Spring 4-29-2014

The Parthenon, April 29, 2014

Bishop Nash
Parthenon@marshall.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/363

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at Marshall Digital Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Parthenon by an authorized administrator of Marshall Digital Scholar. For more information, please contact zhangj@marshall.edu.
High school graduation rate exceeds 80 percent

U.S. high school students have reached a milestone with more than eight out of 10 public high school students graduating on time.

By JOSIE LANDGRAVE
FOR THE PARTHENON

Huntington Kiwanis International 8054182 W. Huntington lost the tax-exempt status in May 2019 for its failure to file a Form 990-series return or notice for three consecutive years.

Secretary Cheryl Bott, West Virginia’s deputy secretary of state, said the organization had not filed with West Virginia’s secretary of state’s office as of April 9.

Lynda Blake, services representative for Kiwanis International, said 8054182 W. Huntington’s membership was revoked in 2019 because of unpaid taxes. As of April 17, the organization’s membership had not been reinstated with Kiwanis International.

John Rigby, the listed contact for the 8054182 W. Huntington, was unable to be contacted after several phone calls.

Records on IRS.gov show the organization’s tax-exempt status had not been reinstated as of April 17.

Josie Landgrave can be contacted at landgra2e@marsh.edu.

Kiwanis Day Care Qline for needy parents

By JOSE LANDGRAVE
FOR THE PARTHENON

Huntington Kiwanis International 8054182 W. Huntington lost the tax-exempt status in May 2019 because the organization had not filed with West Virginia’s secretary of state’s office as of April 9.

Lynda Blake, services representative for Kiwanis International, said 8054182 W. Huntington’s membership was revoked in 2019 because of unpaid taxes. As of April 17, the organization’s membership had not been reinstated with Kiwanis International.

John Rigby, the listed contact for the 8054182 W. Huntington, was unable to be contacted after several phone calls.

Records on IRS.gov show the organization’s tax-exempt status had not been reinstated as of April 17.

Josie Landgrave can be contacted at landgra2e@marsh.edu.

By LAUTA CLOZEL
TRIBUNE WASHINGTON BUREAU

The national high school graduation rate has reached a record high of more than 90%, but disparities based on students’ race, socio-economic and disability status remain alarming, according to an annual report by America’s secretary of State Colin Powell.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.

The nation’s graduation rate has increased from 75% in 1990 to 91% in 2011 because of reforms in the 2000s, which are either general education or specific to their major.

The pathways graduate program teaches international students what teachers in an elementary school think that the international students coming in aren’t prepared for, but that they don’t know how to do it in their classroom. Teachers and American classrooms require “to say that the students who come out of the INTO program are fully capable to manage and the manners involved in improving their English proficiency.”

The pathways graduate program’s focus is to prepare international students for full-time in American universities.
Saveda Rodigher is a former vice president of news and a former minister of foreign affairs. She argued that Russia should take steps to end its annexation of Crimea and work towards peace in the region.

The Russian propaganda campaign against Ukraine began long before the winter protests at Maidan, or Independence Square, in Kiev, as seen in recent weeks. At Medain, print media began publishing articles that praised the government and criticized the opposition.

The campaign has worked. Some polls have shown that about 50 percent of Ukrainians support Putin's plans for Ukraine, and as many as 80 percent are satisfied with the way things are going.

The Russian narrative—that Kiev is run by thugs and a fraction, in repeated efforts often only

The White House press corps has become a powerful propaganda tool, according to Russian critics. The Obama administration has often been portrayed as weak and ineffective, while Putin has been depicted as a strong leader committed to protecting Russia's interests.

The White House press corps has also been criticized for its coverage of Ukraine. Some journalists have been accused of being too close to the administration, while others have been dismissed as too critical of the government.

