Fall 9-9-2014

The Parthenon, September 9, 2014

Codi Mohr
Parthenon@marshall.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon

Recommended Citation
http://mds.marshall.edu/parthenon/380
City begins issuing citations for party debris on lawns

By EMILY RICE

Under new regulations, the city of Huntington has begun to issue citations to residents whose lawns are not cleaned up by 6 a.m. every morning. The new regulations went into effect this past weekend.

“Just about every weekend, we’re going to have a lot of litterers coming to town,” Williams said. “Downtown is a pretty special place, and it needs to be spic and span. We are not Morgantown, we are Huntington, and we are Marshall; let’s act like it.”

The city of Huntington has a crew that cleans up on Saturdays and Sunday mornings, but that crew is only responsible for cleaning the streets.

“We have a surplus of visitors, which is one reason the city has decided to begin issuing citations now,” Williams said. “Just about every weekend, we’re going to have a lot of litterers coming to town.”

“Just about every weekend, we’re going to have a lot of litterers coming to town,” Williams said. “Downtown is a pretty special place, and it needs to be spic and span. We are not Morgantown, we are Huntington, and we are Marshall; let’s act like it.”

Every resident’s responsibility to do that,” Williams said. “It is not cleaned up by 6 a.m. every morning. The new regulations went into effect this past weekend.

Williams met with seniority and fraternity presidents last week, he said. “They’ve asked us to keep our yards clean after the weekends on fraternity row,” Spano said. “That is something I think is great because it will get people to come onto campus at Marshall, the first thing you see is fraternity row. I think that the image we reflect needs to be spic and span. We are not Morgantown, we are Huntington, and we are Marshall; let’s act like it.”

Senior Anthony Spano, Pi Kappa Alpha president, said the message got well-received.

“We understand the residents have parties on their lawns, and we are not going to do anything to discourage that,” Williams said. “But we are going to come through at six in the morning, and those lawns need to be cleaned up. If they’re not cleaned up, we’re going to be issuing citations to them.”

Because of the upcoming season, Huntington will have a surplus of litterers, which is one reason the city has decided to begin issuing citations now.

“I think that the image we reflect needs to be spic and span. We are not Morgantown, we are Huntington, and we are Marshall; let’s act like it.”

In addition to the yard parties, the city also issued citations for party debris on lawns.

Mayor Steve Williams said there is no issue with yard parties in Huntington as long as it is cleaned up by the next morning.

“We are Marshall residents; let’s act like it.”

Film festival aims to broaden Appalachian minds

By DONYELLE MURRAY

The Appalachian Queer Film Festival, which will be taking place in October, was excited about the opportunity to see films like this, which is an important part of our mission.

The film screening, which was done in the presence of the documentary, “The Campaign,” a behind-the-scenes film of the battle against Proposition B in California.

Kristen Lifton, professor in the English department at Marshall, came to the event so she could share the experience with her students.

“I like to incorporate film in my classes when I can,” Lifton said. “I’m interested in the Appalachian Queer Festival because of the issues it proposes.”

Justin Michael Brown attended the first film screening, which was done in the presence of the documentary, “The Campaign,” a behind-the-scenes film of the battle against Proposition B in California.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event,” Lifton said.

The Sunday event had a free screening of the documentary, “The Campaign,” Monday in Smith Hall.

By BRYAN BOZEMAN

Many people enjoyed this past weekend’s Ritter Live Festival, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event.

The Sunday event had a wonderful sense of community and fun, the music was well-received and people of all ages were dancing and singing along.

Ritter Live was the first free music festival in Ritter Park since Ritter Rock in the 1970’s. Unfortunately, there are no future events similar to Ritter Live on the park calendar, despite the overwhelming positive reaction from Huntington residents who attended the show.

Joe Troubetras, owner of Freshly Squeezed and leader of the event, owns a business adjacent to the show and is ready to produce similar events if the park agrees to have them.

“We would love to have shows like this every year,” Troubetras said. “It’s such a great way to show the community what talent we have.”

Troubetras wanted to have a diverse show so that people of all ages and backgrounds could enjoy.

“One more song” to the crowd.

The majority of the band members are seniors at Huntington High School and still managed to connect with the diverse audience.

Of The Dell played Beatles cover songs Sunday while the audience danced and sang along with their music. They even chanted “one more song” to keep them going.

The group was very enthusiastic about its experience playing at Ritter Live and said it enjoyed the diversity of the crowd.

