Collection Name: The First Presbyterian Church of Huntington

Date: 1890-2008. Bulk of the content: 1930-2002

This collection was a gift from the First Presbyterian Church of Huntington. The boxes are arranged in original order imposed by the creator of the collection. There is no restriction on accessing the collection.

Related Collection: In addition to this collection, there is a separate First Presbyterian Church of Huntington, WV collection within the archives at Morrow Library. This collection contains records of the First Presbyterian Church from 1839 to 1990, with the bulk of the content falling between 1880 and 1990. Within the collection are records of church finance, meetings, government, social groups, histories, and marital and baptismal registers. For more information on this collection, the accession number is 2007/02.0757.

Processing Note: For organizational purposes, some folders and boxes have been combined in order to create more shelf-space.

The First Presbyterian Church of Huntington collection houses a significant amount of photographs and scrapbooks. While processing the collection we faced certain challenges concerning the photographs. Some of the issues included deteriorated photos and pages in scrapbooks, mold, disorganized and unlabeled pictures, and binding that was impractical for archival storage. In order to process the collection we had to clean pictures, remove them from photo albums, cut spiral binding, and in some cases place photographs into individual wrappings with respective labeling. The photographs in the collection ranged from photo albums of district members, deacons, families, and events held by the church. The scrapbooks included sanctuary renovations and general church photographs and scriptures. The scrapbooks were left in their original binding as long as they were in good condition

Perhaps the most interesting part of the First Presbyterian Church collection is the Victor Animatograph lantern slides. These glass slides are Victor "Featherweight" Slides containing a single pane of glass with shellac on the opposite side that protects the image and prevents scratching. The Featherweight slides were a multi-purpose slide able to be played in different Stereopticons; they were less expensive, produced a high quality image, and were very durable. The slides proved challenging to archive due to their number scheme, which ranged from a three digit to a five digit numeric scheme. However, the Victor catalog we received from the University of Iowa Archives arranged the glass slides in alphabetical order, completely negating their numeric scheme. Furthermore, there are a total of 190 glass slides in the First Presbyterian Church collection, but even with the catalog we were only able to identify 98 of them. Cleaning the slides proved less challenging; the main directive of cleaning the glass slides was to make sure to only clean the glass slide and not the shellac side. For more information on the Victor Animatograph Co., please visit the following website from the University of Iowa Archives: <http://collguides.lib.uiowa.edu/?MSC0153> .

Abstract

This collection contains the records of the First Presbyterian Church of Huntington from the 1890s to the early 2000s. Most of the collection falls between 1930 and 2002. Within the collection are administrative records such as minutes, registers, and accounting records; photographs of members, non-members, former members, church functions; scrapbooks of sanctuary renovations, church functions, and miscellaneous ephemera; newspaper clippings; an international collection; histories of the First Presbyterian Church; a large collection of lantern slides; and other various items.

A Brief History of the First Presbyterian Church of Huntington, West Virginia

- In 1838, “The Western Presbyterian Church” was organized by 18 Cabell County Presbyterians in the then unfinished chapel at Marshall Academy.
- In 1870, Holderby Chapel was built near 16th Street.
- In 1871, the church was renamed “The Huntington Presbyterian Church,” then later renamed “The First Presbyterian Church of Huntington” in 1873.
- In 1872, a small church was erected at the rear of the church’s 5th Avenue lot.
- August 1895, cornerstone of new sanctuary was laid.
- 1908, Funds allocated to organize the Second Presbyterian Church, in 1913 the Highlawn Presbyterian Church opened, the Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church opened in 1945, the Enslow Presbyterian Church opened in 1949, the Bates Presbyterian Church opened in 1956, and the Rome (Ohio) Presbyterian Church opened in 1958.
- 1913, 75th anniversary of the church celebrated and Sunday School added to church.
- 1924, land was purchased on the south side of 10th Avenue between 9th and 10th Streets with plans to build a new church and recreation building. The depression ended these plans.
- 1951, land sold to YMCA.

- 1951, Church School building erected.
- 1954, Moller pipe organ installed.
- 1962, first services held at Cabwaylingo Presbyterian Chapel at Dunlow.
- 1963, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States held its 103rd annual meeting in the First Presbyterian Church's facilities from April 25-30; the church also celebrated their 125th anniversary.
- In 1965, the first International House program was held in the church's facilities. 180 international students, from 43 countries, came from 40 American colleges and universities to spend their Christmas vacation at the church.
- In 1976, construction of the Presbyterian Manor, a skilled healthcare facility, was begun. First Presbyterian Church maintained ownership of Presbyterian Manor until 1998.
- In 1977, the church built Riverview Manor, overlooking the Ohio River, providing 114 apartments for the elderly and disabled.
- In 1988, the 150th anniversary, the congregation voted to proceed with plans for the renovation of the church building to make it safer, more accessible, and more functional. This project proceeded through the 1990s as a $3.5 million project.
- 2005, the church celebrated 100 years in their sanctuary.

Collection Inventory

Series I: Administration

Box One

This box contains fourteen folders with information on church sessions. The first four cover the years 1926-1942, but there is a significant time-gap between the next ten, which range from 1995-2002. Folder 14 houses miscellaneous administration papers such as monthly themes for the church, meetings, notes on missing volumes, and notes on a congregational workshop. These papers only have dates for two volumes, but the rest of the collection has no clear dates on any of the information. Since these papers were grouped together with the sessions, we decided to keep them in their original order and place them under series one.

- Folder 1 – 1926-1934

Series VI: Victor Animatograph Lantern Slides.

This series contains Victor Animatograph Lantern Slides that are a specific type of glass slide. These glass slides are Victor "Featherweight" Slides. They are a single pane of glass with a shellac on the opposite side that protects the image, and prevents scratching. Featherweight slides are framed giving them the dimensions of 3 ¼ x 4 inch. The Featherweight slides were a multi-purpose slide able to be played in different Stereopticons. Prior to the Featherweight slides, the Victor Corporation produced, glass slides were heavy, bulky, and expensive. The Featherweight slides were less expensive and produced a high quality image and are very durable. Within this series 98 slides of 190, we were able to identify through a Victor catalog from 1916, which we obtained through the University of Iowa. The University of Iowa Archives houses the Victor Animatograph Corporation Papers. <http://collguides.lib.uiowa.edu/?MSC0153>