The White House press corps is an important part of the U.S. media landscape, and its influence cannot be ignored. As long as it remains a platform for official narratives, the Russian propaganda campaign will continue to spread its message to an audience around the world.
By DUNCAN SHAW

By BILL DWYRE

By DAVE ATTWOOD
By CHARLES J. CHAPUT

John XXIII and John Paul II — the 26th and 27th popes of the Catholic Church — were both extraordinary men. John XXIII was born Jacopo Mariano我记得 December 18, 1881, in Bergamo, Italy, to a poor peasant family. He worked in the fields and on the mountain roads. His mother died when he was 3. He took up the labor of the fields at 10.

By age 25, he was a priest who was made a diocesan priest. He was sent to Rome to study at the Catholic University, which he left after 2 years because of economic difficulties. But he was determined to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity and to pursue it. He hoped a new Papacy would present the opportunity.

John XXIII was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

Within a few months, though, he surprised the world by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John did not use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John did not use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John didn’t use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John didn’t use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John didn’t use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John didn’t use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

No, John didn’t use any of the innovations, nor was he surprised by calling the Second Vatican Council. The need for a council was not new. It is discussed famously in the window of the church. In his speech, he said, “Our Lord Jesus Christ, who became man to save the world, but not to be rebuked again by the world. But that’s not the most important thing about them.

As a new pope, he wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.

In effect, John wanted to make the church better at what she was called to do, not to reinvent the wheel. He wanted to pursue it. He hoped a new papacy would present the opportunity.
Kevin Gorman, center, who has turned his Wikipedia-editing obsession into a job as UC Berkeley's first Wikipedian-in-residence, works with undergraduate students as their Wikipedia project in Berkeley, Calif., April 6.

Berkeley hires first Wikipedian-in-residence

Continued from Page 3

“Turned into a pathetic lackey.”

The day care employs 26 teachers, 14 of whom work full time. All employees must complete 180 hours of state-approved training every year. Workers must also complete a 10-hour course on medication administration training. Those who care for infants and toddlers must receive state-approved training or receive a waiver or endorsement in infant and toddler care.

"Due to the exigencies of trying to get by in the present form, I've been forced into some rather unpleasant circumstances. Most, I've been having to sacrifice my health and general well being in order to keep up with all of the busy work. Although I shouldn't say busy work yet, we're all under serious time constraints, but still, it's a ridiculous amount of work and as a result of this I've had both to question whether or not I can continue doing this for any time, on any practical level, and also whether it's worth sacrificing my health and well being in order to get this piece of paper that is worth less than a reimbursement from any given professor."

By RANDY LEWIS

Country music's recent transformation turns out to be a give and take.

That has a lot to do with the three-day Stagecoach's Maneater.

The daily turnout of some 63,000 was also in part.

The expansion of the property pushed the sense that the torch of country has been passed to a new generation, many of whom spent considerable portions of their time in the spotlight seeking fails to vest, crazy and reality crises.

It's not that Stagecoach has turned its back on veteran — they were merely represented on the secondary Palomino Stage with seasoned performers such as Lyle Lovett, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Crystal Gayle, roots-rock singer-songwriter John Prine, seminal country-rocker Michael Nesmith and classic-rock singer-songwriter Don McLean.

Mostly, I've been trying to get by in the present form, as a result of this I've been forced into some rather unpleasant circumstances. Most, I've been having to sacrifice my health and general well being in order to keep up with all of the busy work. Although I shouldn't say busy work yet, we're all under serious time constraints, but still, it's a ridiculous amount of work and as a result of this I've had both to question whether or not I can continue doing this for any time, on any practical level, and also whether it's worth sacrificing my health and well being in order to get this piece of paper that is worth less than a reimbursement from any given professor."

By RANDY LEWIS

Country music's recent transformation turns out to be a give and take.

That has a lot to do with the three-day Stagecoach's Maneater.

The daily turnout of some 63,000 was also in part.

The expansion of the property pushed the sense that the torch of country has been passed to a new generation, many of whom spent considerable portions of their time in the spotlight seeking fails to vest, crazy and reality crises.