Huntington resident Jim Menace said he loved hearing a variety of genres performed at the show.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, I came to the event and realized that the diversity was great,” Menace said.

“Tasty flavors” of all together.”

GOP forum for more than five years.

Many people enjoyed this past weekend's Ritter Live Festival, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event.

The Sunday event had a wonderful sense of community and fun, the music was well-received and people of all ages were dancing and singing along.

Ritter Live was the first free music festival in Ritter Park since Ritter Rock in the 1970's. Unfortunately, there are no future events similar to Ritter Live on the park calendar, despite the overwhelming positive reaction from Huntington residents who attended the show.

Joe Troubetras, owner of Freshly Squeezed and leader of the event, owns a business adjacent to the show and is ready to produce similar events if the park agrees to have them.

“We would love to have shows like this every year,” Troubetras said. “It’s such a great way to show the community what talent we have.”

Troubetras wanted to have a diverse show so that people of all ages and backgrounds could enjoy.

“One more song” to the crowd.

The majority of the band members are seniors at Huntington High School and still managed to connect with the diverse audience.

Of The Dell played Beatles cover songs Sunday while the audience danced and sang along with their music. They even chanted “one more song” to keep them going.

The group was very enthusiastic about its experience playing at Ritter Live and said it enjoyed the diversity of the crowd.

Huntington resident Jim Menace said he loved hearing a variety of genres performed at the show.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, I came to the event and realized that the diversity was great,” Menace said.

“Tasty flavors” of all together.”

GOP forum for more than five years.

Many people enjoyed this past weekend's Ritter Live Festival, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event.

The Sunday event had a wonderful sense of community and fun, the music was well-received and people of all ages were dancing and singing along.

Ritter Live was the first free music festival in Ritter Park since Ritter Rock in the 1970's. Unfortunately, there are no future events similar to Ritter Live on the park calendar, despite the overwhelming positive reaction from Huntington residents who attended the show.

Joe Troubetras, owner of Freshly Squeezed and leader of the event, owns a business adjacent to the show and is ready to produce similar events if the park agrees to have them.

“We would love to have shows like this every year,” Troubetras said. “It’s such a great way to show the community what talent we have.”

Troubetras wanted to have a diverse show so that people of all ages and backgrounds could enjoy.

“One more song” to the crowd.

The majority of the band members are seniors at Huntington High School and still managed to connect with the diverse audience.

Of The Dell played Beatles cover songs Sunday while the audience danced and sang along with their music. They even chanted “one more song” to keep them going.

The group was very enthusiastic about its experience playing at Ritter Live and said it enjoyed the diversity of the crowd.

Huntington resident Jim Menace said he loved hearing a variety of genres performed at the show.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, I came to the event and realized that the diversity was great,” Menace said.

“Tasty flavors” of all together.”

GOP forum for more than five years.

Many people enjoyed this past weekend's Ritter Live Festival, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event.

The Sunday event had a wonderful sense of community and fun, the music was well-received and people of all ages were dancing and singing along.

Ritter Live was the first free music festival in Ritter Park since Ritter Rock in the 1970's. Unfortunately, there are no future events similar to Ritter Live on the park calendar, despite the overwhelming positive reaction from Huntington residents who attended the show.

Joe Troubetras, owner of Freshly Squeezed and leader of the event, owns a business adjacent to the show and is ready to produce similar events if the park agrees to have them.

“We would love to have shows like this every year,” Troubetras said. “It’s such a great way to show the community what talent we have.”

Troubetras wanted to have a diverse show so that people of all ages and backgrounds could enjoy.

“One more song” to the crowd.

The majority of the band members are seniors at Huntington High School and still managed to connect with the diverse audience.

Of The Dell played Beatles cover songs Sunday while the audience danced and sang along with their music. They even chanted “one more song” to keep them going.

The group was very enthusiastic about its experience playing at Ritter Live and said it enjoyed the diversity of the crowd.

Huntington resident Jim Menace said he loved hearing a variety of genres performed at the show.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, I came to the event and realized that the diversity was great,” Menace said.

“Tasty flavors” of all together.”

GOP forum for more than five years.

Many people enjoyed this past weekend's Ritter Live Festival, however, there are no immediate plans for a continuation of the event.

The Sunday event had a wonderful sense of community and fun, the music was well-received and people of all ages were dancing and singing along.

