph scrapbooks, articles of clothing from Sally Cyrus's days as a Camp Fire Girl, brochures for Camp Dekanawida, handbooks for the organization from various periods, and other official material for the organization.

Series 2: Contains newspaper clippings, flower show information, minutes of club meetings, program brochures, letters of resignation, and photos for the Huntington Azalea Garden Club.

Series 3: Contains materials relating to the Jewel Doll Club. The series contains scrapbooks, guidebooks to the Jewel Doll Club, and financial information for the organization.

Series 4: Contains materials relating to the Old Central City Association. The series includes association minutes, lists of members, financial records, restoration proposals, maps, diagrams, and television interviews.

Series 5: Contains the Cyrus Family's personal materials including high school yearbooks, a high school graduation diploma, personal correspondence, genealogy research, clippings, and bulletins.