It's not that Stagecoach has turned its back on veteran — they were merely represented on the secondary Palomino Stage with seasoned performers such as Lyle Lovett, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Crystal Gayle, roots-rock singer-songwriter John Prine, seminal country-rocker Michael Nesmith and classic-rock singer-songwriter Don McLean.

McLean delivered what was arguably the most culturally connective moment of the weekend when he closed his performance with his 1972 hit "American Pie". The optic single that mythologized the birth and (in his view at the time) death of rock 'n' roll music through the tumultuous '60s.

A second soon was Lyle Lovett's under-30-cheering parting of the band's signature songs that helped popularize the stringband rock sound still so much of country music today: "Sweet Home Alabama" and "You're Right!"

Other well-established musicians such as Texas-based band Asleep at the Wheel and influential East Coast bluegrass band the Seldom Scene shared the smaller Mustang Stage with up-and-coming newcomers including New Orleans roots bandHarry for the Hill, New York City-based roots folk-country group Spirit Family Reunion and former Old 97's banjo crooner Willie Watson.

That created a yin-yang split between the main performance area that highlighted the most commercially successful, contemporary country acts and the boundary-pushing performers who resonated more with alternative and cultural outsiders.

A fourth performance area was added to Stagecoach this year with the country-rocker Michael Nesmith and classic-rock singer-songwriter Don McLean.

TODAY IN THE LIFE!

1. "Happy (From 'Despicable Me 2')" by Pharrell Williams
2. "All Of Me" by John Legend
3. "Turn Down For What" by DJ Snake & Lil Jon
4. "Let It Go" by Idina Menzel
5. "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" by Katy Perry
6. "Play It Again" by Luke Bryan
7. "Not A Bad Thing" by Justin Timberlake
8. "Sing" by Ed Sheeran
9. "Ain't It Fun" by Paramore
10. "La La La (feat. Sam Smith)"

1. "Happy (From 'Despicable Me 2')" by Pharrell Williams
2. "All Of Me" by John Legend
3. "Turn Down For What" by DJ Snake & Lil Jon
4. "Let It Go" by Idina Menzel
5. "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" by Katy Perry
6. "Play It Again" by Luke Bryan
7. "Not A Bad Thing" by Justin Timberlake
8. "Sing" by Ed Sheeran
9. "Ain't It Fun" by Paramore
10. "La La La (feat. Sam Smith)"

1. "Happy (From 'Despicable Me 2')" by Pharrell Williams
2. "All Of Me" by John Legend
3. "Turn Down For What" by DJ Snake & Lil Jon
4. "Let It Go" by Idina Menzel
5. "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" by Katy Perry
6. "Play It Again" by Luke Bryan
7. "Not A Bad Thing" by Justin Timberlake
8. "Sing" by Ed Sheeran
9. "Ain't It Fun" by Paramore
10. "La La La (feat. Sam Smith)"

1. "Happy (From 'Despicable Me 2')" by Pharrell Williams
2. "All Of Me" by John Legend
3. "Turn Down For What" by DJ Snake & Lil Jon
4. "Let It Go" by Idina Menzel
5. "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" by Katy Perry
6. "Play It Again" by Luke Bryan
7. "Not A Bad Thing" by Justin Timberlake
8. "Sing" by Ed Sheeran
9. "Ain't It Fun" by Paramore
10. "La La La (feat. Sam Smith)"

1. "Happy (From 'Despicable Me 2')" by Pharrell Williams
2. "All Of Me" by John Legend
3. "Turn Down For What" by DJ Snake & Lil Jon
4. "Let It Go" by Idina Menzel
5. "Dark Horse (feat. Juicy J)" by Katy Perry
6. "Play It Again" by Luke Bryan
7. "Not A Bad Thing" by Justin Timberlake
8. "Sing" by Ed Sheeran
9. "Ain't It Fun" by Paramore
10. "La La La (feat. Sam Smith)"