Ritter Live was the first free music festival in Ritter Park since Ritter Rock in the 1970's. Unfortunately, there are no future events similar to Ritter Live on the park calendar, despite the overwhelming positive reaction from Huntington residents who attended the show.

Joe Troubetras, owner of Freshly Squeezed and leader of the event, owns a business adjacent to the show and is ready to produce similar events if the park agrees to have them.

“We would love to have shows like this every year,” Troubetras said. “It’s such a great way to show the community what talent we have.”

Troubetras wanted to have a diverse show so that people of all ages and backgrounds could enjoy.

“One more song” to the crowd.

The majority of the band members are seniors at Huntington High School and still managed to connect with the diverse audience.

Of The Dell played Beatles cover songs Sunday while the audience danced and sang along with their music. They even chanted “one more song” to keep them going.

The group was very enthusiastic about its experience playing at Ritter Live and said it enjoyed the diversity of the crowd.

Huntington resident Jim Menace said he loved hearing a variety of genres performed at the show.

“I originally heard about the event through the newspaper, however, I came to the event and realized that the diversity was great,” Menace said.

“Tasty flavors” of all together.”

GOP forum for more than five years.
Flipped classroom program results in reversal of grades for students

By JOAN FADS
THE PARthenON
The Jane Harfes Center has launched a program that has potential for educators in West Virginia. The project is titled Flip Your Classroom and is going into its fourth year of operation.

The project approaches the subject in a different way from a new perspective. Instead of a teacher sitting as the center of attention, the next day’s lesson and the students’ homework assignment is to watch the lesson the night before in preparation for the following class session.

The students can then discuss in-class morning assignments, lab and tests, while the teacher is able to assist in individual and small group learning.

The videos themselves are only 5–7 minutes long and can be explained as often as the student needs to understand the topic.

The project first started with 17 teachers from Cabell, Wayne, Mason and Lincoln counties. The early success of the program sparked its expansion to other parts of the state.

The project is guided by the STEM coordinator and one of Flip Your Classroom’s founder, Flip Your Classroom, said the project helps “begin by reteaching the methods.”

“I taught high school for over 20 years,” Rehloubker said, and “I just new realized I’ve been doing it all wrong.”

The project began in the fall school year, focusing mainly on high school science classes.

The following year, it expanded to middle school science.

Starting this school year, the program is incorporating any classroom subject teachers are looking for. I am so excited to find out more from math to music,” he said.

Even if a student is absent from the school day that became of Illness or extra-curricular activity, the program enables them to keep up with the work by watching the videos.

Some teachers are up, 40% of students are going up, attitudes of students are changing. We have more students who are involved,” Miley said.

It seems that learning in the 21st century just became easier and more convenient for the student and the teacher. The project is still in its initial stages, so the results are not yet available.

“The attitude of students is the key to having students,” Hagarty said.

Hagarty said exhibitions like the one featuring Harfes’ paintings “Great Cook” is on display at the Angie Neola Gallery in Columbus, Ohio. Haley Wade can be contacted at wade@marshall.edu.

MU Alert system to be tested Wednesday

By TERRY CARROCCIO
THE PARTHENON
A drill system to keep Marshall University students safe during a crisis is scheduled to be tested this week.

The MU Alert emergency messaging system will be tested Wednesday at 10 a.m., according to a university news release. During the drill, test messages and emails will be sent to those who have signed up for the alert.

Jim Terry, Marshall police chief and public safety director, said this system could save your life.

“Nothing trivial comes across this system.” Terry said, “Don’t need you information about a house- or that there’s no football game coming up. We need you critical emergency well in time.”

For instance, if we have an active shooter on campus or a fire on campus, we will alert you immediately. This could certainly be a life or death situation for a student, in some cases.”

That life-saving potential has many students using the MU Alert system. Junior and residential advisor Haley Stafford is one of many students who have signed up for the alert messaging system. Stafford said one of the first things she did as an RA to tell her residents about the MU Alert system.

“As an RA, I’m always excited to share information, especially my freshmen residents, how to stay safe on a large campus like Mar- shall,” Stafford said. “If we have situations like we did last year, from a shooting on file Green to all of those shootings, shootings, students need to know what’s going on around them.”

That awareness is something Chief Terry said is the key to having students safe on campus.

“This test is in turn for us to know the system is functioning properly,” Terry said. “It also lets students, who have signed up for the MU Alert system, know if they are connected to the alerts. Our primary concern is protecting the safety and health of our university community members.”

Marshall students who are subscribed to the alerts are asked to verify they receive them Wednesday. Terry said if a user does not receive the test alert by Wednesday afternoon, they should review their MU Alert contact information on the myMU website by clicking on the “MU Alert” triangle or email marshall@marshall.edu.

Terry can be contacted at carrico26@marshall.edu.

WMUL-FM nominated for College Broadcaster student production award

By KELSEY PATE
THE PARTHENON
WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

Marshall University’s student radio station, WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

By KELSEY PATE
THE PARTHENON
WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

Marshall University’s student radio station, WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

By HALEY WADE
THE PARTHENON
Marshall University’s School of Art and Design is hosting an exhibition of paintings created by Ian Hagarty, who is an event worth being proud of, Hagarty said.

“Hagarty said exhibitions like the one featuring Harfes’ paintings “Great Cook” is on display at the Angie Neola Gallery in Columbus, Ohio. Haley Wade can be contacted at wade@marshall.edu.

MU Alert system to be tested Wednesday

By TERRY CARROCCIO
THE PARTHENON
A drill system to keep Marshall University students safe during a crisis is scheduled to be tested this week.

The MU Alert emergency messaging system will be tested Wednesday at 10 a.m., according to a university news release. During the drill, test messages and emails will be sent to those who have signed up for the alert.

Jim Terry, Marshall police chief and public safety director, said this system could save your life.

“Nothing trivial comes across this system.” Terry said, “Don’t need you information about a house- or that there’s no football game coming up. We need you critical emergency well in time.”

For instance, if we have an active shooter on campus or a fire on campus, we will alert you immediately. This could certainly be a life or death situation for a student, in some cases.”

That life-saving potential has many students using the MU Alert system. Junior and residential advisor Haley Stafford is one of many students who have signed up for the alert messaging system. Stafford said one of the first things she did as an RA to tell her residents about the MU Alert system.

“As an RA, I’m always excited to share information, especially my freshmen residents, how to stay safe on a large campus like Mar- shall,” Stafford said. “If we have situations like we did last year, from a shooting on file Green to all of those shootings, shootings, students need to know what’s going on around them.”

That awareness is something Chief Terry said is the key to having students safe on campus.

“This test is in turn for us to know the system is functioning properly,” Terry said. “It also lets students, who have signed up for the MU Alert system, know if they are connected to the alerts. Our primary concern is protecting the safety and health of our university community members.”

Marshall students who are subscribed to the alerts are asked to verify they receive them Wednesday. Terry said if a user does not receive the test alert by Wednesday afternoon, they should review their MU Alert contact information on the myMU website by clicking on the “MU Alert” triangle or email marshall@marshall.edu.

Terry can be contacted at carrico26@marshall.edu.

WMUL-FM nominated for College Broadcaster student production award

By KELSEY PATE
THE PARTHENON
WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

Marshall University’s student radio station, WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

By HALEY WADE
THE PARTHENON
Marshall University’s School of Art and Design is hosting an exhibition of paintings created by Ian Hagarty, who is an event worth being proud of, Hagarty said.

“Hagarty said exhibitions like the one featuring Harfes’ paintings “Great Cook” is on display at the Angie Neola Gallery in Columbus, Ohio. Haley Wade can be contacted at wade@marshall.edu.

MU Alert system to be tested Wednesday

By TERRY CARROCCIO
THE PARTHENON
A drill system to keep Marshall University students safe during a crisis is scheduled to be tested this week.

The MU Alert emergency messaging system will be tested Wednesday at 10 a.m., according to a university news release. During the drill, test messages and emails will be sent to those who have signed up for the alert.

Jim Terry, Marshall police chief and public safety director, said this system could save your life.

“Nothing trivial comes across this system.” Terry said, “Don’t need you information about a house- or that there’s no football game coming up. We need you critical emergency well in time.”

For instance, if we have an active shooter on campus or a fire on campus, we will alert you immediately. This could certainly be a life or death situation for a student, in some cases.”

That life-saving potential has many students using the MU Alert system. Junior and residential advisor Haley Stafford is one of many students who have signed up for the alert messaging system. Stafford said one of the first things she did as an RA to tell her residents about the MU Alert system.

“As an RA, I’m always excited to share information, especially my freshmen residents, how to stay safe on a large campus like Mar- shall,” Stafford said. “If we have situations like we did last year, from a shooting on file Green to all of those shootings, shootings, students need to know what’s going on around them.”

That awareness is something Chief Terry said is the key to having students safe on campus.

“This test is in turn for us to know the system is functioning properly,” Terry said. “It also lets students, who have signed up for the MU Alert system, know if they are connected to the alerts. Our primary concern is protecting the safety and health of our university community members.”

Marshall students who are subscribed to the alerts are asked to verify they receive them Wednesday. Terry said if a user does not receive the test alert by Wednesday afternoon, they should review their MU Alert contact information on the myMU website by clicking on the “MU Alert” triangle or email marshall@marshall.edu.

Terry can be contacted at carrico26@marshall.edu.

WMUL-FM nominated for College Broadcaster student production award

By KELSEY PATE
THE PARTHENON
WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.

Marshall University’s student radio station, WMUL-FM, was nominated a national finalist in the 2014 College Broadcaster, Inc. National Student Production Awards in the categories of Best News Reporting Radio, and Best Station for its Blues Format. WMUL will congratulate the winners for each category at the National Student Electronic Media Convention Oct. 23-25 in Seattle.
Chris Cline Athletic Complex Unveiled

By SCOTT BOLGER THE PARTHENON

Marshall and the dream could never be realized, but with diligence from generous benefactors belonging to the Vision Campaign of Athletics and Big Green Scholarship Foundation, the highly studied financial odds were defied. Just two hours before Marshall University fell off against Rhode Island on Saturday, the brand new state-of-the-art complex adjoined Gate E of the Joan C. Edwards stadium was officially named after its most generous donor, Chris Cline.

Cline is the majority owner of Florida-based company, Foresight Reserves LP. He also studied psychology at Marshall University. His original contribution was $8.5 million to the first major fundraising effort undertaken by Marshall Athletics and the Big Green Scholarship Foundation. His original contribution was $3.5 million, which came via the Cline Family Foundation, establishing new faculty and scholarships for the upcoming Wvu Sports Medicine Institute. Later, another $3.5 million was given to the Vision Campaign.

“Certainly you’ve got to have the medical side along with the educational side to make it a success. This project expects to produce student athletes that will be able to go out and be productive in the work force.”

Not only was Cline present for the naming, but Kopp, as well as Marshall hall-of-famers Mike Dennis and Chad Pennington also accompanied the mingling entrepreneurs on stage.

“The best day of my life was when my son [Troy], was named after the most generous donor, Chris Cline.”

By BRAXTON CRISP THE PARTHENON

Marshall President Stephen Kopp and the official naming from Athletic director Mike Hamrick. The 300-meter track and field for the Thundering Herd football team will be an academic support center, a sports medicine research translation center and a hall of fame atrium. The 300-meter track and 1,400 foot oval of bars are scheduled to be dedicated sometime in October.

“Certainly, you’ve got to have the medical side along with the educational side to make it a success. This project expects to produce student athletes that will be able to go out and be productive in the work force.”

Along with a track/football facility, the facility will be an academic support center, a sports medicine research translation center and a hall of fame atrium. The 300-meter track and 1,400 foot oval of bars are scheduled to be dedicated sometime in October.

By IMANI SPEARLEY

Thursday night's expected to be mostly sunny with a high round 84 degrees and a chance of light wind. Thursday is expected to be partly sunny with a high around 84 degrees and a chance of light wind.

Thursday might be partly cloudy with a low near 63 degrees. Wednesday is anticipated to be mostly sunny with a high near 87 degrees. Wednesday night there is a 30 percent chance of rain, with a low around 71 degrees. On Thursday scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected between 7pm, with a high near 80 degrees. There is a 30 percent chance of precipitation.

Thursday night.

“The best day of my life was when my son [Troy], was named after the most generous donor, Chris Cline.”

By SCOTT BOLGER THE PARTHENON

Marshall President Stephen Kopp and the official naming from Athletic director Mike Hamrick. The 300-meter track and field for the Thundering Herd football team will be an academic support center, a sports medicine research translation center and a hall of fame atrium. The 300-meter track and 1,400 foot oval of bars are scheduled to be dedicated sometime in October.

“The best day of my life was when my son [Troy], was named after the most generous donor, Chris Cline.”

By IMANI SPEARLEY

Thursday night's expected to be mostly sunny with a high round 84 degrees and a chance of light wind. Wednesday is anticipated to be mostly sunny with a high near 87 degrees. Wednesday night there is a 30 percent chance of rain, with a low around 71 degrees. On Thursday scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected between 7pm, with a high near 80 degrees. There is a 30 percent chance of precipitation.

Thursday night.

Lightning doesn’t stop Herd fans

By IMANI SPEARLEY

Thursday night’s predicted thunderstorm caught up with the Herd as it faced off against the Rhode Island Rams. However the storm set the game 30 minutes behind its scheduled time.

Herd Coach Ames Hill said it was the lightning, not the rain, which actually delayed the game.

“It’s a 30-minute delay once lighting producing clouds are within a 5-mile radius of the playing surface,” Hill said. “Each lightning strike starts a new 30-minute clock.”

Friday is expected to be mostly sunny with a high near 72 degrees and a low of 54 degrees. Game Day Saturday should be mostly sunny with a high around 68 degrees and a low of 50 degrees. As fall officially rolls in Sunday is expected to bring a high near 69 degrees and a low around 52 degrees.

Imani Spearley can be contacted at spearley@marshall.edu.

Chris Cline reviews his namesake Saturday.

By BRAXTON CRISP

THE PARTHENON

“I nearly TypeError: 'NoneType' object has no attribute 'lower'. I'm trying to create a string that contains the lowercase version of the input text, but I'm getting a TypeError.
Ray Rice was suspended indefinitely by the NFL and his contract with the Baltimore Ravens was terminated Monday after TMZ sports released a nowviewed video of Rice punching his wife in an alcohol-fueled rage.

In response to this crime, the totalitarian state — one of criminal and fascist forms — repudiated its assumed mission to set the state defined by the new totalitarianism is to beget the last, and an influential idea.

We must seize the day and reclaim the American promise. We will see the United States of America and the American Dream
again. The American Dream is not a dead end. It is a calling card to the world. In our day of adversity, we must do more than act.
We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.

We must
rise up and
lead.
Annual quoits tournament kicks off Constitution Week

By AUNDREA HORSLEY

The Parthenon

The totalitarian impulse that drove Nazi Communism.

By CEC ROSATA

The Herd

Huntington instead of just basing it on Concerns.

Columbus.

Get it a battle against humanity; rather, it Childhood.

By CECE ROSATA

The Herd

Marshall University’s annual Constitution
Week. The quoits tournament takes place dur

The Herd

"We wanted to bring fashion to Hunting Huntington.

The Herd

Just flag him down, he will pick you up,
Emporium.

The Columbus Dispatch

RITTER LIVE

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall

Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court and Supreme Court.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide Emporium.

Legal.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide Emporium.

The Herd

The Herd

The Herd

The Herd

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

Before. Then we shake our heads, bewildered, Understanding.

The Herd

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

Before. Then we shake our heads, bewildered, Understanding.

The Herd

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

Before. Then we shake our heads, bewildered, Understanding.

The Herd

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.

"We wanted to bring fashion to Marshall and provide
Emporium.
Marshall University’s School of Art and Design has been making some big changes in the past year, including changes to its senior staff. Sandra Reed accepted the position of the school’s new director in April. She comes from an experienced background in the arts.

Reed has both bachelor’s and master’s degrees in painting and drawing and more than 20 years of work experience. She spent 14 years as a faculty member and seven more as an administrator at Savannah College of Art and Design.

Reed said she is excited to be appointed as director, and it is a job she has been looking forward to.

“I would have to say that this is my dream job,” Reed said.

Fine arts major Peyton Hebb said he believes new faces and faculty will help the School of Art and Design to grow through new visions and the changes that could occur as a result.

“It’s always nice to have someone new come in because they have different ideas to offer,” Hebb said. “This could really help with the big improvements the school is already working toward.”

More collaboration among the different fields in the school is one of the improvements Reed has suggested.

One large change students may see could affect various majors in the school and help to improve the student’s learning experience. Reed said new curriculum development may be in the books for the undergraduate school.

Another advancement mentioned would affect those seeking to earn a master’s degree in the field.

“Right now we are focusing on making an amazing undergraduate experience for our visual arts majors,” Reed said.

As for improvements that have already been made with the school, Reed said the new Visual Arts Center is something she thinks will vastly benefit students on its own.

“There are many things that I could say about it, but the word that comes to mind immediately is inspirational,” Reed said.

Reed also said the building will help the school to become more recognized, among current and prospective students. While the building was created for students majoring in the arts, she said it has the potential to help make the university a better place for all Marshall students.

Haley Wade can be contacted at wade68@marshall.edu.